$1,000 damage —truck burns

A truck driven by Harold Moore, 59, of Little Britain received $1,000 damage when it burned on County Road 4, one mile west of Highway 7 at 9:25 a.m. Thursday. Lindsay OPP said the truck was travelling on County Road 4 with a 20-ton load of sand when a small explosion under the hood of the truck started a fire which consumed the cab of the vehicle.

The Little Britain Fire Department was called to the scene but when they arrived the truck had already burned.

Mr. Moore, who owns the vehicle, was alone and was not injured.

Lindsay OPP Constable Lyle Welton investigated.

FRUSTRATED ROBBER

Austin, Tex. (UPI) — A 60-year-old man entered a drug store and demanded: "Gimme a sack, open your register and put your money in the sack".

"No", replied the clerk Mrs. Billy Madding.

The would-be-holdup man growled at another clerk Another "No".

He was pounding the cash register in frustration and repeating "this is a holdup, this is a holdup", when police arrived.

WEATHER TALK

New York (UPI) — If Tex Antoine and his bride to be don't have anything else to do, they can always talk about the weather.

It was announced yesterday Antoine a WNBC-TV weatherman, had become engaged—to a weather girl, of course. No date was set for his wedding to Suzannah Glidden, who formerly was WABC-TV's weather girl.

SPRING THAW '65 IN LINDSAY FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 26TH, 1965

Barbara Hamilton and Dave Broadfoot will again star in "Spring Thaw '65" which will be presented in Lindsay at the Academy Theatre on Friday, February 26th and sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Lindsay.

Rehearsals have started in Toronto for Mayor Moore's "Spring Thaw '65" directed entirely for the first time by Alan Lund. The show reaches Lindsay at the Academy Theatre on February 26th, 1965. The company will be basically the same as last year with Dave Broadfoot and Barbara Hamilton, Bill Cole, Jack Duffy, Liane Marshall, Peter Mews, Dean Regan, Marlyn Stuart and making her first appearance in the musical review Gayle Lepine.

Spring Thaw '65 will again be brought by the Kiwanis Club of Lindsay, and Lindsay will be one of 44 cities and towns across the country seeing the show. The country opening starts in Victoria, B.C. on January 20th.

Stage Manager Graham Spicer will be aided by assistant stage managers and understudies Shirley Millinry (who held the same position last year) and Cedric Fresco (who joins the group for the first time). The electrician will be Stan Woodward of Toronto, the carpenter Lee Lackey of Calgary and the property master Don Patterson of Stratford.

CHAMPION LIE

The Burlington, Wisconsin Liars' Club has made its awards for the Champion Liar of 1964. The winner is Philip Strandvold of Rock, Oregon, who wrote—"There was a lady back home who was always late for everything. One day she died. No she wasn't late for her own funeral, but when she arrived at those Pearly Gates, St. Peter had put in for his overtime".

STANLEY MATTHEWS KNIGHTED IN NEW YEAR'S HONOURS LIST

London (UPI) — The Labour Government gave a knighthood to a soccer player and other distinctions to its Olympic stars in a surprising New Year's honours list today.

There wasn't a single heredity title bestowed.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson clearly showed Labour's distaste for the hereditary principle by conferring titles valid only for the life of the holder—and fewer of these than for many years.

It was the first such deglamorized honours list since the last Labour Government held office 15 years ago.

Wilson named four peers, who will sit in the House of Lord during their lifetime, and 30 knights, some of whom achieved the distinction of calling themselves "Sir" by helping in Britain's great sports drive.

The most popular title was a knighthood given Stanley Matthews, who will be 50 next month and has been a soccer league star since he was 17, the longest service in the history of the game. He is the first soccer player to be so honoured although knighthoods have gone in the past to cricket players and a jockey.

Britain's top medal winners at the Tokyo Olympics were awarded with membership in the Order of the British Empire (MBE)—Mary Rand, who won the broad jump, Ann Packer, who won the 800 meters, and Robbie Brightwell, who anchored the second-place 400 meters relay team and captained the Olympic squad.

New Zealand's Peter Snell, who won the 800 and 1,500 meters at Tokyo, was awarded the Order of the British Empire (OBE) for "his outstanding achievement in the field of Athletics".

The new peers are Sir Howard Florey, Nobel prize winner for the discovery of penicillin; Sir William Holford, an expert in town planning; Sir Christopher Hinton, who was head of the Central Electricity Board and George James Cole, Chairman of Unilever.

Among the knighthoods are Maurice Alberic Twistleton-Wykeham-Fiennes, chairm in of engineering company prominent in the exports campaign, and Ronald Thornton, a member of the export council for Europe.

WEEK OF PRAYER

A week of Prayer Services will be held from Wednesday evening in Cambridge Street Baptish Church with Rev. K. MacDonald of Millbrook Reformatory as the guest speaker. On January 7th, Thursday evening, the Service will be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church with Rev. D. G. Seaton of Toronto as guest speaker.

"But your Majesty, that upstart Wolfe that you placed in command of the forces against Quebec, the narrow minded bearpaole with a nose you could hang your hat on — he's not really a gentleman", exclaims Dirnus Gerussi as the foppish Duke of Newcastle in a hilarious scene from Canadian Players' production, "All About Us". This is just one of the many characters Mr. Gerussi plays in the show which is billed as a lively and colourful vaudeville of Canadian history. "All About Us" will be presented on Friday, February 5th at the Academy Theatre in Lindsay and is sponsored by the Lindsay Rotary Club.

Burden for Bards

It is a proud moment in a Welshman's life to hear himself proclaimed champion poet of the year at the great annual festival of the National Eisteddfod, and be called on to the platform by the Arch-Druid of Wales to receive the homage of the nation and take the Bardic Chair.

But high honour has its problems, as Ifor Bowen-Griffith made clear in a recent broadcast in the BBC General Overseas Service 'Welsh Magazine' programme. The winner of the Bardic Chair competition does literally take the Chair home at the end of the festival, to be placed in the best room in the house and gazed on reverently by family and friends to the end of time. "The huge wooden chair is usually made of great planks of oak wondrously carved with the place and year of the festival, and is more like a royal throne than a piece of furniture."

But the National Eisteddfod is the culmination of hundreds and hundreds of others held in all the towns and villages of Wales. "And in at least one hundred of those," said Ifor Bowen-Griffith, "the chief bardic prize is a great big chair. So in ten years about one thousand of these huge, unwieldy masses of timber have been distributed throughout the country.

"The real problem arises from the fact that there is no limit to the number of chairs that one poet may win. What would you do with fifty such chairs? Indeed, it was announced recently that Mr. Llewelyn Morgan of Aberystwyth had won his hundredth chair. What a grand achievement! What a terrible penalty! Chairs in the kitchen, in the lounge, in the dining-room, in the bedrooms, in the attic. No beds, no tables, no baths, no family—just chairs, chairs, chairs!" Even if he had given chairs away to relatives, neighbours, churches, and council offices, he probably still had some left. As a result of a 'silent revolution' in eisteddfodic Wales, soft, comfortable fireside chairs were now offered, but who would want a hundred even of these?

Heroic rescue

A group of girls and boys of Coboconk figured in a heroic rescue on the Gull River late last week, it has been learned. The young people were skating on the river, opposite the Elm Braes tourist resort when they heard frantic cries for help.

They discovered Kenneth Bowins, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bowins, struggling in the cold water after having broken through the ice. Towards the centre of the river the current was quite strong and the ice had not formed deeply enough for skating. Kenneth consequently fell through when skating over it.

Four of the children, Alma Bryant, Mildred Wilkinson, Bob Shields and Bernice Moore rushed over. They secured a hockey stick and stretched flat down on the ice in a single line. By so doing they were able to reach the hockey stick to pull the little boy in the water and pull him slowly to safety. Kenneth is suffering from a severe chill and bad scare but is expected to be well again in a few days.

Shows presence of mind at blaze

Mrs. W. S. Millyard, wife of Dr. Millyard of Coboconk distinguished herself by her presence of mind and organizing ability in attempting to fight a fire in the pool room and barber shop, owned by James Gordon which adjoins the Millyard residence and drug store. Mrs. Millyard whose mother and husband were both quite ill in her home, led the efforts to fight the fire for some time until a large number of men arrived to relieve her of the responsibility.

Trapped

Sixteen thousand Russian troops have been cut off by the Finns on the Salla front near the Arctic Circle in a battle which bids fair to equal, if not exceed in importance a Finnish New year victory on the Summiasalmi front to the south, press dispatches said today.

Many recruits

Recruits for the two companies and squadron of cavalry to be installed here in connection with the Third Contingent, are coming in steadily. Up to 11.00 o'clock this morning about 200 had inlisted.

Billeting the men

The officers of the regiment have met with splendid success in billeting the men, no trouble whatever is being experienced in securing quarters.

Impressed

Major General Hughes visited the Armoury on New Year's and was very favorably impressed with the progress being made in mobilization. He emphasized the necessity of strict discipline.

Only five rejected

It will be of interest to the citizens to learn that only five men have been rejected as physically unfit. These defects were of a serious nature. This record speaks well for the high type of men being enlisted.

Barbershop and quarters

A regimental barbershop has been opened at the Armoury in charge of Frank Cote.

It will take four weeks or more before the buildings at the Agricultural Park as well as the old McDonnell residence are fitted up for quarters for the soldiers.

Discontinue flyer.

The Post has been informed that the GTR flyer, which leaves Lindsay for Toronto every morning at 7.55 o'clock, will be discontinued for a time after January 9.

Tired Little Boys

The Northeast CORNER

by "the observer"

Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky,
The flying cloud, the frosty light;
The year is dying in the night;
Ring out, wild bells, and let him die.

Ring out the old, ring in the new,
Ring happy bells, across the snow;
The year is going, let him go;
Ring out the false, ring in the true.

These are the first two verses of "Ring out, wild bells" from "In Memoriam", a series of elegiac poems written by Tennyson, in memory of his friend, Arthur Hallam.

Last year New Year's Day came on a Wednesday and the note in my diary says: "This has been a mild winter day. About 6 inches of snow fell during the night. Roads heavy". Then the weather is quite normal for the time of year. Then on January 26 I notice an item which reads, "About 30 grosbeaks arrived for breakfast this morning. This is the first I have seen them in these parts."

The year 1964 has been a fairly good year. To the ordinary man there has been very little to interfere with the ordinary living of the average family man. True there have been some happenings and these happenings did not come peaceably. They had to be fought for.

Ring out a slowly dying cause,
And ancient forms of party strife;
Ring in the nobler modes of life,
With sweeter manners, purer laws

There is supposed to be a law on the Statute Books of Canada bringing in a new flag. This did not occur however in anywise of a peaceable manner. It had to be fought for every inch of the way and before the motion could be put to a vote it was necessary for our government to invoke the "Closure", and this will be a black stigma against Mr. Pearson and his government as long as they remain in office.

To me the whole trouble has its beginning in the Province of Quebec. The people of Quebec want to tear themselves free from anything that savours of British. A movement has started in Quebec that they call Separatist. They are anxious to separate themselves from, for all time, of any connection we ever had with British Institutions, and of course the flag was made their first attack. Prime Minister Mr. Pearson did not realize that there were a lot of very loyal English, Irish and Scots people in aCnada. In fact they appeared a lot more loyal to our Flag and country than he appeared to be. And so when he was determined to throw our old Flag overboard and bring in three maple leaves in its stead the opposition in Parliament said "O no, you just can't do that to us." The opposition under Mr. John Diefenbaker put up a splendid fight and when no end appeared to the fight then Mr. Pearson had to resort to "Closure." To our mind these are the tactics of a very weak leader, however it has served as a temporary stop-gap for him. The people from Quebec have gained their point and when Mr. Pearson calls a general election there is no doubt that he will take a big lead in the Quebec electorate. This is the first successful step First the flag with all the suggestions advanced. Quebec is temporarily silent. However, mark my word, that it will not be many days before the people from Quebec are back for more. Surely they will not be content to allow us to sing "God Save The Queen" or our national anthem. Today our country is divided from pole to pole. "Ancient forms of party strife" is not a good thing for Canada and if the point is stretched much more, it could lead to blood-shed.

By any other name

The rulings of the Speaker of the House of Commons at Westminster concerning what one M.P. may properly say about another in the course of debate have long been of interest to students of the English language.

Mr. Speaker's decision on these occasions is rarely challenged by the Commons assembled and invariably establishes a precedent as to what is and what is not permissible. That it does not always escape criticism in the country at large, however, is evidenced in the thunderous attack mounted in the columns of The Times on his recent ruling that Prime Minister Harold Wilson was not out of order in suggesting that an opposition M.P. was a "parliamentary leper."

One indignant correspondent has gone so far as to unearth all the (to him, lesser) expressions which previous Speakers have required to be withdrawn since the beginning of this century.

A partial list tends to confirm that British parliamentarians, like our own, have not always seen eye to eye over the past 50 years and is something of an education in itself.

Among the more choice phrases which have been ruled out of order are "impertinent puppy"; "cheeky young pup"; "villan"; "murderer"; "stool pigeons"; "rotter" and "Pecksniffian can" (Dickens' "Martin Chuzzlewit" refers).

Even the most distinguished parliamentarians, it seems, have had their lapses. Sir Winston Churchill among them. Had he not been ordered to come up with another expression for "liar!" the world might never have heard of his now classic substitution "surveyor of terminological inexactitudes."

Yet the prize for admissible insults bearing the stamp of greatness and wit probably should go to Disraeli, prime minister a hundred years ago. It was he who, asked by his arch-rival "calamity" and "catastrophy," replied: "If the Honourable Member fell into the Thames that would be a calamity; if someone pulled him out that would be a catastrophe."

And it was Disraeli again who called to order once for declaring that half of Cabinet members were "asses", replied: "I withdraw that, Mr. Speaker. Half the Cabinet are not asses." —"Industry"

DOVER SOLE COLBERT

This dish is best prepared with whole Dover soles; one medium size sole per person; but can be made with fillets of sole.

Clean fish, remove skin and cut one side along spine. Lift fillets on same side by forcing fingers between bones and flesh. Dip fish in mixture made with 1 cup of milk, 1 egg and seasoned with salt and pepper. Roll in bread crumbs. Deep fry until golden brown.

When serving, place on each fish two slices of maitre d'hotel butter.

Maitre d'Hotel Butter

½ cup butter, ¾ cut finely chopped parsley, juice of ½ lemon, salt and pepper.

Mix all ingredients and place on wax paper. Roll in order to make a stick approximately 1 inch in diameter. Place in refrigerator to harden.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remove rust stains from white washables?

A. Cover the stains with cream of tartar; gather up the ends of the article so the powder stays on the spot as though it were in the bottom of a sack, then dip the whole thing into hot water for five minutes. Ordinary laundering should complete the job.

Q. How can I mend broken chinaware?

A. Try using a cement made by mixing plaster-of-paris with the white of egg until it is creamy, applying this as you would any commercial cement.

Q. How can I clean the pearl handle of an article?

A. By rubbing grossly with salt. Then the luster will be restored by wiping with a chamois.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

Cleaning Jewelry

A teaspoon of ammonia added to a cup of water and applied with a clean cloth, will clean gold or silver jewelry. Crystal beads strung on a chain that has tarnished may be renewed by placing in a wide-mouthed jar half-filled with warm mild suds to which a teaspoon of baking soda has been added. Shake occasionally then dry in jewelers' sawdust.

Chewing Gum

To remove chewing gum from a garment, remove the excess with the dull side of a knife blade, then sponge with cleaning fluid. If the fabric is washable, harden the gum with an ice cube before scrapping with the knife.

Card of Thanks

PARKER — We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to our friends, relatives, neighbours, Comrades of the Royal Canadian Legion and Auxiliary, employees of Visking Ltd., and Capt. C. G. Bowes for the messages of sympathy and floral tributes in the loss of our loved one, James W. Parker. The family. (1071)

In Memoriam

LEACH — Herbert James who passed away Jan. 3, 1958.
At early morn when all was still;
God gave His great command;
In silent peace he passed away
Into a better land.
But we believe we'll meet again
Where partings are no more;
And that the one we love so well
Has only gone before.
Ever remembered by wife Edith and sons Ed and Bill, granddaughters Margaret and Marilyn. (1080)

FERGUSON — In loving memory of William Neil Ferguson who passed away Jan. 3., 1960.
As Angels keep their watch up there
Please, God, just let him know,
That we down here do not forget,
We loved, and miss him so.

Lovingly remembered by mother, brothers and sisters. (1075)

Officers elected at W.A. meeting

Cannington (PNS) — The December meeting of All Saints' W.A. was held at the Rectory by a kind invitation of Rev. and Mrs. Davidson, opening with the members prayer followed by a Christmas Prayer.

The roll was called and minutes of the last meeting approved.. The treasurer's report was given and six new tables had been purchased and further 6 could be orered.

A letter of thanks had been received from Endeavour, Sask., for the recently dispatched bale of clothing together with their Christmas Greetings and outline of the years work by this small mission in a remote area.

Letters of appreciation for flowers, visits and cards were read from Mrs. Gwen Avery, Mr. Ross Woods on behalf of Miss Joan Weeks and Mrs. Muriel Bassett, who also regretfully tendered her resignation as Recording Secretary to the W.A. due to her recent illness. The members regretted accepting this after her long and faithful service and wished her a speedy recovery and return to the Christian Fellowship.

It was agreed the W.A. pay for additional Hymn and Prayer Books now in use in the Church together with any expenses incurred for the Sunday School Christmas party, this to be left in the hands of Mrs. Davidson..

The minutes of the last annual report were read and approved and Mrs. A. Samis thanked all for their co-operation and hard work which had made '64 such a profitable year in every way. The Chair was then vacated for the election of officers by Rev. R. R. Davidson for the ensuing year, after expressing his thanks to the W. A. for the help and support of the Church and its mission.

The following were duly nominated and elected: President Mrs. A. Samis; Vice President, Mrs. R. Tivey; Treasurer; Mrs. W. Southern; Recording Secretary, Mrs. A. Tomlinson; Educational Secretary and the Press reports, Mrs. C. Durance; Dorcas Secretary, Mrs. L. Hackney; Little Helpers, Mrs. Len Woods; Social Services, Mrs. Fred Grapen; Chancel Guild Co-Ordinator, Mrs. L. Parliament; Living Message, Mrs. V. Mallette. Accompanist, Mrs. L. Southworth.

The meeting closed in prayer and luncheon served by Mrs. Davidson assisted by Mrs. R. Tivy.

WORLD OF RELIGION

by Louis Cassels

(UPI) — The Bible takes a dim view of dogmatic predictions about the future. It warns (in James 4:14) that men "never know what tomorrow will bring."

But it does NOT condemn the modest enterprise of trying to read, in past and present event, some portent of things to come..

The following forecasts about 1965 are made in that spirit. Perhaps none of them will actually come to pass. But all seem, at this writing, like reasonable expectations.

I — VATICAN COUNCIL

The first ecumenical council in nearly a century will wind up with a highly productive fourth session at which Bishops of the Roman Catholic Church will take a firm stand in favor of religious liberty.

Progressive Bishops will leave Rome disappointed that they did not achieve more in the way of renewal.. Conservatives entrenched in the Roman Curia will be appalled at how much the council DID accomplish, and will set about quietly to undo as many of its reforms as possible.

Both progressives and conservatives will continue to wonder whose side Pope Paul VI is really on.

II — SOCIAL ACTION

Protestant, Catholic and Jewish bodies in the United States will enlist in the "war on poverty" with the same zeal and interfaith unity which they displayed in their successful 1964 fight for enactment of the Civil Rights Law.

Race relations will continue to be a major social concern of religious groups with emphasis shifting from desegregation of public facilities to combatting discrimination in housing and employment.

III — AID TO EDUCATION

Religious controversy will break out over the administration's proposal for a large-scale programme of federal aid to education.

Catholic opposition is assured to any aid plan which omits parochial schools. Protestant and Jewish opposition is assured to any plan which includes them. President Johnson will try to find a compromise solution that will make it possible to get a bill through congress. But this will prove to be harder than he thinks..

IV — PRAYER IN SCHOOLS

Attempts will be made in congress to revive last year's proposal for a constitutional amendment to authorize prayer and Bible reading in public schools. They will receive articulate support from some Americans who think that the Supreme Court has repudiated the nation's religious heritage by decreeing that public schools be "Godless." But they will be vigorously opposed by many religious leaders who feel that the court has simply upheld the American tradition of church-state separation at a crucial point.

In the end, congress will pigeonhole the proposed amendment.

V — CHRISTIAN UNITY

While some protestants and Catholics are arguing loudly about aid to education, others will be taking part in joint prayer services, exchanges of visits, and similar manifestations of the spirit of Christian unity.

The ecumenical movement, long confined to the upper echelons of the churches, will finally reach the grass roots in a big way.

VI — CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

Churches will register increases in membership, but they won't be big enough to keep pace with the rate of population growth. There will be a growing awareness that the boom days of "religious revival" are over, and people are no longer joining churches just because it's the thing to do.

This realization will come as a shock to many churchmen, but it will have a salutary effect in the long run. In 1965, for the first time since world war II, churches may be more concerned with evangelism than with putting up fancy new buildings.

Women's Views

New York (UPI) — New Year's resolutions were made by millions. The same millions right at this moment, or within the next few days or weeks will be breaking them.

The desire to make resolutions, to "start with a clean slate", is as old as the religions of the world, says one psychologist. "It's the idea of being born anew, of a cleansing, of a desire to start afresh", said Dr. Herman D. Goldberg, Chairman of the Department of psychology at Hofstra University.

But the motivation that creates the resolutions is the same motivation that causes them to be broken, Goldberg adds.

"The motivation is not real" he said in an interview. "They're really not motivated, to last. If they worked, everyone would be angelic.

"I think people do want to change. Making resolutions is an advertisement, a public announcement, that they are going to change.

But we break resolutions easily. Old patterns are so well established . . ."

Dr. Goldberg has been head psychologist at Hofstra for five years. He is a graduate of Syracuse University and holds a doctorate from Columbia.

I asked him what resolutions he had planned for 1965. "None", he said, "I'll just be the same old guy I was last year".

But make them. Then break them even later than usual. It seems the world make an even seems that the world would be an easier, more pleasant place to live if some resolutions were carried out for the new year.

For example, cab drivers would resolve that they would at least open the back door for the passenger and not growl about traffic, weather, and would say thanks for the tip.

Salespeople would care for customers needs instead of, turning up three-deep for a behind-the-counter conversation. Bus passengers would obey the admonition, "move to the rear please". Those in elevators would observe the "no smoking" signs.

Husbands would observe all important anniversaries without having to be nudged with gentle, or not so gentle hints.

The first person who displayed temperament in the family would resolve to be the first to say, "I'm sorry". All children would resolve to live within their allowances instead of cadging toward the end of each week.

Some children would resolve to put their rooms in order each day, in the same manner in which they do when the teen-age girls come to expected. They'd also resolve that occasionally parents, who paid for the television set, should be allowed to watch the show of their choice.

Mom would get out of the eternal slacks or blue jeans around the house and occasionally deck herself out in a glamorous at-home robe, dab on some jewelled eye shadow, and ignore the sink full of dishes—at least for a few hours.

Neighbours would resolve to return "books, along with last summer's rake, hedge clippers and garden hose. Stores, offices and other public places would resolve to turn off the canned music.

The United Nations would resolve its financial crisis, this would see our stocks re-issue its resolutions to work for peace, and everyone would resolve to make 1965 the best year yet.

Unhappiness at New Year's resolution time is listening to friends, neighbours, or relatives who say:

—"I bought next year's Christmas cards at the half price sale the day after Christmas, addressed them that night and have them stamped and ready to go".

—"My accountant ust figured out my income tax and all I have to do is sign it, get it in the mail and wait for the refund".

—"Well, thank heavens, I don't have to make one of those resolutions about losing weight. You can see for yourself that I stuck to my diet all through 1964 and lost 20 pounds".

—"This is the year I don't have to resolve to pay the mortgage on time. We made the final payment last week."

—"It's nice that we moved 700 miles from the home town. No more resolutions about holding my temper when relatives criticize me".

—"All our resolutions will be happy ones this year. Aunt Prunella remembered us in her will. It will be settled next week".

—"Who needs to resolve to turn in the junk-heap for a new car. Lucky us. We won one in the Christmas raffle".

—"Now that my beau got his big promotion I won't have to resolve to stop nagging him about progress. I'm happy to say — we're on easy street now".

—"No more big weddings in my family. I just got the bill for daughter number four's nuptial paid off. She was the youngest. What a nice feeling —giving up that resolution to marry them off in style, even if it bankrupts me, which it almost did."

—"My boy got a scholarship and we can give up that resolution to spend our nest-egg on his education. "We're buying a boat in '65".

—"Getting to the office on time is off my resolution list. I retired the first of December."

—"Who needs resolutions? I like me the way I am and so do all my friends. Why knock a hit?"

—"Resolutions are for sissies. If you're really strong, you don't have to make them at New Year's".

—"Resolutions are made to break. My psychiatrist says its just builds up a guilt complex at breaking time. He told me to skip the whole bit and I'd advise you to do the same — for better mental health".

—"But dear, why should you go on a diet. You look just fine. A little fat, but just fine".

—"I say the heck with resolutions. If people don't like me the way I am, then I'll go to the dogs — personable sorts billed as man's best friend. Rightfully so".

NEW YEAR'S . . . GAY NIGHT OF THE YEAR except, reports UPI gloomily, in England where the unflappable English almost ignore it.

Frankfurt, Germany (UPI)—All over Europe this New Year's eve, people thought they were seeing into the future and not only because in Vino Veritas.

New Year's eve is everywhere considered to be the night when the spirits walk, and even in this age of computers and the welfare state, quite a few people like to reinsure with the supernatural.

In Germany and Scandinavia, people cast hot lead and read the cooling shapes to detect portents for the future. As usual, thousands of giggling virgins were assured their clump of metal resembles a baby.

For best results, the lead had to be cast just at midnight.

Virgins, perhaps because of their innocence, are better able to—but also more anxious to—peer into the future than those who have passed the point of no return.

A Finnish maiden may set a glass full of water on a table covered by white, unmarked paper and drop a wedding ring into the glass. At midnight, is she lights two candles, she may see the image of her future husband in the ring.

In Bavaria, a virgin stands with her back to the door of her bedroom, and throws her left shoe over her head. If it lands with the toe pointing at the door, she will be married within the year.

To determine who the lucky fellow is to be, she then can climb into bed backwards at precisely midnight, saying the while, "St Thomas, I exort you, let the love of my life appear tonight". An the chap turns up in her dream.

The Spanish and Portuguese eat 12 grapes or raisins at midnight—one each time the clock is struck—to insure good fortune. A German or Austrian will already have taken care of this matter on Christmas eve, by eating carp and slipping one of its scales into his purse.

Perhaps because of the unsuspected twist and turns their government has taken over the last 45 years, the Russians have pretty well abandoned attempts to predict the future on New Year's eve. But not even the dullest of party-pooping Communist functionaries would have worn black clothes this night. That would be pushing luck too far.

To kinds in Communist countries, New Year's eve takes the place of Christmas. The trees raised in the living room and richly decorated are "New Year's Trees". The presents are "New Year's Gifts", and best wishes are sent to friends on "New Year's Cards".

The Latin people along the Mediterranean aren't satisfied with simply starting the New Year with resolutions to change their ways. They demonstrate it physically by throwing old furniture and other trash out of their windows onto the street as the old year fades.

The French celebrated with a midnight "Reveillon" of oysters and champagne. As a correspondent in Paris reported, "No trash, no virgins here".

"Hogmanay" is a big thing in foggy, dourd Scotland. It begins with eating of the Haggis, which is beyond the understanding of a non-Scot.

(Editor's Note: A Scots employee of "The Post" claims Haggis is not eaten at Hogmany but on Burn's Night. "At Hogmany," he explained "we eat shortbread and rich fruit cake but definitely not haggis" "And at New Year's a Scots person won't let a visitor in the house unless they bring a gift — even if it's only a piece of coal." As far as the Highland Conga Line described here, our Scottish friend became rather violent when he read the description and had to be lead away quietly).

It goes on with "first footing," a sort of Highland Conga Line which starts with someone grabbing a bottle and calling on the neighbours, who grab a bottle and join him in calling on their neighbours, who grab and join him in calling grab, etc.

The Dutch and Germans eat lots of doughnuts with their champagne. The frankfurters call them "Krebbel," Berliners claim they are "Pfannenuochen" and the Dutch know them as "Oliebollen." But they have in common the lack of the hole in the middle that characterizes the American version

From the northern slopes of the Alps right up to the arctic circle, the people feel a need to increase their thirst on this night of nights, and they do so by eating great quantities of salty herring.

Whatever the other customs, most Europeans were touching off firecrackers, rockets and noisemakers at midnight—and kissing everyone in the vicinity exuberantly.

As the UPI bureau in Copenhagen reported, "one thing is certain, it is the gay night of the year." Doubled and redoubled everywhere except in England, where a correspondent gloomed "the unflappable English almost ignore it."

Sunderland

The holiday season was saddened for the people of the village at the sudden passing of one of it's best known citizens, Clarence Brethour. Sympathy of the community is extended to his widow and family. Mrs. Brethour was a patient in Lindsay Hospital when it was discovered her husband had passed away in his sleep.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morrow and family spent the Christmas holiday weekend in Stratford visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morrow.

The United Church Couples Club are sponsoring an operetta 'Trial by Jury' by the Lindsay Collegiate on January 11th. Several of the members who have seen the production found it to be a most amusing comedy.

Miss Virginia Bartley of Toronto visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bartley for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Orm Dixon and Lori of Hamilton spent Christmas with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Thompson.

Mrs. Pearl Archer spent Christmas in Little Britain with her son and family.

Cresswell

Mrs. Clarence Switzer has been spending some time in Oshawa with her stepmother, during her father's stay in Oshawa General Hospital with a heart attack.

Ramsay School held their annual Christmas concert on December 16, with a large attendance of parents and friends. The children performed splendidly, and the teacher, Mrs. J. Lake and the music teacher, Mrs. Ferguson are to be commended on the effort they put forth to make this concert the success it was. Santa Claus put in an appearance, complete with gifts, to the great enjoyment of the children. Refreshments were served at the close of the concert.

Strep throat germs have been prevalent in the community recently, among its victims were, Miss Isabel Murray, Master Frankie McCallum, Mr. Lawrence Morrison and Ruth Ann and Marilyn Webster. Happy to report all on the road to recovery at time of writing.

Mr. Leslie Boultwood is confined to hospital in Toronto, undergoing treatment for serious heart and asthma conditions. His many friends in the community wish him a speedy recovery and return to his home here.

St. John's Presbyterian Church held their annual Christmas Sunday School Concert on Friday, December 18th, with a very large attendance of parents, relatives and friends. Recitations, songs and dialogues were very well presented by the children. A series of carols was given by the choir and a humorous play presented by the adults of the congregation. Gifts from the Christmas tree were dispensed by Santa Claus, much to the enjoyment of adults and children alike. Appreciation is expressed to the teachers and children alike in their effort to make this evening a success as sickness prevailed in the community and many children were affected and school examinations were also on at the same time.

Mr. Helam Gorrill entertained several of his friends one evening recently. He has had several of his cattle dehorned.

Several from the community having returned to their positions with General Motors of Oshawa, after having been laid-off due to the recent strike.

OVER A BARREL?

ONE of four skaters in the scene above is still on his feet after successfully hurtling a row of barrels and cutting a fancy figure across the ice. The other three . . . well, you can see for yourself what happened to them, and it must be observed things could have been worse. How quickly can you find the path that the sure-footed man has taken in his round-about journey?

Simply Pick Up Sticks

TAKE this test yourself, then try it on friends: Arrange 17 matches or toothpicks to form the six squares above. Now, see how quickly you can reduce the number of squares in the figure from six to three by removing just five of the matchsticks.

Remember, you are to pick up five matchsticks and leave just three squares.

Solution: Remove the stick from the top of the middle square and the sticks and bottom sticks of the bottom and Know the Type?

IF EVER you've tried making typewriter designs, you know it's not easy. Even with a pattern to follow, an enormous amount of patience and concentration is necessary. The figure above is an example. See if you can copy it.

Cryptarithmetic Poser

STUDY the figures of this multiplication sum, then see if you can replace the X's with numbers that will make the multiplication work.

  XX3
 XX4X
 XXX

As a starting clue, note the righthand X in the first multiplication must be 1. Then the first figure multiplied by 3 must be 7. Go on from there.

Solution: 243 is 9 times 27. Replacing the X's with digits gives the sum 648 times 243 equals 157464.

Age-Old Problem

ON BEING asked the age of her children by a new acquaintance, a young matron who was not anxious to give her own age away replied as follows:

"Five years ago, John was two and one-third times as old as Mary. Next year he will be one and four-ninths as old."

As the acquaintance didn't ask any more questions, either she quickly figured out the ages or the problem was too much for her.

Can you give the ages?

Solution: John is twelve; Mary is four.

Dotograph Test for Jr. Readers

WHAT'S on the page? To find out, simply draw a continuous line from dot 1 to dot 2 to dot 3, and so on, until you have used up all of the dots. Where two numbers are beside one dot, use that dot for both.

Afterwards, color the drawing with colored pencils or crayons. You'll want to use bright colors for the missing figure, as you will observe when you see what it is—if you haven't guessed!

Ostrich Roundup

FIVE ostrich farmers have different numbers of birds. Can you figure out how many each has from the fact that the combination of two flocks in each possible way will produce the following totals:

35 56 58 45 45

Solution: The flocks contain 12, 5, 23, 14, and 22 birds respectively.

Puzzles and Pastimes

Your Turn to Win

EVERYTHING even-Stephen in the checker setting at right? Don't be deceived. Man-to-man strength is nowhere near as important as strategic placement and clever maneuvering.

White checkers, moving the board, to move and win in six moves is the challenge. See if you can meet it.

Long-time champ player Millard Hopper gives his solution below.

Solution: White 5-9 Black 13-6 White 13-10 Black 10-14 White 18-15 Black 14-18 White 22-17 Black 18-22 White 9-13 Black 22-26 White 13-22.

Listen, World!

PHRASES now in common speech testify how widely persons have listened to, and perhaps been influenced by certain men and women. Can you supply what's omitted here in a quotation from the past?

——— is a word void of sense; nothing can exist without cause."—Voltaire.

The missing word has six letters.

It's something to think about in assessing prospects for the New Year.

Who's it?

HE WAS born in France in 1623. A paper he wrote at 16 astonished mathematicians. At 19, he invented a calculating machine. He founded the theory of probability, discovered the properties of the cycloid and contributed to the advance of differential calculus. He also invented the hydraulic press and conducted experiments in atmospheric pressure. He died in 1662. Who?

Answer: Blaise Pascal.

COLOR-BY-NUMBER FUN POSER

WHAT'S a good title for today's Color-by-Number Fun Land scene? "Frozen Motion?" "Swan Lake?" "For Heaven's Sake! How Do I Put on the Brakes?" We'll let you decide after applying colors to the scene above according to the following indicators: 1—Yellow. 2—Red. 3—Blue. 4—Orange. 5—Green. 6—Violet. 7—Black. 8—Brown. 9—Pink. Apply red lightly for pink, if necessary.

If more than one person is interested, simply pass colors around and take turns applying them.

Apply colors neatly, of course. Try to keep them within bounds.

Afterwards, you may wish to paste picture to construction paper for use as a room decoration.

LOCAL EVENTS DURING THE YEAR

At the dawn of a new year, we recall some of the highlights and important events of 1964. It was mainly a year of industrial growth. A new airport was opened and some landmarks were changed or removed. The year was not marred very much by tragedy as had been the year before, but there were some controversial issues. There was some achievement in local sports but nothing really spectacular occurred sportswise.

The greatest industrial achievements were the beginning of the construction of the new Dominion Rubber plant and the opening of a new Brinton Carpet factory. The sod turning for the Dominion Rubber plant, which will have a great impact on Lindsay when it is opened, and for years after, was perhaps the most significant event industrially.

The enlarged 50,000 square-foot Brinton Carpet factory and major expansion to the Dominion Brakeshoe plant added greatly to the industrial growth of the town in 1964.

This growth was partly aided by the opening of the Lindsay municipal airport in October.

In 1964 the Academy Theatre took on a new look when it was refurbished and again put into use after the formation of the Academy Theatre Foundation, a group of citizens who would not allow the possible destruction of the fine old theatre. Two other landmarks, the band shell in Victoria Park and the old CPR station on Caroline Street were removed.

In the neighbouring community of Omemee, Dr. Jules Sobrien became involved in a controversy, culminating in national publicity, after he bought some scool property and the village tried to expropriate it for a park. The issue became more heated when the school burned to the ground and the Omemee Fire Chief reported it was arson.

On The Sports Front

Sports highlights for 1964 on the local front started with the Lindsay All Star Pee Wee hockey team when they went to the finals in the International "Silver Stick" tournament at Port Huron Michigan Feb. 1st. After defeating Barrie 3-2, Detroit 3-2, St. Catharines 4-3, the Lindsay lads lost out to Sarnia 3-1 in the championship final.

On April 27th at the Kiwanis Arena, the Lindsay Lions bowed out in their bid for the Ontario Junior "C" Hockey Championship to Hespeler Shamrocks. After the Lions won the first game 6-4, Hespeler bounced back to take the next four games 7-2, 4-3, 3-1, and 4-3. The Lions outshot the 'Rocks' 2-1 over the series.

On Friday, Sept. 11th Western Mercuries and Jenkins Construction met in the ninth game of a best of seven series for the Lindsay Men's Softball Championship at the George St. Park. With the Mercuries leading 12-1 the game was declared no contest and executive action later declared Westerns the winners.

Sonya Braves won the 1964 Victoria Independent Baseball League Championship on Sunday, October 4th when Tel Hallett shut out the Little Britain Cubs 2-0 on nine hits, in the seventh game of the final series.

December 29th finds the Lindsay Merchants Junior "C" hockey team preparing for a stretch run with Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats for the Cliff Johnston Trophy which Lindsay Juniors won last spring in the final game of the schedule.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincroh, MD., F.A.C.P.

THER'S NO SCARCITY TO HUMAN AILMENTS

Someday you wonder what to discuss. You want it to be something important for the majority of readers. You know you can't miss if you choose heart disease as a subject; of cancer; or ulcer; or thyroid disease; or arthritis. These enemies of mankind alone encompass and influence the lives of many millions of people.

But when in doubt, some how you never can overlook chronic anxiety. What human being is completely free from this plague? There are no bacteria involved. No viruses. Yet it seems to be contagious. Fear, either acute or chronic, is catching.

Shout fire in a crowded place and see what happens. (Not as an experiment, please.) Or, read your daily paper and listen to the news on the air. If there is a threat by another nation, see how millions of us catch chronic anxiety.

However, there are many other causes of anxiety. Each one of us is in some way target. The well-known and almost universal: financial fears. How will you pay your rent? How about milk for the children? A dress for the wife? The anxiety of living from day to day with minimum financial reserves? Not knowing how you will meet tomorrow's bills?

Thousands will tell you these fears are as nothing when compared to the threat of cancer. A wife undergoing a serious and complicated operation. A teen-ager brought into an emergency room, face shredded by an auto accident.

When you come to think of it, these are some of the answers to people who ask, "How can you sit down and write a column six days a week day after day, month after month, year after year? Where do you find all the subjects to write about?"

Comment: When there is a scarcity, that will be the millennium! The trouble is there are too many ills, fears and accidents that still bedevil the hapless human being. I'd prefer to have to wrack my brain to find a subject, than to have so many actual and potential sufferers to write about.

PREMENSTRUAL TENSION

Dear Dr. Steincroh: I'd like to have the answer to premenstrual tension. I know I'm harming my marriage but I can't seem to be able to control my nerves and depression 10 days prior to my due date. It has been proved that most major crimes by women are committed at this time of the month. There seems to be research for mostly everything else, why not a little more on this particular thing? It could save a lot of marriages and also cut the female crime rate.—Mrs. F.

Comment: I admit that for many years, we doctors stood by without knowing how to offer any help. But for the past years we have helped many women by giving them hormones, tranquilizers and medicines to rid the body of excess fluid which accumulated at such times. I suggest a consultation with your family doctor or with a gynecologist. Chances are you will improve with treatment.

BROCK LEGION ELECT OFFICERS

Sunderland (PNS) — The Brock Branch No. 141 Royal Canadian Legion held their regular meeting and election of officers in Legion Rooms with president Stan Vestby in the chair.

After regular business had been disposed of, President Vestby passed the gavel to Past President Richard Bartley who took charge of the election of officers, and the following slate of officers was elected for 1965. President, Stan Vestby; 1st. vice president Robert Stephens; 2nd vice president, George Durward; secretary, Reg Oldfield; Treasurer Jack Allin; Service Officer, Jack Allin; Chaplain, Rev. Fred Reed; Poppy Secretary, J. S. Miller; Sgt.-at-arms, George Parry; Executive Committee: Russell Park, Julian Page, Earl Hancock.

Past President Bartley returned the gavel to President Stan Vestby and after a motion of adjournment the meeting was closed with the Queen.

NO INTERFERANCE

Bournemouth, England (UPI) Locksmith Cecil Rudkin worked for an hour trying to open the jammed lock on a bank's front door. Of all the people who walked by him on main street, not one called police or asked why he was trying to get into the bank.

"I think it must be an example of the British attitude of not interfering with other other people", the bank manager said later.

Queen approves Maple Leaf Flag

Ottawa (UPI) — Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson disclosed today Canada's new national flag was approved by Queen Elizabeth Dec. 24 — the eve of the day he predicted the country would have the flag.

Pearson told a news conference a royal proclamation to bring the flag formally into effect now was being designed and will be forwarded to the Queen for her signature "as soon as it is ready."

Pearson's prediction of a flag by Christmas caused concernation in opposition ranks of the commons and was credited with strengthening conservative opposition to a pre-Christmas vote on the flag..

The flag was cleared through the commons Dec. 15 after the government imposed the debate limiting closure rule. The final vote of 163 to 78 for the new red single maple leaf on a white background with red borders came at 2:13 a.m.

1964 was boom year - but no room for complacency - Finance Minister

Toronto (UPI) — Finance Minister Walter Gordon said today 1964 was Canada's best year in terms of production, jobs, exports, living standards and technical progress, but he warned against complacency.

Speaking before a Canadian Club Luncheon, Gordon pointed to a substantial rise in the gross national product, record employment, higher wages, export and investment, increased personal spending and stepped up corporate profits as proof of the boom.

He noted, however, that Canada still faced a balance of payments problem and unemployment remained too high.

"Nevertheless, we have made considerable progress", the Finance Minister declared, "We must do better in the years to come."

Gordon touched on the Federal budget situation, but declined to confirm or deny recent speculation a tax cut would be introduced by the government in 1965. He was pleased, however, with the general financial picture.

"Because of the improvement in economic conditions and the resulting buoyancy of government revenues, it is clear that the budget deficit — will be much less than the $455 million originally forecast," Gordon said. "It will probably turn out be somewhere between $150 and $200 million. This would be the best showing since the year ending March, 31, 1958".

When the surplus in Federal Government transactions are included in the budget, Gordon said, there would likely be a budgetary surplus—for the first time since 1957

Gordon said the Liberal administration would continue its expansionary policies, possibly with some enlargement, and introduce some new policies to stimulate the present growth.

Directors will also be elected and auditors appointed and any other business brought before the meeting will be transacted.

ABILITY IMPAIRED MAN FINED $50

Clifford Green, 43, of 14 Division Street, Lindsay, was fined $50 and costs in Lindsay Police Court Monday or 14 days, as well as a six-month suspension of his license when he was convicted of having the care and control of an automobile while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Lindsay OPP Constable Peter Hamilton told the court he found the accused's vehicle in the ditch on Concession Road 7. Ops Township, near Highway 36, at 5:30 p.m. on December 25. He said the accused stated he had too much to drink "after all it's Christmas." Constable Hamilton said the skid marks leading from the rear of the vehicle measured 275 feet.

WIRES SIZZLED CALLED FIRE DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Phillips of 56 Lindsay street south took precautionary measures this afternoon by calling the fire department before a fire had actually broken out. Hearing a sizzling noise suspected to be coming from the house wiring, Mrs. Phillips called the fire department personnel who checked out the problem. "Early action in such cases often prevents major fire losses" commented fire chief Arnold Watson. "Our department is always available to investigate any suspicion of fire". "Mrs. Phillips did the right thing to call us when a fire hazard is indicated".

Minden Firemen Fight three Fires Saturday

Minden firemen were called out to three blazes within an eight hour period on Saturday.

At 2 p.m. Minden fire chief Eldon Deacon noticed three feet of flame shooting from the chimney of the Cameo restaurant on the main street and alerted the department. Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze. The restaurant was filled with smoke but no damage resulted.

At 4 p.m. a fire was reported in a house between Lochlin and Gelert. Since Snowdon township has no fire agreement with the Minden brigade, permission had to be obtained from Minden Reeve Charles Brandon before the reels could leave. The inside of the house owned by Harold Clarke of Lochlin was gutted and damage estimated in excess of $2,000. Firemen battled the fire for three hours.

At 10 p.m. firemen were called out again to a home owned by Harry Burns, four miles south of Minden on Highway 121 in Lutterworth township, to a chimney fire. The blaze was quickly put out and damage was estimated at $50.

Snow storm hits

1965 was barely twenty-four hours old before the long awaited snowfall hit this area. Starting early Saturday morning, an estimated three to four inches of snow fell on Lindsay streets and sidewalks. The storm boosted by high winds in some areas was province-wide with Toronto getting a good share. Low ceiling is said to have caused delay of some air flights Saturday.

On the local scene, street and sidewalk crews were at work Saturday clearing streets and sidewalks for normal traffic. The snow removal crews are reported to have been out early this morning taking the excess snow off main thoroughfares.

Lindsay OPP investigate many accidents

Lindsay OPP investigated a number of minor accidents over the holiday weekend.

On Saturday a car driven by Gary Ken Mintz, 21, of New Toronto sustained $40 damage when it lost control and crashed into a ditch on Highway 35. Police said the vehicle had been proceeding south on Highway 35.

Lindsay OPP Constable Lyle Welton investigated.

Total damage of $400 resulted at 7:55 p.m. Saturday when a car driven by Terry Wayne Holden of 22 St. Paul Street, Lindsay, rolled over on the sixth Concession Road of Emily Township near lot 18. Police said no injuries resulted.

Lindsay OPP Constable Robert McGregor investigated.

Total damage of $80 resulted Sunday at 4:05 p.m. when a car driven by Edith Luke, 51, of Oshawa, crashed into a car that was stopped on County Road 11 at Manilla. Lindsay OPP said the Luke vehicle turned south off Highway 7 onto the county road and hit a snow-drift. The car crashed into the side of one that was stopped, in the control of Peter Bilenduke, 25, of Oshawa.

Lindsay OPP Constable Lyle Welton investigated.

Inaugural council meeting January 11

The inaugural meeting of the 1965 Lindsay Town Council will be held on Monday, January 11th, at 8:00 p.m.

Mayor Holton told "The Post" today that the last meeting in the old year being late in the month, very little new business is on the agenda for a meeting tonight.

The mayor added that the inaugural meeting being held 1 week later will give council time to arrange the various committees of which chairmen will be named at the inaugural meeting. There will be no meeting of town council tonight, concluded the mayor.

MINOR BLAZE

Minor damage resulted when stove pipes ignited the ceiling of the home of Joseph Saunders about 8:30 a.m. Saturday. Lindsay firemen quickly extinguished the blaze.

Car hits trees, $1,000 damage

A car driven by Robert Hills of Mount Albert sustained $1,000 damage when it went through an intersection and crashed into a number of trees on Highway 505, three-and-a-half miles north of Victoria Road at 4:10 p.m. Sunday. Fenelon Falls OPP said the driver required 13 stitches to his upper lip. He was treated by Dr. J. Knowles of Kirkfield.

Fenelon Falls OPP Constable Charles Shepherd investigated.

REMANDED

A 35-year-old Bobcaygeon man, Grant Pogue was remanded one week on $1,000 cash or $5,000 property bail when he appeared in Lindsay Police Court Monday on eight charges, of which one is car theft.

CARS COLLIDE IN HEAVY SNOWSTORM

Total damage of $600 resulted when two cars collided and a third car crashed into a ditch to avoid a further collision on County Road 8 between Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon at 1:20 p.m. on Saturday. Fenelon Falls OPP said a car driven by Glen Leslie Coulter of RR1, Kirkfield and one driven by William Francis McCumber of Thorold collided during a heavy snowstorm on County Road 8. Police attributed the collision to road and weather conditions.

Witnesses to the accident was being investigated by Dale Coe of the Fenelon Falls OPP detachment, another car, driven by George Bell of Willandale took to the ditch to avoid hitting the vehicles involved in the previous crash.

Damage to each of the cars was estimated at $200.

Another car sustained $200 damage at 9:15 p.m. Fri. when a car driven by Oscar Lirette, 17, of Downsview went out of control and crashed into a tree. Police said the driver claimed the lights of his vehicle went out, causing him to lose control

Fenelon Falls OPP Constable Charles Shepherd investigated.

The Search

In a hospital corridor, the relative of a cancer patient was heard to say: "The man who finds a cure for cancer will be the greatest hero in the history of medicine."

The experts are less given to superlatives. They know that the search is hard and long. So much attention is being given to the hunt for this killer that it has been called "the greatest mobilization of resources — man, material and money—ever undertaken to conquer a single disease."

It is not surprising, therefore, that there should be encouraging breakthroughs. The latest is the drug, dactinomycin, which has just been licensed by the U. S. Department of Health and is effective in a type of kidney tumor in children and in carcinoma of the testes and uterus.

This is good news. It opens the door of hope for other victories in the war against a disease which is only second to heart ailment in Canadian death statistics.

Hope is a precious commodity. Doctors know that it is in itself a helpful medicine. But with hope must come caution, for the morale of a patient can be undetermined by lifting expectation so high that dejection is the inevitable result.

The battles against cancer are fought one by one. The scientist understands that while mankind has accumulated medical knowledge, it stands before discoveries still to come like a child playing with a pebble on the shore of an uncharted ocean.

Still there is no room for despair. The foundations for hope are strong and unrelenting. All who suffer must keep in mind the picture of the patient researcher who begins a line of exploration and then begins again, whose lexicon does not contain the word defeat.

Concentration

"We're told that it's very difficult to concentrate for any length of time — I'm sure that is true. But I'm sure one can extend these periods of concentration by trying to put one's other faculties to sleep or to make them quiet, that is, not to have any reaction to what somebody said to you yesterday or how rude somebody was ten minutes ago or how sleepy you might be, or what you're going to have for lunch. If you can shut all that out and actually attend to what you are doing, the chances of actually absorbing what you want to absorb are much higher."

British conductor Colin Davis

Bad Old Days

"People talk about the stress and strain of modern life, but it is nonsense. Who in a normal state of mind would like to return to a world without anaesthetic for operations, without vaccination, and immunization against the dreadful diseases that killed off millions of children, without running water or, indeed without refrigerators, washing machines, gramophones, modern clothing or holidays?"

Returns home

Lindsay friends of Lawson Blakely, Cambridge Street, are greeting him on his return home after an absence of two years during which he has been radio operator with the British Merchant Marine. During the days of the war when he was on the high seas, the Lindsay boy went through some harrowing experiences.

Some weeks ago the Post carried a lengthy article on a letter written by Mr. Blakely in which the torpedoing of his ship the Pensilva was described in detail.

His many friends were pleased to note his safe arrival at home. He arrived in Halifax on New Year's Eve and came home yesterday.

Investigate airport project

The three members of the investigating committee from the Department of Transport, whose task it is to inspect prospective airports throughout the country, are in Lindsay and are today continuing their inspection of the suggested sites for an airport in this locality. The three men, S. S. Foley, V. Allsop and R. Hole, were honoured guests at the joint meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs last evening.

Seized

The United States steamer Executive has been detained and 13,000 feet of pure nickel tubing seized as a prize, it was reported today.

Lindsay man for senate

The Post has been informed that a local gentleman is a candidate for the senatorship, rendered vacant by the death of the late Senator Thomas Coffey, of Guelph. Senator Coffey was a Roman Catholic representative in the Senate from Ontario and his successor will naturally be a member of that faith. The local aspirant for the position is a man of exemplary character and his appointment would give general satisfaction.

Major Alger is examiner

The following have been appointed to medically examine applicants for the third contingent: Ottawa, Maj. Argue; Peterborough, Maj. Cameron; Belleville, Capt. McColl; Brockville, Lieut. Carron; Lindsay, Maj. Alger; Smith's Falls, Lieut Stammers; Port Hope, Dr. Shields; Cornwall, Lieut. Munroe; Cobourg, Capt. Fields. All are members of the AMC excepting Dr. Shield.

Homestead burns

Last night about 8 p.m. the old Ferris homestead, on the Ferris farm, South Ops, was destroyed by fire. The house has not been occupied for some years. It was a rendezvous for tramps and was also frequented by boys at different times. The fire was undoubtedly of incendiary origin.

Deep freeze for eyes

New York (UPI)—One of the brightest promises for 1965 is in a now developing technique for storing eyes in deep freeze for long periods of time without harming them.

It is the promise of sight for uncounted thousands, especially in developed countries where there are no "eye banks" and hence no chance for restoring sight by grafting the full thickness of the cornea.

Such grafts are sight-giving when people are blind because their own corneas are scarred. The graft materials are the eyes of persons who out of love for humanity will them to "eye" banks.

But there is a critical problem in these "donor eyes." It is to preserve the through-and-through clarity of their corneas until they can be grafted into the deeply scared corneas of blind recipients.

As of now this kind of clarity usually vanishes when eyes are deep-frozen. The corneas become opaque and therefore useless for full thickness grafting. The highly organized "eye banks" of the United States and other medically advanced countries now solve the problem by having recipients waiting when donors die.

Eyes are rushed from newly dead to the expectantly living. If no recipients are lined up the eyes are deep-frozen. At least their thin outer surfaces remain optically clear indefinitely and can be successfully grafted onto corneas which are only lightly scarred, on the surface.

The bright promise was revealed to American ophthalmologists, through a technical journal of the American Medical Association, by the well-known British medical writer, H. D. Trevor-Roper. He credited the new technique largely to his colleague, Dr. F. O. Mueller.

The donnor eye is immediately injected with a solution of dimethyl sulfoxide. It is then deep-frozen in a solution containing 10 per cent of the anti-freeze glycerol in a sealed ampule and presumably can be kept in a state of suspended vitality indefinitely.

The corneas of nine eyes preserved in this way have been used in full-thickness grafts, he reports. Seven of the nine remained optically clear which meant their recipients saw again. Two of the nine turned opaque but "factors other than those related to their storage could reasonably be blamed," he said.

He had no doubt the technique would be refined "in the light of still newer experiments." Its first successes show "we know now that the problem is solvable, and only time is needed to perfect our solution."

About one-sixth of the blind are blind because of scarred corneas, "and a graft might well restore their sight," he said. 'The barrier to achieving this is not so much the shortage of skilled, surgeons, for the techniques are well established and not too difficult to learn, but primarily a shortage of donor eyes.

"If only a satisfactory way of prolonged low-temperature storage of donor eyes could be found, all the eyes that go to waste through lack of an immediate recipient would be saved and could be transported at leizure to distant places for the grafts that are so desperately needed."

Historic building restored

The newly-restored Banqueting House in London's Whitehall is the only important part of the old Whitehall Palace that once covered a large area now occupied by Government offices to have escaped destruction by fire in 1698.

Describing some of its features in the BBC General Overseas Service programme 'Here and Now', Hilary Haywood commented that the famous architect Inigo Jones had built it in a mere three years, between 1619 and 1622. It had, in fact never been used for banquets, had never had a kitchen, and was really a hall, not a house. "The high and elegant hall, now re-decorated in its original style, has a marvelous ceiling with nine panels painted by Rubens, which cost what was then a fortune — £3,000. They show rather fanciful incidents of James I's reign; the triumph of the Virtues over the Vices, and a lot of jolly, laughing cherubs. During the last war, these precious panels were dismantled and stored for safety in a country manor house. Afterwards, they were restored — an operation that took four and a half years to complete." Five pictures painted by Isaac Fuller in 1651 and discovered in a very dilapidated condition after being lost sight of for half a century have also been restored and rehung. One shows King Charles II after his escape from the Battle of Worcester hidden in the famous oak-tree, sound asleep.

It was in this hall that the Lords and Commons assembled to ask William of Orange to accept the Crown of England (in place of the deposed James II), said Hilary Haywood, and it was through the main stairway window that Charles I stepped out to his public execution in Whitehall; but in the main it had been used for masques and plays given for the amusement of the Royal Court—although Charles I, a noted art patron and collector, had stopped this for fear that candle-smoke might damage the paintings.

"The walls have been repainted in white, cream and gold," said Hilary Haywood, "the floor relaid in oak, and the outside has been cleaned. As he went to his death from this same Banqueting House, Charles I. was heard to say, 'I go from a corruptible to an incorruptible crown, where no disturbance can be', and this serene uncluttered hall seems to be a place where no disturbance can be either."

Weighty Problem

This month Britain produced the world's heaviest turkey at 63 lb. 12 ounces. Called Master Gobbler he weighed only 2 ounces at birth, and took 18 months to reach his prime. Master Gobbler, auctioned for charity, will produce a Christmas dinner for 280 to 300 people. It was bred by British United Turkeys, of Hockenhull, Cheshire.

TIMELY TIPS

by Macdonald Institute Guelph

Broiled tomato slices are tasty vegetable treats. Peel tomatoes and slice into generous pieces. Top with mayonnaise or salad dressing and finely chopped fresh parsley. Broil until tender, about 3 or 4 minutes. Serve at once. For an open-faced sandwich using this idea, toast bread slices on one side in the broiler. Place tomatoes with mayonnaise and parsley on untoasted side and broil.

For tastier sandwiches, slice meat very thin and use two or more slices per sandwich. These sandwiches do not require any more meat and the thinner slices make eating more pleasant.

Ontario-grown apples and pears combine for an attractive, nutritious salad. Arrange generous slices of unpared apples and ripe pears on lettuce. Serve with a cheese dressing made by combining equal amounts of mayonnaise, sour cream and thin French dressing sprinkled with your favourite grated or crumbled cheese to taste.

Sagging Shelf

If one of the shelves in a closet is sagging dangerously, nail a wood cleat to the wall under the middle of the shelf. This cleat should be long enough to be nailed into at least two studs. If the shelf not only sags but is also warped, support it on a large angle iron screwed to the wall or on a right-angled metal shelf support.

Hi-Fi Improvement

Where two separate speakers are used in a hi-fi system to reproduce the high and low frequencies, apply one or two coats of lacquer to the cone of the larger speaker, which will stiffen the cone and improve its response to the lower frequencies.

Iodine On Hands

One quick way to remove iodine stains from the hands is by rubbing with a mixture of lemon juice and warm water.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How should an electric toaster be cleaned?

A. In the first place, NEVER put it in water! Use a damp cloth (not wet) to wipe it off. Use a mild abrasive to take off stains or butter, but be gentle about it. The heating element cleans itself when you turn it on. A small paint brush, kept dry, is useful for cleaning the grids.

Q. How can I keep leather articles—luggage, belts, chairs and plain kid-leather shoes—clean and new-looking?

A. By rubbing them with white, beaten into stiff ness.

EMO REPORT

Household Food Stockpiling

by EMO Co-ordinator for Victoria—Haliburton JAMES HALL

Emergency Supply Planning Branch Department of Defence Production

In normal times food is readily available to the population at numerous retail outlets, particularly in urban areas, and a well-established network of distributed food from producer to consumer. Similarly, there is in peacetime a reliable distribution system for the supply of the various forms of energy used in the preparation and cooking of food.

In the event of a nuclear attack, however, large stocks of food supplies would likely be destroyed physically and the peace time distribution systems would be seriously disrupted in all probability. Moreover, since a nuclear explosion could blanket a substantial area many miles down wind of the target with dangerous fallout (radioactive), many people would not be able to obtain food or water from regular sources for days or weeks without overexposure to radiation. Consequently, it must be anticipated that the survivors of a nuclear attack in many parts of the country would have to rely on such reserves of food and water as they might have in their homes for a period of days or even weeks following the attack.

Food does more than just keep people alive; it keeps them willing to live. It relaxes the nerves and promotes physical and mental stability; and food, apart from its purely life-giving properties, would play a vital role in maintaining morale.

Canada is rich in food resources, and large food surpluses are stored across the continent. But with the disruption of transportation after a nuclear attack, there might be a considerable lapse of time before distribution of essential resources from areas of surplus to areas of need could be established, by the War Supplies Agency. Hence, households should be prepared to support themselves for a minimum of 14 days after an attack.

It is planned that the War Supplies Agency would introduce an elementary rationing system on a local basis at an early stage of the post-attack period, where-ever it might be possible to do so, to conserve local food stocks until additional supplies could be brought in, but in the best circumstances this would take time and the amount of the food ration initially would probably be at a bare subsistence level.

Household food stockpiles accumulated in peace time would not only serve to augment such food supplies as could be made available to consumers in the early post-attack period but they would also contribute substantially to the orderly introduction of rationing by reducing the worry of families and individuals about food shortages and thus lessening the dangers of panic.

Mild weather keeps Cannington Arena a busy place

Woodville Maroons hockey team had their home opening game set for last Saturday night somewhat upset by the weather man. Hoping to have ice in the Woodville Arena for the new year, the first game scheduled at home was set for last Saturday night with the Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats as opposition. As a result of the previous mild weather the game was moved to Cannington Arena where their home games to date had been played.

With prospects of a home opener, the Maroons hockey Club scheduled their draw for this game, and it was carried out as scheduled only at Cannington. Ron Vernon of Cannington won $50.00 with $25. prizes going to Ivan McMillan of RR1 Lorneville, and Norm Stark, Box 126, Woodville.

Cannington-Sutton Twins have an exhibition game of interest coming up next Friday when Whitby Junior "B's" featuring Mike Taylor of Canning, will meet the Twins in Cannington Arena.

Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats maul Maroons 9-5

Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats continued on their triumphant march at the front of the Central Ontario Junior Hockey League parade as they defeated Woodville Maroons 9 - 5 in Cannington Saturday night.

The Ti-Cats worked up a 4 - 0 lead in the first period and then matched each Woodville goal from there in. Big John Nicholls again led the Cats scoring four goals and adding one assist. Ron Ingram scored twice, with Joe Handley, Dale Junkin, and Brian Campbell each getting one. Woodville goals came from Murray McArthur, Tom Lee, Ron Bell, Fred Allen, and John Johnson.

After the four goal first period, the teams exchanged goals through the final two frames with Bobcaygeon taking the lead each time.

John Nicholls scored at 6:58 of the second period and Murray McArthur evened at 8:20. Nicholls scored again at 12:32 and Tom Lee countered at 18:57. In the third period it was Dale Junkin at 0:15, Ron Bell at 2:37, Brian Campbell at 3:05, and Fred Allen at 6:57. John Nicholls again at 10:13 and John Johnson at 14:26.

Twins down Aces 7-4 on holiday

Little Britain Aces were unable to make a 3 - 1, second period lead stand up New Year's Day at Cannington. The Twins after scoring just seven seconds of the first first period, saw the Aces score their third goal at the thirteen second mark of the second period. The Twins however started to roll and had the game tied up before mid period going on to win 7 - 4.

Roger Gillis with two goals and assists by Ron and Perc Jenkins accounted for the Aces markers. Ron Josephson scored twice for the Twins while McLeish, Parliament, Neill, Richardson and Fairbairn completed the winning effort. Penalties were 14 - 7 against the Twins.

A LOVELIER YOU

By MARY SUE MILLER

USEFUL BEAUTY TOOL. During the warm-weather months, good grooming is more than ever attractive, and yet it is more than ever difficult to maintain. High-level grooming calls for extra care and supplies.

Among supplies, one of the handiest is the cotton ball. It is instantly available, owing to a pinch-and-pull arrangement in its clear, plastic dispenser. Its uses are myriad.

For a start, this applicator is a boon in keeping make-up fresh. You simply dampen a cotton ball with skin freshener and pat the face with it. Presto, you look dewy as the morn! Cotton balls make excellent powder puffs.

For wiping away mascara remover, cotton balls are the gentlest implement to use. Apply a dampened one to each eyelid while sunning, and you will avoid those awlish circles that come from the constant wearing of sunglasses.

And there are still many other services these little fluffs of cotton perform: wedged between the toes in pedicure time, they keep enamel from smudging. Tucked under the edge of a setting net, they prevent ridges on the forehead. If you dip one in sachet and tuck it in your bra, the scent will last all day. You then will know how sweet are the uses of this little tool.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

TIP FOR ANXIETY PATIENTS, GET INTERESTED IN OTHERS

I have had ample proof, in the letters I receive from readers, that few people try to be so helpful to others as those who have found some way to overcome or lessen anxiety. Knowing what it means to suffer the fearsome pangs of nerves gone awry, they keep trying to help those who cry out in fear. For example, here is a typical letter with some practical pointers which will help some anxiety sufferers:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have a few hints for the woman who is afraid of everything. I'm 32, happily married, with nice children and the usual share of troubles.

My dear woman, I have some of your fears and a few of my own. I know so well that panicky, terror-filled feeling when in a crowd, etc.

Are you an introvert, by nature, as I am? If you are, then the only help you will find is to live by this rule: take the focus off yourself and put it on other people. This is a difficult habit to acquire but it can be done gradually. At first you must force yourself to become truly interested in the other fellow–his life, his problems, etc. If there is any way you can help someone do it!

Really listen to what your family and others have to say. Visit the sick, bake a cake for your nice neighbour, call someone who's lonely. So many people need a smile, a pat on the back, some encouragement.

WILL ENRICH LIFE

Give of yourself generously. You will enrich your life, make new friends, become more lovable and most of all, it will take your thoughts off yourself. Your fears will not be wholly gone, but keep busy in this manner and they'll be pushed into a small corner of your life. If you sincerely try to live as I have described, in a short while you will find yourself alive for the first time.

In those moments when you become very tense and nervous, a long, long walk is the best tranquilizer in the world. If that is not possible, try to distract yourself in some other way. Try a new hairdo, shop, bake bread–anything!

When I feel I am going to be frightened of visiting a new place for the first time, it helps to be as well-groomed as possible, even though your wardrobe may not be the latest. Build up your confidence by developing whatever talents you have, no matter how small and unimportant they may seem.

But of all, the most important: think of others more than of yourself.–Mrs. A.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: What is meant by masked hyperthyroidism?–Mr. D.

Comment: I suppose that's another way of saying that the diagnosis has been missed. If it's there, that's it. Just like diabetes mellitus might be called masked if we did not diagnose it. Or, cancer might be masked (which it often is), or heart disease. Any disease, for that matter.

But returning to masked hyperthyroidism. It means that the patient can go along undiagnosed for months because he hasn't the typical symptoms. He may have only slight loss of weight. Or, the tremor of his fingers is so slight, it evades notice. Or, there may be no bulging of his eyes.

Masked hyperthyroidism is unmasked (as is any other illness) when the doctor keeps in mind all possibilities. When he uses a basal metabolism or does a protein-bound iodine test, that is usually sufficient for the unmasking process.

WHEN IS A DUCK IN SHOOTING RANGE?

GENERALLY RELIABLE IS THE RULE THAT WHEN A DUCK'S COLORS CAN BE CLEARLY SEEN, THE RANGE IS ABOUT 30 TO 35 YARDS.

INEXPERIENCED DUCK HUNTERS ARE TEMPTED TO SHOOT TOO SOON AT PASSING DUCKS. THIS OFTEN CAUSES THE DUCKS TO FLARE AWAY, THERE BY LESSENING OPPORTUNITIES FOR BETTER SHOTS.

YOU'LL SCORE MORE AT 35 YDS.

WATCH IT

How many times have you come in after a session in traffic and beefed about the antics of The Other Driver. He's the nut who stole some of the road from you, who raced through the green signal to cut you off, or who made a right-hand turn from the left-hand lane. He's the oddball who didn't signal when he turned or who was going a good 15 miles an hour beyond the speed limit.

Did you ever stop to realize that, to all the motorists around you, YOU are The Other Driver?

Canadiens win 2-1 over Hawks

UPI — Leave it to the league-leading Montreal Canadiens to break the Chicago Black Hawks' unbeaten string of 13 games.

The Canadiens, who saw their lead threatened by the Hawks over the past weeks, decided it was time for a showdown last night as they skated to a 2-1 victory over Chicago.

In other National Hockey action, the Detroit Red Wings crushed the Boston Bruins, 8-1 and the New York Rangers earned a - tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Claude Provost brought Montreal its sixth win in its last seven games by scoring an unassisted goal in the final period with the Canadiens a man short. Provost grabbed the puck near the Chicago bench while the Hawks were substituting players and outskated Matt Ravlich to the net, feinting goalie Dennis De Jordy out of position for the shot.

Bobby Hull, the league's leading scorer, tallied his 32nd goal of the season in the second period for the Hawks' only score.

Detroit's Norm Ullman and Bruce MacGregor scored two goals apiece to lead the Wings' rout of Boston.

It was another rough night for Boston goalie Ed Johnston as he was credited with 48 saves. Johnson, who made 43 stops last Saturday in a 3-1 to Montreal, was practically helpless on six of Detroit's goals.

A last period goal by Jean Ratelle earned the Rangers a tie with the Maple Leafs. The deadlock failed to break the New Yorkers' slump which now has produced only one win in the last 13 games.

Sweep!

A story regarding the manufacture of curling stones of black granite discovered in the northern part of Ontario caught the eye of many readers. It is interesting to note that a representative of the newly formed company called on Allan Brothers Monumental Works and ferreted out many interesting facts.

In days gone by, Allan Brothers did a "land office business in sharpening old curling stones. They were experts and clubs from many parts of Ontario shipped truck loads of curling stones to Lindsay to be sharpened. Stones were shipped from as far east as Montreal and as far north as Owen Sound. Charles Allan was an enthusiastic member of the Peel street club for several years. He can recall incidents relating to the Club and some of its key curlers. He recalled that Frank Carew sent a rocking, rolling stone down the ice. "It crashed a stone on the edge of the rings and one of the stones fell apart like a broken egg" said Charlie. He also related when George Little was one of the finest curlers in Ontario. One day skip Little had Allan Brothers resharpen a pair of old stones, the bottoms were very smooth. The job was completed but when skip Little tried them out they did not perform too well, and Little was quite disturbed when he lost the game. He ordered another try at sharpening the rocks. Knowing however that the rocks were alright, Allan set the rocks out in a snowbank to keep cool, and then returned them to the rink without any more work being done on the granites. That night George Little became accustomed to the stones and he was quite happy, especially as he won the game.

The tie enabled Toronto to remain seven points ahead of New York in the battle for the fourth and final playoff spot.

JUST WONDERFUL

Sawyer's Bar, Calif (UPI) — Alaskan bush pilot Bob Young noticed a woman waving a white sheet on the ground while flying his helicopter in perilous weather during relief operations in flood-stricken nothern California.

He landed in the only safe place, a flat area about one-quarter mile away from the woman's cabin. Then he waded through waist-deep snow drifts, hopeful of bringing help to the woman.

But when he arrived at the cabin, all she wanted to know was what the helicopter was looking for.

Money donated for church renovation

Omemee (PNS) — Reverend Kenneth Crawford installed the officers for 1965 when Trinity United Church Women met on Wednesday, 16th December with Mrs. T. J. Pogue presiding...

It was decided to donate $200 to the Trustee Board to help with expenses incurred in recent renovations to the front of the church, also to help Sunday School in financing the Christmas Treat. Mrs. Leslie Casey presented a Christmas worship service with readings and carols. She was assisted by Mrs. Ross Rehill and Mrs. T. J. Pogue. The Ladies' Quartette, Mrs. William Weir, Mrs. Arthur Weir, Mrs. Leslie Casey and Mrs. T. J. Pogue sang.

Mrs. Vern Lang read a story depicting life in this world — if Christ had not come; and bade us rejoice that He did come and that we are able to celebrate the miracle of Christmas. Mrs. Irvin Connell played a piano solo. Mrs. Leslie Casey announced the sale of recipe books, assembled by her group. The meeting closed with the Benediction and lunch was served.

Dalrymple

A very fine concert was produced by Miss S. Smith and her pupils at Mud Lake School on Dec. 21st. Comical recitations, songs and dialogues, a cute square dance and pretty pageant were presented. Santa Claus arrived to give gifts to the children from the tree. Mr. W. Wright was the genial master of ceremonies.

Mrs. McNamee and the pupils of Dalrymple School invited parents and friends to an informal Christmas party in the school room on Dec. 22nd. After a short programme of recitations and songs and a Christmas pageant, announced by Norman Black, a senior student, Santa arrived to visit the children. Coffee and refreshments were served.

The children of Dalrymple Sunday School were guests at a Christmas party at the church on Dec. 23rd. Films were shown followed by a Christmas tree.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ridway welcomed several friends and relatives into their home on Christmas eve. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Eastcott of Burlington and Mr. and Mrs. T. Harrington and Michael of Weston.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wilson spent Christmas with their family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Fenton in Orillia.

World news today

Ottawa — High conservative sources in Ottawa say party chief John Diefenbaker will step down from his post during the coming year.

The informants say Diefenbaker is actually considering possible retirement during his current vacation on the island of Tobago in the Carribean.

A possible date for his action would be the 25th anniversary of his election to parliament on March 26th, according to the sources.

If Diefenbaker does not step down voluntarily, there is also, according to the reports, a chance he will have to face a leadership convention during the year.

This would be forced by the elements within the conservative party who want to keep the national character of the party strong and who would try to oust Diefenbaker to placate Quebec conservatives who are threatening to bolt.

The national conservative party just eleven months ago gave Diefenbaker overwhelming support at a national convention.

Saigon, Viet Nam — Buddhist Monks ended a two-week period of quiet by renewing agitation against the American-supported government of Premier Tran Van Huong. The threat of new political turmoil came as Communist Guerrillas opened a mortar attack on the long Thanh district headquarters, 17 miles east of Saigon.

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia — Malaysia strengthened defense preparations along its border with Indonesia in anticipation of intensified attacks. Military leaders in Kuala Lumpur expressed fear of possible major assaults by Indonesia if that nation carries out its threat to quit the United Nations.

La Paz, Bolivia — The Bolivian army reported it had put down an attempted revolt by the civilian federal police and supporters of deposed president Victor Paz Estensoro. Sources said more than 100 persons had been arrested. There were no reports of violence.

Manila — The Philippines government deployed troops in Pampanga Province on reports of a new outbreak or Communist huk activity. Two thousand troops were sent into the province, the scene of the Huk rebellion 14 years ago.

Berlin — The communist wall was sealed again until Easter. Tears and clinging embraces were visible at the five crossing gates as the 16-day Christmas visiting period came to an end. About 821,000 West Berliners poured through the wall to visit relatives in Communist East Berlin.

Munich, Germany — Thomas Dehler, Parliamentary vice president of the Free Democratic party, said the crisis in the Western Alliance could only work to Germany's advantage. "Whoever supports continuation of the European and Atlantic policies of the past," he said, "sacrifices Germany and obtains in return not even a trace of security or even a chance to survive."

TENSIONS IN AFRICAN CONTINENT CONTINUE TO RISE IN NEW YEAR

London (UPI) — Efforts toward African unity are far from encouraging in the new year.

Emotional pressures, weak regimes, economic troubles and racial strife all have contributed to weakening the frail structure of the organization for African unity.

The Congo troubles have added to the tensions in the African continent, with no immediate solutions in sight.

The Congo rebellion was preceded by one in Zanzibar last year. In both cases Communist strirrings have played their part, but Africa's own divisions are an intergral part of everything happening there today.

Rivalries which the organization for African unity was intended to remove have not only reappeared, some have been deepened.

Some of the French speaking states have shifted from the moderates to the militants. They include the Republic of the Congo (Brazzaville) Burundi and Dahomey, according to expert assessments. Even compromise-seeking Ethiopia has moved toward a harder line.

The moderates include Ivory Coast and Malagasy.

Troubles in Zanzibar and more recently in the Sudan have deepened other controversial aspects, such as differences between Arab and non-Arab Africa.

It is against this background that rivaling Sino-Soviet interests are seeking to win a foothold or widen already existing footholds in the continent.

Having failed so far to push the Communist creed to any important degree in Africa, both Moscow and Peking are seeking to push their political interests by exploiting African national movements.

So far two Communist giants Red China has been making bigger inroads into the African scene.

One of the objectives of Pan-African unity has been to form a group strong enough to keep Africa out of the cold war. There are in fact already signs that Africans, whose mistrust and anger have been directed primarily against colonism and "imperialism", are getting disenchanted with the performance of Communism, as reflected by the Sino-Soviet rivalry.

But there is no indication that either Peking or Moscow intends to ease up their campagns of infiltration of Africa—and the broad division in the continent itself encourage them.

Police investigate rash of break-ins at Sunderland

Sunderland (PNS) — Brechin OPP are investigating a rash of break-ins that occurred here through the night. Brechin OPP said 5 break-ins were reported but theft occurred at only one of the places broken into. Police said a quantity of silver and four watches were stolen from Young's Food Market. Also entered during the night were the Sunderland Post Office, the CNR railway station, Ross Doble's Farm Equipment and the Sunderland firehall. Nothing was believed to have been taken from the four other premises said police.

It was reported that the first break-in was discovered by David Ellis of Peterboro, who was delivering mail at the post office, after he found the lock had been broken on the post office door.

It was reported that the proprietor of Young's Food Market, who lives above the store, knew nothing of the entry and theft until police called him from his store, downstairs.

Police did not estimate the value of the merchandise and cash stolen but said it was a minor theft. Brechin OPP Constable Lorne Armstrong is investigating.

Second break-in in one week

"We welcome repeat customers, but not these ones", Lynn Cascadden, proprietor of Lynns's Lunch on William St. North told "The Post" as he described the second break-in at his store in less than a week. Monday night thieves took two dollars in silver from his establishment.

Mr. Cascadden said the culprits broke down a rear door Thursday and took two cartons of cigarettes; Monday night entry was gained through the same door but this time they carefully removed the glass to make their entry. He said both times marks were made by what appeared to be the same kind of boot, at the scene.

Police said the break-in was reported at 7 a.m. Tuesday. Lindsay Police Constable William March is conducting an investigation.

Scout Christmas Tree sales big success, meeting told

It was reported at a meeting of the 2nd Lindsay group committee that the sale of Christmas trees was a success. Committee chairman, Murray Smith told "The Post" the group is planning to sell trees again next year.

Finance Chairman, Richard Baker, put forth a number of recommendations regarding price, quality and procedure that should be taken into consideration if the group were to sell trees in future years. Mr. Baker said these recommendations were the result of studying the trends in this year's sale.

Members of the group committee also suggested holding another rummage sale, a fireworks display, and perhaps a variety show on a district basis.

The group will hold a father-and-son Communion Breakfast on February 21, following a church parade to 9:30 am. Mass at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, it was learned.

The group committee reported a number of vacancies in the scout troop and the cub pack.

Back To The Beat

It is reported that the Lindsay Police Department will ask the Police Committee to recommend to council the purchase of an additional cruiser in this year's budget. We are not in a position to say whether or not an additional cruiser is needed by the department. The Lindsay detachment consists at present of a Police Chief, one Sergeant, two Corporals, seven policemen, one police cadet and three by-law enforcement officers plus a cruiser and a motor-cycle. With that strength perhaps an additional cruiser is desirable.

The point we would like to make however is that in many towns the policemen have lost contact with the public. Policemen no longer (in most places) pound the beat like they used to. No longer do they know the public so intimately, no longer do they have as close a finger on the pulse of a town. This is possibly the reason why in many communities the public have stayed aloof when policemen have been attacked. All too often the guardian of the law is the uniformed figure seen in a cruiser who appears momentarily on the highways as you drive past (at a safe speed), or who pulls you over if you drive past too fast.

We like to see policemen on the street. We like to see them making friends with school childen, helping the elderly across the streets and keeping an eye on our property.

Give the Lindsay police department another cruiser by all means, if it is necessary, but let us not make the mistake of motorising all our constables. The man on the beat is still an important figure in town.

Snow Removal

The snow removal arrangements in Lindsay once again fell flat on its face during the recent snowfall. Perhaps because we had a green Christmas the Board of Works thought we would have a green January and February.

The department was slow in getting equipment out, tardy in getting roads and sidewalks cleaned, and never did finish the job up satisfactorily. Main highways leading out of Lindsay were clean or safely sanded on the Saturday of the storm. In Lindsay even late on Sunday streets were in a disgraceful condition and even by Monday the streets were not adequately cleaned.

Perhaps after such a spell of dry weather the town had loaned its machinery to help in British Columbia, in its unusual snow clearing problems. If so, we suggest they get the machinery back fast. We need it!

$5,000 damage in fire

Fireman battled for two hours this morning to bring under control a fire which threatened to destroy a section of one of the town's most important business blocks. At 3.15 o'clock an alarm was sent in to the fire department when citizens discovered smoke pouring out of the windows of the offices above Gregory's Drug Store and the barber shop of Frank Speer.

Before the fire was finally put out, it had gutted the Speer shop and had seriously damaged other sections of the building chiefly with smoke.

The building's occupants affected by the fire are: Gregory's Drug Store-Porter's Book Store, which were filled with smoke; the dental office of Dr. Wilson; the office of Lloyd A. Flack, optometrist; Brimmell's clothing shop, the Division Court office, the insurance office of Neil McCullach, the barber shop and adjoining offices. The majority of these places of business suffered chiefly from smoke damage and the barber shop was hardest hit by the actual blaze.

Sick of character evidence

The attention of Attorney-General Gordon Connant has been directed to a statement in Lindsay police court by J. E. Anderson, K. C., Victoria County Crown Attorney, yesterday, when the Crown refused permission to Constable David Adair to give character witness for a young man accused of assaulting a soldier.

At that time, Mr. Anderson said he was sick of provincial police giving character evidence and that he was not going to stand for it in "this court."

Favour votes for women

Unusual interest was given municipal elections throughout Ontario yesterday by the submission of a number of plebiscites favouring the extension of municipal franchises to married women with proper qualifications. The suffrage organizations, following the success attending submission of a similar plebiscite in Toronto, determined to strengthen their campaign for a franchise by obtaining a show of opinion over the province wherever councils could be induced to take up the matter.

In every municipality where the people voted upon the question, according to returns received last night the plebiscite was carried.

In Lindsay the plebiscite was given a majority of 185, every ward voting in favour of it. A majority was registered in every polling subdivision save two—Isaac's and Tannery's.

Mayor Beal Wins

In a contest in which about only two-thirds of the total vote was polled Mr. R. M. Beal ran away from his opponent in the mayoralty contest on Monday, and when the smoke of battle cleared away it was found that Mr. Staples was some 661 votes behind. Guesses were made during the day that Mr. Beal would win out by 500 majority, but it was thought that owing to the small vote, his majority would only be a couple of hundred. The preponderence of the vote in favour of Mr. Beal was in the nature of an avalanche. Mr. Staples being only able to poll 160 votes.

Soviets depart from Marx theory

(UPI)—A basic tenet of the Marxist-Leninist philosophy is that each member of a Communist state shall produce according to his ability and receive according to his need.

And while no Soviet leader would dare admit it, it is this theory basic to Communism that now is undergoing a serious revolt by Communist leaders who see their own national growth rates declining as the United States economy, already the world's largest, becomes one of the world's fastest growing.

The Soviet's forced departure from accepted theory is one of the reasons for Red Chinese charges that the Russians are betraying Communism.

It is interesting that many students of the Royal Institute of International Affairs in London agree with the Red Chinese and see European Communism inevitably moving toward capitalism.

It currently is estimated that U. S. production of goods and services jumped $40 billion in the last year, bringing the total for the year to about $624 billion. The total is more than twice the comparative figure for the Soviet Union, and the one year U. S. growth rate is believed to be more than that achieved by the Soviet Union in the last two years combined, and possibly in the last three years.

As they see the United States economy increase its lead, Soviet leaders are striving desperately to pinpoint their failings.

The more glaring ones have not been hard to find.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda, for example, recently reported 10,000 complaints in a single year against poor workmanship in Leningrad industrial plants. Specifically, it cited the fact that 28 large generators manufactured by one of the Soviet Union's largest plants "had gone out of commission."

Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in the closing months before his ouster, disclosed that inferior consumer goods had accumulated on warehouse shelves to the tune of $2.75 billion.

Loose flooring in the railroad cars of the creaky Soviet transporation system, left a golden trail behind them as they moved grain from the collectives to the processing centers.

And on the collectives, too often the man who plowed saw no connection between himself and the man who planted and the man who later harvested.

Private plots granted to the peasants for their own use already have been increased in size and there is the further likelihood that unprofitable collectives also will be broken up.

These would be reduced to acreages about the size of an Iowa farm and, hopefully, be worked in the same manner, by individuals following through one each phase—a further affront to the Red Chinese Marxist-Lennist Purits.

The Communist leadership employs typical Communist jargon to explain its slow transfer to the profit motive for plant managers and to individual incentives and to deny that it is "creeping capitalism."

But that is what it is. And it is going beyond the Soviet Union into satellites. Bulgaria is experimenting with it, and both Poland and Czechoslovakia have been forced to make even greater concessions in an effort to bring economies out of crisis.

The 15-year Gain

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has announced that, after declining through the June-September period the consumer price index was on its way up again as of the beginning of November. The index, based on price fluctuations of goods and services regularly purchased by representative families of two to six persons in the $2,500-$7,000 income group and living in cities of 30,000 population or over, uses 1949 prices as a base of 100.

The composite index now stands at 135.9. Of its major components, shelter and household operation has had the greatest advance, to 139.3. The food index has risen to 132.0; clothing at 120.9, has registered the smallest rise of any of the index components. For the 12 months since November, 1963 the index shows a rise of 1.4 per cent in consumer prices; and, of course, for the 15-year period since 1949 the rise in prices has amounted to 35.9 per cent.

The price index receives wide-spread attention in the press and it is not unusual to hear the comment that higher living costs have gobbled up all of the workingman's recent gains in wage increases. It is true that inflation has nullified some of the gains, but it is quite inaccurate to argue that wage levels have no more than kept even with the rise in prices. An accurate comparison is possible by reference to the index of average weekly wages in the manufacturing industry, compiled by the Bureau of Statistics.

Like the consumer price index, the wage index uses 1949 figures as a base of 100. It is published not only in terms of current dollars but is also translated into terms of 1949 dollars. In current dollars the wage index number will be about 205 for November, which means that while prices have gone up by 35.9 per cent since 1949, wages have gone up by 105 per cent. In terms of 1949 dollars the wage index number will be about 150 for November, which means that in actual purchasing power the wage earner is now 50 per cent better of than he was 15 years ago.

To be non-inflationary, wages should go up only in proportion to increased productivity. To contend that wages have not gone up as fast as living costs is not only untrue, but is a good way to fan the fires under the inflationary wage-price spiral.

Economical, versatile canned pink salmon brightens up winter meals with wonderful change of pace dishes that will delight the family and ease the strained budget.

SALMON PAPRIKA

1 (1-pound) can B.C. Pink Salmon; 2 eggs beaten; ½ cup evaporated milk; ¾ cup mashed potatoes; 1 cup chopped celery; 2½ tablespoons chopped green pepper; 2 tablespoons chopped parsley; 2 tablespoons ketchup; ½ teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon black pepper; ¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper; ¼ teaspoon paprika; 1 tablespoon butter.

Beat eggs slightly, add milk. Mash salmon and juice together, not removing bone. Add to milk mixture. Add potatoes and mix well. Add remaining ingredients; place in well-greased loaf pan. Sprinkle with more paprika and dot with butter. Bake in moderate oven, 350 deg. F., for 45 minutes. May be served hot or cold.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remove smoke stains from a marble fireplace facing?

A. First try scrubbing with a scouring powder, followed by soap and water. This will be successful only if the stains are light and have not penetrated too deeply. For more stubborn cases, try scrubbing with powdered pumice and water.

Q. How can I remove shine from wool garments?

A. Rub with a pressing cloth moistened with a mild vinegar solution, to raise the nap, then again moisten the cloth and use it as a regular ironing cloth for pressing.

Q. How can I give my usually pale-looking biscuits a healthier looking, golden brown?

A. Simply by adding a teaspoonful of sugar to the dry ingredients.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

By Roberta Lee

Vellum or Parchment

Rust or ink stains may be removed from vellum or parchment by applying a solution of oxalic acid, absorbing the acid immediately with blotting paper or cloth. Use rubber gloves when working with oxalic acid, and don't splash any on yourself!

Leather Chairs

Leather chairs can be cleaned by rubbing them with a soft cloth dipped in ordinary milk — or better still, in beaten egg white. When they're dry, go over them again with a clean, soft cloth.

Ironing Pleats

When ironing pleats, iron the lower parts of the garment first, then hold the upper part of the skirt or dress so the pleats will be smooth, ironing them until thoroughly dry.

FALONEY MOVES BACK TO MONTREAL

Montreal, (UPI) — The Montreal Alouettes acquired veteran quarterback Bernie Faloney for the "second" time today in a seven-player trade with the Eastern football conference champion Hamilton Tiger Cats.

To obtain the 32-year-old onetime university of Maryland all-America, who has quarterbacked Grey Cup champions in both Edmonton and Hamilton, the Alouettes gave up import lineman Billy Ray Locklin and Dick Walton along with American-trained Canadian Defensive backs, Billy Wayte and Ted Page.

The TiCats also sent veteran deep backs Ralph Goldston and Jackie Simpson to the Alouettes and obtained rights to former Alouette star halfback Don Clark who retired from football after the 1963 season.

Double header on Omemee Arena ice

A four team hockey league for players of the juvenile-junior age group has been organized to be known as the Omemee and District Hockey League.

The league consists of four teams representing Omemee, Reaboro, Dunsford and Fowlers Corners and will play a double-header in Omemee Arena each Monday night. Players in the league must be under 20 years of age as of Dec. 31st, 1964.

Reaboro team manager, Clayton Smith, has been named league president for the 1965 season with Paul Whitmore of Omemee as secretary-treasurer. The schedule started last night at 7:00 p.m. with Reaboro playing Dunsford and Omemee met Fowlers Corners at 9:00 p.m.

After scoring seven goals in the first period, Dunsford shut out Reaboro 8 - 0 in the opener.. In the night-cap, Fowlers Corners defeated Omemee 6 - 2.

Ti-Cats hold lofty perch at top of league standings

Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats can now look down on the rest of the league from their 16 win, one loss position good for 32 points.

The only team within hailing distance at the moment is Gus Bodnar's Lindsay Merchants with a 14 and 3 record good for 28 points. This situation will likely be changed before the end of this week, one way or another, when the Ti-Cats and Merchants meet in a big home and home series.

The first game of this set is slated for the big ice at Bobcaygeon on Wednesday evening with the return game at the Lindsay Kiwanis Arena Friday evening at 9:00 p.m.

Minor Hockey Sponsors Dance

Oakwood Minor Hockey Club sponsored a most enjoyable evening of dancing to music of Tommy Langley's Orchestra on Friday evening December 18. During intermission the turkey draw was held the lucky winners being Mr. Norman McIntyre of Woodville for a 20 lb. turkey and 2nd prize draw was won by Mrs. Frank Lake of Oakwood a 10 lb. turkey. All proceeds went to support the Oakwood Minor Hockey Association Fund.

This year including the Squirts team, sixty-five boys of the immediate vicinity of Oakwood are taking part in the hockey programme. Three teams are entered in the O.M.H.A. series the Pee Wees under manager Grant Glassford and coach George West; Bantams manager Lloyd Graham and coach Murray Squires and Midgets manager Alvin Coad and coach Cecil Barry. Team entered in this league comprise Sunderland, Woodville, Little Britain, Oakwood, Cannington, Beaverton and the series is now under way.

Lindsay and Cannington skaters pass tests here

The Lindsay Figure Skating Club held their first tests of the 1964-65 season at the Kiwanis arena last Thursday with five successful candidates. The Cannington Club also had several pupils trying tests with favourable results.

Linda Barbar, Maureen Howard and Dianne Wakelin passed their preliminary dance test. Joanne Hunter and Sheila Martin passed their preliminary figures, and Sheila Martin also passed her bronze fiesta dance test.

Janice McLeish of the Cannington Club along with Sharon Cullen and Dianne Reilly passed their preliminary figures and Dutch waltz. Sharon Cullen also passed her Canasta Tango and Swing Dance tests. Debbie Hedges passed her dutch waltz.

Judges for the tests were Mrs. Rosemary Dignam of Lindsay, Mrs. Mary Cappler and Stanley Churchley of Port Hope.

Blackwater man jailed 7 days, license suspended

A 27-year-old Blackwater man, Lorne Grant Meyers was sent to jail for seven days and had his driver's license suspended for six months and his car impounded for three months after he pleaded guilty in Lindsay Police Court Monday to driving while intoxicated.

The charge was laid following an accident on Queen St. Friday from which $375 damage resulted. Lindsay Police Constable William Bowes said the accused showed signs of having been drinking and when he asked the accused if he would take a blood test the accused replied he "knew he had blood in his alcohol".

Police said the Meyers car was in collision with a vehicle driven by Carl Churcher of 9 Sussex Street, Lindsay.

HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press International)

Hollywood (UPI) — It may be the year of the snake in China, but in network circles it has been the year of the oriental. .

At least five series during the current season have featured Oriental performers in regularly featured roles. In "Mr. Broadway," "The Mickey Rooney Show", "McHale's Navy" and "Kentucky Jones" far easterners were seen each week.

Perhaps the best of the parts, however, is Jack Soo's in "Valentine's Day."

Soo, who resembles Robert Mithum, plays the wise-cracking hustler Rocky Sin opposite Tony Franciosa in the ABC-TV show. He's a flip horse player, girl chaser and booze connoisseur who provides most of the laughs.

But it's been a long haul for Soo whose real name is Goro Suzuki, and who spent several years in a Japanese relocation camp in the United States during World War II. .

"I changed my name to Soo after the war because no one wanted to hire a Japanese actor," he explained during a break at 20th Century-Fox where the show is filmed.

"I chose Soo because it's neutral, neither Korean, Japanese or Chinese. Actually it was more Korean than anything else, and I wanted to pick a country without an army. Then the Communists armed North Korea and I was about ready to change it again."

A native of Oakland, Calif., Soo has a quick sense of humor over-laid with built-in optimism.

His speech, mannerisms and attitude bear no trace of traditional oriental characteristics. He admits that like most other second and third generation Nisei, he's as American as the 4th of July.

"I kept the name of Soo when I appeared in 'Flower Drum Song' because Pat Suzuki was one of the stars and I couldn't very well go back to my original name," the actor explained.

"Opportunities for Oriental actors have changed a great deal in the last 15 years. We're not limited to mowing lawns and opening doors or playing stereotyped houseboys any more. Those stock characters are gradually fading away.

"Then, too, the Oriental settings and casts for 'World of Suzie Wong,' 'Flower Drum Song,' 'Teahouse of the August Moon' and others have shown Chinese, Japanese and Koreans as real people with distinct personalities.

"I refused to appear in plays in New York because most of them wanted me to do house boys. It wasn't a racial thing with me; I turned them down because I felt I wasn't practicing my craft. Acting isn't a game or hobby with me. It's a living, and I want to be good at what I'm doing."

Soo has decided to make his permanent home in Hollywood where he thinks movie and television opportunities are greater than in New York City.

A pink and mauve British Linton tweed in a giant diagonal pattern is used for this Chanel classic with a cardigan jacket cut on the bias and braid trimmed. The gently-flared skirt combines straight and bias panels. The jacket is lined with mauve chouse silk stitched down and interlined and the blouse matches.

Perennial Favorite--Pot Roast

Everyone loves good old-fashioned beef pot roast. It's a superb dish that can't be duplicated for fine flavor and tenderness when it's properly prepared and slowly cooked. And the aroma of pot roast waiting from the kitchen has an allure unlike any other!

Brown the pot roast in a Dutch oven or other heavy utensil, and cook it on top of the stove. Tabasco, the versatile liquid red pepper seasoning, gives subtle, spicy flavor to the simmering liquid. Potatoes, carrots and onions, added to the meat about half an hour before it's done, take on a marvelously rich flavor. A little Tabasco to taste adds piquancy to the luscious gravy, too.

Tabasco Pot Roast

4 pounds beef pot roast (rump, chuck or round)	½ teaspoon Tabasco
1 tablespoon fat	6 medium carrots, scraped
1 teaspoon salt	6 medium potatoes, pared
½ cup water	12 small white onions, peeled

Brown meat thoroughly in hot fat in a Dutch oven or other heavy utensil. Sprinkle with salt. Add water and Tabasco; cover pan tightly and simmer over low heat 2½ to 3 hours, or until very tender when pierced with a fork. About 20 minutes before end of cooking time, add vegetables. Remove meat and vegetables to a hot platter. To make gravy, skim off all but about 2 to 3 tablespoons of fat and add enough water so that amount in pan equals about 2 cups. Mix 3 tablespoons flour to a smooth paste with ½ cup water and stir into liquid. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Season to taste with salt and Tabasco.
YIELD: 6 servings.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

ULCER PATIENT FEARFUL OF SUDDEN HEMORRHAGE

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Call me scaredy-cat, but I admit I keep wondering what will happen if my ulcer begins to bleed. I understand that hemorrhage is a possible complication. Do the doctors have a battle plan for such an emergency, or does hemorrhage spell doom? I am 31, married and have had an ulcer, as far as I know, for the past nine years. It hardly bothers me, but I keep thinking of a hemorrhage as a complication.—Mr. O.

Comment: Perhaps one reason your ulcer hasn't been troubling you is that you take good care of yourself. Worrying about hemorrhage makes you too the mark. I'll guess that you don't smoke, drink, and try to live without tension. If these are the results of your worry about possible hemorrhage, then I say that a little apprehension is good for you. However, if the possibility of a bleeding is always in your mind, then it's time you knew that hemorrhage is not a common complication. Most ulcer patients never bleed severely. You should also know that we do have a battle plan in case of emergency.

For example, we have learned that the morality rate is greater in bleeding peptic ulcer (about 15 per cent) when treatment is by emergency operation. It is only about 1.5 per cent if the hemorrhage is controlled temporarily and operation is performed during an interval stage. The combined medical and surgical death rate is less than 4 per cent. (According to the statistics by Drs. Ralph F. Bowers and Michael L. Gompertz of Memphis, writing in the Annals of Surgery.)

CONSERAVTIVE TREATMENT FIRST

If at all possible, then, the bleeding patient receives medical treatment rather than immediate surgical intervention. He is admitted to the gastrointestinal section of the hospital. There he receives bed rest and careful nursing. He receives blood and other fluid replacements. Also medicine to neutralize stomach acids. If the patient is unduly apprehensive, psychotherapy may be used to bring him peace of mind.

This is what we call conservative treatment. Suppose the bleeding doesn't stop? He will call the surgeon in consultation and they will decide between continuing medical treatment or "going in".

We do have indications, however, in which patients we are more likely to find continued bleeding. It is these that we must call for operative interference earlier than in others. Continuing hemorrhage is more likely in patients over 50; when the ulcer is gastric rather than duodenal; if the patient has diabetes; starts up again; if a patient has if hemorrhage ceases then stars-up again; if a few pints of blood do not seem sufficient to restore the patient; and if the patient is convinced he will bleed to death.

Drs. Bower and Gompertz reports on 643 patients with bleeding ulcers. 384 were treated medically and 259 surgically. Of the latter 58 had emergency procedures and 201 were managed medically with subsequent interval operations. Death occurred in 3.1 per cent of the patients treated medically and 4.6 per cent of those treated surgically. Of the surgical deaths 9 occurred after emergency operations.

Still scared, Mr. O? I think you'll agree that ulcer hemorrhage doesn't always turn into tragedy.

Consumed liquor, became violent — youth fined

Wayne Henry, 20, of 152 Melbourne Street East was fined $25 in Lindsay Police Court Monday or 10 days for consuming liquor while under the age of 21.

Police testified that following a complaint at 2 a.m. on New Year's morning that there was a disturbance at the accused's home, police found him being held down by four men.

Police said the accused stated he had been at a party and had taken a drink without the host knowing it. The accused went home and after arriving home, became violent.

Magistrate Ian Munro said, "Judging from his conduct he shouldn't drink at all-under age or over age".

World news today

Saigon (UPI) — Vietnamese Government forces suffered a record 442 casualties in the seven- day battle of Binh Gia, the defense ministry said tonight. The toll included 19 Americans killed, wounded or missing.

The American casualty toll also was another record for a single battle against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

A U.S. military spokesman today revealed two additional American casualties. He said two U.S. marines were wounded Sunday while flying Vietnamese soldiers to a battle area 330 miles northeast of Saigon.

Neither of the two enlisted marines was wounded serious- enough to require hospitalization. The spokesman said one Vietnamese soldier was killed and another wounded after leaping from the marine helicopter in the same action.

Taipei — The population research center warned today that traditional Chinese pride in large families may jeopardize Formosa into economic chaos.

The centre said the Island's population will nearly double by 1982, reaching a total of more than 23 million, unless the birth rate is checked.

United Nations, N.Y. — Secretary General Thant plans to return to New York Friday from the Virgin Islands where he has been recuperating from an ulcer operation.

New Delhi, India — A tiger believed to have killed 42 persons in the past three months was reported yesterday to have been shot and killed in Orissa State.

Alameda, Calif. — The cab assembly of a huge marine crane toppled from its 70-foot high perch and crashed into the Alameda estuary yesterday, carrying five workmen to their deaths.

The men were dismantling the top portion of the crane when it toppled. The 40-ton rig crashed through a pier into the water.

Lemoore, Calif. — Undersecretary of the Navy Paul R. Fay has announced that he will retire Jan. 15 in order to write a book about the late President John F. Kennedy and also help to operate the San Francisco construction firm owned by his family.

Fay, who was a close personal friend of the late President, announced his plans last night.

Ottawa — Red-faced officials in Ottawa have admitted naming a nondescript Canadian mountain after the late President Kennedy. The faux pas came to light when it was announced a new mountain had been chosen.

New Brunswick — The third session of the 45th New Brunswick legislature will open February 16th. Premier Louis J. Robichaud in making the announcement, said the proposed union of the Maritime Provinces will be one of the highlights of the session.

Ottawa — Air Canada topped the 200-million dollar mark in revenue for the first time in 1964 and is running in the black for the 11th time in 14 years.

Air Canada President Gordon R. McGregor announced the Crown Corporation's achievement in a year end report yesterday.

Double header at Kiwanis Arena to-night

Tonight's double header at the Lindsay Kiwanis Arena brings two Beaverton teams to town. In the first game at seven p.m. the Beaverton Midgets meet Louis G. Hennessey's Legion Bantys. The nine p.m. game puts Lindsay Kiwanis Juveniles against Beaverton Juveniles. This is the second visit of the Gold and Purple Beaverton boys. In their first game here the Beaverton Juveniles bowed before the Kiwanis Juveniles by a 9 - 1 count and the visitors will be out to redeem to even the series.

Kiwanis Juveniles have their first away game Friday of this week with a return match at Beaverton Arena at eight p.m.

October road deaths total 492 lives

Ottawa (UPI) — Traffic accidents killed or injured 20 Canadians every hour in the month of October, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has revealed in a special statement.

Motor vehicle accidents on Canada's streets and highways during the month claimed 492 lives-up 10.6 per cent from the October 1963 total of 445. Quebec led in the grim count, listing 181 killed-36.8 per cent of the national toll.

Ontario followed with 124 dead on the highways. Other provincial totals: British Columbia, 45; Alberta, 44; Nova Scotia, 20; New Brunswick, 21; Manitoba, 20; Saskatchewan, 20; Newfoundland, 4; Prince Edward Island, 4; and in the Yukon and Northwest Territories there were no fatal traffic accidents recorded in October.

The cost of traffic accidents also soared over the same period in 1963. In October 1964 22,483 accidents caused damage totalling $11.5 million.

In the same period in 1963, 18,036 accidents caused property damage totalling $8.9 million.

Spotlight on Sir Sam Hughes highlight of "All About Us"

Canadian Players' national touring production "All About Us" which will make its Lindsay appearance on Friday, February 5th at the Academy, sponsored by the Lindsay Rotary Club is a lively and colourful vaudeville of Canada's past and present.

The show opens with a fast-paced vaudeville sketch and swiftly moves to a satirical appraisal of citizenship. Of particular Lindsay interest is the sketch where the spotlight falls on Sir Sam Hughes, one-time Minister of Defence and for perhaps the first time the sage of this incredible militiaman is told in its entirety.

A highlight of the play is a sketch entitled Mackenzie and Mann, or How to Succeed in the Railway Business Without Really Going to Jail, which in a unique and hilarious way, deals with the building of the Canadian Northern Railway. Political and religious pouring follow with direct quotes from such well-known figuers as Sir John A. MacDonald, Henry Bourassa, Allister Stewart and John Diefenbaker. The usual dry, factual accounts of Wolfe and Montcalm and the battle between the English and the French for an unwanted country are replaced in "All About Us" by a penetrating and vastly amusing sketch which is likely closer to the truth than anything that has been written to date about that period in our history. Canada is the pawn when Sir James Oswald (representing the English) and Benjamin Franklin (representing the United States) get together for a political chess game. The outcome is as shocking as it is hilarious.

At the end of "All About Us" spontaneous hilarity erupts once more — and we see ourselves for a final time as we really are.

Battle of goalies starts to-morrow at Bobcaygeon

Lindsay Merchants goaltenders Randy Reid and Doug Broad will likely get a brisk work-out this week when the Me-chants meet the Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats.

Currently leading the league in their goal tending efforts, the Merchants' twosome will be up against the highest scoring team in the league in this series. Coach Gus Bodnar has alternated his goalies this season and both have come up with creditable performances. Each goalie owns a shut-out and each has allowed no more than six goals in any one game. To date Reid has played ten games and Broad seven with a goals against average of 2.76 for the pair. Joe Junkin for the Ti-Cats has averaged 3.59.

To-morrow night the Ti-Cats and the Merchants will clash for the first time this season. The Ti-Cats this season have scored 148 goals and have allowed 61 against; the Merchants record shows only 126 goals scored and 47 against.

FOREIGN NEWS COMMENTARY

by Phil Newson, of UPI

CHIANG VS. REDS

In his new year's message, nationalist Chinese leader Chiang Kai Shek said the Nationalists should destroy Peking's nuclear installations before the Reds develop a delivery system. Chiang repeatedly considers his avowed task of destroying communist China more urgent now than ever before, particularly since Red China now has an atomic bomb. Therefore, it is considered possible he may unleash attacks on the Reds with or without a general uprising on the China mainland. Chiang repeatedly has predicted anti-communist revolutions by the people on the China mainland. It also has been understood he would not order his 600,000-man army across the Formosa Strait until such revolutions take place. Formosa observers believe that Chiang may be chancing his mind.

NUCLEAR TALKS DELAYED

Plans for five-nation talks in January between the United States, Britain, Italy, West Germany and the Netherlands on an allied nuclear force seem to be coming unstuck. No date or place for the meeting was set when the Nato council meeting broke up Dec. 17. Now enthusiasm seems to be waning among several nations involved. The British, always cool toward the U.S. - proposed multi-lateral nuclear force, already have declared the plan dead. President Charles De Gaulle of France always has opposed it. But it also is speculated that with the MLF plan on ice for months to come and the European Common Market farm crisis over, De Gaulle now may be in an unusually conciliatory mood toward the United States.

KOREAN POWER STRUGGLE

An internay power struggle appears to be in the offing within South Korea's ruling Democratic Republican party with the return home of former party chairman Kim Chong-Pil. Kim, former No. 2 man of South Korea, flew home from more than six months' self-imposed exile in the United States. Although Kim has stated he would not try to regain power, political sources believe he is certain to maintain influence from behind the scenes. He was the driving force behind the government's efforts to establish early normalization of relations between South Korea and Japan. A considerable number of his supporters still are in the party. They are mostly former army officers who worked with him in staging the 1961 military Coup D'Etat.

BLOW AGAINST SUKARNO

Look for a sharp British strike against Indonesia if President Sukarno steps up his aggression against Malaysia. British units reinforced in the far East last fall and further strengthened last week are ready for such a blow which might be in the pattern of the U.S. retaliatory strike against communist North Vietnam forces in the Gulf of Tonkin. Britain wants to avoid such a move but may be forced into it under pressure from Malaysia and provocation from Sukarno.

NOW YOU KNOW

In 1963, Elmer G. Johnston of Fairborn, Ohio, patented a design for an airplane to be powered by the sun's heat. It was to have a transparent upper wing surface for solar radiation with a radiation trap beneath it, according to the World Almanac.

SAFE PARKING

When you park on a hill, always step on the brake pedal and keep your foot on it while you put on the parking brake, the Ontario Safety League recommends. This ensures that the entire brake shoe is brought in contact with the drum. With some types of parking brakes, manual application alone may result in only a part of the shoe touching the drum, with reduced holding power. Remember too — always leave the car in low or reverse gear. (Park position with Automatic transmission) with front wheels cramped to minimize the danger of runaway.

Announce New Healing Substance: Shrinks Piles

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and if discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most important of all—results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue.

Now Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form, called Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores—money back guarantee.

A violin solo was rendered by Eddie Wilkinson. The Beatles were introduced by Jamies Merrett and songs were sung by Brenda Hodgson, Carol Watson, Yvonne Godwin and Janis Watson. "Christmas" recited in verse form was given by Beth Handley, Margaret and Cheryl Rettie, Wayne Sheehey, David Handley, Sandra Godwin, Rosemary Hilyer, Susan Blackmore and Brent Handley. Solo by Carda Roseke, was accompanied by Jamie Merrett. A duet by Charla and Kim Magann was accompanied by Mrs. I Reed. The J. A.'s sang two choruses and the Church Boys League rendered a Hymn accompanied by Mrs. Reed. Mrs. H. Watson, Public School Teacher presented the Christmas Story by her pupils followed by tap dance by Penny Dudman. The Sunday School opened and closed the Programme by singing three Christmas Carols, followed by the song Here Comes Santa Claus who then presented the gifts to the children.

Parisienne Custom Sport Coupe

the new look of success... '65 PONTIAC

Pontiac is excitingly new and different this year. And more luxurious than ever. With its striking new styling, sleeker, lower profile and majestic new grille, Canada's Success Car has outdone itself beautifully for 1965. And there's so much more than good looks to Pontiac's success story. It's the best handling, smoothest riding, roomiest and most comfortable Pontiac yet. A new extra-strength perimeter frame, new wider track, new suspension and steering are just a few of the things that make this the greatest Pontiac ever. Here indeed is the new look of success for 1965!

Yelverton

The festive season was observed at Yelverton as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wilson and girls with the Ross Halls at Whitby.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson and family spent three days with the Jim Taylors at London.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilson of Scarboro with the David Wilsons and Mrs. McQuade.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Malcolm and girls with the Bert McMullens on Christmas Day. On Sunday they were hosts to the Bert McMullens and Misses Lynne and Lee Adams.

On Saturday the Art Rowans entertained the whole Jackson family, 26 strong, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jackson and boys of Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Jackson and sons of Oshawa, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Jackson of Oshawa, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Werry and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alf Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Doug Jackson of Brooklin.

On New Year's the Art Rowans entertained the Rowan connection and the Norman Wilsons were at home to all the Wilson family on that occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Robinson entertained Mrs. Gordon Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Visee and family of Cavan for Christmas dinner. In the evening they were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Henderson and family of Toronto and Mrs. Ernestine Henderson and Murray of Bethany; The Ray Robinsons, the Ralph Malcolm and the Henderson families were Saturday evening guests at Mr. and Mrs. Bill Donaldson of Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stinson and family and Mr. Harold Stinson observed the occasion on Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright and girls of Blackstock.

Glad to hear that Miss Ern Henders was recently released from Peterboro hospital, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Lane and is now staying with the Roy Henders in Port Perry.

Mrs. Charlie Cutts, Linda, Judy and Charlie Jr., visited last week with the Fred Stacys renewing old acquaintances in the community by attending the Christmas concert.

The annual Public School Christmas Concert put on by pupils of S.S. No. 1, Yelverton, on Tuesday evening and supervised by Miss Muriel Murdock was very well presented with each and every pupil taking their respective parts in a capable manner. Although considerable talent was displayed by these amateur thespians, we failed to detect any budding Richard Burtons or Elizabeth Taylors. The pupils and teacher are to be congratulated on the result of their group effort.

Miss Cindy Malcolm of Scarboro is spending Christmas holidays with her cousin Miss Judy Robinson. The Robinson family spent a few days with their grandmother Robinson in Cavan. Master Jay Malcolm spending a few days with cousin Marti Malcolm while Mitzi holidays with Karen.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Quackenbush and boys celebrated Christmas with their parents in Peterboro.

Misses Marleah and Darlene Malcolm are spending a few days during the Christmas holidays with their grandparents the Bert McMullens.

FALSE ALARM

London (UPI) — Where there's smoke, there's — so fire engines and ambulances rushed to a Boeing 707 jetliner as it sat on the taxiway of London airport and the 79 passengers hurried off the plane.

Then it was found that steam pouring from the craft's undercarriage had been mistaken for smoke.

WOMAN'S VIEW

By Gay Pauley

New York (UPI) — Spring evening fashions are designed for grand entrances.

Back on the scene after several seasons of oblivion, in favour of the skinny formal, are the full-skirted ball gowns, sweeping the floor with their yards of chiffon, organza, satin or lace. Back with them also are the shoulder-baring tops.

On the fashion scene again is the short evening dress, the same length as day dresses, many with bell-shaped skirts.

Making a strong bid for acceptance is the new mid-calf length for evening which the industry has dubbed "demi-longueur". Also coming on strong are ruffles . . . ruffles running on the bias down the side of skirts, from bodice to hemline, ruffles in horizontal tiers shaping a whole dress or just the skirt, and ruffles framing necklines.

Look also for the "nude" for evening wear, in both short and long formals made of sheers set over body-clinging nude silks.

These are some of the trends for evening in collections from members of the New York couture group, holding its 14th semi-annual "National Press Week" for 250 newspaper, television and radio representatives from the United States and abroad. The group shows will take over for shows through January 12. Some of the clothes already are in the stores.

John Moore, the designer who is making the Inaugural Ball gown for Mrs. Lyndon B. Jonhson, is one advocate of ruffles. Some of his floor-length gowns are horizontal tiers of ruffles from bustline to hem. Others feature ruffles around the hemlines with same ornamented matching chiffon stoles.

Maurice Rentner, one of the manufactureres to show yesterday, produced tiers of ruffles around hemlines of the demi-longueurs. Ruffles also bordered stoles of white formals. And a narrow ruffle of lace banned the legs of cocktail knickers in green lace.

Rentner's designer, Bill Blass also produced the 'Baby Dress' adult copies of simply cut dresses gathered high under the bosom and unbelted.

The Rentner collection also included in both day and evening wear plenty of hot pink and "Panama Beige", a pale tone of tan; generally slim shapes for day wear, and reefer jacketed suits with double-breasted jackets buttoned in brass.

Flounces bounced through the Ben Reig collection unveiled yesterday. These showed in short formals in black, enamel green, and white laces.

Burnt River

The L.O.L. 541, held a dance in the Orange Hall on Saturday evening with a good crowd attending, music was supplied by the Double Eagles Orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hodgins and Reig, as many other designers are doing showed clothes hinting at skin underneath. One formal, called "more view of you", was a teak-colored chiffon with some of the midriff exposed.

The couture group shows included one firm famous for its day suits and coats. The firm, Davidow, continued the chanel or cardigan-type of suit, as it has for year after year. Crepe blouses matched the linings of jackets. Some suits came with co-ordinated coats.

The firm's new colour for spring was called celery, shown in textured wools or mated with plaids. Continuing the white wools.

Barn and silo near Coboconk completely destroyed by fire

Coboconk (PNS) — A barn and silo in Bexley Township, nine miles west of Coboconk were completely destroyed by fire last night and 1500 laying hens and some hogs were lost in the blaze which razed a log barn owned by two Portuguese families. All available fire equipment was dispatched from Coboconk and Kirkfield at 7 p.m. but the barn was a mass of flame when firefighters arrived.

Kirkfield Fire Chief Jack Hughes said the house and driving shed were watered down. "We couldn't do a thing about the barn," said Chief Hughes.

Lyness Spry, Coboconk Fire Chief, said he understood the present owners were Portuguese. They were reported to be Milgar Nogueira who lives on the property and Alec Drozdowsky, who commutes from Toronto. It is reported a visitor from Portugal, who cannot speak English, discovered the fire and sent a little girl to for help. Chief Spry said they tried to get the cattle out of the barn before they called the fire department. He said the barn fire was out of control when firemen arrived but the fire departments saved the house and driving shed.

Chief Spry said no estimate of damage is available as yet but an insurance adjustor arrived at the scene today. The chief said he understood there was insurance on the buildings, which were formerly owned by Grant Benson, but none on the contents.

Two year suspended sentence and curfew for Lindsay youth

Donald Bell, 16, of 38 Churchill Crescent was given a 2-year suspended sentence on probation when he appeared for sentencing before Magistrate Jan Munro in Lindsay Police Court today. The youth was convicted of auto theft and possession of stolen goods on December 23 and was remanded for a pre-sentence report.

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan told the court two other juveniles were the "guiding influence". He said one of the juveniles appeared in juvenile court on nine charges.

Magistrate Jan Munro said there was evidence the boy was led into the crime. "But," he added, "a person can be led just so much and beyond that there must be an inclination on your own part." Magistrate Munro said the court was under no obligation to treat the matter leniently; the youth could be sent to jail for a year. He added, "The person who can help you most is the person most concerned for your future — and that is you."

Defence Counsel David Logan said Bell got into a situation where he did not appreciate the consequences which were very serious. He said the record will have an effect on the lad for a long time "and that is penally enough."

In the terms of probation, Bell was ordered to live at home and adhere to an 11 p.m. curfew. He was told to completely disassociate himself with the people who led him into this trouble. Magistrate Munro said, "Anyone who gets you into a mess like this is no friend of yours." The boy's father will have to post a $200 surety and enter into written recognizance for the performance of the terms of probation, the Magistrate said.

The youth and a juvenile had been arrested by Metropolitan Toronto Police on December 7 after the car they had taken was in collision with a street-car. Bell was convicted of previously having taken a pick-up truck owned by Algar Coach Lines Limited.

Advisory committee recommended formation of County Health Unit with Peterboro

The Advisory committee of the Victoria County Council met at the Court House yesterday to consider a recommendation regarding the formation of a County Health Unit.

County Clerk Frank Weldon pointed out that Peterboro County and the City of Peterboro have indicated their intention of forming a unit, and Victoria County may still find the way open to join counties in the project. Committee members were told that the larger the organization, the lower would be the per capita cost. With this in mind it was felt that action should soon be taken while several counties could unite.

After considerable discussion Deputy Reeve George Finney moved that the committee recommend to council that a health unit be established in conjunction with Peterboro city and council. George Stevenson seconded the motion but the motion was lost when two members of the committee abstained from voting until they have opportunity to discuss the matter with their own council.

Considerable discussion followed and members of the committee felt they did not wish to jeopardise the project by a no recommendation report. Warden Max Kennedy expressed the hope that the opportunity to unite with Peterboro would not be missed.

Reports from the Durham Northumberland Unit were read indicating a per capita cost to the County of 90.5c in 1961 with 75% of the cost going to salaries and only 14.5% for transportation.

Omemee Reeve George Stevenson moved that the committee recommend the County Council to investigate the forming of a County Health Unit combining with Peterboro and ,or, Southern Haliburton and northern Ontario Counties. Warden Kennedy seconded the motion which passed unanimously. Members of the committee consisted of the chairman Reeve Edward Murphy of Carden; Reeve Robert Cammack of Laxton, Digby and Longford; Reeve George Stevenson of Omemee; Deputy Reeve George Finney, Lindsay; Reeve Arthur Smitherman of Fenelon and Warden Max Kennedy of Verulam.

NO INQUEST

No inquest will be held into the death of Marven Trowbridge, Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan announced today. Mr. Jordan said evidence indicates the wounds sustained by Mr. Trowbridge, who was found dead at the Lindsay Golf Course on December 17 after an intensive 2-day air and ground search, were self-inflicted.

Mr. Jordan said the death of James W. Parker, 52, of 14 Queen Street will be probed but no date has been set for an inquest. He said he has not received a laboratory report as yet. Mr. Parker died of a fractured skull after he tripped and fell from a three-and-a-half-foot high retaining wall behind the Royal Canadian Legion on December 16.

TEST HOLE BREAKS FRAME OF BINDER

Victoria County Road committee decided today to go to bat for a Bobcaygeon district farmer Eric Thurston who broke the frame of his binder when its truck wheel dropped into a test hole on the edge of a County road.

According to a letter from Eric Thurston by County Road Engineer H. D. Wilford, the test hole is approximately two inches from the edge of the pavement. Correspondence from the insurance firm concerned disclaimed any responsibility for the incident since the test hole was not on the travelled portion of the road. Thurston was claiming $35.00 for cost of repairs to his binder.

$1,000 damage in collision

Total damage of $1,000 resulted when two cars collided at the junction of Highways 7 and 46 at 1:40 p.m. yesterday. Lindsay OPP said a station wagon driven by Charles Melville Dunn, 39, of Cameron Street, Cannington sustained $600 damage when it was in collision with a 1965 model car driven by John Andrew McIntyre, 39, of John Street, Woodville, which sustained $400 damage. Police said the cars crashed in the intersection.

Police said charges are pending.

No injuries resulted.

J. Lightbody new president Camera Club

The Lindsay Colour Camera Club met recently in the L.C.V.I. Library with a good attendance. The nominations Committee presented the following Executive for the new year: Past President, Mr. C. Arscott; President, Mr. J. Lightbody; Vice-President, Dr. W. V. Ferguson; Sec. Treasurer, Miss Marjorie Corley; Directors, Mrs. W. Gilson, Mr. J. W. Gravestock, Mr. H. G. Burke Mr. C. Arscott, Mr. W. Ferguson, Publicity, Mrs W. V. Ferguson.

The programme for the evening was "Judging the Judges". A number of slides, provided by the Ansco Film Company, were judged by the members and the best slides chosen in various categories. The results of the film company judging were then revealed, and it was interesting to note how the local judging compared.

The Camera Club welcomes anyone interested in photography to attend their meetings held the second Wednesday of each month.

The exceptionally mild weather from Christmas to New Years inspired people to do the unusual. On Thursday, December 31st, 1964, a record was set when Abe Jefferies and Charlie Heels bowled six ends at the Lindsay Lawn Bowling Club. They report that the ground was smooth, even though frozen, from where they had left off in early November and the bowls ran freely and with a good draw.

Curb Car Thefts

Some time ago we suggested a system of log books for cars similar to that used in the United Kingdom. Such a system makes it more difficult for a person who has stolen a car to dispose of it, and also makes it difficult for the owner of a car to misrepresent its age or uses (such as a taxicab) or to alter the mileage on the speedometer. Each time the owner changes, the log book is stamped at a motor registration bureau with the mileage recorded and the owner's name listed.

A retiring stolen car sleuth in Montreal has suggested car registration in Quebec be done by the "Deed of Title" system now in use in Nova Scotia.

Det.-Sgt. Edward Lamiton of the Montreal Police Department told UPI news that the current registration system and filing arrangements in Quebec are "pitiful".

The Nova Scotia system, he suggests, could be implemented to aid in curbing the province's $30-million a year car theft racket. The system involves filing the title to the car as well as its registration, with the county office.

Lambton, who retired after 30 years with the force, also suggested that each vehicle should keep its license plates issued when new, for the life of the car, whether it is sold or traded. He also believes insurance companies should be forced to pick up the serial numbers and registrations of all wrecked or abandoned cars.

The same plate for a car from the first registration until it ends up at the wrecker's yard is common in Europe and might well be adopted here. The cost of producing the plates (even though made in prison), the material used and the cost of transporting these things around the country, plus the annoyance of changing plates already firmly affixed to vehicles makes a permanent plate a desirable thing. Those incarcerated in institutions can be used to make mailbags or something else instead of car plates, which represent an abysmal waste of money.

Third fire in three days

Fire partially destroyed the home of Fred Gainor on Adelaide Street North this morning. Mr. Gainor, who lives with his son, was sick in bed at the time and it was necessary for the firemen to remove him from the house. It was feared for a time that Mr. Gainor might suffer ill effects from exposure to the wintry weather, but it is now believed that his condition is satisfactory.

The fire occurred about 9.30 a.m. and started in the chmney of the house, from where it spread to the roof of the building. Firemen fought the stubborn blaze for over an hour before bringing it under control. The roof was almost entirely destroyed.

It is believed that there was no insurance carried on the building.

This is the third fire of an important nature in three days for the local brigade. They had a house fire Thursday night, a bad blaze yesterday morning and this fire today.

Hughes holds bedside council

Propped up in his bed at St. Luke's Hospital, surrounded by military officers in full uniform, General Sam Hughes held a militia council in his ward today. A number of important matters were dealt with by the council.

The Minister is giving his injured knee a rest but he is not taking a mental rest. General Hughes has transferred his ward into a veritable office and has been dictating his correspondence and interviewing visitors almost as usual.

The Minister is making progress and hopes to be able to leave the hospital the end of this week. In that case he will likely leave for the west early next week.

Col. Hughes Wounded

Word that Colonel Garnet Hughes, son of the Minister of Militia, had been wounded in the head by a shell while at the firing line in France has just been received by General Sam Hughes. Colonel Hughes, accompanied by Colonel Leckie, both of Victoria, B.C., visited the front in order to acquaint themselves with conditions there. While thus engaged, Colonel Hughes was injured by an exploding shell, receiving a wound some four inches long on the head. Colonel Leckie was later injured in an automobile accident.

Held at border

A Lindsay citizen who has returned from a business trip to the States told a Post reporter last evening of an interesting incident in which he figured while crossing the line at Niagara Falls.

On Thursday evening, just as his train had crossed the bridge into Uncle Sam's territory, and as he was alighting from the train, two officials walked up and placed him under arrest. In the meantime, the officials, realizing that they had missed their quarry, immediately released the local man and arrested another passenger for whom they had been looking.

They'll Do It Every Time

Military Funeral

Bugles sounded and full honours were paid when a venerable, white-bearded lance-corporal of royal blood was laid to rest at Llanelly in South Wales not long ago—in a coffin only four feet long. The deceased, explained Michael Lloyd-Williams broadcasting in the BBC General Overseas Service 'Welsh Magazine', was Corporal Sospan, the snow-white goat which for eleven years had been the official mascot of the 4th battalion The Welsh Regiment, Territorial Army.

Sospan had reached the ripe old age of twelve years, which corresponds to an age of ninety-four in man. During his lifetime he had knelt on parade at the feet of the Queen, the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret and the Duke of Edinburgh. "He was the personification of dignity," said Lloyd-Williams, "though the other side of his nature came out when he tried to bite the Duke and ate half the Queen Mother's bouquet." The terror of new recruits, Sospan was by nature a one-man goat. "Without the constant presence of the battalion's goat-major, Sergeant Emlyn Brooks, to comb his beard, trim his toenails and sharpen his horns, he was a maverick. When a substitute corporal once tried to take him on parade, he gave a bleat, a kick, and bolted half a mile through Carmarthen with the corpal hanging desperately to his lead."

Sospan first donned his ceremonial red jacket, silver badge and silver horn armour at the age of six months, when he had come as a gift from the Queen's herd at Windsor Great Park. The tradition of such presentations dated back to the Crimean War in the middle of last century. Lloyd-Williams explained. "After a starving Russian goat adopted by some British soldiers was killed during the campaign, Queen Victoria decreed that from then on battalions would receive their mascots from the valuable herd of wild Kashmir stock that had been established in Windsor Great Park in 1828."

Territorial battalions got their goats more recently, and Sospan was the first. His death was due to old age, although some felt that his passion for a daily cigarette had done the old gentleman no good.

Qualified Blessing

As is well known, per capita production in the United States is considerably higher than per capita production here in Canada. In 1963 in the United States the value of the Gross National Product per worker was $8,458. In Canada, in terms of U.S. dollars, it was $6,266. There are several factors involved but, basically, the difference is due to the difference in populations.

This ratio of productivity in Canada, running at about 70 per cent of productivity in the U. S., has applied for several years, and average earnings have been in the same proportion.

There is one area, however, where Canadian workers are getting relatively better than Americans—fringe benefits in industry.

A survey by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce puts the value of fringe benefits provided by American industry in 1963 at $1,431 per worker, and the cost of fringes came to 25.6 per cent of total payroll. A Canadian survey estimates the value of fringe benefits provided here in 1963 at $1,404 per worker, and in Canada the cost of fringes amounted to 26.2 per cent of payroll.

In terms of the U.S. dollar, of course, the Canadian dollar figure would be lower, but this does not alter the fact that as a proportion of labor costs — that is, as an element in the cost of production—fringe benefit costs are higher in Canada than in the United States. And, since the U.S. is Canada's main competitor, the relatively higher value of fringes here may be only a qualified blessing. —C. J. Harris.

Congo problem splits Africans

United Nations (UPI) — The bitter Songo debate which occupied the Security Council through December has dealt African Unity a blow from which it may take years to recover.

Africans have been forced to take sides on the Congo issue in a way never before seen. The framework of the organization of African unity—which has shown cracks before — has been split a dozen ways in the heated arguments here.

The 36 nation African group has been split into "Moderates" and "Extremists" on the question of whether the U. S. and Belgium has the right to intervene to save the lives of white hostages held by rebels in Stanleyville last November 24.

African diplomats here, considering the three weeks so far taken up by the Congo debate in the Council—and the concurrent meeting of the OAU Council of Ministers — agree that grave harm has been done to the cause of African unity.

"It may take us years to repair the damage done in this debate," Congo ambassador Theodore Idzumbuir told UPI.

The major split in African unity has revolved around Nigerian Foreign Minister Jaja Wachuku. Foreign Minister Charles-David Conao of Congo (Brazzaville) accused him Dec. 23 of being "a traitor and an enemy of Africa."

Wachuku's "crime" in the eyes of the militant Africans was that he publicly defended the right of Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe to invite American and Belgian help in rescuing the Stanleyville hostages.

This point of view found several defenders in the closed sessions of the OAU Council of Ministers here. But only Wachuku stood up to put it publicly in the Security Council—and thus brought on his head a torrentof scorn from more militant Africans.

Nevertheless voting figures when the Council of Ministers passed a resolution condemning the American-Belgian intervention were revealing. Ten nations abstained—including Nigeria, Liberia, Sierra Leone, Senegal, Madagascar and Dahomey—and four others were absent for various reasons. Twenty nations voted for the resolution out of the 35 members of the OAU.

The "Extremist" factions has been led here by Algeria, Kenya, Congo (Brazzaville), Ghana and Guinea.

Other nations, such as Sudan, United Arab Republic, Uganda and Tanzania have supported the movement to condemn the American-Belgian move, but have used more temperate language and endeavored to suggest constructive ways of solving the Congo crisis.

Congolese diplomats here have doggedly defended the right of Tshombe to call in aid to rescue the Stanleyville hostages. But they have often been isolated from the mainstream of African thought.

DO-AS-I-SAY

Here's a Do-as-I-say-not-as-I-do item, reported by the Ontario Safety League. When they built a new school on top of a hill in California it was long before the teachers began to complain that the teenagers were getting up to much speed going down the hill. Engineers erected warning signs. It didn't help. The teachers continued to complain. Finally traffic police staked out the area. They caught 14 speeding teachers and 2 students.

CHERRY-MINCE PIELETTES WITH CREAMY ORANGE SAUCE

Pastry: 3 cups sifted flour, 1 cup chilled butter, 5 to 6 tablespoons ice water.

Measure flour and sift into a bowl. Cut butter in finely. Sprinkle with ice water, a tablespoonful at a time, mixing lightly with a fork until mixture just clings together. Divide dough in half; shape into two balls. Wrap in waxed paper; chill. Roll to ⅛ thickness; cut into rounds to fit twelve 2½-inch foil tart pans. Prick shells. Make 12 large tarts.

Filling: 2½ cups mincemeat, 1 (15-oz.) can tart red pie cherries, drained, ¼ cup orange marmalade.

Preheat oven to 425°F. Combine the mincemeat, drained cherries and marmalade. Generously fill the prepared tart shells; crimp edges. If desired place a Christmas-shape pastry cut-out on top of each tart; brush with milk and sprinkle with sugar. Bake in a preheated oven 20 to 25 minutes. Serve warm with Creamy Orange Sauce.

CREAMY ORANGE SAUCE

1 cup sifted icing sugar, ½ pint (1¼ cups) dairy sour cream, 2 teaspoons grated orange rind.

Measure icing sugar into a bowl. Blend in dairy sour cream and orange ring. Chill. Serve over Cherry-Mince Pielettes.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I make a good job of cleaning copper utensils?

A. Mix a cupful of flour and a tablespoon of salt to a paste with vinegar, then rub this over the copper article with a soft cloth, and follow by polishing with a bit of flannel or chamois.

Q. How can I test for the hardness or softness of water for laundering?

A. Add ¼-teaspoon of powdered soap to a pint of warm water in a quart jar, and shake this. If no suds form, or if the suds do not remain firm, your water is hard.

Q. How can I make candies from rinds of lemons, oranges and grapefruit?

A. Boil these pieces two or three times until the water is clear, then boil agin with sugar added to taste and until the rinds are soft and sweet.

Candy Making

If you're making a batch of candy and want to test it for the softball stage, but you don't have a candy thermometer, drop a half-teaspoonful of the boiling syrup into a cup of cold water. If it's ready, you will be able to pick up the soft ball although it will flatten out.

Children's Shoes

When your small fry's shoes have become too badly scuffed to take a good polish, try rubbing them with a piece of raw potato, then applying your polish. This usually brings up a nice gloss.

Removing Old Finish

When removing the old finish from an antique, do as many of the cabinet makers do and scrub it down with a strong solution of sal soda concentrated.

In Memoriam

NESBITT — In loving memory of a dear father and grand father Thomas who passed away Jan 7, 1963.
I have only your memory dear father,
To remember my whole life through,
But the sweetness will linger forever,
As I treasure the image of you.
Ever remembered by son Don, wife Barbara, grandchildren Tommy, Cheryl and Mickey

BOWEN — In loving memory of our son-in-law Norman G. Bowen who passed away as a result of an accident, Jan. 8, 1964.
We often think of bygone days
When we were all together,
The family chain is broken now
But memories will live for ever
To us, he has not gone away
Nor has he travelled far
Just entered God's eternal home.
Lovingly remembered by Melvin and Ella Wright. (1131)

In Memoriam

BOWEN — In memory of a dear husband and father Norman George Bowen who passed away accidently Jan. 8, 1964.
He little thought when leaving home,
He would no more return,
That he in death so soon would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn
We do not know what pain he bore,
We did not see him die,
We only know he passed away,
And never said good-bye.
Lovingly remembered by his wife Doreen and son Fred and daughters Joyce, Barbara, Cindy and baby Norma (1130)

NESBITT—In loving memory of a dear husband Thomas who passed away Jan 7, 1963.
We little knew when we woke that morn,
The sorrow the day would bring,
For the call was sudden,
The shock severe to part with one so dear.
Lovingly remembered by his wife Mary. (1207)

BROTHERSTON — In memory of Mother who passed away Jan. 5., 1962 and Dad, Dec. 29, 1947.
Beautiful memories tenderly kept;
Of the ones we loved and will never forget.
Deep in our hearts they will always remain,
Lovingly remembered by Elizabeth and family. (1117)

NO SUBSIDIES FOR TOWNSHIPS THAT DO NOT PAY MINIMUM WAGE

The Victoria County Roads committee learned today that no subsidies would be forthcoming for municipalities that did not comply with the Minimum Wage Act. The committee were also informed that the minimum wage for construction workers, under which classification roads committee employees are included, calls for $1.25 per hour. The present rate according to County clerk Frank Weldon has been $1.20 per hour.

In order to qualify for subsidies, Warden Kennedy moved that the committee recommend to County Council that the minimum wage act be complied with. The motion carried after being seconded by Emily deputy-reeve Edward Lowes.

roll call which showed thirty members and eight visitors present.

The committees reported much work carried on and the allocation had been paid on time each quarter, and a nice balance remained. On motion of Mrs. McNeil and Mrs. K. Sturman $100 was voted to the church board and $50 to be added to the basement fund.

On motion of Mrs. W. Keen and Mrs. Tait Mr. O. J. Boe will be asked to audit the books.

Rev. McNeil was present and all the officers were returned for a second year. Lunch was served by the South Group and all enjoyed a social hour.

Bracebridge man remanded in UK

London (UPI) — Robert Lawrence Shuttleworth, a Canadian office clerk on vacation in England, was charged in court today with obtaining 165 pounds ($462) credit by fraud at the London Hilton Hotel.

Shuttleworth, 24, of Bracebridge, Ont., pleaded guilty and said he wanted to see an official from the Canadian High Commission.

The court remanded him in custody for a week.

Christmas pageant at Fenelon Falls

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — "Dedication to Mission" the presentation of White Gift envelopes was only one of the highlights of the Christmas Sunday services in Fenelon Falls United Church. Taking part in the service of dedication were: Mr. E. Sharpe as chairman of the Christian Education committee; Bob Smith, representing the Hi-C group; Louise Palmer representing the Messengers; Donna Lee Bryans representing the C.G.I.T.; Jim Bailey representing Senior Sunday School and Joanne Jones representing the Primary Department of the Sunday School. Mr. T. C. Graham, treasurer of the Missionary and Maintenance Department accepted the gifts which were dedicated with prayer by the Rev. M. C. Fisher.

The choir under the direction of the organist Mr. W. E. Fletcher entered to the processional hymn. Mrs. K. Coulter sang a beautiful Christmas hymn. As an offertory the male voices of the choir sang the anthem.

The Christmas message was by the pastor entitled "What Will You Keep for Christmas".

At the evening service the Senior Department of the Sunday School assisted by the the choir with Mrs. L. Skitch as soloist, presented "The Holy Nativity" a Christmas pageant. The superintendent of the Sunday School, Mr. Jethro Isaac introduced the pageant. The story was narrated by Cheryl Watson and all parts were acted in pantomine by the pupils of the Senior Sunday School in appropriate costume. Taking part in the pageant were Angels, led by Joanne Watson and Gloria Goodhand, Judy Oliver, Judy Styles, Linda Styles, Julie Anne Robinson, Sharon Davey, Linda Vanatter, Kathy Sangster, Donna Lee Bryans, Donna Backer, Heather Graham, Charlene Watson and Kathy Stuart; Shepherds were Timmy Stuart, Charlie Webster, Bob Graham, Alvin Webster; Kings - Bill Graham, Jim Bailey, Keith Brandon; Travellers in Bethlehem - Sam Dancey, Glenda Gamsby, Heather Newman, Stewart Brandon, Debbie McFadden, Gordon Brandon, Lorne Arscott, Jim Poulsom, Margot Robson.

The pageant was directed by Messrs. Jethro Isaac and Jack Vanatter with Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. J. Kelly in charge of costumes. Jeanette Platten was Mary and Bob Allin was Joseph.

PEARSON'S FLAG BAD JUDGEMENT CLAIMS BC PAPER

Vancouver (PNS) — Prime Minister Lester Pearson's idea that a new, National flag would bring unity to the Canadian nation, has had the opposite effect, the Vancouver Province said in its lead editorial today, and called it "Just plain bad judgment".

The newspaper said:

"Mr. Pearson's flag proposals inflamed one of the longest and bitterest quarrels in National history and leaves many sections of the country angry, frustrated and with shaken confidence in our government.

"As a means of furthering National unity the new flag is a joke. If this is the government's idea of holding the country together let us devoutly pray that we will be protected from any more of it.

"There is only one explanation of the Pearson bad timing: The same singular bad judgment that has characterized so many other half-baked government proposals.

"The new flag did not produce national unity. It was not good politics. It was not an idealistic effort to keep an election promise. No matter how thin the Liberal propagandists slice it, it was just plain stupid".

"To remind drivers of the deadly potential in every car exhaust system, the Ontario Safety League quotes the case of a young driver who got his tailpipe stuck in a snow bank. As he tried to dislodge it, carbon monoxide fumes, unable to escape normally, accumulated inside the vehicle, killing him.

Juveniles charged with break-ins

Lindsay OPP said two juveniles ages 14 and 15, surrendered themselves to police at 1:15 a.m. this morning and were subsequently charged with breaking into four cottages in the Pigeon Lake area recently. Police said the two, who are wards of the Children's Aid Society, ran away from their foster homes in the Lindsay area on January 4.

They will appear in juvenile court, police said.

Ella Havery

Mrs. Ella Havery, beloved wife of Wilfred Havery of Fenelon Falls passed away suddenly at the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, following a brief illness.

Mrs. Havery's passing came as a great shock to her family, relatives and friends in the community and to her associates in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Fenelon Falls where she had been an active worker.

Mrs. Havery was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Byrnell, born and raised on the farm where her home was located at the time of her death.

The late Ella Byrnell married Wilfred Havery in 1912, moving to a farm on the fourth Concession of Fenelon where they operated the Havery farm until returning in 1923 to her old nomesite at which time she and her husband became active in the tourist business at the Byrnell Farm, later changing the name to Byrnell Manor, carrying on a successful summer lodge for many years. Later a portion of the farm was made into a golf course. Through her association with the tourist business she made a host of friends from far and near. Having a friendly word for all, she made friends easily.

Mrs. Havery was a devoted lover of home and family, exemplified the ideal wife, mother and grandmother, had a keen interest in people and her church. Thoughtful of others and an ever ready helping hand. She was a Presbyterian, for many years a member of St. Andrew's, Fenelon Falls, where she served on the Board of Managers for several years.

Left to mourn her loss are her husband, Wilfred Havery; two daughters, Mrs. Grant Hines (Evelyn), Willowdale, Ontario and Mrs. Frank Stukus (Anna), Fenelon Falls; and five grandchildren, Gordon, Garry, and Roddy Hines and Frank and Maureen Stukus; a sister, Mrs. Alfred Tiers (Evelina) Fenelon Falls. Her two brothers, Herbert and Rupert, are predeceased.

The funeral was held from Platten Funeral Home, Fenelon Falls. Rev. E. Grant MacDonald of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church conducted the service. Pallbearers were Stanley Kennedy, Bill Stukus, Charles McInnis, Morley Byrnell, Dan Talmie, and Bill Murchison. A great many floral tributes conveyed the high esteem in which the deceased was held. Interment in Fenelon Falls Cemetery.

Albert Simper

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — Albert Edwin Simper passed away at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Spicer, RR1 Fenelon Falls on Sunday, November 29th, 1964, in his 90th year.

Mr. Simper was born in London England on October 5th, 1875, and came to Canada in 1884. He lived in Verulam Township for many years, and was married to Miss Margaret Ann Junkin in Fenelon Falls in 1908. She predeceased him in 1952.

In his early life Mr. Simper was occupied as a chef. He served as a private in the 100th Battalion of the Canadian Expeditionary Force during the First World War from 1916 to 1918. He was a Past President of the Canadian Legion Branch 238 Fenelon Falls.

Mr. Simper was a member of the Salvation Army.

The funeral service was held from the Platten Funeral Home on Tuesday, December 1st, conducted by Brigadier S. Stanley of the Salvation Army. Interment was at Fenelon Falls Cemetery.

The nallbearers were Guy Gamsby, Victor Jackett, Cecil Ellery, Kenneth Smith, Kenneth Junkin and Whitney Stewart.

Beautiful floral tributes banked the casket.

Valentia

Miss Judith Bean of Hamilton, Bermuda, spent a few days with Miss Nina Glassford, both girls have returned to continue their studies at Albert College, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sutherland and family of Oshawa, and her mother Mrs. Robert Ray and daughter Ruby, of Lindsay, spent new year's at the home of her sister Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hood.

Mr., and Mrs. Orr Mark, spent a few days visiting relatives in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Agnew and family of Niagara Falls, spent the Christmas holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Sharpe and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Tamblyn and family of Barrie, visited her mother Mrs. R. Snoddon. Christmas night, and the Snoddon family were all together for Christmas dinner on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Snoddon.

The community was sorry to hear that Mr. Terts is a patient in the Ross Hospital, Lindsay all hope for a speedy recovery.

Friends of Mr. Wilmot Mark are pleased to hear that he is doing nicely at the Star Haven Rest Home, Little Britain.

Five team hockey league proposed

(UPI) — A proposed five-team international hockey league that would include Canada, the United States, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Russia, will be discussed at the International Hockey Association meeting in Finland, March 4 - 14.

Gordon Juckes, Secretary-Manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said today the idea first was discussed during the recent international Colorado tournament.

Juckes said the proposal calls for five teams to play a 24-game schedule, 12 at home and 12 away.

"Each country would play the other three times at home and three times away," said Juckes.

He said games in Canada would be played in major cities having arenas with seating capacities ranging from 8,000 to 13,000.

"It would be best to have the Europeans play in North America in late November and early December, with the Canadian and U.S. teams going overseas in late December and and early January. The Canadians and Americans could arrange their own scheduling without difficulty," he added.

Jukes said the Finland talks would be held in conjunction with the world hockey championships in March.

"It would eventually develop to the point where games would be televised internationally," said the CAHA official, noting the Eurovision television Corporation is paying about $85,000 for this year's world championship TV rights.

Indian party for Brownies

Bethany (PNS) — The Bethany Brownie troop with their leaders Brown Owl Mrs Reg Rose and Tawny Owl Mrs. Wally Reid were hosts to the visiting Brownies from Millbrook for a Christmas Revel with an Indian theme, held in the Parish Hall of St. Paul's church on Wednesday. Forty brownies took part in the program.

The Millbrook group sang "The Snowman" and gave a dancing number. The Bethany Brownies sang "Land Of The Silver Birch" and gave a skit in costume "The Story of Pocahantes.

All wore Indian headdresses and joined in playing the Chocktaco Indian game and learned a new Indian Round to sing. Refreshments were served and each child wore a name tag shaped like an Indian Tepee.

Four new Tweenies joined the Bethany group —Marlene Ryley, Barbara Wood, Heather Mcgill and Beverlee White.

Visitors present were District Commander Mrs. Sam Field, Brown Owl Mrs. J. Raper and Tawney Owl Mrs. H. Abbott, all of Millbrook; Brown Owl, Mrs. C. Haigh and Tawny Owl Mrs. D. Harris of Cavan.

Christmas concert at public school

Zion-Fenelon (PNS) — Cameron Point Public School held their Christmas concert on the 17th of December with a large attendance of parents and visitors.

The programme began with the singing of carols by all the school pupils. Plays, drills, songs and recitations followed with every grade participating.

The programme was under the capable direction of Mrs. Wm. Brown who is the teacher.

Santa Claus was a welcome visitor at the close of the concert, distributing gifts to each and every child.

POSSIBLE UNION

(UPI) — A possible union of Maritime provinces will be a key item before the New Brunswick legislature when it opens February 16th. Both Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have agreed to consider the merits of joint government. New Brunswick premier Louis Robichaud also is expected to introduce legislation based on a report recommending major streamlining of the municipal set-up in the province.

THORNHILL MAN FINED $15

Wayne Lambert, 22, of Thornhill was fined $15 and costs in Lindsay Police Court today or 10 days for unlawfully carrying firearms for the purpose of hunting on Sunday.

A Lands and Forests Officer, Harry Tuvi, said he stopped Lambert and another man on a Verulam Township road at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, December 13, after he observed they were carrying rifles which was later found to oe loaded. He said the accused said he was looking for jackrabbits.

The accused told the court he had not carried the gun for the purpose of hunting; he had just been target shooting.

Mr. Tuvi said the Department of Lands and Forests was not concerned with target shooting on private property but these men were on the road and claimed to be looking for rabbits.

Magistrate Ian Munro said the Department should be concerned with target-practice, "they're liable to shoot somebody".

A FIRE HAZARD

Buffalo, (UPI) — Buffalo's fire alarm headquarters is a fire hazard.

Fire Commissioner Robert J. Zahm Jr. is seeking a new building and branded the present one unsafe.

World news today

Moscow — President Johnson's proposal for an exchange of visits with Russia touched off speculation that the President might visit Europe — and Moscow — this year. Soviet officials were reported gratified at Johnson's suggestion that Soviet leaders visit the United States, but they doubted such a trip could be made this year.

United Nations, N.Y., — Indonesia remained silent on its decision announced last week to quit the United Nations in protest against the seating of Malaysia in the Security Council. Diplomatic sources said the lack of a formal note of resignation indicated Indonesia might be reconsidering such action.

Saigon, Viet Nam — The Vietnamese Defense Ministry said the seven-day battle for Binh Gia cost the lives of 158 Vietnamese and five Americans, the heaviest government loss of the Vietnamese war. Communist China hailed the Binh Gia battle as a "magnificent victory" for the Viet Cong.

Moscow — The Kremlin has repudiated Josef Stalin's wartime decree exiling 400,000 Germans in the lower Volga region for aiding Nazi invaders. A new decree absolved the Volga Germans of Nazi collaboration and ordered that they be provided special schools and other facilities.

Vatican City — Pope Paul VI set Sept. 14 for the opening of the fourth and final session of the ecumenical council. Documents still to be concluded include those on religious liberty and on the relations of the Roman Catholic Church with Jews and other non-christians.

Cairo — Stock exchanges in Cairo and Alexandria remained closed for the third day in Egypt's economic crisis. The markets closed following disclosure that shares in some of the country's biggest companies had dropped in value indicating a growing lack of confidence in Egypt's economic policies.

Ottawa — R.C.M.P. Superintendent Weldon Jack Fitzsimmons has been promoted to the rank of Chief Superintendent of the force, it was announced yesterday.

Fitzsimmons, commanding officer of "C" division, Toronto, is a graduate of the Canadian Police College and has served posts across the country. He is married and has four children.

Ottawa — Canada's domestic exports in October, 1964, were valued at about $670 million (M), a 7.2 percent increase over the monthly total in 1963, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

This brought total exports in the first ten months of the year to about $6,674 Million (M) or 21.6 per cent greater than the corresponding 1963 total most of the gain was due to a five per cent increase in volume and a two per cent increase in the price index.

Exports were greater in October and the January-October period as compared to a year earlier to the United States, Japan, Australia, Communist China, Belgium and Luxumbourg and South Africa.

By commodity, the principle dollar-earning commodities were wheat, newsprint, lumber, pulp and iron ore in October and the ten-month cumulative period.

In the January-October period, Canada's best customers were the United States, United Kingdom, Russia, Japan and Germany in that order. Communist China was seventh.

Vancouver — Officials in greater Vancouver today voiced concern over winter-damaged streets as higher temperatures thawed a near-record seasonal snowfall.

Frost and the pounding of vehicle chains have torn holes in pavements throughout the area.

Vancouver city engineer Ran Martin said his department was in the process of estimating damage.

Most major streets in all areas were clear as temperatures held above freezing and light rain fell intermittently. Crews today were expected to get at secondary roads.

The weather office called for a few rain showers, mixed with snow on higher levels, with an overnight low of 32 degrees and a high of 37.

Tri-County Senior hockey league is ready for tonight

The Tri-County Hockey Association is set for another season with five teams in the running this year. The league now consists of teams from Little Britain, Oakwood, Cambray, Fenelon Falls and Burnt River.

The Tri-County Schedule opens tonight with Cambray tackling the Flyers at Oakwood, and the final game is slated for Saturday, February 6th., followed by play-offs. Other games this week takes Little Britain to Fenelon Falls on Friday night, and Cambray goes to Burnt River and Oakwood to Little Britain Saturday night.

Ti-Cats 13 wins on line tonight

Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats will be putting their 13 consecutive win streak on the line tonight when they meet Lindsay Merchants for the first time this season. The Ti-Cats last and only loss was on November 15th., at Sutton when they bowed to the Twins 8-6. Lindsay Merchants have eight wins since their last loss at Uxbridge, November 30th.

Game time tonight at Bobcaygeon will be 8:30 and reports indicate a full house for this one. In fact inquiries for tickets for the return game at the Kiwanis Arena Friday night are also quite numerous which points up the importance of this series. Game time Friday night is 9:00 p.m.

Lindsay Merchants go into this game tonight after a long lay off while the Ti-Cats played Wednesday and Saturday last week. Both teams are expected to be at full strength and already the before battle silence begins to settle down. The Merchants need two wins this week if they hope to hold the Cliff Johnston Memorial Trophy.

Santa visited school concert

Janetville (PNS) — The South Janetville school held their Christmas concert in the hall. The hall was filled with Christmas spirit and the following took part in the programme.

Jerry Carkner, Jeanette Vivian, Cathy Plumtree, Debie McGill, George Zedvelt, Kevin Taylor, Doris Hughes, Josephine Carkner, and Alanna Burn. The Junior girls presented a wand drill, the junior boys a tumbling act. All the juniors joined together for a dialogue and chorus. The childrens entertainment was interspersed with carols and the Queen closed the evening. Santa Claus visited the girls and boys giving them gifts and candy.

Local teams win 6-1 and 5-4 over fast Beaverton teams

Lindsay Legion Midgets last night defeated Beaverton Midgets 6-1 at the Kiwanis Arena while the Lindsay Kiwanis Juvenites withstood a 3 goal comeback by Beaverton Lions Juveniles to salvage a 5-4 win over the visitors.

Ron Williams and Goron Rodd with two goals each added one to clinch the win. Ray Williams scored the only goal for the Beaverton firefighters in a hard fought clean game.

The Kiwanis Juveniles had a 5-1 win going for them midway in the third period last night, then had to do a back-to-the-wall stand for the last four minutes to preserve the win.

Beaverton opened the scoring early in the first period by Keith Van Nest. The Kiwanians however replied with five goals before Van Nest again went into action. Brian Keehn and Roger Welland put the locals ahead 2-1 in the second period. Sal Polito with two and a goal by John Crawford early in the third period put Tozer's toughies ahead by a 5-1 count. Three goals by Keith Van Nest almost unseated the leaders as the fast wingers lit the lamp at the nine, thirteen and sixteen minute mark. The Lions playing with a five to four advantage in manpower in the last minute also removed their goalie foh another attacker but to no avail.

Lindsay Legion Midgets next game takes them to Sunderland next Monday night at 9:00 p.m., then return to enertain Oakwood Midgets Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m.

Lindsay Kiwanis Juveniles go to Beaverton for a game Friday at 8:00 p.m. and meet Fenelon Falls here next Tuesday at 9:00 p.m.

WISE OLD TROUT

Augusta, Maine. (UPI) — An 18-year-old trout of some size trout apparently is old enough to know when its safe to be caught.

The 12-pound fish was hauled in recently by the Maine department of inland fisheries and game for the second time. As when it was caught the first time years ago, it was tagged, its age and dimensions were recorded and it was set free again.

Poet's Corner

In the year that is past, where did we begin,
On a sure foundation, or on a frail rim?
In planning to rise, the first round is the start,
Up the ladder of life, remember—take heart.

One round may be weak, on that ladder of life,
But do not despair—and your valor is rife,
Place your ladder secure, with the rounds all strong;
Thus hourly and daily, all life rolls along.

Take time to be happy, with both young and old,
You'll never regret it, for decades untold;
In the family, the church and community —
With the youth organization, one, two and three.

Some have worked with all ages, thus they well know,
How to meet and greet them—and play without foe.
And art to remember, when thresholds we've crossed —
And a beautiful memory, not to be lost.

Candles lit to mark Christmas

Woodville (PNS) — Bethlehem was the theme for a joint Christmas meeting of the W.M.S. and W.A. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in South Eldon, which was held at the home of Mrs. Douglas McEachern with nine members and one visitor present.

Mrs. D. H. McEachern presided for the meeting and a hymn was sung after which Mrs. McEachern told how the hymn came to be written. The Christmas story from Luke 2 was read in unison with Mrs. Donald McEachern giving the meditation and showing a picture of Bethlehem today.

The minutes of the previous W.M.S. meeting were read and approved and the treasurer's report given. A letter from Mrs. Dixon in Formosa was read by Mrs. Douglas McEachern expressing thangs for used Christmas cards that had been sent to her. It was decided to order the Study Book for 1965.

Minutes of the November W.A. meeting were read and approved and correspondence read. Thanks was expressed for "get-well" cards that have been reecived. Mrs. D. G. McEachern distributed programmes for the coming year and offered her home for the January meeting.

The offering was received and dedicated with prayers. A very enjoyable musical number was given by Mrs. Douglas McEachern.

A candlelighting service took place with Mrs. D. M. McEachern lighting a candle from which were lighted several others by Mrs. Douglas McEachern, Mrs. Morris McEachern, Mrs. Reid Torrey, Mrs. D. G. McEachern and Mrs. Clarence Wallace.

Roll was called and answered with Ideals taken from the Editor's Scrap Book for the W.M.S. and White Gifts for the W.A.

Pot luck supper, pageant at Fenelon Falls church

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — A Pot Luck Supper for the parents and pupils of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Sunday School in Fenelon Falls, preceded their annual Christmas tree and concert.

The Lower Hall of the church was gay with a lighted Christmas tree and decorations of cedar boughs and pine cones for the happy occasion.

Mr. Campbell Kerr, superintendent of the Sunday School was chairman for the concert which featured a Nativity Pageant. The pageant was directed and narrated by Nancy Johnstone.

The Sunday School pupils taking part were: Barbara Scott Mission for the W.A.

A musical number by Mrs. Donald McEachern was enjoyed at this time.

The meeting closed with prayer.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social time spent.

Thanks was tendered Mrs. McEachern for her hospitality.

as Joseph; The Wise Men were Wayne Vanderyagt, Brian McGee and Robert Johnston; The Shephers were Ian MacDonald, Grace McGee; The sheep were Bonnie Sue Johnstone, Mary Jane McGee, Bruce and David Culbert. The Angels were Barbara Dunn and Heather MacDonald.

Santa Claus arrived to the strains of Jingle Bells and distributed candy, gifts and balloons.

Mr. Leigh Culbert showed two Christmas films and Mr. MacDonald spoke to the children briefly on "The Meaning of Christmas" and closed with prayer.

The supper was convened by Mrs. Leigh Culbert, who was assisted by Mrs. Campbell Kerr Mrs. Frank Johnston and Mrs. George Johnstone.

NEWS FROM THE LCVI

by "The Post" Collegiate reporter Richard Bruce

CHRISTMAS DANCE SUCCESS

On Wednesday, December 23, the special dance "Country Christmas" was held in the auditorium. The music was provided by Garnet Powell and his orchestra. The auditorium was suitably decorated for the festive season with Christmas trees and Christmas colours. The decorating committee under the supervision of Donald MacArthur decorated the gym beautifully. The food committee headed by Shirley Simons and Sandra Webdale also did a fine job when one considers the limited revenue they had. Actually it was one of the best dances this school has ever had and of course "Ringo Deer" added a great deal of fun to the atmosphere of the dance.

I understood that this year, for the first time in many years, the Christmas dance was a paying success. Congratulations are due to the student council and to all those who played any part at all in the organization of the dance.

BASKETBALL

The boys basketball teams are at it once again. Before the Christmas holidays they were practicing both before school and at 3:10 p.m. Now, once again, they are preparing themselves for the tough schedule that lies ahead. Mr. Tait is coaching the senior boys team for the second year and some of the players have very high hopes for the coming season.

The junior boys basketball team is being coached by Mr. Wilson this year. They too have been practicing diligently Best of luck boys.

SNOW CRUISERS START SPORTS BOOM

Ever since the first Stone Age cave-dweller fashioned a pair of snow skis from animal bones, man has been searching for an efficient form of winter transportation.

According to archaeologists, Scandinavians were gliding over snowy slopes several thousand years before the birth of Christ. The Swedes experimented with animal bone ice skates in the 8th century. Snow shoes and toboggans were other primitive attempts to end winter's forced hibernation and hardship.

Despite 5,000 years of experimentation, man had to wait until the 20th century for the first real breakthrough. The tinkerings of two Wisconsin inventors produced the first self propelled snow vehicle during the 1920's. Powered by small gasoline engines, hardly more than an experimental gadget themselves, the first models sputtered and coughed over snowbound trails in northern Wisconsin.

In 1927 Carl J. Eliason patented the feature of his machine. His "motor toboggan" had ski-like frontrunners and a rear drive track. Although short on styling and passenger comfort, his snowmobile soon proved its worth on icy slopes and snowbound trails.

Nearly 35 years later some of Eliason's machines can still be seen skimming over the snow in northern Wisconsin. Interestingly, he is now a dealer for Outboard Marine's new snowmobile, introduced this year.

Although the one and two passenger snowmobile remained a "local curiosity" in the 1930's and 40's, larger snow vehicles won gradual acceptance. They were used as school buses and mail carriers in Canada. Arctic explorers and the Canadian armed forces also found snow vehicles provided dependable winter transportation.

Professional hunters and trappers "rediscovered" the two passenger snowmobile after World War II. They found that besides providing easy access to the most far-flung points, the snowmobile was fun to operate.

The real avalanche of interest started in 1960. Sales have increased nearly 400 per cent in the last four years, and this year looks like the biggest ever. An estimated 20,000 vehicles will be sold in Canada and the United States, according to the Snow Cruiser News Service.

Today's modern snowmobile has undergone some radical changes since Eliason's pioneer invention in 1927. Although retaining the same basic design structure, streamlined styling and more dependable and powerful engines have been added. New front skis and steering mechanisms have improved too. The northwoods trapper is being replaced by the all-round winter sportsman.

Owners have banded together to stage competitive events and cross country excursions. Snowmobile rallies have attracted as many as 20,000 spectators in recent years. Winter resorts, country clubs and even boat marinas have purchased snow-mobiles for use as rental fleets to boost winter business.

Carl J. Eliason produced a "motor toboggan" in 1927 with ski-like front runners and a rear drive track.

Streamlined styling and a more dependable and powerful engine have been added to modern snowmobiles and new front skis and steering mechanism have improved handling and maneuverability.

January 11, 1965, this plaque, commemorating Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's first prime minister, will be unveiled in Ramshorn Presbyterian Church, Glasgow, Scotland. The marker is provided by Ontario's Department of Tourism and Information, acting on the recommendation of the Archaeological and Historic Sites Board of Ontario. Appearing in the picture left to right are: The Honourable James A. C. Auld, Minister of the Department of Tourism and Information; the Honourable John P. Robarts, Q.C., Prime Minister of Ontario; and W. H. Cranston, Co-Chairman of the Archaeological and Historic Sites Board of Ontario. The ceremony in Glasgow, which has been organized by the Ontario Government to take place on the 150th anniversary of Sir John A. Macdonald's birth, coincides with the birthday of Ontario's prime minister, the Honourable John P. Robarts.

New U.S. Stamps Commemorate Salvation Army Magna Carta, Traffic Safety and Dante....

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has announced plans to issue six new postage stamps this year. A commemorative postal card is also scheduled. These are:

A Herbert Hoover commemorative stamp.

Commemorative stamps for Traffic Safety, the Salvation Army, the Magna Carta and Dante Alighieri.

Reproduction of a John Singleton Copley painting in continuing the American painting series of stamps.

A Coast Guard commemorative postal card.

This brings to 11 the number of commemorative stamps planned for 1965. Post Office Department policy is to issue about 15 new stamps annually.

"We gave thoughtful consideration to the great number of requests for new stamps and have selected for issuance what we think will contribute to a well-rounded programme for the year", Mr. Gronouski said.

The Dante Alighiere stamp honours Italy's great poet. Born in Florence in 1265, he became a political exile in his middle years and settled finally in Ravenna where he completed his master work "The Divine Comedy". This is a vivid description of a visit through three realms of the afterlife–Hell, Purgatory and Paradise. He died at 56 in 1321. The stamp will be issued for the 700th anniversary of his birth.

The Salvation Army commemorative stamp marks the 100th anniversary of this non-sectarian organization that conducts its work in 85 countries.

Founded in the London slums by William Booth in 1865, the Salvation Army came to the United States in 1880. Its farflung activities and board welfare programmes make it a unique organization.

The cost of highway accidents is nearly 49,000 lives and almost $8 billion a year–statistics that the National Safety Council believes can be cut in half if the programme of the President's Committee for Traffic Safety are carried out.

A traffic safety commemorative postage stamp will call attention to the need for increasing driver education, urge the use of such safety devices as seat belts, and point to the fact that 3½ million miles of street and highways can be made safer with engineering improvements.

The Magna Carta was reluctantly granted in 1215 by King John to his lords and became the first detailed statement of English feudal law. A commemorative postage stamp will mark the 750th anniversary.

More and more power had been passing from the barons to the crown, and when John's military strength was sapped by loss of a war to France, the barons seized the opportunity to regain their powers.

Over the years, the Great Charter has come to be revered as the basis for trial by jury, due process of law, habeas corpus and other foundations of British and American law.

The American painting series, which previously included work by Frederic Remington, Winslow Homer, John James Audon and Charles M. Russell, continues with a stamp based on a painting by John Singleton Copley. He was one of America's first great painters.

Copley was born in Boston in 1738, where he specialized in portraits in oils and pastels. Critics regard his use of blues and greens and the brilliance of his textures as unsurpassed.

Copley moved to England in 1775 where he remmained until his death in 1815.

A commemorative postal card will mark the 175th anniversary of the founding of the Coast Guard. Founded in 1790, under another name, the Coast Guard serves under the Treasury Department in time of peace, under the Navy in time of war.

It guards 40,000 miles of shoreline and each year receives about 30,000 calls form craft needing assistance. In 1957 three Coast Guard cutters engaged in a spectacular mission. They broke ice across the Arctic to open a northwest passage for DEW line supplies.

A commemorative stamp for Clark Hoover will honour the 31st President who died October 20 at the age of 90. Born August 10, 1874 the son of a blacksmith, Hoover went on to become a celebrated mining engineer, chiefly overseas.

Following both World Wars, Hoover headed programmes to distribute food and aid to Europe.

In 1947, President Truman named him to head programmes to reorganize the executive branch of government and from his committee came recommendations which were implemented by the federal government.

KLTA MAY SPONSOR COMEDY FESTIVAL

The Kawartha Lakes Tourist Association will be asked to sponsor a stage production, "Kawartha Festival of Comedy", by Trigon Productions, Donald Scott of the KLTA told a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Tuesday.

Representatives of Trigon Productions of Toronto, Sally Jones and Larry Reynolds, told the Kiwanis Club their company wished to bring summer theatre to Lindsay for an eight-week season this summer. They asked if the KLTA would sponsor the season's productions.

HEADS UP UNIT

Jack Armstrong, who will head up the Kawartha Lakes Fisheries Management unit of the Department of Lands and Forests, arrived in Lindsay, Monday. Jack Armstrong has been transferred here from Sioux Lookout and will succeed Ron Christie who is now District Biologist.

"SPRING THAW" MAY RUN TWO NIGHTS HERE

Mayor Moore's production, "Spring Thaw" may run two nights in Lindsay this year, it was learned at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club at noon today. Secretary of the club, Harry Pierce, told the meeting he was in receipt of a letter from Spring Thaw Limited which said the company had not been booked as yet for February 25. The production was scheduled at the Academy for one night, February 26, and the company said if no booking is forthcoming this week, it will be willing to perform two nights, with one performance per night rather than two performances in one night.

A member of the Kiwanis Club said this would be beneficial to the cast, having to perform only once each night and it would also enable the merchants, who have to work until 9 p.m. Friday night to attend the show on Thursday. He added, a more convenient time could also be set; when two performances are scheduled in a night, usually one is too early and the other is too late.

"Spring Thaw" opens in Victoria B.C., on January 20 and will appear in 44 cities and towns in Canada General Manager Robert Johnston said.

D of A Farm Account Book satisfactory for income tax

The first of a series of weekly meetings in the Conference room of the Provincial Government Building, Lindsay was held Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. George Arnold, Farm Management Specialist addressed the meeting which commenced at 2:00 p.m. on "the" Farm Account Book and its use covering the advantages and principles of farm accounting.

Mr. Arnold pointed out that the Farm Account Book as issued by the Department of Agriculture is completely satisfactory for compiling income tax information and is accepted by income tax authorities.

Detailed study of a properly maintained accounting system will disclose profitable or non-profitable enterprizes, and in many cases point up the bad and good points of any given venture, explained the management specialist.

Mr. Arnold and Mr. Howard Nodwell, Extension Specialist (Engineering) went into some detail in discussing "Farm Machinery Management" Points under discussion included the economics of gasoline vs. diesel tractors; break even points for custom hiring vs ownership of a number of farm machines such as hay balers, seed drills, corn planters, and two sizes of combines. Comparison of harvesting systems from an economical stand-point was discussed. One alternative under observation was the use of hay baling in comparison to forage harvesting.

George Arnold also advised those in attendance that the 1965 Farm Account Books are now available at the Department of Agriculture office.

Next weeks meeting which will be held Tuesday, January 12th. The subject next week will be "Income Tax and the value of Special Services". Mr. H. R Grogan, Chief Agricultural Income Tax Inspector, will head up the discussion.

Bill Crothers named Athlete of the year

(UPI) — Toronto track star Bill Crothers, named last month as the top male Canadian athlete of 1964, was today selected as Ontario's Athlete-of-the-year by the Ontario Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association.

Crothers garnered 153 points 106 more than his closest rival, rower Roger Jackson.

The 62 OSSA members who participated in the voting listed their first three choices. Three points were awarded for a first place finish, two for second and one for third.

The 24-year old Crothers received 43 first-place ballots and only six voters failed to mention him on their ballots.

Crothers, a Toronto pharmicist, pocketed a second-place silver medal for his performance in the 800 metres at the summer Olympic games at Tokyo in Oct. of last year.

Only Australia's Peter Snell was faster than Crothers, the first Canadian to reach the finals in the event since Montreal's Phil Edwards won the bronze medal in the 1936 games at Berlin.

Twenty athletes were named in the balloting. Tommy Grant Hamilton Tiger-Cat's sticky fingered flanker placed third with 45 points. Chicago Black Hawk's Bobby Hull, 27 points, and Toronto-born Ron Taylor, pitcher with world champion St Louis Cardinals 25 points, finished fourth and fifth.

Golfer Nick Welock, 23 points, heavyweight George Chuvalo, 15, and Equestrian Jim Day, 13, were the other three athletes to reach double figures.

Runner-up Jackson drew seven first-place votes. Grant had four. Chuvalo, Day and Hull, two. Hockey star Stan Mikita and Taylor had one.

Olympic judo competitor Doug Rodgers, who finished third in the Canadian male athlete poll, was almost overlooked by Ontario sportswriters and sportscasters. He received just one point.

Mikita and Ottawa roughrider Ron Stewart had four points. Rider Jim Elder and Golfer George Kundson gained three points. Figure skater Petra Burka and the East York Argonaut's Gord McTaggart collected two points.

In addition to Rogers, hockey stars Jean Beliveau, Dave Keon, and Ken Wharram, and football players Dick Shatto and Bobby Kuntz received one point.

"EMBRACERY"

Leeds, England (UPI) — Jack Oldridge of Leeds has been served with a summons charging him with embracery, which means trying to illegally influence a jury.

It was believed to be the first charge of embracery in 350 years. Oldridge was a jury foreman here in 1962 when two of his brothers were tried, and convicted of shopbreaking.

Thirty floats in Santa parade

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — The Santa Claus parade in Fenelon Falls which was sponsored by the local business men, was under the chairmanship of Garnet Graham.

An estimated 2,000 people from Fenelon Falls and the surrounding area watched the parade which consisted of some thirty floats many stressing the Christmas theme. Many story book characters, clowns and fairy tale people come to life form, circulated among the floats adding interest to the mile long parade.

Music, was provided by the popular Rotary Hobo Band, and delightful Christmas music was provided by Jack Marshall, well known musician on a Hammond Organ, and the Kinsmen Band of Lindsay.

Three floats from Lindsay took part in the parade. They were the Lindsay Real Estate Board, The Girls Training School and the Kawartha Chapter I.O.O.F. The Twirlettes from Sunderland also added much colour and interest to the parade, the "Cubs", with their cubmaster Jack Barrett also created a good deal of local entnusiasm.

Santa Claus was seated in an old fashioned cutter drawn by prancing reindeer, and after the parade had toured the village streets he drew up at the Post Office. Here members of the Rotary Club passed out treats to the many children present.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

CONSULTATION MIGHT SOLVE PATIENT'S PAINFUL DILEMMA

Oh, what to do? Where to go? What next?

There are thousands of people like Mrs. R. (whose letter you will read) who suffer daily, not knowing if and when there will ever be any solution. I like them to tell me their problems, because it is possible (quite often) to set them straight. Indecision is killing, in more ways than one. Here is the letter:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I find myself in a great dilemma. My doctor, who is one of the best-known surgeons in this part of the country, suspected my gall bladder had to come out. However, after two or three special tests (the gall bladder didn't visualize after the first test), he decided against operation. He decided I should be treated for a spastic gall bladder.

So I am taking between 12 and 18 pills every day, depending upon the amount of pain. By the way, other doctors in the same hospital and in his presence, felt that there were shadows like round or semi-round dots on some of the films, but the technicians said those were the ribs showing through.

I have no actual pain usually except for constant bloating. I have so little energy that I want to do just nothing. Usually, I have been very busy, and on the go, travel with my husband and just love almost everything I do. In other words, I recognize that I am quite a lucky person and appreciate it.

NIGHTS OF DISCOMFORT

After a spell of having no signs other than the bloat, there comes from 10 to 14 days and nights of real discomfort and sharp, burning pains. They are always in the upper abdomen, spears to the upper back, mainly on the right side. There seems to be a lot of rumbling, burping and gas discomfort. I feel waves of nausea coming over me, but really vomited only once. Sometimes the pains are so sharp I double over. They wake me at night and I have to walk the floor. My pain pills don't seem to help at such times.

Maybe this is not gall bladder trouble, but I know there is something very wrong. I am 51, weigh 114 pounds. Have three children, 22, 19 and 10. Is taking pills the only help? I am completely frustrated and disheartened.—Mrs. R.

Comment: If, as you say, you have one of the best surgeons in your area, here is one surefire way to test that reputation. The best in medicine will never refuse a patient's request for consultation, especially when there has been no improvement.

My advice: Ask him if he will call in another internist and surgeon in your area. There are many clues cluttering up the diagnostic premises that cannot be dismissed lightly. For example, some of the doctors looking at your X-ray films, were sure they saw stones. The symptoms you relate could fit into a typical description of gall bladder disease. Frankly, I would be influenced more by your symptoms than by what the X-ray films show.

If your doctor still refuses to get other diagnostic opinions, then you have the right to seek them yourself. When did you see your doctor last? Perhaps he has no idea that you have been feeling as badly as you relate. He might be the first to advise further diagnostic study for the purpose of deciding for or against operation. I have a hunch you won't be taking a dozen pills a day much longer.

A SINGLE HUNTER HUNTING BOBCATS

A BOBCAT'S TRACK IS SIMILAR TO A HOUSE CAT'S BUT LARGER. IN WALKING, A CAT'S CLAWS ARE WITHDRAWN AND THEY DON'T APPEAR IN THE TRACK.

THE WOODS-WISE HUNTER WHO FOLLOWS A COLD TRACK WITH A SLOW, QUIET HOUND ON A LEASH BEFORE HIM, MAY OVERTAKE THE CAT WHO IS BEDDED FOR THE DAY BY SNEAKING UP ON HIM. INTENTLY WATCHING AHEAD, THE HUNTER MAY GET A SHOT AS THE CAT LEAVES ITS BED. A SHOTGUN FIRING BB'S OR NUMBER 2 SHOT IS THE BEST FOR SUCH HUNTING. START EARLY AND PREPARE FOR A LONG HIKE.

Florida Orange Honey Cubes

You've read about quick breads but this simple recipe produces a delicious, really QUICK quick bread! When time doesn't permit your whipping up your favorite morning coffee cake or afternoon tea bread, try quickie Orange Honey Cubes.

Cut a loaf of day-old unsliced white bread as directed. Combine fresh-frozen Florida orange juice concentrate with sugar, cinnamon, honey, butter and chopped nuts, pour the mixture over the cut loaf, and bake for ten to fifteen minutes. Easy? Delicious!

Orange Honey Cubes

1 loaf unsliced day-old white bread
¼ cup light brown sugar
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons honey
2 tablespoons frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed and undiluted
¼ cup melted butter
¼ cup coarsely chopped nuts

Cut crust from top and sides of bread. Cut bread lengthwise almost through to bottom crust, then cut crosswise to form 8 cubes. Combine sugar, cinnamon, honey, orange juice concentrate, melted butter and nuts; stir until well blended. Pour mixture over bread, letting some run down into cubes and over top. Tie loosely with string. Place on cookie sheet and bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 10-15 minutes. Remove string and serve warm. YIELD: 6 servings.

HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press International

Hollywood (UPI) — The surprise television success of the new season has been the nighttime soap opera "Peyton Place", a continuing story of strife, misery, concupiscence and skullduggery.

In the New Year more such series are scheduled for prime time.

"Peyton Place" airs Tuesday and Thursday nights, and, curiously, the Thursday night installment is in 3rd place in the ratings while Tuesday's segment rates only 6th. Both, however are well into the top ten and evidently will remain there.

Dorothy Malone, a gifted actress and Academy Award winner, is ostensibly the star of the series. But she has less time on the screen than almost anyone else in the cast.

How does she explain the fact that soap operas — traditionally a daytime institution for housewives — are making it in prime time.

"Because the show is endowed with attractive people, good sets and fine acting," the blonde beauty answered during lunch in the 20th Century-Fox commissary.

But it would also appear that females can and do control the home dials. Once the man of the house is exposed to the compositions of sex, Chicanery, intrigue and romance involved in such a format, he becomes hooked.

It's like eating salted peanuts. You can't stop.

Will actor Anderson have a cohort with Dr. Rossi be reinstated? Will Constance MacKenzie tell her daughter Allyson she was born out of wedlock? Will George Anderson kill his wife? Will Leslie Harrington get possession of the mills? Will the whole damn town burn to the ground?

These questions and others are answered with agonizing deliberation, each solution stretched out over months of viewing.

Every episode ends with a cliffhanger and a teaser for the following segment. On the air the show is identified as a "continuing story" but in reality it is the old movie serial technique updated.

Miss Malone defends the format. "It is really more like making a movie than a soap opera. The show is something like "The Best Years Of Our Lives."

"In a real soap opera there is hardly any scenery, and when they want to let the audience know that it's snowing one of the characters comes in and says, 'It's snowing outside.' We have beautiful outdoor sets, and we show the snow instead of just talking about it.

"There are so many production values and so much care taken that the soap opera tag doesn't apply to us."

Miss Malone and other members of the cast are badgered by friends and strangers begging to learn the outcome of the various plot twists.

"We don't know the answers half the time ourselves," Dorothy smiled. "And if we did, we wouldn't say a word. It would ruin the susnense. But even the writers don't know what's going to happen in advance."

Lions club give children's party

Kinmount (PNS) — The Kinmount Lions Club held a variety show and Christmas tree in the community centre on December 23, with a large attendance. The public school children were all admitted free. The programme consisted of songs, dialogues, recitations and a play put on by the Lions Club members. Dressing the Christmas turkey, Don Jones of Norwood, and Dick Roach of Kinmount entertained the audience with several songs. At the close of the programme Santa Claus arrived, and had a bag of candies for each boy and girl present.

Lloyd Stoughton

Gooderham (PNS) — Lloyd Donald Stoughton aged forty-seven years died suddenly at Hamilton Hospital on Sunday, December 6th, 1964.

He was the son of the late Mr. James Stoughton and Mrs. Bertha Stoughton of Gooderham.

A military service was held from the Dufferin and Brown Funeral Home in Hamilton.

Burial was at Woodlock cemetery. The pallbearers were friends of the deceased.

Flowers showed the high esteem in which he was held.

Attending the funeral on Wednesday afternoon, December 9th, were Mrs. Stoughton and Mr. Clifford Stoughton of Gooderham, Mrs. Herbert Bales (Kathlene), Tony Hill, Mrs Will Rile (Lynda) of Little Britain, and Mr. Hilliard Stoughton of Port Perry.

Mr. Grant Hunter accompanied them to Hamilton.

Sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

How're things in Glocca Martin? When Tim's Grand Uncle Seamus arrives from Ireland he catches Uncle Marin in a state of Levitation. The old gentleman accuses Martin of being a leprechaun and asks him to locate Eileen McGinty who ran off to America 43 years ago. Martin, in true Martian form, complies, this week on "My Favourite Martian" with Ray Walston as "Uncle Martin".

Scouts may raise cash with a bang

The 2nd Lindsay Scout group is looking into the possibility of holding a fireworks display this year, possibly at the Lindsay Central Exhibition grounds if it was learned at a meeting of the group committee Monday night. Finance Chairman Richard Baker introduced it as a method of possibly earning money for camping equipment for the scout troop and cub pack.

Chairman of the group committee, Murray Smith, told the group that regulations on the matter were very strict and the sanction of regional officers would have to be obtained before the group could consider an activity of this nature. He said, "Fireworks are explosive and there are definite rulings on the matter of scouts handling explosives".

It was suggested this might be an activity conducted by the group committee rather than the scouts themselves. Members of the committee expressed the feeling that a larg fireworks display would be good because of the cost to individual families in having a worth-while display in their back yard.

It has been six years since a fireworks display has been held in Lindsay. Jack Bellamy, past-president of the Kinsmen Club, said the Kinsmen Club used to hold a display at the fairgrounds but it was discontinued after the spring of 1959. It was reported that people commented the show was becoming poorer each year, while the records showed that the costs of a display had jumped from about $200 to $450 in a few years.

A REAL OPERATION

New York (UPI) — Candy company executive Max Radutzky, who will undergo heart surgery next Monday, has hired a group of violinists to play outside the operating room to keep things cheerful.

"Give me live musicians playing before, during and after," he demanded. "That's what I call a real operation."

A group of violinists from a Manhattan cafe were commissioned yesterday to play in the hall of Lenox Hill Hospital while Radutzky is under surgery.

Sunderland

Mr. and Mrs. Hervey Smith held a family reunion on New Year's Day with their sons Marvin and family of Rexdale, and Ross and family of Lindsay.

Mrs. Rich Bartley is spending a few days in Toronto with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Morrisette.

Webster Haney, who suffered a bad accident to his foot while at work has been a patient in Lindsay hospital and has undergone surgery. Glad to report he is getting around in a wheel chair and progressing favourably.

Rodney Jones is convalescing at home after several weeks in Oshawa hospital following a car accident. Glad to report Rodney is feeling wonderful and hopes to be back at work shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Ches. Shier were visiting over the holiday season with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. McGregor of Scarborough.

In the dear, dim distant days

OVER FIFTY YEARS AGO THE SCUGOG AT LINDSAY BRISTLED WITH BOATS

During the summer months past, the lakes, rivers and canals in and around Lindsay were picturesquely dotted with myraids of boats of all types and sizes, hundreds and hundreds of them. Be it known that over fifty years ago, in the year 1913 to be exact, the Lindsay district boasted of a very sizeable fleet of water craft of various designs and horsepower. Besides boating for pleasure there was also the thrilling excitement of racing. Yachtmen were particularly challenging in their skill at out-maneuvering enemy boats as they skimmed over long expanses of blue water and cleverly rounded the anchored bobbing buoys.

Regattas were the order of the day aand there was great enjoyment in simply cruising for pleasure. Big palatial steamers, puffing tow tugs and large and small pleasure craft added to the exciting summer-past time in local waters.

Steamers were large enough to carry 400 passengers, and when the Flavelle Milling Company held annual picnics for employees, their families and friends, it was often necessary to tow large scows laden with happy voyagers-and the band played beautiful music. Moonlight excursions were numerous when young swains in particular enjoyed holding hands and dancing in the moonlight.

Lindsay boasted a boat manufacturing company in Jesse Perrin at the head. It was located on the banks of the Scugog at the foot of Kent Street east. Following are the names of a few of the boat owners both gasoline and steam, and the names of some of the boats: Hugo Beall, Dr. Ogden Jones of Sturgeon Pt., Clifford Scott, A.S. Weksman, George Rea owned the "Neptune", L. Montizambert had the "Vim", Fenelon Falls constables J. Jones, Fred Tillcock was owned by R. L. Morgan. The "Flying Arrow" was owned by Dr. McFadyen, J. W. Flavelle had the "Swananoa", a 35 foot boat at Sturgeon Point, capable of carrying 30 people. The "Reta" was owned by Joseph Brown. It was a steam yacht with a ten h.p. engine capable of ten h.p. and could carry 20 people.

John McCrae had the "Mac" also a steam boat. Henry Nedo, keeper of the lighthouse, operated a boat. Mr. Carscadden of McCrae's Foundry purchased a yacht from Mr. Porter of Janetville.

The "Arrahwabba" was owned by Dick Butler, a 20 foot boat carrying ten people. It was equipped with an Irwin double h.p. motor and had a speed of eight miles an hour. G. H. Hopkins owned the fast gas launch "Viking II", which made 16 miles an hour. This boat was fitted with wicker chairs and had an automobile top and searchlights. Bert Naylor sold his "Mayenoe" to E. Mitchell and S. Halpin.

D. E. Hammond Lee, manager of the Machine Telephone Co. had a 17 foot launch, and the S.S. "Boneka" was owned by F. W. Sutcliffe, a 24 footer with a Fairbanks engine, with a capacity of 14 passengers.

E. Ferguson sold his yacht to George Dean. The "Scugog Queen" was owned by E. Gregory and Walter Reesor owned the "Golliwog". Wm. Flavelle had one of the fastest boats named the "Black Arrow". D. Cinnamon owned a smart little craft called the "Ambe". Thos. McConnell owned the "Tin Pan" and Sam Britton had a yacht called the "Tin Can". The "Onalinsa" was owned by G. Belland. John Jackson, the tax collector, had the "Vivian".

The "Flo Mac" was a large yacht, steam operated, owned by John McCrae. It made 10 miles an hour and carried 25 passengers. The "Monoline" was operated by Jim Buckley, a printer. The "Laura Mac" was owned by Joe McConnell was 30 feet long and the "Sea Gull" was owned by Alec Horn. James Horn ran the "May Queen" and the "Midget" was owned by Miss Morton.

"The Bank of Montreal" was the name of a launch owned by H. B. Black. A. B. Terry operated the "Sammy T". The "Juanita" was sold by Dr. Irvine to M. H. Sisson and Hugh Wixon owned "The Harold", a 25 footer, and "Sliver" was owned by Harry McConnell.

Bruce and Roy Wilson were among the enthusiasts and built their own boats always with an eye to speed. Bill Carley did most of his boating up the Scugog as did George Dennison. Allan Gillies was a water enthusiast with a fine boat and in later years Dr. Nesbitt ran a steam boat. The two greatest rivals in the steam class were Jos. Brown with "The Reta" and Thos. and Jos. McConnell with the "Flo Mac".

Concert given for parents at school

Dunsford (PNS) — A large crowd attended the Dunsford Public School Christmas Concert on Monday evening, December 21, 1964. The concert included several choruses by the boys and girls, a recitation by the junior boys, a solo by Jeanie Ringlemann, a play by the senior pupils; the junior girls gave a recitation, a skit by the senior pupils was follower with a duet by Donna Kennedy and Debbie McGregor. A square dance by junior pupils and a recitation by Perry Germyn and Billy Scott. The senior play was followed by several junior songs and a girls quartet. Seniors songs were followed by the nativity play. The closing chorus and a recitation by Johnny Hart closed a most enjoyable evening arranged by the two teachers of Dunsford, Mrs. Hall, Mrs Thurston, and Mrs. Coulter, the music teacher.

WHO PAID?

Zurich, Switzerland. (UPI) — Police were called when two motorists involved in an accident argued over which one would pay the damages. Police estimated the total damages to both cars was three Swiss Francs (75 cents).

Taxation division to crack-down on tax claims for private cars

Glad Laidley skipped a Lindsay rink to victory in the preliminary district round of the Oliver D. competition at the Lindsay Curling Club on Wednesday. The team go to Scarboro January 25th to compete in the Diamond D. From the left skip Glad Laidely, Fern Reynolds, Glad Jordon and Elva Brown. —"Post" staff photo.

Ottawa — Persons who use their own cars for business and claim income tax deductions should be prepared to give the Taxation Division a more accurate and realistic record of their expenses.

Announcing the new policy today, the Minister of National Revenue, the Hon. E. J. Benson, said the Division needed a better control of automobile expense claims to prevent abuse and to ensure uniform treatment of taxpayers in different areas.

A taxpayer claiming automobile expenses will now be required to list the total miles he travels each year, with a breakdown of miles for both business and pleasure. In the past, many taxpayers have felt it necessary only to claim an estimated basis.

"There has been a growing tendency for persons who use their own cars for both business and pleasure — such as professional persons or commissionaires — to claim a fixed percentage of their automobile expenses year after year", he explained. "In many years these percentages bore little relationship to the actual miles travelled on business and the number of miles for personal use".

After studying a cross-section of tax returns the Taxation Division is issuing an Information Bulletin, available from District Taxation Offices, explaining in detail the method of claiming automobile expenses.

To support their claim, a taxpayer should attach a detailed list of automobile expenses, broken down under the headings of gas, oil and lubrication, repairs, tires, insurance and license, rental fees (where a car is leased) and capital cost allowance. He should specify any other expenses. He should also be prepared to produce receipts to back up his claim.

The decision to ask for a more detailed reporting of automobile expense claims stemmed from a national survey of expense-account living made earlier this year.

Lands and Forests Department "don the robes of a prophet"

The weekly report of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests Lindsay District turns to predictions and resolutions in their January 4th issue. The report states it is fashionable at this time of year to "don the robes of a prophet" and wax prognostically on the outcome of events scheduled to take place during 1965.

Some there are who will not only predict which teams will compete for the Stanley Cup, the Grey Cup and World Championship of Baseball, but also who will emerge victorious.

Others with equal confidence will predict the outcome of impending elections wherever in the world they are to take place.

And for every professional weatherman, whose predictions are based on scientific knowledge, there are thousands of amateurs who will, on the basis of such prognosticatory riteria as the abundance of beech-nuts the length of a dog's hair or the colour of a caterpillar, predict whether the coming summer will be hot and dry, cool and wet or a combination of these combinations.

Lacking the power of clairvoyance our presentiments must be based on past records and the law of probability, both of which we think will support our predicition that more people than ever before will take to the out-of-doors, not only during the summer months, but throughout the four seasons of the year 1965.

And since this is the season too for either making new resolutions or strengthening old resolves, we think everyone should resolve to learn more about Ontario's out-of-doors. Not solely for the purpose of locating the best trout streams or duck marshes or the haunts of deer; nor simply to learn the identity of birds or trees or other woodland plants, although such knowledge will greatly enhance our enjoyment of out-of-doors activities.

We think everyone, whether his outdoor activities embrace all the seasons, are confined to the summer months or limited to one trip per year to view the fall colours, should make some attempt to understand the interdependent relationship of soil, water, plants and animals.

This is not to suggest that all must become ecologists, but through better understanding would come a greater appreciation of the need for maintaining the purity of our waters, protecting our forests from fire and safeguarding our wildlife during those periods when their perpetuation is largely dependent upon their remaining unmolested.

Many cottagers are even now making plans for their summer vacations, trout fishermen are counting the weeks till opening day, ornithologists, campers, naturalists, canoeists, water skiers and a host of others are all anticipating the day in 1965 when they will again be permitted to indulge in their favourite outdoor diversions.

We sincerely hope that when that day arrives they will find the trees verdant, the waters sparkling, the wildlife abundant and the air pure.

We further hope they will resolve to keep it so.

7-year-old girl injured

A 7-year-old girl, Jane Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Price of 65 Wellington Street, is reported by Lindsay hospital authorities to be in satisfactory condition in Ross Memorial Hospital with head injuries and minor abrasions sustained when she allegedly ran in to the side of a car driven by Kenneth F. Stone, 25, of R.R1, Woodville, at the corner of Victoria Avenue and Wellington Street at 5:15 p.m. Wednesday. Lindsay Police said the vehicle was on the east side of the railway tracks when the accident occurred. Police said the girl was detained in hospital for x-rays.

$25,000 budget requested for bridge department

Victoria County Engineer Harold Wilford reported the "Jones Bridge" between Hillhead and Mount Horeb open to traffic at the Bridge at the Supervising Committee meeting Wednesday. The Engineer said he had had several enquiries lately as to when the bridge would be open. The contract work has been mostly completed although considerable cleaning up and grading remains to be done, he said.

Rebuilding of "Boston Bridge" on the sixth concession of Fenelon Township was earmarked for re-construction in 1965 in the recommendations of the 1964 bridge supervising committee. Another recommendation called for a bridge department budget of $25,000 for 1965.

TRUCK ROLLS, $1,000 DAMAGE

Over $1,000 damage resulted when a truck driven by Clifford Sider, 35, of Gormley, Ontario, which had been proceeding south on the Kennisis Lake Road, went out of control and rolled over at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday. Minden OPP said the roads were slippery and no charges would be laid. The accident occurred eight miles north of West Guilford.

A car driven by Douglas McGuire, 27, of West Guilford, sustained $700 damage when it failed to negotiate a corner north of the north-shore road and crashed into a large tree, 13 miles north of Minden.

Minden OPP Constable Dean Elliott, who investigated both accidents, said no injuries resulted.

FINED $50 IN ABSENTIA

A Queensville man, Ernest Friars, was fined $50 and costs in absentia after he was convicted in Lindsay Police Court Thursday of failing to produce proof of insurance. The charge was laid by Lindsay OPP Constable L. Welton when Mr. Friars was involved in a motor vehicle accident on County Road 4 at 6:30 p.m. on December 11.

OMEMEE WOMAN FINED $75, HUSBAND AND FRIEND FINED

"You were very fortunate you weren't in any traffic when you were in that condition", Magistrate Ian Munro told an Omemee woman, Marjorie Beattie, 40, who pleaded guilty in Lindsay Police Court Thursday to having the care and control of an automobile while her ability was impaired by alcohol. Mrs. Beattie was fined $75 and costs or 15 days and her driver's license was suspended for six months. Her husband, Donald Beattie, 50, was fined $50 or 30 days for being drunk in a public place. Arlene McDonald, 46, who had been a passenger in the Beattie vehicle, was fined $20 and costs or 10 days for being drunk in a public place.

When passing sentence, Magistrate Munro remarked, "This is a very expensive hobby Mr. Beattie".

Mrs. Beattie had been charged with having the care and control of an automobile while intoxicated but the Crown proceeded on the lesser charge when her counsel R. I. Moore, Q.C., indicated a plea of guilty to the impaired charge.

Lindsay OPP Constable Robert McGregor said the trio were charged after he found their car in a ditch on County Road 7, Emily Township, near the railway tracks. He said the passenger, Arlene McDonald was lying beside the vehicle complaining of back and leg injuries. Dr. Miles Sobrien of Omemee could find nothing wrong with her.

He said Marjorie Beattie was behind the wheel of the car with her feet caught between the cushion of the seat and the the front door, which was partly open. He said he helped her out of the car. Her speech was slurred, she smelled strongly of alcohol; she was argumentive and unco-operative. Constable McGregor said. He added: "Donald Beattie was also drunk".

Police records read in court showed this to be the fourth conviction under the Liquor Control Act in less than a year for both Mr. and Mrs. Beattie. It was the second offence for Mrs. McDonald.

Honoured Canadians

Many years have elapsed since Canada discontinued accepting honours from The Queen for Canadian citizens, and the Canada Medal struck to honour great Canadians has yet to be presented to anyone.

So how do we honour our great? We name buildings, streets, lakes, bays and points after them! A bay and a point have been named to honour Canadian Industrialist Col. Robert S. McLaughlin of Oshawa, Ontario, Prime Minister Lester Pearson announced on Tuesday. McLaughlin Bay and McLaughlin Point which form part of Darlington Provincial Park, lie just east of Oshawa. Both geographic features, with Lake Ontario as the background, are clearly visible from Highway 401.

When he celebrated his 93rd birthday last September, Mr. McLaughlin was described by the Prime Minister as "one of Canada's Most Distinguished Citizens whose achievements in business and whose service to his country have been outstanding."

Mr. McLaughlin founded a motor company in 1907, and the industrialist fathered the famed McLaughlin and McLaughlin-Buick automobiles. He later sold his interests to General Motors. He was later appointed Canadian President of GM and remained in that position until the end of World War II when he became chairman of the board. Mr. McLaughlin is also a vice-president and director of the parent company in the United States.

A great Canadian. Is there really any reason why we should not honour such men with something more than a bay or a point! Why not Sir Robert McLaughlin of Oshawa ? Or perhaps Robert McLaughlin, C.M.

Robbed of clothing in sub-zero weather

Donald Ferris, 15, residing at the home of Scott brothers in Fleetwood had a most unusual and uncomfortable experience on Friday night. He was held up on the road, robbed of his clothes, his watch and money, and forced to run two miles to his home clad inadequately in his underwear. With deep snow on the road sub-zero temperatures in effect, the lad had a most chilling experience.

Police of this district as well as Provincial police of the Bowmanville area are conducting investigations into the affair which has angered the people of Fleetwood. The mean theft and callous thoughtlessness of the men in removing the boy's clothing has aroused the people more than a little.

Kicked

Painful head injuries were received this week by Mervin Mintz, Allsaw, in an accident in the bush. He was working with a team of horses skidding logs, and as he stepped aside on a narrow draw road to let the horses pass, one of them kicked at him and struck him in the forehead and chin. Since the horse was recently sharp shod, the wounds were quite serious.

Crashes through lake

Two residents of Haliburton, Roy Johnston and Tom Sanderson, had a narrow escape on Long Lake, Haliburton County, when the truck they were driving crashed through the ice. Both men were able to get out however.

Banquet for officers

Last evening at the close of the annual meeting of the 45th Regiment, Lieut-Col. Fee tendered the officers a banquet at the Simpson House and the function will long be remembered as one of the most enjoyable ever held by the crack corps.

The affair was attended by practically every officer of the regiment, and the spread provided by Mine Host Simpson was a bountiful one and fit for a royal feast.

Death accidental

Dr. Blanchard, Coroner, was in Kirkfield on Wednesday presiding at an inquest held at that place inquiring into the cause of the death of Ed. Barrett, of Carden, who was fatally injured some weeks ago in the woods near Longford Mills. The verdict of the jury was accidental death.

Hockey league

A meeting of hockey enthusiasts is called for Monday evening in the Warder office at 7.30 sharp for the purpose of reorganizing the Town League. Prospects are bright for a town league this year. The soldiers who have enlisted for the Third Contingent will enter a team, as will also, it is said, the Collegiate, St. Mary's and Tony Bakageorge.

Bid farewell

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch, lot 7, Con. 4 Ops, was the scene of a most interesting event last evening, when a number of their friends and neighbours assembled to bid them farewell on the eve of their departure for Lindsay, where they will reside.

Pressures work against "White Austrilia"

Sydney, Austrialia, (UPI)—Perhaps reluctantly, Australians are finally acknowledging, that, although theirs is a white nation, their destiny is inevitably intertwined with that of Southeast Asia and Japan.

The winds of change are blowing away much of the ill feeling harbored by large number of Australians toward the Japanese following World War II. They are the same winds that are beginning to eddy against the "White Australia" Immigration Policy.

In both instances, the main force behind these changes is the nation's stout efforts to expand its overseas trade.

Japan is Australia's best customer for wool, coal and iron ore and is pressing Britain to become the number one buyer of Australian goods, both raw materials and manufactured.

Australian resentment against the Japanese, stems from treatment given Australian civilian internees and military prisoners of war by Japanese armed forces during World War II, and the scare Australians got when Japanese forces were stopped short of invading the nation. The resentment is deep seated and even today occasionally openly expressed.

Until the last six years or so, this resentment was so strong that comparatively few Japanese businessmen ventured "down under". But today they are found in every corner of the Australian continent, which is just a shade smaller than the United States.

Australian businessmen and trade-seeking government officials now shuttle back and forth between the two countries. Japanese businessmen, and even occasional tourists, can be seen daily in the lobbies of major hotels.

Earlier this year, units of the Japanese Navy paid their first good will call to Sydney since World War II. Not one unpleasant incident occurred.

Japanese sailors swarmed happily throughout the city. Many were invited into the homes of residents. Ten or even five years earlier, the possibility of incidents would have been almost certain.

National and government officials, from Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies on down, repeatedly proclaim Australia's friendship for Japan. A few public figures, usually ex-servicemen who still find it hard to forget warborn hostility, make open outcries against the growing closeness of the two countries. But these become fewer, and less listened to, as the each month goes by.

Australians have never held the antipathy toward other southeast Asians which existed with the Japanese, but the country's immigration laws long observed what is unofficially but commonly called the "white Australia" policy.

This means that except in unusual circumstances such as marriage to an Australian citizen or long legal residence in the country, immigration of non-Europeans is prohibited.

Educators, religious leaders, various social and professional organizations and even an occasional political figure now call for abandonment or at least modification of this policy.

Some cite humanitarian reasons, others the growing trade between Australia and southeast Asia and a common aim of resisting what Australian leaders regard as the growing menace of Communist China.

Viewing the problem realistically, it can be said safely that a majority of Australians still favor the "white Australia" policy although many of them wish it was not expressed in those words.

Both of Australia's major political parties publicly skirt the issue as diplomatically as possible and there is no sign whatever of agitation in parliament to admit even token numbers of non-Europeans as migrants.

Even so, increasing numbers of nationally known Australians continue to urge the government to at least modify the ban against immigration of non-Europeans.

The government has approached the problem by admitting thousands of Asian students into its universities. The government insists politely but firmly that they return to their respective homes once their schooling has ended —usually with the warm blessing of each student's home country.

Last month, Sir Alan Watt, former permanent head of the Department of External Affairs and present director of the Australian Institute of International Affairs, urged a "public burial ceremony" for the phrase "white Australia." He urged the admission of a limited number of non-Europeans to Australia as prospective citizens.

"The very phrase 'white Australia', though in no sense official, haunts the Australian diplomat in Asia trying to build up goodwill," he said.

Whodunit?

Production of Whodunits and the interest of those who read them continue unabated over the years, and there seems to be an unending supply of new clues to aid the private eye or confuse the reader.

Although the dog that didn't bark has been used, that doesn't rule out the unexplained silence. All the author must do is find another example.

Modern inventions continually come along to provide new trappings guaranteed to make old story lines seem fresh. Consider the murder without a motive, which is explained in the last chapter when it is discovered that the victim perished through a highly comical series of misunderstandings.

As the story opens the old-fashioned air conditioner is humming along on its comfortable way. A man speaks: "Bill him."

Before you can turn over more than a hundred pages an attractive but dumb blonde (the one on the cover) is saying to the judge: But, your Honor, I understood him to say, 'Kill him.' I thought at the time it was drastic."

No doubt even window units will soon be so quiet that a lovely blonde will not be able to get away with so much as a typographical error by a plea of misunderstanding. The next time the story is written there will, however, be another gimmick to advance the plot.

Chatterbox

— By Millicent —

Budget-minded housewives will welcome this bright salmon recipe, designed especially to whet jaded winter appetites while they help economical menu plans for the family.

SALMON CAKES

1 (1 pound) can B.C. Pink Salmon, 2 cups warm mashed potatoes, Salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 1 tablespoon melted butter, Milk to moisten.

Drain and flake salmon, removing bones. Add mashed potatoes, salt and pepper, onion and parsley. Combine lightly. Add beate negg, melted butter and enough milk to moisten. Shape mixture into round cakes. Place in buttered pan and bake in hot oven 450 deg. F., 10 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I put hard tips on rawhide shoelaces, belt lacings, etc., for easier lacing?

A. You can accomplish this simply by holding the ends of the laces in the flame of a lighted match. Slowly rotate the end of the lace while doing this, and take care not to char the leaher. Apply the heat just long enough to harden the tip sufficiently without burning the leather.

Q. How can I freshen a pair of suede gloves?

A. One very easy methoed is to put the gloves on the hands, then rub a thick slice of stale bread between the hands, changing the bread as it becomes soiled.

Q. How can I clean fabric shoes such as those made of satin, linen, etc.?

A. With a cloth dipped in carbon tetrachloride.

Concrete Floors

The simplest way to keep a concrete floor from getting dusty is to give it a coat of wax. This usually will effectively keep the dust down. If you don't want to apply wax or if waxing should prove ineffective, a hardener may be applied. Commercial hardeners are on the market for this purpose, but you can also mix yous own–one part of waterglass to four parts of water. Apply this mixture in two coats, allowing the first to dry for 48 hours before applying the second.

Mailing Coins

When mailing coins with a letter, one efficent way to do this is to cut a larger corner from an envelope, slip the coins inside this, fold it, and staple it to the letter in such a way that the staple holds the coins inside.

100th Anniversary marked by WMS

Cannington (PNS) — At the Christmas Service in the Knox Presbyterian Church on Sunday, December 27th, a service of dedication was observed to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society in Canada.

Rev. Kenneth Rooney, pastor of the church, in the presence of the congregation received and dedicated a Pulpit Fall which was unveiled by the President of the W.M.S, Mrs. Clark Fennell.

The Fall in Presbyterian Blue Velvet with I.H.S. in gold on the face of it was the gift of the ladies of Knox Church W.M.S. Mrs. John McDonald and Mrs. Stewart Brandon being the chief donors and promoters of this project.

A Christmas Lullaby was sung by Miss Margaret Ross, a great granddaughter of one of the founders of Knox Church.

Beautiful Christmas music was rendered by Mr. Jack Gordon A.R.C.T., the church organist.

Gifts given to children at church

Coboconk (PNS) — Christmas concert was held on December 18 at the Trinity Full Gospel Church. Everyone was welcomed by Dorothy Tufts, followed by carols and a prayer.

Miss Gwen Barkewells class started the programme with singing, followed with an organ solo by Nancy Griffin. Two numbers were sung by John Spry's class and Mrs. E Hughes class of girls had several numbers. The Junior Boys under the direction of their teacher Mrs. L. Spry sang two numbers. The Rev. M. Griffin made a few remarks and this was followed with a duet by Gale and Rickey Hughes. An organ solo by Judy Spry preceded the recitation of Miss M.E. Hopps. This was followed by a carol and a play by Rev. Griffins teen age class called "A Star Guides". A Christmas cantata by the adults class of Mrs. Art Griffin closed the programme.

Following the benediction candies and gifts were given to the children.

Until 1913 in Canada taxation on imports was the federal government's main source of revenue; it wasn't until World War I and just after, that Canadians started paying income and corporation taxes and a sales tax on manufactured goods.

What's a status symbol?

"Dad, what's a status symbol?" "Well Son, status symbols are things people who don't have enough money buy on the installment plan to make other people think they can afford it".

"What kind of things Dad?" "Oh, things like big boats, two cars, cottages, big homes, fancy clothes and big ugly dogs".

"Gee Dad, do people need all these things?".

"Oh, yes Son, they're very necessary, because in our society everybody who doesn't have all these things just isn't anybody".

"I don't understand Dad, why would people go into debt just to make other people think they're well off?"

"It's a funny world Son, but if you don't have some status symbols you're just not accepted, and fi people didn't work like the devil to pay their debts so they could afford to buy stuff they really don't need, the whole country's economy would fall flato on its face."

"Don't people worry about this Dad?"

"Yes Son, but they have another status symbol to make them stop worrying about paying for all their other status symbols".

"Gee Dad what's that?"

"A psychiatrist Son".

"How Dad?"

"By telling people that all their troubles are caused by something in their subconscious, what I mean is something they can't remember. So they get so confused trying to remember that they forget all about their other troubles".

"Do you have any satus symbols Dad?"

"Very definitely Son".

"What Dad?"

"THREE kids and uhh, TWO garbage cans".

PLAY IT SAFE

A snowfall or a blizzard is no place to drive a car. But if you have to, don't be lulled into a false security by driving with parking lights on. Use headlights every time. Usually a car being driven in a blizzard can be seen long before its parking lights can be seen, and that's too late. Turn on the headlights and be sure. Besides snow builds up dirty slush on the lights and the other drivers are too busy minding their own driving to pay proper attention. Chances are they'll pile into your car unless you do everything you can to let them know you're there. Unless there's no other way, stay off the road or street in a storm. Check the weather forecast before you start.

A SURE WINNER

Los Angeles (UPI) — Mrs. Barbara Landes, a clerk in the Superior Court Jury Commissioner's office, has heard a lot of reasons for persons to be excused from jury duty, but the one she got yesterday was a sure winner.

A man summoned for jury duty told her he was the sheriff of Los Angeles County. Sure enough, it was Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess.

He was excused.

Milton Gray

The communities of Velverton, Lotus and Cadmus were deeply saddened to learn of the passing of Milton Gray in his 73rd year on Thursday evening, December 10th in St. Joseph's Hospital in Peterborough, following an operation on Monday December 7th after which complications developed resulting in his demise. Mr. Gray had not enjoyed good health since September.

He was the youngest member of a family of 7 children born to the late Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gray — Lillian (Mrs David McMullen) of Oshawa; Fred of Bethany; Wesley and Ernest of Velverton, Lotus community, as well as one sister Isabella (Bella) and brother Stanley both predeceased. Mr. Gray was born, raised and lived his entire life on the home farm situated 2 miles south of Velverton on what is commonly known as the Gray Line. He was a former member of Lotus United Church before it was closed and since that time, the Gray family have been active churchworkers in the Cadmus United Church. Mr. Gray was a former member of the Lotus unit of the Orange Lodge, later to be affiliated with the Janetville lodge.

Mr. Gray's life centered around his family and farm and he earned a well deserved reputation as a successful livestock feeder and farmer. He is survived by his wife Florence (Winn), two sons James and Kennedy and their three grandchildren, Brian, Linda and David. Also a foster son Roy Johnson, his wife and 3 children, Stanley, Donald and Trudy.

Funeral service for the deceased was held in the Pannabaker - McDermott funeral home in Port Perry on Monday December 14 with Rev. Philip Romerill of Blackstock providing a message of comfort to the bereaved.

An Orange Service was held prior to the funeral on Sunday evening attended by his Orange Brothers in Manvers Township. Interment was in the family plot in Velverton United Church Cemetery. Pallbearers were 3 nephews, Messrs Elmo, Elgin and Allan Gray and 3 of his closest neighbours, Mr. Howard McMullen, Mr. Robt. Stinson and Mr. James Macher.

The many floral tributes reflected the respect and love in which he was held by those who knew him. Friends from Ottawa, Brantford, Toronto, Collingwood, Oshawa, Lindsay, Omemee, Port Hope and Bowmanville and local communities were present to pay their last respects to the deceased.

HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood UPI) — The measure of a movie star is the ability to make money at the box-office, and the star of stars this year is Doris Day.

In the 33rd annual poll of motion picture exhibitors, the blonde, freckle faced Miss Day appeared in top spot for the third straight year, followed by Jack Lemmon and Rock Hudson.

The poll is conducted by the trade publication motion picture herald. The remaining seven among the top 10 in order of boxoffice pull: John Wayne, 4; Cary Grant, 5; Elvis Presley, 6; Shirley MacLaine, 7; Ann-Margaret, 8; Paul Newman 9; and Richard Burton, 10.

Knocked out of the top 10 this year were Elizabeth Taylor, who was sixth last year; Jerry Lewis, 10th last year; and Sandra Dee who occupied eighth spot it 1963.

Newcomers to the poll were Miss MacLaine, Ann-Margaret and Richard Burton who was 25th in the 1963 poll.

It is worth nothing that popularity at the turnstiles has little relation to artistic triumphs. Only lemmon among the top 10 is the owner of an Academy Award Oscar.

Miss Day has appeared on the list eight times and in the No. 1 spot in 1960, 1962 and 1963 as well as this year. But the all time champs are the late Clark Gable and John Wayne with 15 appearances each.

In the first poll taken in 1932 the winners were Marie Dressler (1); Janet Gaynor (2); Joan Crawford (3), Charles Farrell (4); Greta Garbo (5), Norma Shearer (6); Wallace Beery (7); Clark Gable (8); Will Rogers (9); Joe E. Brown (10).

Bing Crosby remained in the No. 1 position longest with five straight appearances as the movies' biggest drawing card from 1944 through 1948. Shirley Temple was the champ for four years from 1935-1938.

Of the top 10 for 1964 Rock Hudson and Cary Grant are both making their eighth appearances on the list. The last actress to top Miss Day was Elizabeth Taylor in 1961, and Hudson was the most recent actor to head the list back in 1959.

Of the three stars to drop off the top 10 this year Sandra Dee failed to appear in the first 25. Miss Taylor, still on exhibition in "Cleopatra," was 11th, and Comedian Lewis slid to 13th.

Actors continued to dominate the list 7 - 3 over leading ladies.

In 1957 all 10 of the biggest boxoffice stars were males: Rock Hudson, John Wayne, Pat Boon, Elvis Presley, Frank Sinatra, Gary Cooper, William Holden, James Stewart, Jerry Lewis and Yul Brynner.

Not since 1934 have females dominated the top when Janet Gaynor (3), Mae West (5), Joan Crawford (6), Shirley Temple (8), Marie Dressler (9), Norma Shearer (10), were voted in. The first two places that year went to Will Rogers and Clark Gable.

Blackstock

At the 10 o'clock service in St. Johns Church Holy Communion was administered. There was a good attendance at the Sunday service when the Canon spoke on "Preparation for New Years". It being St. John's Day, Holy communion was administered. Next Sunday Canon Patterson will be the guest speaker when W. A. officers will be inducted.

Mr. and Mrs. Anson Taylor, Scarboro, Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Murray and girls, Cresswell, Mrs. J. Forder, Nestleton, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Taylor and girls celebrated Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Taylor girls and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor were Friday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Noble, Uxbridge.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

DOES SCREAMING AT CHILD CAUSE ASTHMATIC ATTACKS?

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Will you please answer this question? Will a great deal of screaming and yelling at a child cause asthmatic attacks? Many thanks.—A Reader.

Comment: We know that asthma is caused by an allergy, usually to some substance that one eats or breathes. Now, it is true that most people have asthma who were never yelled at or screamed at as part and parcel of their growing up. But I believe most allergists will agree that it is not uncommon for emotions to play an important part in asthma. I have seen many an attack that came on shortly after the patient gave vent to an emotional explosion, or was on the receiving end of one.

In extreme cases, where small asthmatic children are the regular recipients of parental emotional outbreaks, there seems to be no question that the yelling induces attacks. In fact, some allergists go so far as to perform an unusual operation called "parenfectomy". (Which means sarily? I am 62. Anything removing the parents from the child.) We've seen many such cases of asthma improve miraculously when sent away to out of town hospitals; or to live with strangers who gave them a home of relaxation and love.

After from three to six months of change, they would return to their own homes, become the targets of abuse, and invariably have asthmatic attacks again. In such case I wish we could, instead of shaking the bottles of medicine, take the parents and give them a good shaking. But it's not as simple as all that.

INACTIVE GOITER

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: About two years ago I was told I had an inactive goiter. Metabolism and P.B.I. tests showed that it wasn't over-or under-active. I was told not to worry about it by two doctors. Not easy.

My throat becomes dry. At night it gets real bad. I also suffer with hot flashes. Would all these symptoms have anything to do with the goiter or am I worrying myself unnecessarily? I am 62. Anything you can tell me will make me feel better.—Mrs. Mc.

Comment: Consider yourself fortunate in only having seen two doctors. Most people who worry unnecessarily get on the medical merry-go-round and ring one doctor's doorbell after another. You have had tests. Be thankful your thyroid is all right and that you do not need any extended medical treatment or operation. Dryness of the throat and hot flashes are not usual symptoms of thyroid trouble. Probably all you need is a mild tranquilizer and stronger faith in your doctors.

GLASS DOORS: BE CAREFUL

There have been many preventable accidents around glass doors. Of course, it isn't unknown for grownups to attempt to walk through what they erroneously consider is an open door. There have been severe injuries. But youngsters should be saved from themselves, if possible.

For example, don't allow children to play near glass doors. Clear scatter rugs and toys away from these doors. Don't put off getting some decorative decals to stick on the doors to make the glass visible. Use a rubber mat in bathtubs and shower stalls so they won't slip and go through the door. All it takes is a little foresight and some simple precautions to prevent needless accidents.

TURKEY'S AGREE

Brighton, England (UPI) — A bird-lover said today "there can be no real lasting peace on earth" as long as people eat turkeys at Christmastime.

A letter published by the Evening Argus said men should "extend the true meaning of the Christmas spirit to the turkey".

Output per person employed in Canadian manufacturing increased by 46 per cent from 1949 to 1963; in the period the average hourly wage increased by 97 per cent.

MERCHANTS DEFLATE TI-CATS 10-4 GRUDGE BATTLE SET FOR FRIDAY

Lindsay Merchants had to come up with their best effort of the season last night to down the Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats 10 - 4 at Bobcaygeon. The win for the Merchants moves them within two points of the front running Cats in first place.

The game last night gave the over 600 fans more than their money's worth with rapid fire scoring, hair raising body checks, and breath taking saves by the goalers. While the penalties were fairly even at 10 - 9 the Merchants displayed superior fire power to take the decisive win.

Randy Reid turned in a stellar effort in the Lindsay net, holding the Cat's top scorer to one assist despite his tricky close-in moves. Joe Junkin had a busy night in the Ti-Cats cage but proved no match for the Merchant's marksmen on break-aways.

One thing the Ti-Cats did accomplish was to cover George Babcock like a blanket holding him to one assist and hardly a good shot on goal, but while they were covering "the rifle" eight other Merchants went shopping in the Ti-Cats cage. Ray McCabe and Ron Pills worth, linemates of Babcock's, each scored twice, the kid line, Jim Scheffe, Gord Frocking, and Mike Jackson got one each, Taylor and Purdy added one each, and George Morasse of the defence corps added the tenth. Bobcaygeon goals, all four in the space of five minutes, and two of them off Lindsay sticks, went to Dale Junkin, Joe Handley, Ken Griffin, and Don Ingram.

Gord Frocking opened the scoring at 4:58 of the first period when he batted Jim Scheffe's rebound past big Joe. George Graham set up the play. A couple of minutes later the fat was in the fire for the Merchants when George Babcock and Pat McCabe were both chased for elbowing at 6:32. Randy Reid and his three mates however stood off the charging Cats who then ran into two over-lapping penalties and the Cats held out. With one and a half minutes left in the period Bobcaygeon tied the score when Dale Junkin knocked the puck off a Lindsay stick and into the Merchants net.

The Ti-Cats came out in the second period all fired up and went to work on the Merchants with authority. Three goals in two minutes shocked the Merchants and the Lindsay fans to say the least. Joe Handley took a pass from Dale Junkin and John Nicholls at the goal mouth at 1:55. Ken Griffen bounced a goal in off the goal post at 2:13, and Ron Ingram from Campbell going behind the Lindsay net had his pass-out deflected for a 4 - 1 lead at 3:50. Less than three minutes later however the score was tied at 4 - 4.

Mike Jackson got one back ten seconds later assisted by Jim Scheffe and Gord Frocking. Ray McCabe stole the puck in Ti-Cats territory, sidestepped two defencemen and gave Junkin no chance at 6:21, then cleared to George Morasse at the point for the equalizer at 6:35 on a screened shot.

What proved to be the winning goal came from Rick Purdy from Taylor at 8:34., and Jim Scheffe from Frocking and Graham at 14:54 gave the Merchants a 6 - 4 lead after two periods.

Ray McCabe took the steam out of the Ti-Cats early in the third period. Paul Yearwood was sitting out a tripping penalty and the cats were clawing at the Merchants front door when McCabe broke in the clear and beat Junkin cleanly with a six footer to the top corner. A Ti-Cat penalty to Wray lasted only 29 seconds when Ron Pillsworth split the Ti-Cats wide open with a mad dash through the middle scoring unassisted at 8:54. Bob Taylor added the ninth goal when he picked up a pass-out off a Bobcaygeon stick and skated in on Junkin sliding the puck under the falling goalie at 9:05. The final goal was scored by Ron Pillsworth on a Babcock pass-out at 17:44. The Cats had a one man advantage for the final minute and fifty seconds but were unable to muster an effective attack.

One down and one to go will be the situation for the Lindsay Merchants come Friday night at the Lindsay Kiwanis Arena, Coach Gus Bodnar, who drove from Toronto for the game last night, said after the game his boys are really smarting. Friday night's game has all the earmarks of a grudge battle from both sides of the fence. The Ti-Cats are smarting from the defeat right at home and will be out to even the score, while the Merchants have some personal scores to settle besides proving that last night's win was no mistake. Ticket sales at the Arena have been brisk and orders for tickets at Bobcaygeon last night were mounting fast.

Randy Reid's tidy netminding last night despite a badly swollen eye kept the goals against the Lindsay Merchants down to a 2.83 average while the Ti-Cats average soared to 3.94. Ray McCabe, Gord Frocking, and Jim Scheffe each picked up three points. Bob Taylor scored his 25th goal and added his 16th assist, George Babcock got assist number 22. Rick Purdy got his eleventh goal, Ron Pillsworth added his 8th, and 9th. Jim Scheffe his 11th. Gord Frocking his 7th, Mike Jackson's 4th and George Morasse's 3rd. George Graham added assists number 8 and 9.

SWEEP . . .

Mrs. Glad Laidley who holds the office of President of the Ontario Ladies Curling Association, skipped a Lindsay rink to victory Wednesday in the preliminary district round in the Silver D. competition. The Lindsay foursome will next journey to Scarboro on January 25th to meet winners from various parts of the province, in a formidable championship competition to discover what rink will represent Ontario in the Diamond event.

The double D. event is similar to the MacDonald Brier Dominion event for men curlers.

Five rinks met in Lindsay, Tuesday and Wednesday in a round robin tournament with Lindsay emerging on top following three games and Uxbridge in second place. The latter rink will represent the District at Scarboro in case Lindsay cannot make the event.

Lindsay will be represented by Mrs. Glad Laidley (skip), Mrs. Fern Reynolds, Mrs. Glad Jordan and Mrs. Elva Brown.

Clubs represented included Penelon Falls, Cannington, Beaverton, Uxbridge and Lindsay.

Scots curlers arrive to skirl of pipes

Vancouver (UPI) — It was a case of bringing coals to Newcastle when 30 Scots curlers arrived at Vancouver International Airport to start a month's Canadian tour.

The visitors were welcomed to the skirl of local bagpipes and swinging kilts Vancouver is purported to have the highest proportions of Scots of any major Canadian city.

Officials of the Pacific Coast Curling Association darted from group to group extending the welcome.

The visitors tried out their skills at the city's Capilano winter club yesterday. They said they liked the ice, and admired the surroundings, marvelling at the friendly atmosphere.

"Canada, said Bob Armstrong, a member of the Auchie and Bannock Club," is just like home".

The visitors, about half of whom are farmers, financed their trip out of their own pockets. It cost them about $1500 each.

Euchre party held in aid of hockey

Kinmount (PNS) — A very successful card party was held in the community centre on Wednesday evening when sixteen tables were in progress during the evening with all proceeds in aid of the Hockey boys. When the score cards were collected and checked the prizes were awarded to Ladies High Mrs. Eliza Dufty, Second High Mrs. Ralph Byrne Men's High Moss Scheil; Second High James Simpson and Consolation prizes to Mrs. Mary O'Toole and Glen Wright. The Lucky Door Prizes were won by Mrs. M. Hartin, Fred Winterburn of Norland, Hugh Fountain and Clarence Hartin.

The draw for the Christmas cake was won by Miss Margaret Silvers of Peterboro. A lunch was served by the ladies in charge and a very enjoyable evening spent.

United service of Witness at St. Andrew's

Dr. William Fennell

Dr. William Fennell of Toronto, who was the Protestant participant in an inter-faith dialogue held at St. Mary's auditorium last spring, will preach at an inter-denominational service of witness at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening. Dr. Fennell held the audience's attention when he gave his views at the dialogue sponsored by the Roman Catholic Church in Lindsay in the spring.

The choirs of the participating churches will unite, under the direction of William Perry, to provide music for the united service of witness Sunday evening.

A "MUST"

A first aid cabinet is a "must" in any home. Cabinet should be kept clean and sterile and stocked with the necessary dressings, gauze and antiseptics, which can be safely stored in sterilized jars, to protect them from dust. It is a good idea to ask the druggist how long liquid antiseptics can safely be kept, since some may become concentrated with time and be dangerously potent.

MAIL MUST GO THRU

Exeter, England, (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Appleby have received a letter from Danyel Marchiso of Bourges France, which demonstrates the efficiency of the British post office.

The 6-year-old boy spotted the Applebys driving through Bourges, noted their license number, and sent his letter to "985XYH London Central, Great Britain."

Oakwood wins opener Defeat Cambray 10-5

Oakwood Flyers made their 1965 opening game a successful effort last night when they defeated Cambray Comets 10-5 in Oakwood arena.

John Horton's hat trick led the way for the Flyers. John Goard and Doug Brown each contributed a pair with singles to Cayley, Spratt and Frain.

Goal scorers for the young Cambray crew were Harrison, Lane, Chambers, Rea and Cruess. John Riches starred in goal for the Comets while Oakwood's veteran Orville McLean continued to wield his magic wand.

Scheduled activity in the Tri-County Hockey Association continues tomorrow night with Little Britain at Fenelon Falls. Saturday's games take Cambray to Burnt River and Oakwood is slated to go to Little Britain if ice is available. It is understood that flooding at Little Britain's new ice plant started today.

World news today

Ottawa — The Income Tax Department has announced a crackdown on automobile owners who claim deductions for their cars as business expenses although they are only used part of the time for that reason.

Thousands of Canadians are said to be gypping the government in this manner according to the government.

New Brunswick — 800 pupils in the Bathurst, New Brunswick are out of school this morning. It's not a Christmas holiday extension, but a salary strike by teachers.

Vancouver Mayor William Rathie say the city is considering using a civic sales tax to help pay for future expansion. The proposal calls for the B.C. government to hand over twenty per cent of the five per cent provincial sales tax.

Washington — President Lyndon B. Johnson sends his message on health to Congress today.

In it, he outlines a plan for medical care for the aged and for a system of regional health centres to care for victims of major diseases.

Miami — One of the suspects in the theft of a priceless sapphire is on a special police escorted mission to Miami. Twenty-six year-old Allen Kuhn promised to retrieve the Star of Indian Sapphire from an unidentified man if New York detectives accompanying him wouldn't interfere.

United Nations — Sources at the United Nations report the Nations of Africa and Asia U.S. and Russia if the financial dilemma in the U-N is not solved by January 18th. A 12-nation group of the Afro-Asian block reportedly has decided Russian and American officials should meet face to face to settle the problem.

Saigon — U-S headquarters in Saigon has refused comment on claims by Red China that U-S and South Vietnamese war ships have shelled North Veit Nam. China—in a broadcast this morning—said the attack was made early yesterday morning.

Malaysia — Thirty-four diesel engines apparently destined for Indonesian landing craft have been seized by custom agents in Hong Kong.

A Malaysian government spokesman said the engines were seized Sunday after they were dropped off by a Portuguese freighter. The engines were enroute to the Portuguese territory of Macao on the Chinese mainland.

Macao has been building landing craft for Indonesia during the past three years . . . and shipped seven of the vessels there last May.

Indonesian President Sukarno has vowed to crush the newly-formed Federation of Malaysia. There have been reports of Indonesian troop massing on the border of Malaysian Borneo.

Sukarno has also decided to withdraw from the United Nations because of the seating of Malaysia on the Security Council. The Indonesian Ambassador left New York City last night with an urgent message to Sukarno from 11 Afro-Asian nations. The 11 nations asked the Indonesian President to reconsider his decision to withdraw from the world body.

U.S.A. — Apparently the last in a series of storms to bring flooding conditions to the United States Pacific Northwest has moved eastward.

Rivers in the area are reporting receding. The Eel River was two feet above flood stage at Fernbridge, Northern California. At Christmas it was 12 feet higher.

Sheriff Edward Hulbert said the river was running over only in places it already had hit.

The last storm gave the coast some rain squalls and hit the Sierras with blizzards violent enough to stop two Transcontinental trains.

Some rain in the northwest is expected today, but generally better weather is foreseen.

JUST NO REASON!
London (UPI) — A National coal board booklet says the nations miners spend 2½ hours actually working in every seven-hour shift and waste 52 minutes "for no good reason at all".

Cameron W.I. December meet

Cameron (PNS) — The December meeting of Cameron Women's Institute met in the Sunday School room of the United Church with Mrs. Herb Worsley as hostess. After the opening exercises, Mrs. Herb Wilson read the Scripture found in Matt. 2:1-12. The minutes were read and approved as read. This was followed by singing of carols, "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night", "O Little Town of Bethlehem", and "O Silent Night". For the motto, "A Famous Mother", Mrs. A. Anderson gave a talk on Princess Wilhelmina, taken from her book "Lonely But Not Alone". The members answered the roll call by giving Christmas quotations. It was moved and seconded they send $5.00 to the Sick Children's Hospital. Mrs. J. Brown gave one of her splendid readings 'How Mr. Blitsin Spent Christmas', which was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Inglis conducted a contest. This was followed by another carol and the Christmas exchange of gifts. The Queen and table grace were sung and Mrs. Worsley and her helpers served a Christmas lunch.

UCW sponsors "Trial by Jury"

Sunderland (PNS) — The regular Christmas meeting of the United Church Couples Club was held in the basement of the Church with 32 members present and quite a number of visitors.

The meeting opened with a Christmas reading by Betty McGillivray followed by a hymn, a reading by Verna Gorrell and another hymn. A reading was given by Bryce McGillivray followed by a reading by Kay Sheldon. a hymn, reading by John Gorrell, a hmn followed with prayer by Bill Sheldon. Jean Sheldon favoured with a lovely solo. The Explorers presented a play on the birth of Christ which was very much appreciated.

It was decided to have the Lindsay Collegiate put on an operetta entitled "Trial by Jury", a Gilbert and Sullivan production on January 11th at 8:30 p.m. in the Township Hall. This operetta is a real comedy and well worth seeing.

Marilyn Smith moved a vote of appreciation for the work that Elmer and Ruby Rennie had done in the past year as presidents. The meeting was closed and the hostess in charge served a Christmas lunch.

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York, (UPI) — Fantastic fabrics for spring clothes go by names bound to dumbfound dictionary sleuths.

They range from "A" (for Arielle) to "Z" (for Zigline).

The former sounds as though it refers to a song — the latter to a dance. But such guesses are off the track you just can't know what they mean without a fabric glossary of the breed issued by the New York couture group as the "10 Days of Fashion" in New York swung into its fourth day of clothes show for the nation's fashion press corps.

Arielle is a new porous synthetic linen. Zigline is a new imported silk faille.

Other additions to the fashion lingo include:

— Bark Crepe. It's made of twisted yarns and resembles the bark of a tree.

— Cire Plastique is an imported shiny oil cloth used in rainwear.

— Crochette is a linen look-alike that's 100 per cent rayon.

— Fibrene is a French synthetic of 100 per cent rayon. It resembles linen but has more body than crochette.

— Illusion Plaids are featherweight and airy basket weave plaids which give the impression of being solids until closely examined.

— Machacoulis can't be guessed from the sound of it. This is 100 per cent rayon from Italy.

— Multiply Silks have nothing to do with unplanned parenthood among the silkworms. Rather, they are new crepes with a supple hand as Matte Jersey. Sometimes the multiply Silks are called Matte Crepe.

— Parfait Wool is a souffle wool which is light-weight and porous.

Now that you have the words to keep you from being an ignoramus about fashion for Spring, here are highlights of designer collections.

— Paul Parnes advanced the little jacket costume. Some were shaped with neat-shouldered narrowness for a lean, spare look. Others formed a shield-efect bodice though welt seaming. A third theme feature jackets cropped and curved to the body in front with a fre-swinging back. All complimented the figure. For after five, there was glamour in a dress of flirty black chantilly lace that plunged deeply and ended with a hemline of fluttery lace fowers.

— Townley caught attention with an exclusive imported "African Lily" print shown in a dress and jacket of linen in black and cream sashed in coral. Another skimmer dress of the same print had a stole. For daytime, the crisply tailored linen suit or dress was advanced. One ensemble: a black linen skirt, reef coral overblouse and a crisp white jacket. The Townley Black "Cage" dresses included a chiffon illusion cape over black crepe. Another, long, had a black lace empire jacket with scooped sleeves. It went over a scoped out crepe dress. A new bodice treatment called the "fan" was designed to frame the face in a flattering manner.

— Countess Alexander created a sheet delight of soft pink floral printed silk chiffon lined with a snugly fitted bodice with a gracefuldy pleated skirt cinched at the waist with a black velvet ribbon sash. This also were favoured.

This was typical of the gentle touch endorsed in this collection. By day, the accent was the complete look — a costume look in textured weaves. The long coat costume advanced was a textured black silk lined with a staccato print of black and white to match a soft front panel dress. By night, chiffon with short pleated skirts a bounded. Hemlines on other dresses were animated by flounces of feathers or handmade flowers.

— Pattullo-Jo Copeland went for the "longer body look." Skirts covered the knees. Waistlines were dropped, hips and bosoms accented. Marks of this collection included double breasted closings, gold buttons, baby lace frills and ruffles for after-five dresses. Miss Copeland's famous little costumes were expressed in navy and black silks.

The silhouettes were the skimmer type. Pleated skirts

Mr. Bob Ross spent the Christmas holidays at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ross of Inglehart.

Mrs. Bessie MacEachern and Mr. and Mrs. Len Bertram and family of Orillia were New Year's dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Russell and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hopkins and family have left for their new home at Wabanick where Mr. Hopkins is employed.

Miss Shirley MacEachern of Toronto spent the Christmas and New Year holiday weekends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacEachern.

Mr. and Mrs. Spence Simpson and family of Parry Sound spent the New Year holiday with the latters brother, Mr. John McArthur.

Mrs. Alma McPherson and Mrs. E. McPherson of Woodville, visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Lorne McPherson and family and attended the service of Thanksgiving and the Candlelight Service at Bolsover Church on Sunday of last week.

The many friends of Mrs. Ralph Hurren were sorry to learn she had to return to the hospital in Toronto. All wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacEachern, Miss Shirley MacEachern, Mr. and Mrs. Peter MacEachern and family also Mr. and Mrs Peter Imrie and son, were New Year's dinner guests of Miss Rachel MacEachern of Woodville.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Ritchie spent Christmas with the latter's aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. Deyett of Beaverton and on the following day they entertained the Ritchie family.

School presents Christmas concert

Gooderham (PNS) — The Gooderham School Christmas concert was presented in Monday, December 21, 1964. All rooms joined together to make the programme and the following took part. The junior room presented a choir, rhythm band, and a song. The intermediate room presented two plays, and a song. The Senior room sang, and presented a tumbling display. A group of the children who could play flutes rendered 3 Christmas pieces.

Seasons greetings were extended to everyone from the teachers Mr. A. Ross, Mrs. M. Mitchell and Mrs. N. Ross.

EIGHT HEAD OF CATTLE KILLED TRUCKS OVERTURN ON ICY ROADS

MONEY SPENT UNDER PRESENT JAIL SYSTEM WASTED, CLAIMS COL. MOORE

"The longer I sat on the bench, the more I hesitated to send men to jail" said former Magistrate R. I. Moore at an informal 'Jail committee' meeting in Peterboro yesterday. Col. Moore made the statement when stressing the need for services of a psychologist and a psychiatrist at a proposed area jail. He said he felt money spent under the present system was absolutely wasted, because sending men to the present jails did no good.

The meeting, held at the Peterboro County buildings yesterday was a refresher type of meeting to bring the five county committees up to date on area thinking, and give them all available information that they might present to their county councils later this month.

Victoria County Clerk Frank Weldon chaired the meeting, and read correspondence from committees of each area concerned which indicated that the counties of Victoria, Haliburton, Peterboro and Peterboro City would be recommended to proceed with area jail negotiations as soon as possible. Durham and Northumberland Counties found themselves in a somewhat different situation as they had recently completed a new jail in Cobourg at an expense of some $250,000. The southe.n counties would be looking for some type of credit or allowance in consideration of this recent expenditure. Durham and Northumberland representatives at the meeting said the idea had not been turned down, but had been referred back to the committee for further study to be presented again at the January session.

Peterboro city clerk E. A. Outram presented a motion that Victoria County Clerk Frank Weldon be authorized to write to the Minister of Reform Institutions stating that four of the five municipalities have approved of an area jail project, and indicate to the minister that great progress could be made if a draft agreement be made up submitting the terms for the various municipalities, which the committees might present to their respective councils for consideration. This motion was seconded by Col. Moore and carried unanimously.

During discussion of the breakdown of costs, Clerk Weldon told members present that costs would be alotted on a use basis. A recent survey made by the Department of Reform Institutions in 1963 on man-day basis covering the five municipalities showed the following breakdown. Durham and Northumberland 31.50%; Victoria and Haliburton 19.04%; Peterboro county and city 49.37%. Frank Weldon said, on checking correspondence, the department recommended sharing the costs on a use basis. Each municipality would pay a certain amount each month as determined by the department, and an accounting each year would provide adjustments according to the use by each municipality.

Discussion and suggestions for a proposed locations took place but no decision or recommendation was indicated. Peterboro clerk O. A. Outram stressed that no decision would be made by the combined committees. He suggested each municipality could suggest a location, but he felt the department should make the final choice. Chairman Frank Weldon, considering the geography of the five counties, and mindful of the use basis findings, suggested some area between Fowlers Corners and Bewdley. He also said a location adjacent to the maximum security prison at Millbrook might be considered as water and sewer facilities were available there. Col. Moore also supported this suggestion in the thought that full time agencies would be supported by the two institutions. These were merely suggestions, favoured by many at the meeting, but again the final choice and decision should come from the department, said clerk Outram.

The meeting was also reminded by the chairman that the government had given assurance that costs to the counties concerned would not be more under the area pail plan than under the existing set up. He also reminded members to keep their two-county set-point three-members committees to carry on with the area jail study. Clerk Outram said Peterboro city would combine with the county to form a three member committee to keep balance on the overall body. He suggested the county provide two members and the city one since the county has administered the county institution over the years. County Clerk, Mrs. J. A. Spurway, observed that the Peterboro County jail is a Crown grant institution while most of the jails in the area have been bought or built by the counties.

Letters were also read by the chairman suggesting an approved area for detention of juveniles should be included in the area plan. Mrs. Spurway suggested these letters also be forwarded to the minister, and Clerk E. A. Outram moved that the minister be informed that the committee recommend that accommodation for juveniles be provided.

The next meeting of the county committee was suggested for an early February date. Mrs. Spurway was delegated to call the next meeting.

HYDRO POWER WENT OUT IN A FLASH

North ward power went out in a flash just after 5:30 p.m. Thursday when a conductor broke and grounded a hydro wire putting out a circuit. A member of "The Post" editorial staff was driving east on Pottinger Street when a blue flash lit up the corner of Pottinger and William Street. She compared the sparks dropping from the wire to a fireworks display.

Manager of the Lindsay Hydro Electric System, Jack Lightbody said the feeder for most of the north ward was affected when the conductor failed. He attributed the failure to temperature and weather conditions.

Meeting considers ARDA dike for Goose Lake, Cambray area

Constructing a dike in Goose Lake to make it a water storage reservoir was suggested as a winter works project raised 400 acres of land on feet, Lake area, near Cambray, by Ralph G. Gregg, engineering extension specialist, who reported his findings to an ARDA meeting at Cambray Thursday. Mr. Gregg surveyed and mapped Goose Lake to study the effects of raising the water level which he said he felt would conserve several millions of cubic feet of water during the spring run-off.

The report yesterday was very preliminary and the opinion of the farmers who have property touching Goose Lake was sought. In his report Mr. Gregg said, "During the summer of 1964 the outlet stream became dangerously low, and as a result, those who counted on stream flow were in need of water. Mr. Gregg said the project would conserve water, raise the water level in the wells and raise the assessment value of the surrounding properties.

Mr. Gregg indicated the main problem in erecting one or more dikes to control the flow of water could be the depth of clay on the lake bottom. He said the clay would have to be removed to give solid footing for the dikes.

He suggested three levels to which the water could be raised. Raised one foot, which could increase the area of the water by over 2,000 acres. He said to raise the level five feet a 400-foot dike would be required, which he indicated would not be too expensive. If a higher water level was required, an additional 800-foot dike would have to be constructed in the south-western portion of the lake.

Should such a project prove feasible, Mr. Gregg stated, it would be necessary to carry on a winter works programme to clear all the trees from the swamp or flooded area. He said it would be necessary to do this in the winter months since it is only possible to walk on a large part of the section covered by trees from January to mid-March.

Mr. Gregg told one woman at the meeting, who asked about cost, a lot of investigation would have to be carried out before a cost-figure could be estimated.

Agricultural representative Leroy Brown remarked, "This meetnng is not to start digging it is just a preliminary report."

Snowplow flips, cars crash

Freezing rain, which started about 2:30 this morning caused transport trucks to overturn, cars to crash and snowploughs to leave the road, when road surfaces turned into sheets of glare ice.

A tractor-trailer containing 40-head of cattle overturned on Angeline Street South about 3:25 a.m. after it slid off the road into the east ditch. Seven of the beasts died of suffocation when they were jammed together. Lindsay police said the truck, driven by Reginald Wallace, 31, of Campbellford, was proceeding north on Angeline Street and when it was about 200 feet south of the railway tracks, it slid off the road and overturned. Police said the truck, owned by W. F. and W. D. Scott Limited, Campbellford, was enroute to the Lindsay sale barns when the accident occurred.

It was thought at first that eight cattle were lost in the accident but, Lindsay Police Constable Elmer Lewis said, when the animals were being pulled apart, one stood up, shook its head and tried to run away.

Police said the truck sustained minor damage.

Another cattle truck overturned one mile east of the Junction of Highways 7 and 35, near the CPR overpass on Highway 7, in which one-head was killed and 7 were injured at 4:50 a.m. today. Lindsay OPP said a 1964 model stake truck owned by John Cimetta of RR4, Colbourne and driven by Joseph Cimetta, 26, of the same address sustained $175 damage when it left the road.

A car driven by Velma Kathleen Bell of RR3 Kirkfield, sustained $75 damage to its right fender when it slid off the road and crashed into a sign-post on County Road 18, at 5:10 a.m. Lindsay OPP said the vehicle had been proceeding south when it went out of control.

A Department of Highways snowplough flipped over on its side on County Road 4 at 5 a.m. south of the town boundary. Lindsay OPP have not had been able to determine the amount of damage caused. The driver of the vehicle was John A. Campbell of Oakwood.

A 1964 model car was totally wrecked eight miles east of Minden when it skidded on ice on Highway 121 and crashed through two guard-rails at 8:30 p.m. Thursday. The driver, Alfonse Herbert, 51, of Toronto was taken to Haliburton Red Cross Hospital with bruises and lacerations to his head. Minden OPP said Mr. Vanderlist was proceeding toward Haliburton when he lost control of his vehicle on roads made icy from freezing rain. The car went across the highway and crashed through the guard-rails.

Police chief back at desk

Lindsay police chief John Hunter is back at his desk this morning after being away from his office for several days with a bad cold.

Corporal William Mosley is ill and away from the office.

Have A Go, Joe

Scotland Yard has been criticized somewhat for asking the public to assist in the apprehension of criminals but they the Yard certainly found the public willing to help the bobby on the beat.

The suggestion was made last week that the public co-operate in fighting crime and Wednesday night scores of Londoners joined in the capture of a desperate gunman, John Marson.

One man rammed a car containing the escaped convict, and then dozens of residents stood shoulder to shoulder with unarmed policemen throwing bottles and chairs at the gunman. Two policemen were wounded and a police dog shot dead in the battle.

Only a few days earlier when bank robbers carrying a revolver, a shot gun and an iron bar entered a branch of Barclay's bank in north London and clubbed a cashier, citizens started to resist. One man ran from next door and with a wrench began to break the windows in the get-away car. The gang alarmed by the noise, fled. Two children threw broken glass under the tires of the car as the robbers raced off. A 12-year old girl said "I'd read about Scotland Yard's appeal to help people being attacked and I just had a go."

The story makes a refreshing change from recent ones emanating from Toronto and New York where citizens have stood by and watched other citizens or policemen being attacked, without lifting a finger.

Blessings of the Hard-Of-Hearing

Firmness and tact are among the requirements for a speaker of the House of Commons. One day last month an unnamed and unregenerate member injected into Mr. Diefenbaker's speech the sentence "That is a lie." Mr. Speaker said, "Order, please. I think I heard a word, but in fact I am not at all sure. In fact I might say that I did not hear it and I hope I will not hear it."

Mr. Diefenbaker, who is a bit old-fashioned in that he is a little hard-of-hearing, soon made all well by saying, "I am one of those, Mr. Speaker, who are fortunate in that I cannot hear all interruptions."

This Day 25 Years Ago

JANUARY 8, 1940

First two-year term

All the niceties were adequately observed this morning when the 1940 town council held its inaugural meeting. There was speech-making, and utterances of mutual admiration and best wishes and prophecies of future success mixed up with appointments of chairmen and a capably rendered address by His Worship Mayor A. T. Claxton.

A rather interesting note was struck at the meeting when, on motion of Alderman Harry Daniels and Alderman C. E. Ferguson, the same chairmen of committees as in 1939 will operate during the coming 12 months. The Chairmen, active last year, are as follows: Finance, Alderman L. W. Jordan; Town Property, Alderman Earl Vanstone; Relief Alderman Lewis Gordon; Public Works, Alderman Elvin McLenan; Lighting, Reeve William Landon; Police, Deputy-Reeve J. L. Parker; Parks and Grounds, Alderman Richard Butler and Tourists and Market, Alderman Charles E. Ferguson.

Temperatures drop to — 25

Early risers in Lindsay yesterday were given the first real taste of winter weather when the thermometer was hovering around the 20 to 25 below zero mark. Frozen ears and noses were not unusual among those who had to walk any great distance. There were various stories as to low temperatures. The majority of folk thought the thermometer stopped its plunge at 20 below but one milkman said it was as low as 30 below at 2 a.m.

More liberal censorship

A more liberal news censorship policy was foreshadowed today by the resignation of Vice-Admiral C. V. Osborne as director of censorship division of the Press and Censorship Bureau.

This Day 50 Years Ago

House burns

On Thursday about 2 a.m. the fire alarm was sounded and in response to the call, a number of citizens found that the dwelling house occupied by Mr. Jas. Daniels on Bond Street East Fenelon Falls was in flames. The occupants of the dwelling were Mr. and Mrs. Daniels and their small children, a transient boarder, and a chore boy named Donaldson, who were hurried out of their dangerous position to a place of safety. Almost all Mr. Daniels' furniture and effects were lost or damaged, but it is understood the loss is nearly covered by insurance. The citizens worked with a will to save the house, the walls of which are still standing and which is the property of Mr. A. McGee. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is believed to have been caused by a defective chimney.

Cannot restore flyer

As was announced in Thursday's Post, the GTR authorities cannot see their way clear to restore the "Flyer" between Lindsay and Toronto at present owing to the great decrease in traffic as a result of the unsettled condition of affairs.

This was the answer given by Mr. C. E. Horning, District Passenger Agent, to the deputation of citizens on Thursday. The members put a good case for the town, but Mr. Horning pointed out that the train was not paying the company, and it would be poor business for them to continue it.

Winter Carnival?

There was only an attendance of eight at the meeting in the Council Chamber last night, called by the Advancement Club to consider the Winter Carnival proposition. No action was taken.

Marathon Election in Italy

(UPI)—The traditionally ceremonial role of Italian presidents may undergo a change under Italy's new President Giuseppe Saragat.

Indeed it would seem it must if any sort of political stability is to be resorted to the young republic which in order to name the new president has just gone through 13 days of insults, name-calling and an incredible display of lack of responsibility among Italian politicians.

The contest which ran through 21 ballots of the National Assembly found Italy's largest party, the Christian Democrats, in total disarray and, in the end, the key ballots resting with the Fascists on the right and the Communists on the left.

It was with Communist help that Saragat finally won.

The exhibition put on by Italy's Senators and deputies led the influential Milan newspaper, Corriere Della Sera, to compare the situation with the closing years of the French Fourth Republic.

The newspaper said it was the failure of politicians who disbelieved in democratic processes but still could not form an effective coalition, that led Italy to fall under the Fascism of Benito Mussolini in 1922.

"Thus," the newspaper said, "the Italian Republic is consuming itself in factional struggle; thus the French Fourth Republic consigned itself to General De Gaulle.

"And it was lucky because it could have done worse . . . "

Italy actually has known no political stability since the eight-year rule of Premier Alcide De Gasperi ended in 1953.

And it is the disarray presented by the fall of 25 or so governments since that has led to the belief that the Italian president, elected for seven years, must take on a more important role.

GIUSEPPE SARAGAT
chief of state

As a precedent Saragat has the increasing behind-the-scene influence wielded by both his predecessors, Giovanni Gronchi and Antonio Segni.

Saragat himself has in the past seen himself in the role of catalyst.

Saragat, leader of the Social Democratic party, was one of the earliest to propose a government of the center-left and he saw his party as a binding force between the Christian Democratic left and the non-Communist Socialists. The coalition of the two forces would exclude both the Fascists of the right and the Communists of the left.

It was largely the influence of such men as Saragat and Premier Aldo Moro, a Christian Democrat, that brought old-line Socialist Pietro Nenni into the government after nearly 20 years of opposition.

Nenni, allied with the Communists from the end of the war until 1957, broke with them over the repression of the Hungarian revolt.

Last year Nenni came back into the government on a program which included continued close alignment with the west, NATO and the Common Market.

Saragat, a firm friend of the West, may be expected to continue to press these policies, along with others to which the government is pledged. These include reforms in taxation, social security, the penal system and education, modernization of agriculture, measures to curb inflation and economic development of the south.

It is likely in the days ahead Saragat will need all his persuasiveness. His old job of foreign minister now must be filled and once more the fate of an Italian government will hang in the balance.

The Great War

Sales of BBC television programmes to the networks of other countries have shown a marked and steady increase over the past few years. But the epic documentary, 'The Great War', has achieved outstanding success. Showing on both BBC television channels in Britain in 1964 (fiftieth anniversary of the 1914-18 war) it is now one of the world's most widely distributed television rises. While still running on BBC screens, it was sold by BBC Television Enterprises to some twenty-five countries, and negotiations are proceeding with a score more. In Australia transmission of ABC began in August; in the United States transmissions from Washington, New York and Los Angeles began in September; in Canada, CBC will be showing it on its English and French networks in 1965. Nigeria and Rhodesia also plan transmissions for 1965. It has broken all records for BBC sales to European countries; and has been bought by television networks in every continent, including a number of Latin American countries, some of which will be seeing the version dubbed in Spanish by Mexican Televisión.

'The Great War', produced by the BBC's Tony Essex and Gordon Watkins in collaboration with the Imperial War Museum, the Australian Broadcasting Commission and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, tells in 26 episodes the grim story of the 1,561 days of the First World War as it was lived by soldiers and civilians, men and women on many battlefronts and behind the lines. This historic record took 18 months to prepare and employed a distinguished team of historians and expert researchers. Over 84,500 feet of film were assembled from twenty countries. For example, Australia's considerable contribution included 1200 feet of film taken at Gallipoli as well as filmed interviews. Much of the film had been lying for fifty years in archives all over Europe, America and even Asia, and had never been shown before. Brought together for the first time and edited into a single continuous story, this old film has been made to run at normal speed and smoothness by new technical processes. In response to appeals for eyewitness accounts and contemporary records, the BBC received 50,000 letters and parcels; the longest letter was 172 pages, and the shortest 13 words. Hundreds of people who took part in the war were interviewed and filmed in the Commonwealth, the United States, Europe and Britain. Seventy organizations gave help and advice.

FIT PROBLEM IN SLIPS MAY BE THING OF PAST

The only sure way, up to now for a woman to get a perfect fit in a slip was to have it custom-made or have a dressmaker alter it to her specifications. As a result most women either have been wearing slips that bag here and there or wearing half slips or petticoats.

What has been termed the most significant development in lingerie since the advent of nylon tricot — lingerie shaped with "Lycra" spandex fibre — may change all this. Fabrics elasticized with this fibre are said to improve the appearance and comfort of everything from slips to briefs, and in particular, to eliminate a chronic problem: the tendency of loose fabric in the bodice and midriff to blur feminine curves.

The ideal fit and freedom in the new under fashions elasticized with "Lycra" promise to put women of every age back into full-length slips. Heretofore, a slip had to be cut enough in the waist to allow a woman to slip it over her shoulders and it had to be slightly flared at the bottom to let it her hips. Now, however, slips can be made to conform exactly to the contour of the body and and to move with the wearer as she moves without riding up or bunching.

Pool Table Repair

If the cloth on the cushions of your pool table has become worn, it can be repaired with adhesive tape so that the latter does not show. First, cut the tape to size, then work it under the tear in the cloth with the adhesive side towards the cloth. Next, carefully pull the torn edges of the cloth together, and then press firmly against the tape.

Bright Windows

Have trouble in getting your windows bright and clean when you wash them? Try putting a few drops of kerosene and a touch of borax into your hot water the next time.

Milky Glasses

Glasses that have been used for drinking milk should be rinsed in cold water before washing them in hot water. Heat dries the milk into the glass, giving it a cloudy appearance.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I make a good silver cleaner?

A. Common lump starch is an excellent agent for cleaning silverware. Rub it on with a damp cloth, allow to stand for a few minutes, then rub dry with cheesecloth.

Q. How can I improve the agitation of the solution in my developing tray while I am developing some of my photograph prints?

A. Place a round pencil or piece of dowel under your developing tray, and this will enable you to roll your tray back and forth without so much danger of spilling any solution.

Q. How can I do a good job of cleaning the white side walls of my automobile tires.

A. One of the easiest and most effective methods is to use the kind of steel wool pads that are filled with soap.

Legion children visited by Santa

Cannington (PNS) — The Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 186 held their annual Christmas party for the children.

The party opened with a short concert put on by the children. Carols were sung by the children's choir. Duets by Gordon Tomlinson and Kathy Wilson, Kathy Stevens and Anne Sproule of Manilla, Gordon Tomlinson and John Cooper and a solo by Charlene Frost, all accompanied on the piano by Janet Tomlinson. The audience was then favoured with a highland dance by Margaret Ross accompanied by her brother on the bagpipes who also favoured with another selection. A few games were enjoyed by all under the very able leadership of Mrs. Nora Tomlinson.

At this time the party was honored with the visit from Jolly Old St. Nick, who presented each child with a gift and a bag of candy. The ladies then served sandwiches, cookies and chocolate milk.

Mary Sisson

Bethany (PNS) — Mrs. Mary Adelaide Sisson formerly of Bethany, aged 104 years died quietly in her sleep at the Kawartha Nursing Home in Peterborough on Saturday, January 2, 1965. She had been a patient there for several years and was stricken with pneumonia about two weeks ago.

She was the former Mary Adelaide Devitt, a daughter of the late James Devitt and Mary Evans and was born in Cartwright Township, Durham County, June 5, 1890.

She married Stephen W. Sisson and they lived all their married life on a farm near Bethany. She was a faithful member of St. Mary's Anglican Church, Lifford.

Mr. Sisson, in addition to being a farmer was also a machinery agent and a pioneer in the telephone system of Bethany. At his own expense he built the first telephone line in the area from the old Grand Trunk Station in the village to his farm home. Later he built a continuing line to J. Naismith's store in Lotus and installed a "switch" in his home.

Mrs. Sisson is remembered in the area for her faithful services in relaying telephone messages for neighbours, and for her hospitality at their home during her husband's many years of service in Mariners Township Council as a councillor, deputy-reeve and Reeve. Her husband died 29 years ago.

She is survived by two sons, Dr. Elmo W. Sisson of Bowmanville by Karl Sisson of Peterborough as well as seven grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

A daughter Mrs. W. L. Hannah (Vera) of Bethany died in 1960.

A private funeral service was held at Comstock's Funeral home in Peterborough. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Bethany.

HUNGRY PASSENGER

Canadians are the "talkingest" nation in the world for the twelfth consecutive year with more telephone conversations per person than any other place in the world. In Lindsay, night or day, workdays or holidays, a bevy of beautiful young ladies "man" the switchboard to make sure Canadians keep a firm hold on the talker's crown. "Post" staff photo

World news today

Jakarta (UPI) — President Sukarno declared last night that Indonesia is going ahead with its withdrawal from the United Nations, and said he will expell all U.N. — aid agencies from this country.

"I declare that Indonesia is withdrawing from the United Nations," Sugarno told a wildly cheering crowd at a rally here. "From now on, Indonesia no longer is a member of the United Nations. Now we are happy — go to hell, United Nations!"

The Indonesian President coupled his resentment of Indonesia's decision to quit the world organization with a bitter denunciation of its aid agencies

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, — Britain flew in more reinforcements today on the theory that Indonesia's withdrawal from the United Nations may be the prelude to an all-out Indonesian attack on this country

Two big Britannia jet-prop transports landed 50 British partroopers here today. Three hundred more are arriving tomorrow and Sunday, completing the transfer of a paratroop battalion from Britain to threatened Malaysia.

Also scheduled to arrive this weekend are some of the sailors who will man four minesweepers and two patrol boats which are being "demothball-ed" to join British forces patroling the Straits of Malacca.

Ottawa — Opposition House Leader Gordon Churchill of the conservative has thrown his support behind statements yesterday by government house leader George McIlraith indicating the parliament after its recess will be smother running.

Churchill said unless the government brings in a controversial measure, the legislation planned could be passed within a few days.

He indicated however, that a bill permitting Quebec to drop out of federal programs could be considered necessary for lengthy debate.

In other matters, Churchill said he didn't think there would be an election in 1965 and said there is no threat to the continuing leadership of the conservativve party by John Diefenbaker.

Ottawa — Industry Minister C. M. Drury meets today with the Canadian President of the United Auto Workers CLC to discuss plans for a free trade in automobiles between Canada and the U.S.

George Burt has opposed implementing the plan until safeguards are instituted for the workers in Canadian plants who might be dislocated.

The government has indicated it feels this is a problem between management and the union.

However, the plan is being held up pending agreement between the U.S. parent General Motors firm and the Canadian government which would guarantee Canadian products an expanded share of the market.

Merchants battle Cats' claws tonight

Lindsay Merchants will have their work cut out for them tonight when they meet a snarly bunch of Ti-Cats at the Kiwanis Arena tonight. Both teams are hurting from injuries received Wednesday night and are out to settle personal scores with goals in the opponents cage if possible.

The Cats were able to contain Merchant Captain George Babcock but it required the undivided attention of one and sometimes two men to do it. Tonight local fans predict that "the rifle" will bring some of his screaming drives, while the Cats' top scorer John Nicholls will be out to fatten his average with his deadly close-in shots. All three Lindsay lines produced in Wednesday night's game and the defence never looked better, but the fact remains, in many supporters view, the Merchants will have to be really up to take the Ti-Cats two in a row. A share of first place is on the line tonight, as a win for the Merchants will tie them with the Cats for top spot in the league standings. Game time tonight is 9:00 p.m.

Included in the over 600 crowd at Bobcaygeon Wednesday night were several Merchant supporters who motored from Toornto for the game, and Coach Gus Bodnar also made the long trip to be with the boys in this important series.

TV SHOW DISCUSSES SEARCH FOR CONTROL OF CANCER

Every year the Canadian Cancer Society puts on a campaign for funds with which to carry on its great work and every year the local unit in Victoria and Haliburton joins in that campaign.

This year will be no exception and the month of the campaign will be April as usual, and as usual we who contribute will be very interested in the manner in which our money is spent. The answer to this question is at least twofold.

A part of this money is spent right here at home helping all needy cancer patients with whom we come in contact and much of it is spent to assist in the great continuous and continuing search for control of this dread disease. In order that we may all get some first hand information on this subject I am asking as many of you as possible to watch the T.V. show on the C.B.C. Network this coming Sunday at 5 p.m. entitled "The Nature of things". Dr. Siminovitch, head of the Biological Research Ontario Cancer Institute (Princess Margaret Hospital) and others will be heard at that time. The date, Jan. 10th the hour 5 p.m., the stations channels 6, 12 or 3.

Thanking you in advance I am

Yours Truly,
Jasper Forman,
Pres., local unit.

Howe hated in Boston

Gordie Howe, the highest scorer in National Hockey League history, is rated as the least popular man in Boston today.

The veteran Detroit Red Wing star required a police escort to the dressing room Thursday night and another police escort to his hotel following the game won by the Boston Bruins 5-2.

Howe, who scored both his teams goals in the third period incurred the wrath of the Boston crowd when he slammed Bruin rookie Bill Knibbs into the boards at 14:57 of the final period. Howe drew a major penalty as Knibbs was assisted from the ice.

Referee Vern Buffey ordered the police escort for Howe when it became apparent the fans were particularly incensed at the incident. One fan was taken in custody by police after hurling a cup of orange drink in Howe's face as he left the ice.

Knibbs, in the meantime, was taken to a hospital for x-rays of his knee.

The game itself belonged to the Bruins, who piled up a 5-0 lead before Howe countered twice. Knibbs and another rookie, Wayne Rivers, scored in the first period, Murray Oliver and Ed Westfall added goals in the second session and Tom Williams completed the Boston scoring early in the final period. —UPI.

TOOK TO THE TRACKS

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, (UPI) — Harold Miller, a newcomer to town, turned his car onto a railroad track last night while looking for a side street in thick fog.

The car became wedged in the tracks, forcing an approaching train to stop across a crossing and halting traffic until Miller's car was hauled away.

"I guess I haven't learned the streets of Cedar Rapids yet," Miller said.

Little Britain Aces report that their game with Newmarket Redmen re-scheduled for Saturday night will be played in the Cannington Arena at 8:30 p.m. The Cannington-Sutton vs. Little Britain game originally scheduled for Dec. 30th has been re-scheduled to take place at Little Britain Monday January 18th at 9:00 p.m.

A game scheduled for Lindsay Kiwanis Arena on Monday, January 11th. has been batted around for several weeks with still no definite decision. The schedule calls for Aurora to play here Monday evening, but ice time is not available to Junior hockey on Monday nights. The Merchants have made attempts to have the game played here on Friday, January 29th., as both teams are idle that week and no previous date is available but Aurora refuses to come on that date.

Latest word indicates a league meeting will be held in Newmarket after the game Thursday, Jan. 14th. to set up play-offs and the Jan., 11th date will likely be dealt with at that time.

OFFICER COULD HAVE MAGISTRATE TELLS "THROWN BOOK" LINDSAY MAN

"You know, the officer, as it is commonly expressed 'could have thrown the book at you.'" Magistrate Ian Munro told Dennis Joseph Arsenault of 9 Durham Street West after the man pleaded guilty to failing to produce insurance and failing to stop at a stop sign. Mr. Arsenault was fined $50 and costs in Lindsay Police Court Thursday, or 15 days for failing to produce proof of insurance and $10 and costs or 5 days for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Lindsay OPP Constable Lyle Welton told the court he was having gasoline put into the police cruiser on December 19, at 8:45 p.m. when he saw a vehicle travelling on Kent Street at a high rate of speed. While he was persuing the vehicle, it pulled onto Highway 7 without stopping at the stop sign and travelled 70 miles per hour in a 50 zone. He said the car came back into Lindsay and he pulled it over on Kent Street. Constable Welton said the accused drove with no lights; the vehicle was in poor condition and it was not insured.

Gordon Ronald Swain of Manilla was fined $15 and costs or seven days for travelling 75 miles an hour in a 60 zone on Highway 7 between Oakwood and Highway 46 at 7 p.m. on December 9.

John M Ferguson of Queensville was fined $10 and costs or five days for failing to notify of purchase. Constable Welton said following an accident on County Road 4 on December 11 at 6:30 p.m. he found the accused had purchased and sold the automobile he was driving and had not changed the ownership.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

TRICKED SON INTO TONSIL OPERATION

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: When my son, who was 6 years old, had his tonsils removed, we tricked him into the hospital and into the operation. I have felt guilty ever since. Now, my other son, aged 7, is to have the same surgery. What should I tell him?—Mrs. L.

Comment: The truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Of course, that doesn't mean you have to become gruesome, too vivid, and tell him it's going to hurt like all blazes. I think there's a little book on tonsillectomies for children, to prepare them for surgery. You can buy it or ask for it in your public library. I'm sorry I do not know the title, but they will probably know which one you mean.

In addition, be truthful, as I said. Explain what a hospital is, what going to sleep under an anesthetic is, what a sore throat feels like; and that it is only temporarily, and will be made better by a large portion of ice cream after the operation. If the child is especially apprehensive, make arrangements to stay in the hospital with him.

Speaking of T and A (tonsillectomy and adenoidectomy) I was interested to see a newspaper picture recently of a family of eight children who had all been in the hospital together on the same day to have their T and As. I thought that the medical profession had given up long ago doing wholesale tonsillectomies. It is hard to conceive that all eight children had indications for operation on the same day. Of course, it's possible, but not likely.

I believe that tonsillectomy should have its definite indications like gall bladder surgery or an appendectomy. I'm opposed to this philosophy: "We may as well get it all over at once". I looked at the paper's date, when I saw the picture of the eight children who had just had the operation. I thought that perhaps I was looking at a 20-year-old paper. But, no. It was 1964. Shades of the old days when tonsils came out in wholesale lots.

OVERWEIGHT ARTHRITIC

Dear Dr Steincrohn: I am 63 and about 40 pounds overweight and have arthritis in my knee joints that prevent me getting around as well as I'd like. My doctor says I'd better take off that weight, so it's the most important part of the treatment. Meanwhile he refuses to give me any medicine to relieve the pain.—Mrs. P.

Comment: I agree that weight loss will take quite a bit of strain off those big joints. However, see if you can't influence him to give you a little aspirin in the meanwhile. Just as a "sweetener" until your diet begins to take effect. Tell him you'll promise to lose if he'll make it a little easier for you. I think he'll go along.

Mrs. L: "Pica" means a craving for odd foods. A child who has pica when it seems to be fond of eating dirt, for example. I suppose you might call it pica, too, when the young pregnant wife sends her husband out at midnight by looking for strawberries in May mid-winter, or for pickles and cranberry juice on some other night. But it's usually the eating of odd things rather than sending out for food at odd hours that we mean by pica.

People have their own favorite remedies for the most stubborn problems. Recently I wrote about "red nose". Mr. R. Writes: "My very red nose returned to normal when I eliminated tomatoes, peaches, strawberries and all citrus fruits from my diet".

Austin Hayes

Austin Wilfred Hayes, well known resident of Emily Township and Omemee passed away Wednesday, December 23rd., following a long illness.

Born in South Emily, son of the late Robert Hayes and Elizabeth Boyd, he was educated and raised in that area.

Husband of the former Elizabeth Ford the late Mr. Hayes had been a successful farmer all of his life and had retired to reside in Omemee in 1947.

Survived by his wife, and four sons, Donald, Jay and Robert of Omemee and Douglas of Sudbury, also surviving is one sister Mrs. Hiram Best (Lena) of Mount Pleasant; One brother Harry predeceased as well as 9 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren.

The late Mr. Hayes rested at the Morcombe-Rehill Parlors until Saturday afternoon thence to Trinity United Church where Rev. K. J. Crawford officiated before a congregation of friends and relatives which filled the church to pay their respects.

Pallbearers were Lloyd Hill, Earl Garnett, Stanley Tully, Nelson Attwell, John Deyell and Murray Shea.

Interment was in Emily Presbyterian Cemetery.

SET A COW TO CATCH —

Tyler, Tex., (UPI) — Working on the theory that it takes a cow to catch a cow, Tyler policeman Bill McDaniel got down on all fours yesterday and mooed at the bossy that led officers on a five-mile, 90 minutes chase through Tyler streets and alleys.

The cow mooed back and both charged. The cow lost. It fell to the ground and was roped by McDaniels' partner.

PLANS FOR MINDEN WINTER CARNIVAL WELL UNDER WAY

Minden Winter Carnival officials met in Minden Wednesday evening to discuss plans for this year's Winter Carnival planned for January 29th, 30th and 31st.

The Minden Minor Hockey Association will be playing intersquad games on Friday and the Carnival Queen will also be chosen on Friday evening followed by a dance on the ice.

Official opening ceremonies will take place on Saturday with a parade through the country town at 1 p.m. and ribbon cutting on the arena ice at 1.30 p.m. Fred Davis of TV's "Front Page Challenge" and other shows, has been asked to open the carnival although no confirmation has yet been received.

Figure skating will take place on Saturday afternoon and a dance to The Rythmaires on Saturday evening. All day Saturday and Sunday there will be winter sports at Mountain Lake, north of Minden.

UCW install new officers at Christmas meet

Nestleton (PNS) — Mrs. Ralph Sadler was hostess for the December meeting of Nestleton U.C.W. when 11 members, 2 children and Rev. Philip Romeril were present.

The meeting opened with a hymn, prayer by the President Mrs. M. Emerson and the Lord's Prayer in unison. Mrs. Lawrence Malcolm was in charge of the Worship period. Following a Christmas hymn, Mrs. Maurice Nesbitt read the Christmas story from the book of Matthew. Several carols and Christmas readings were given throughout the story. Mrs. Malcolm read "Let's Keep Christmas" which was followed by a hymn and prayer.

The business period followed, minutes read and Treasurer's report given. Two members volunteered to send the cards and Christmas cheer boxes. It was decided to change the meeting date from the 3rd Thursday to the 3rd Tuesday of the month and to have four groups rather than two for the coming year.

Rev. Romeril presided for the installation of officers for 1965 which are: Past President - Mrs. Malcolm Emerson; President - Mrs. Lawrence Malcolm; Secretary - Mrs. Wilfrid Vine; Recording Secretary - Mrs. Bruce Heaslip; Treasurer Mrs. George Bowers; Group Leaders - Mrs. Ralph Sadler, Mrs. Malcolm Emerson, Mrs. Grant Campbell and Mrs. Wilford Jackson; Fruit and Flower Committee - Mrs. George Heaslip and Mrs. Victor Malcolm; Social Committee - Mrs. Maurice Nesbitt, Mrs. Arnold Williams and Mrs. Donald Thompson; Press Reporter - Mrs. Geo. Johns.

Mrs. Arnold Williams then came forward and in a few well chosen words, spoke highly of Mrs. Emerson's faithfulness and efficiency in the performance of her duty as President for the past two years. Mrs. Lawrence Malcolm on behalf of the U.C.W. presented her with a Life Membership pin.

The exchange of Christmas gifts followed and the meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

A lunch was served by those in charge and the usual social hour was enjoyed.

HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press International)

Hollywood (UPI) — When Steve McQueen begins to believe he's the greatest thing since sliced bread, he jumps on a motorcycle for a realistic appraisal of himself.

In the world of McQueen, he is king. Press agent, executives, managers and a whole list of sycophants pamper and praise him endlessly.

Returning from the World International six-day motorcycle trials in East Germany where he competed with the American team, McQueen explained why he risked his neck: "To keep from getting a swelled head."

The actor was flopped in a couch in his luxurious three room trailer outside stage 28 at MGM where his is starring in "The Cincinnati Kid". The trailer contrasted with a tiny wooden shanty nearby that had served as Norma Shearer's portable dressing room in years past.

"You see," McQueen said, "around the studios everybody waits on me. They powder my nose and tell me what they think I want to hear. And after a while you're convinced you ar super-human.

"But when you're racing a motorcycle, the guy on the next bike doesn't give a damn who you are. And if he beats you in the race, well it means he's a better man than you are, and he's not afraid to tell you that you're lousy.

"Racing keeps my equilibrium intact. It makes it difficult for me to believe I'm God's gift to humanity."

McQueen came up the hard way. He still bears traces of a rough childhood in his choice of words and a somewhat defensive attitude. He's worth a million dollars, but for lunch he ate a cold "organically pure" hamburg patty on dry organic bread. He drank grape juice from his son's lunch box thermos.

The actor and his wife live in a luxurious mansion set in a wooded estate. But when time permits McQueen is off on rugged hunting trips or roughing it on his motorcycle on mountain trails.

"Man, I got to keep a perspective," he explained. "I know motorcycle racing can be dangerous, but I don't plan on getting killed. And when I'm humming along on the bike I say to myself, 'Man, this is where I want to be. This is what I'm happy I'm doing.'"

McQueen and a pick-up team of four other American, unsponsored and paying their own way, gave a good account of themselves at the German races but failed to place well in the competition.

"We had too many crashes," McQueen explained.

"The teams from other countries were sponsored by factories. We had to go it alone. They laughed at us because we were unsponsored and because we had an actor on the team. But on the second day of racing — 250 miles a day — we were in the lead.

"But we blew it on the third day when some of us crashed. I wiped out the side of my face in one wreck; another member of the team had six stitches put in his chin and another broke a leg.

"But we left a lot of scratch marks over there, and I'd like to go back next year. I can't make it this year," he concluded regretfully, "I've got too many movies to make."

Sir John A. MacDonald, Architect Of Confederation, 150th anniversary

BULLETS EXPLODE IN FIRE, DOG HURT, CHILDREN ESCAPE

A dog, injured by bullets exploding in an incinerator had to be destroyed and two young children Peter Tamblyn, 5, and Kevin McTaggart of Little Britain, narrowly escaped injury after garage owner James McDonnell of Little Britain, the local fire chief reportedly threw the cartridges into his incinerator.

The dog belonged to William Tamblyn of Little Britain, father of 5-year-old Peter. He said the children ran in to tell their mother of the explosions and that the dog was lying on its side and could not move.

Mrs. Tamblyn went outside to find the dog had crawled under a wood pile and she couldn't reach it. Mr. Tamblyn was able to reach the dog when he came home and took the animal to Dr. Codlin. He said the dog was too badly injured to save and had to be destroyed. He said the fire chief had thrown the bullets into his incinerator after they had failed to fire in a gun.

Toronto papers said missing

Complaints of thefts of bundles of Toronto daily newspaper following delivery from the Toronto trucks have been received from the distributors in this area. Latest reports indicate that the practice has now invaded the Lindsay area as well as lakeshore towns. Complainants suspect the thefts to be the work of Toronto newspaper strikers.

A call to the Lindsay Police department by "The Post" revealed that no complaints have been received at that office.

The famous and frequently reprinted portrait of the Fathers of Confederation by Robert Harris was destroyed in the 1916 House of Commons fire; it is the original full-size charcoal sketch that now hangs in the House.

—Quick Canadian Facts.

HUNTING FOR A POLICY.

SIR JOHN—"HAVE YOU LOST ANYTHING, GENTS?"

Sir John A. Macdonald, first prime minister of Canada, honored at a formal dinner in Kingston on Jan. 11, 150th anniversary of his birth. Above left is one of the campaign posters used by Sir John A. and above right is a photograph of him in 1860, at the age of 45.

Kingston — Sir John A. Macdonald, architect of Canadian Confederation, will be remembered here at a glittering formal dinner on January the 11, the 150th anniversary of his birth date.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, Sir John A. came to Kingston as a boy of five and his life was to be inextricably twinned to that of his adopted land. He brought immense colour and vitality to the tumultuous politics of his era and in the company of such men as George Brown and Sir George Etienne Cartier led the struggle for Canadian independence.

Paying tribute to his memory at the Kingston dinner will be leading Canadian political figures, including Hon. George MacIlwraith, President of the Privy Council, Opposition Leader John G. Diefenbaker and Ontario Prime Minister John P. Robarts. Mr. Robarts also celebrates his birthday on January 11th.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Donald G. Creighton, professor of history at the University of Ontario and author of the two-volume "John A. Macdonald", considered the definitive work on the life of Canada's first prime minister.

Other distinguished guests will include the Lieutenant Governor of Ontario W. Earl Rowe; Leslie M. Frost, former Prime Minister of Ontario; Hon. Arthur Laing, federal Minister of Northern Affairs and Natural Resources; Quebec Provincial Secretary Bona Arsenault; N. Georgeier Associate Commissioner of the Canadian Centennial Commission, Mayor R A. Fray of Kingson; and Lt.-Col. L. J Flynn, president of the Kingston Historical Society.

Representing the Ontario government will be Hon. James Allan, Provincial Treasurer; Hon. James Auld, Minister of Tourism and Information; Hon. John R. Simonett, Minister of Energy Resources, and Syl Apps, MPP for Kingston.

Co-chairman for the banquet will be Dr. G. F. G. Stanley, past-president of the Kingston Historical Society and Bogart W. Trumpour, vice-president of the society.

The banquet is sponsored jointly by the Kingston Historical Society, the City of Kingston, the Government of Ontario and the Canadian Centennial Commission.

Throughout the La Salle Hotel, scene of the reception and dinner will be mementoes of Sir John A. and his era.

Election posters, reflecting the gusty politicking of the day, will decorate the walls. Also on display will be portraits of Macdonald and Canadian Historical Paintings exhibit of the Confederation Life Association.

Entertainment will be provided by the Twilighters, choristers costumed in garb of the 1860's and gifts and souvenirs will be distributed by Kingston Ladies clad in crinolines and lace of the time.

Macdonald spent much of his life in Kingston, as schoolboy, lawyer, alderman, legislative member and finally as the city's representative in the first dominion government. Many of the buildings in which he lived and worked still stand in Kingston, and environs and it was in Kingston City Hall that his body lay in state prior to burial in nearby Cataraqui cemetery in June, 1891.

Sir John A. Macdonald rose to power in an era of hot-blooded politics. A superb leader, he gained a firm control of the Conservative party and from this vantage point led the fight which brought about Canadian union in 1867.

Seemingly crushed by an electoral defeat in 1873, he regained the nation's leadership in 1878. He remained as prime minister until his death in 1891, only a few months after his final campaign.

"We are a great country and shall become one of the greatest in the universe if we preserve it. We shall sink into insignificance and adversity if we suffer it to be broken."

— Sir John A. MacDonald

West Wycombe, Buckinghamshire, England was purchased for the nation by the Royal Society of Arts and in 1934 transferred to the National Trust. It is not surprising that it was considered important that this charming village should be preserved against the ravages of the 20th century. —British Travel Photo

They'll Do It Every Time

Giant Laser

When Arthur Garratt, regular narrator of the BBC General Overseas Service 'Science and Industry' programme, was in the United States recently, he made a point of visiting the Bell Telephone Laboratories in New York to see the longest laser in the world. Reporting in the programme, he included a recording of the conversation he had with the man who built it, Dr. Robert Zitter.

Lasers, a product of the present decade, were really light amplifiers, Garratt explained, capable of producing light of great intensity and, perhaps even more important, of precise frequency. "Only a laser can produce coherent light, that is, light composed of continuous waves. Broadly, there are two kinds—a crystal laser which can produce short pulses of prodigious power, and gas lasers which operate at much lower peak intensity, but continuously." The ordinary gas laser was a few feet long but the giant at the Bell Telephone Laboratories was thirty feet long.

Dr. Zitter explained that it was possible to introduce any gas into the tube, and the first object of his team was to research into the gases put inside it. The second use was to put a known gas inside and use the light to do research on other optical phenomena. Advantages of its size were that, in the study of little-known gases, the long light path enabled them to get more amplification every time the light passed down the tube, and, in studying a particular aspect of a gas which had a very weak amplification to begin with, the length enabled them to obtain an oscillation of light back and forth, which would not be possible in a shorter tube.

Dr. Zitter pointed out that a crystal, or solid laser put out all its power in a single brief flash, and there followed quite a wait before it charged up and another pulse could be put out. A peak power of many millions of watts could be reached, but it was very quickly over. Multiplying the peak power by its duration, the total power was only of the order of several watts, whereas a long gas laser could put out as much as one watt on a continuous basis—in fact, about the same amount of power. If this could be modulated with speech, he said, it would be possible to carry as many radio, television, telephone and communication channels as existed in the world at present. This was one of the uses that the Bell Telephone System had in mind, and it would have particular advantages in overcoming problems of space communication, since the beam from the gas laser was so completely parallel that there was relatively little loss in transmission over enormous distances.

Flint Knapping

In the quiet county town of Brandon (Suffolk) one of Britain's oldest export trades is slowly dying.

A few miles away in Grime's Graves, a pre-historic flint mine where Stone-Age man once hewed out his axe-heads, which attracts a host of tourists every year.

It has been said that the Napoleonic wars were fought on Brandon flints and, even today, many places in Africa where old-fashioned muzzle-loading flintlocks are still used get their flint supplies from Brandon. Flint gun clubs exist in America, Britain and Europe.

Large flints are used in the building and repairing of flint buildings and in the walls of Windsor Castle flints constantly have to be replaced, since tourists dig them out as souvenirs.

But now only one "flint knapper" remains in Brandon; 60-year-old Arthur (Trix) Drewry, the only employee of the Edwards family who have been in the flint business for over 300 years, sits all day tapping with his hammers.

At the beginning of the last century more than 100 flint knappers were at work, but now only "Trix" Drewry remains and, as he says, "There is no one to follow me". When he finally puts down his hammers it may be the end of an industry which once made Brandon "the arsenal of Britain".

Deer Hunt casts spell

Kemptville—Reminiscing on the deer season in this southeastern part of Ontario and deer hunters as Conservation Officers sometimes see them, Fish and Wildlife Supervisor N. D. Patrick observes:

"Who would guess that the jubilant red coated, red capped, bearded, rather unkempt individual who has just shot a nice buck and is so pleased that he can hardly talk might be the hatchet-faced, hard-hearted personnel manager of some big firm downtown?

"Who but a Conservation Officer would really appreciate and understand what happens to the quiet, immaculately dressed store salesman when he goes deer hunting? Seen about mid-week, he is usually unshaven, red-faced because people who work indoors invariably get wind burned and chapped; somewhat dishevelled, (no wife along to hang up the clothes at night—if, indeed, they were removed), and red-eyed from smoke, late nights in camp and pre-dawn rising to hunt. Invariably, though, he is extraordinarily happy and friendly in spite of it all.

"Some hunters, too, are to be encountered, utterly exhausted after three or four days' hunting, getting perhaps the best sleep they have had in months—even though it's 10 o'clock in the morning on the runway!

"In spite of everything, though, about one in four probably get a deer."

Not So Dumb

In this age of affluence, says its critics, people are easily induced to overspend on keeping up with the Joneses and to over-borrow in order to do it. To protect us against our follies, various reformers have suggested control of advertising and various government groups have sponsored controls on borrowing and credit buying. But a news story out of Chicago says that a 20-year research study of the public's spending habits indicates, as the news report puts it, that "the consumer is not so dumb."

Published as The Mass Consumption Society, George Katona's study is based on the findings of the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan, where he directs the economic behaviour program. It is a book that paints an unorthodox picture of the consumer and his role in the affluent society. The majority of families, he says, now have discretionary purchasing power and constantly replace and enlarge their supply of consumer goods, but they are sensible buyers and not easily swayed by high pressure selling.

Most people, he concludes are not looking for the easy existence, but are motivated by concrete rewards to work hard to improve their lives. They are very concerned with security, but mainly expect to gain it on their own and conscientiously save for retirement.

They are increasingly attracted to common stocks as an investment, and are careful users of instalment credit. They are resentful of inflation, often refraining from buying when prices advance or are expected to — which is in contrast to the widely held theory that they step up purchases at such times, thus reinforcing inflation.

There have always been those who, undervaluing the public's taste and intelligence, have wished to be over-protective of its welfare. "It is a general popular error," the British statesman Edmund Burke said two centuries ago, "to support the loudest complainer for the public to be the most anxious for its welfare."

170-year-old Treasure Hunt

Ever since 1795—not long after pirates prowled the Atlantic Coast and left glittering legends of buried gold in their wake — people have been trying to find out what lies at the bottom of a mysterious shaft on little Oak Island, off the southern shore of Nova Scotia. But despite more than 20 attempts by treasure hunters and the expenditure of more than $1,500,000, reports the January Reader's Digest, the "Money Pit" has revealed only three links of gold chain and a scrap of ancient parchment.

Although it's known that the pit is protected by an ingenious system of man-made flood tunnels that use the sea as a watchdog, to this day no one knows who dug it, or why.

Latest in the long series of hunters is Bob Restal of Hamilton, Ont., whose efforts to find the legendary treasure are described by Canadian author David MacDonald in the Digest article, condensed from The Rotarian. Restall, a 59-year-old steelworker, quit his $150-a-week job in 1959 and moved to Oak Island with his wife and two sons. There they have lived ever since in a one room cabin beside the Money Pit, a caved-in crater filled with sludge and rotting timbers. Restall has managed to clear a 155-foot shaft sunk in the 1930's, and has added eight holes 25 feet deep, trying to intercept the flood tunnels that have foiled all previous searchers.

In all, including his savings and five years of labour, Restal figures that his quest has cost almost $100,000 to date. His efforts have given him a profound respect for whoever designed the Money Pit. "That man," he says, "was a hell of a lot smarter than anyone who's come here since."

Is there really a treasure there? According to mining experts, its elaborate safeguards could have been built only by an engineering wizard with plenty of help—and plenty to hide.

Falls in river

Daniel Hogan, Lindsay businessman narrowly escaped drowning Saturday evening, when he broke through the ice as he was crossing the Scugog River.

Clad in heavy clothes, Hogan tried frantically to claw his way to safety, but the thin ice kept breaking under his arms. His cries for help were heard by employees of the nearby Northern Casket Company and they rushed to his rescue. They were warned by the exhausted man to stay off the ice. A plank was shoved out and with the aid of Hillard Armstrong and W. Guest, who tossed out a rope, and he was rescued.

Juveniles run away

Two young Peterborough lads, Tony DeCarlo, 13, and Carmen Hogan, 12, decided yesterday that they should seek their fortune in the world and left their homes without the formality of saying farewell to their parents. In their quest for fortunes, they proceeded as far as Lindsay where a vigilant police officer picked them up and held them in the police station until arrangements were made with their parents to take them home.

Air inspection

The Post has been informed by Bruce McNevin, M.P., that a high official of the Royal Canadian Air Force will fly over this district to inspect the site which has been selected by inspectors as the only one having any possibilities for an airport.

Don't play hockey

When the civic skating rink was opened on the park, the council gave orders that no hockey was to be played on the ice sheet. This order, however, has been disregarded and each day and evening the ice is alive with skaters carrying hockey sticks. The young children, skating on the rink run the risk of being injured either by a hockey stick or a puck and complaints are coming in from citizens who allow their children to frequent the rink and who wish the authorities to put a stop to hockey playing.

This morning a well known citizen complained to the Post about this practice, and also reported that a young man deliberately struck a youthful skater this morning on the rink.

Wanted

Chief Short has been requested by the Wayne County Oil Tank and Pump Co. of Woodstock, Ont., to arrest one, J. W. Lewis alias J. W. Hayes, J. W. Doyle, J. W. Wright, J. W. Hunt, J. W. Star, J. W. Stedn, J. W. Walsh, J. W. Wilson, J. W. Shepherd, J. W. Haines and J. W. Morris. This individual is an authority on Wayne pumps and is described as being 40 or 50 years of age, 5 ft. 10 in. in height, weight, 180 or 200 lbs. grayish moustache, good dresser. He usually calls on garage owners and has secured orders and accepted deposits for part payment, forged the endorsement, cashed the cheques and disappeared. A reward of $100 is offered for his arrest.

BOOTS DESERVE CARE

Montreal, December 30, 1964 — Good boot care is the first step in putting your best foot forward on snowy or slushy days, says the Shoe Information Bureau of Canada.

While many of this season's fashionable winter boots were given a water-proofing treatment by the tanners who made the leather, they will need further periodic application of a silicone spray which you can obtain from any retailer. There need be no hesitation about using this silicone spray on suede as well as on smooth leathers.

Use of the waterproofing silicone sprays won't prevent this rub-a-bear of town and city snow removal practice, but it will make it much easier to erase. As soon as you come in from out-doors, wipe your boots clean, rub with a fresh cloth and finish with a lamb's wool brush, follow with a good shoe polish for a high gloss on smooth leathers. Incidentally, the water-proof sprays are effective on fabric and fur as well as on leather. Saddle soap is good for reptile finishes. Many of the new fashionable boots this year boasted reptile trims.

If boots become soaked, after cleaning, stuff them with tissue paper and set aside to dry at room temperature, never on a radiator or near direct heat. When dry, polish as directed.

A timely tip for keeping the interior of boots clean, as well as for fast drying is to reverse the vacuum hose on your vacuum cleaner so that it blows. Insert it in the boot and it will dry within minutes.

Have the heels, stacked or otherwise, repaired as soon as they show signs of wear. Nothing detracts from the smart appearance of a boot faster than a shabby stacked heel.

Most weather protection boots with leather uppers are made with rubber soles today which in many instances, form a kind of mud-guard along the sides of the vamp. These will certainly provide adequate protection in winter or snowy weather, but the fact remains that if you step ankle-deep into water and slush, wet may penetrate the leather. The Bureau advises women to leave their leather boots at home when such weather is indicated, and walk out in the colorful and smartly designed rubber or plastic boots Canadian manufacturers make available today.

If you crave a fashionable, unlined leather boot, that's fine, but you mustn't expect it to do the job of a cold weather or a wet weather boot. This means that what you actually need is a boot wardrobe. This might be listed as the unlined types for the earliest cool days; functional for hard, everyday wear; dressy for late day occasions, and wet weather protection — rubber. Many a woman will want to add an apres ski boot or a curling boot to this basic list.

The bureau has another practical suggestion to make.

Birth Notice

WALDEN — Murray and Eleanor are pleased to announce the safe arrival of their daughter Frances Marie, on January 1, 1965. A sister for Brian and Douglas (1306)

If you drive a car frequently, in winter weather, a boot with a lower, wider heel base will give you greater leverage and be a safe bet when you press down on the brake.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

Q. Have you any suggestions for the easier cleaning of my bathroom walls?

A. Here's one little trick that often proves highly successful: Fill your bathtub with very hot water, or let the shower run hot water for several minutes, allowing the room to steam for about five minutes. Then wipe the walls and ceiling with a dry cloth.

Q. What can I do for handkerchiefs that are flimsy and have a generally soiled look?

A. You can often make them look like new by dipping into starch after washing, then putting them through the rinse water again.

Q. How can I remove varnish stains from fabrics?

A. Try saturating these with turpentine, rubbing between the hands, then sponging with alcohol.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

Mascara Stains

For mascara stains on unwashables, sponge with carbon tetrachloride, or work in fuller's earth, cornstarch, or talcum, let stand, then brush out. If using one of these absorbents you may have to repeat several times, but they are safe for the most delicate fabrics, and leave no ring. If traces of stains remain, sponge with denatured alcohol, diluted with two parts water.

Picture Stains

To remove spots from photographs, paintings, or prints, add a few drops of ammonia to a cupful of warm water, apply carefully with a soft cloth which has been wrung out quite dry in this solution.

Protective Packing

Jewelry and other delicate items can be safely carried or shipped when packed in a rubber sponge that has been cut almost in half lengthwise.

Compactness, along with unique front and rear wheel suspension systems, is design feature of British-built Moulton four-speed bicycle, being distributed by CCM, a division of Levy Industries Limited. R-shaped frame, small wheels, represent radical change from usual bicycle frame.

EMO REPORT

Understanding Fallout

by EMO Co-ordinator for Victoria—Haliburton JAMES HALL

THE TRUTH ABOUT THIS HAZARD OF NUCLEAR WAR IS OFTEN SHROUDED IN UNREALISTIC OPTIMISM OR GLOOM . . . HERE ARE SOME FACTS:

Sixteen years have passed since the Almargordo tests ushered in the atomic age. Since then, nuclear weapons have been used twice in war and tested often in peace. The H-Bomb has been developed and the nuclear "club" has widened its membership. Scarcely a week since 1945 has gone by without public discussion of nuclear war and its implications.

Still, according to officials of the federal government's Emergency Health Services Division, Department of National Health and Welfare, misconceptions about nuclear weapons and their effects are common. The division, which counts public education an important part of its program, feels this to be patricularly true of the radiation hazard.

"The basic problem", says division chief Dr. A. C. Hardman, "is fear of the unknown. Radiation has become a word with strong emotional overtones. People have jumped to the conclusion that radiation is all-powerful, that attempts at protection are futile. It is essential that Canadians understand the true facts about radiation and its dangers".

Authorities stress that there are different kinds of radiation caused by nuclear explosions. These present different hazards to the human at different times. Radiation occurring at the moment of detonation differs in its effects from that of early fallout. Early fallout differs in its effects from that which appears months later.

"We must avoid the extremes of pessimism and optimism" says Dr. Hardman. "This can only be done by giving the public an understanding of the facts of the problem".

IMMEDIATE RADIATION

When a large nuclear bomb explodes at or near ground level, it creates a huge fire-ball up to three miles across. Blast heat and radiation are given off at this time. The immediate or "flash" radiation includes both neutrons and gamma rays. Neutron particles can penetrate materials and can make some radioactive. However their range is far shorter than that of blast and heat damage. The neutron radiation hazard to individuals would be far out weighed by the hazards of blast and heat.

Gamma radiation is highly penetrating and is similar to the familiar x-ray. Gamma rays in sufficient amounts can cause radiation sickness and death. But they do NOT, as many people believe, have the power to make material or bodies radioactive. This "flash" gamma radiation lasts only a few seconds. Its effective range, though greater than that of neutrons, is less than that of blast or heat. People who survive the blast and heat can survive this initial radiation.

In brief, for people in the target area, the chief hazard is blast and heat. For those further away, radiation from fallout looms as the chief danger.

FALLOUT

Misunderstandings about fallout are varied and frequent. Some people think the danger lies in breathing radioactive dust. Others believe that people and objects become radioactive; that radioactivity will remain dangerous for years. Still others believe that survivors would emerge from their shelters, alone and friendless, into a radioactive desert. This leads to a feeling that any survival measures are futile. The facts deny these arguments.

Fallout has its birth in the fireball and to trace its development we must return to the explosion.

Rising fast — 1,500 feet in the first second — the fireball swells as it rusts, sucking up in its "mushroom stem", large quantities of earth and debris, pulverized by the explosion into dust. As the fireball climbs cooler air turns its vaporized radio-active elements back into solids. The dust rising with it is coated with radio-active materials, forming a cloud at great heights. Then the dust beings to fall. This is fallout. Simple everyday dust, made dangerous by its radioactive coating.

The heavier particles fall faster and being to reach the ground thirty minutes later. The fallout continues for several hours with particles carried by the winds to greater distances. Thus early fallout is the main source of radiation danger in the period immediately after an attack.

The lightest particles of all will circle the earth at great altitudes, coming down weeks or months later. While the earlier fallout shows its effects within days, the later worldwide fallout presents problems measured in years.

The final ground pattern of early fallout is decided by the winds at all heights. The pattern cannot be predicted by ground winds alone. Although generally shown as a neat cigar-shape, it will actually be no more precisely outlined than dust settling after a prairie dust storm. The area will be generally oval, but usually with fuzzy ill-defined borders. Radiation will not be uniformly intense throughout the area. Dust will collect more quickly in some places than others and the amount of radiation will depend on the amount of dust. Each area authorities emphasize, must be separately measured with radiation survey instruments.

Perhaps the most widespread misunderstanding is about the nature of radiation itself. Fallout dust carries two principal types of radiation: beta and gamma. Neither can affect other materials radio-

PUBLIC SPEAKING CONTEST
by Rick Witham

This week the students were told of the Hydro Public Speaking Contest, for which the speeches must be ready in about three weeks. The topic has been left to the individual student because many cannot decide from a list given to them. The speeches will probably be given a lot of thought since they count 50 per cent on our report cards. We will well expect that the winner will have put a great deal of work and effort into it.

TEAMS TIE-6 EACH
by Ron Johnson

The first hockey game on Tuesday, January 5 ended in a 6-all tie between the Bombers and the Jets. Scorers for Bombers were Paul Heatlis with two, Ronny Balfour getting two, and singles for David Ferguson and Robert Codlin. Scorers for the Jets were Bob Mosley, with two, Randy Robinson, Doug Kent, Robert Eyers and Malcolm Taylor.

The Bombers received four two-minute minor penalties, plus a ten-minute misconduct and a game misconduct.

ROCKETS OVER FLYERS-9-6
by Ron Johnson

The 5 p.m. game favoured the Rockets 9 to 6 over the Flyers. Goal scorers for the Rockets were Doug Kingsborough getting three, Doug Coombs and Doug Purdy with a pair each. Jeff Stuart and John Miller picked up singles. For the Flyers, Sandy Flack got three, Clint Parcells, Larry Rodd and Gerald Staples all single goals.

The Rockets got three penalties and the Flyers one.

LEAGUE STANDINGS
by Ron Johnson

The standings are as follows showing games won, lost and tied respectively: Bombers 4 points, 1-0-2; Rockets, 4 points 2-1-0; Flyers, 3 points, 1-1-1 and Jets, 1 point, 0-2-1.

The Central Senior School Hockey League's top scorers are: Doug Kingsborough of the Rockets with seven goals and five assists for a total of 12 points; Ron Short of the Jets has four goals and six assists, giving him a ten point total.

Next Tuesday the Bombers play the Jets and the Flyers play the Rockets.

CENTRAL CHOIR SINGS AT ACADEMY
by Carol Ellis

On the night of December 21, Central's choir travelled to the Academy to sing in a "sing-out". The choir sang many well-known carols including, "O Little Town of Bethlehem", "Silent Night", "O Come All Ye Faithful" and "Christmas Song". The choir was aided by the accompaniment of the Lindsay Kinsmen Band.

The St. Joseph's Academy choir sang very well. One of the songs that made the best impression was "The Little Drummer Boy". This all-girl choir sang beautifully and both directors, Sister Alfonse-Marie and Mrs. Beverley Moore, should be very proud of their choir's performance.

The following afternoon the Central Senior choir sang at the Christmas programme held at the school. On this afternoon a gift was presented to Mrs. Moore. Choir members also purchased a gift for Mr. Fletcher, the pianist who accompanied the choir. The student body bought a gift for Mr. Neville, who was very surprised by this action.

Our choir has been very active and I'm sure it will continue its good work.

CHRISTMAS ASSEMBLY
by Lee Woodward

Although the Christmas spirit and decorations are all packed away for another year, I am reporting on 8D's Christmas assembly held on Tuesday December 22, 1964 at this time because through the Christmas holidays no material was submitted for the school's Press Club column.

The chairman, Kent Gilliam, introduced a humorous play entitled "Housekeeper Wanted" which showed the different people who apply for this kind of position. The main actors, Robert McMullen and Hugo Marcus, played the part of miserable farmers because of a lack of experience at housekeeping.

The school's choir assisted with several well-known carols, some with the participation of the audience. The members of the choir from 8A softly hummed the background of "O Holy Night" while the soloist, Jane Noris, sang the main part. This was well presented and the audience enthusiastically showed its appreciation.

A gift from the choir was presented to the director, Mrs. Moore, to show the members' appreciation for the time she spent with the choir and also to Mr. Fletcher, who accompanied the choir at the piano. Mr. Neville was presented with a small gift from the students.

WELCOMED SNOW
By Barbara Johnston

Dull, dreary, whirled by stormy blasts,
Lying knee-deep in dirty gray
Of frostbit grass, or naked trees,
Wintry hearts ache at the lifeless day.

Then, falling softly from above,
Flaunting intricate design;
Glistening snowflakes settled 'pon,
The stubble fields, the river line.

In fond embrace by sixty-five,
The snowfall, fresh and clean
Brightened a once weary world
Sparkling it with a snowy sheen

JAMES OF THE WEEK
By Barbara Johnston

What would our days be, unbrightened by a chuckle of laughter. How would we bear up a heavy heart, when no release in joking is found? Central School students have never stopped to answer that question. Our days are lightened by a stolen giggle as we snatch a whisper at the drinking fountain. From the first elephant joke down to humorous puns, we find laughter partly shared with you.

Bill: I heard you got a job at the watch factory.
Ted: Yes, I stand around and make faces.

Q. — Why did the elephant step on the marshmallow?
A. — So he wouldn't burn his feet in the hot chocolate.

Trudy: I think I should move to London, I have such a diet problem.
Clint: What's so great about London?
Trudy: Why only yesterday, an English woman lost 250 pounds.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

PORPHYRIA APPARENTLY HEREDITARY CONDITION

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My grandson has porphyria. I never heard of it. Is it serious? Anything to do for it? Will you discuss it? Thank you.—Mrs. O.

Comment: Most doctors have heard of it, but not all have run across it in practice. It isn't common. Sometimes it is overlooked. It is apparently a hereditary condition in which the body has difficulty in metabolizing certain pigments or coloring agents called porphyrins. Urine is often practically black. As far as I know, there is no cure.

Often the patient gives a history of muscle weakness, pain in the abdomen, nausea, constipation and vomiting, and severe emotional symptoms. Occasionally the presenting symptoms are actual paralysis or severe psychosis. There may be fever, rapid heart action and high blood pressure. In some, skin is sensitive to sunlight.

In trying to keep the patient comfortable the doctor prescribes paraldehyde or chloral hydrate for restlessness, Chlorpromazine and opiates to control pain. Barbiturates and alcohols are bad because they often induce attacks.

I wish I knew of something specific that would help. But the job now with your grandson is to keep him comfortable, and hope that investigators can come up with some thing that will cure as well as alleviate the condition.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have been interested in your columns on plastic surgery. I, too, agree that a woman (or man) should have surgery to correct nature's fault. In answer to an unattractive nose problem many women say, "If God wanted me to have this, that or the other, he would have given it to me in the first place".

Yet these same women wear foundation garments, lipstick, eyebrow pencil or plucked eyebrows, etc. etc.

Amusing, isn't it?—Miss C.

Comment: Before your time I recall a cosmetic newsbrown radio program used to say, "Taint funny, McGee." At least, not for the one who has to make the decision for or against plastic surgery.

THRIVES ON ONIONS

This is in reply to Mr. O. of Chicago who wrote recently that people should steer clear of raw onions. He wrote: "You never see a worm in a raw onion. Even worms know what's bad for them".

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Mr. O. is so right. We never see worms, flies or other pests in or on onions, thus no need to spray them with D.D.T., etc., and for your information, Mr. O., all raw onions, but especially the green stems which most people discard, are the best brooms which sweep away all kinds of bugs out of your body.

I do not remember what a headache or a cold feel like not a gray hair. When I had my very first checkup not long ago, the doctor could find nothing wrong and said that I was wasting his time.

Oh, yes. I eat all my vitamins first hand. I do not let the ox eat them first, then eat the ox. I take raw fruits and vegetables, and some canned. All kinds of nuts and seeds, etc.

I have no worries. I envy no one. I get along on a small pension. Have no TV, only a small radio. I read a lot and walk from four to six miles a day, go to bed early and get up early. Many friends but no chums. I live alone and like it. And like my onions.—Raq nwiltbestgEi:d - aa -abqh

Happy Young Oldster Getting close to 70.

Comment: Did I hear you say: Onions—new wonder vegetable? They can't be that good!

TRAINING A DOG TO "HEEL" ON COMMAND

"HEEL" MEANS A PARTICULAR POSITION FOR THE DOG. HIS NOSE MUST NOT BE AHEAD OF YOUR LEFT KNEE. WITHOUT A LEASH, EXAMINE A DOG'S SURGE AHEAD IF NOT TAUGHT SO.

SOME TRAINERS USE A CHECK CORD OR CLOTHESLINE AS ABOVE OR A CHECK COLLAR WITH A LEASH. WALK THE DOG DAILY, TAKING A SHORTLY OLD EACH DAY UNTIL HIS NOSE IS EVEN WITH YOUR KNEE. IF HE SURGES AHEAD, PULL BACK SAYING "HEEL!" UNTIL HE LEARNS.

The Northeast CORNER

by "the observer"

I am going to attempt today a very short outline of the life of a man who without doubt the most extraordinary man and politician who ever appeared upon the stage of Canadian history.

Although not born to what might be called poor parents, nevertheless he was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth and it was made by his native ability and original genius that he was able to climb to the top of the ladder in our early Canadian politics. His name was John Alexander McDonald, or as he is so lovingly and affectionately called simply John A. His father was Hugh McDonald and he was a native of Dornoch. Dornoch was a small town away in the north of Scotland but as Hugh grew to manhood the lure of the big cities attracted him and he moved to Glasgow and set up in business with a partner as a manufacturer of cottons. In this venture he did not fare very well, and eventually he failed in business. He then attempted a new and similar enterprise on his own but his success was no better and finally he decided to emigrate to America. In the early summer of 1820 he set sail for Canada and on July 17th he and his wife Helen and their four children arrived at Kingston.

Hugh's wife had a friend living in Kingston by the name of McPherson and on their arrival they were made very welcome in the McPherson home. In those days Kingston was a thriving military town and it was the capital of what was then known as the Midland District. The Midland district was made up of Frontenac, Lennox and Addington, Prince Edward and Hastings. These counties were meaningfully well populated and for those times fairly prosperous. They also contained several villages such as Bath, Ameliasburgh, Adolphustown, Hallowell, Napanee and Belleville and these villages all looked to Kingston as their capital. Here in Kingston in October 18th, 1820, he opened his first shop.

As was the custom of the times, they lived above the shop and of the five children born to them only three survived the tragic diseases of childhood. William the oldest died in infancy before they left Scotland, and their second boy James died as a result of a blow from a man who worked for them. The next was Margaret, for short called "Moll" and John Alexander and Louisa, or "Lou".

John Alexander was born January 11th, 1815 in Glasgow and he was only five and a half years when he was brought to Canada. He had his mother's prominent nose, her generous mouth and her wide set dark eyes, and he also had a copious crop of dark, curly almost frizzy hair. He was a rather quiet, thoughtful small boy and yet full of fun and mischief. In the meantime, things were not going so well for Hugh. The shop did not prosper so he changed to a new location but his luck did not change.

Next he thought of moving farther west and set up as a farmer but in the end he moved to Hay Bay and opened his third shop. But alas in these pleasant surroundings and in a very short time the third shop failed. Now what is now called Glenora and The Lake on the Mountain he took over the "Stone Mills".

This was his last major investment. It was a grist mill where he also carried on the carding of wool and the fulling, dyeing and dressing of cloth. The mills was never more than a mediocre success but at least for a number of years it avoided failure and through the agreeable landscape John Alexander and his sisters rambled happily through the beautiful summer time.

At about the age of nine John Alexander had started to school in Kingston. These would be private schools or perhaps the district grammar school but in those days the Education System in Ontario was a very mediocre affair and it was not for some 25 years until Egerton Ryerson appeared, that teaching and education in general took on an organized appearance.

However as the year 1839 drew to a close John Alexander was nearly fifteen and gave every indication of being a good student. It would however be another ten years before Kings College or Queen's College would open their doors and there was still no formal instruction in law in the Province.

For a student wishing to be come a lawyer, the Law Society of Upper Canada gave him an examination at the beginning and then he had to article himself to some practising lawyer for both practical and theoretical training. At the end of his probation four years he was given another examinations and then he was admitted to the Bar.

John Alexander was articled to George MacKenzie, a young Scottish lawyer, there practising in Kingston. He would have to journey to York, now Toronto to take his Examinations at the beginning of his term and at the end of his training in four years more he would have to make another trip to York for his final test by the Upper Canada Law Society. If successful in this test he could then hang out his shingle and announce to the world that he was in business as a lawyer.

He has now come to the point where he has completed his training and has passed all his examinations and now he is ready to start practising law. In the autumn of this year 1832, MacKenzie decided to open up a branch in Napanee and John Alexander McDonald was chosen as the one who was to be the manager. He was only seventeen years of age and this new appointment gave him more responsibility and more independence.

He is now starting a new phase of his career and we will follow on from here in my next letter.

Round-up of Fun

PUZZLES and PASTIMES

It's Your Move

JUST a few moves are left in this checker contest—the crucial moves—those that will win or lose the game. The test is this: White checkers, moving up the board, to move first and win in four turns.

The solution is given below.

Dotograph Test for Jr. Readers

RIDE 'em cowboy! To see the steed the young bear above is riding simply draw a line from dot 1 to dot 2 to dot 3, etc. to dot 16. Clue: It's a sure-footed animal, but often balky. Afterwards, you may wish to add colors to the scene.

Fun at the Circus

WHEN the circus came to town, 113 women, 48 men and 64 children went through the turnstile. The gross proceeds from books, tents, and ring amounted to $281.52. The clown, who also had a taste for statistics, later discovered that every seven women spent, on an average, as much as every six men, and every four children, as much as each woman. Can you calculate how much each group spent?

Answer: The members are women, men and children.

It's a Trick Question

HAND about a dozen matches to a friend and ask him to place two numbers of matches upon the table, which, on being multiplied together, will make seven. No matches may be broken. The two numbers are 1 and 7, which few will think of immediately.

Of course, any odd number ending in 1 and 11 would be equally applicable, except 9.

Missing Numbers

THE difference between two consecutive odd numbers is, of course, two. The sum of the squares of these two numbers is 650. How quickly can you identify the two numbers?

Answer: The numbers are 19 and 17.

Floors, Please

AN ELEVATOR operator dreamed that he had ascended to the top of an old-storied building by going up four stories and coming down three. He continued on this erratic course until he finally reached the top where he calculated that he had risen altogether 36 stories. How many stories are in the building?

Answer: Thirteen, on the assumption that there are no basements.

No Act'n Deal

A SECOND-HAND car dealer was offered a check of $250 in payment for a car for which he asked $165.00. As he was short of cash, he borrowed it from the owner of the gas station in the same lot. Returning to his customer, he gave him the $85.00 change and let him drive the car away.

A few days later, the bank on which the check was made out returned it marked "No account," making a charge of $10.50 as a protest fee. The owner of the gas station, of course, asked the car dealer to make up the amount borrowed. And the latter borrowed $150 from another acquaintance. If the car in question had cost the dealer $97.50 in the first place, can you say what was the full cost of money he lost during the ensuing transaction?

Answer: $150 borrowed from the gas station owner, plus $10.50 protest fee, plus $85.00 change, equals $245.50. Deduct the original $97.50 cost of the car, and it leaves $148.

Restore the Old Chain?

HERE'S an oldie that's always fun to solve! Members of an archeological expedition dug up nine segments of an ancient anchor chain. Wishing to restore it to one piece they took the segments to a blacksmith. After carefully studying the separate links, and mentally pondering the problem, the blacksmith began to work. It required five minutes of his time to open a link and ten minutes to weld a link together again. What was the least time in which he could complete the job of joining the nine segments into one chain of 50 links?

Remember, it takes five minutes to open a link and ten minutes to close one. Facetiously, with the information given above you should be able to forge ahead.

Answer: One hour is the least in which the nine segments of the chain can be joined together.

CAN YOU LINE THIS UP?

STARTING with the figure 7, draw 13 straight lines that go through EVERY number shown. The second must start where the first ends, etc. Any direction may be taken, provided the line is straight. Lines may be crossed but not drawn over twice. The last line must end with 7.

Now you see them, now you don't! The stage is set for action in Color-by-Number Fun Land, above, but not for all the players presently on the scene. To reveal the principals and ring down the curtain on those who should be winging in the wings, simply add colors according to these number indicators: 1—Yellow, 2—Red, 3—Blue, 4—Orange, 5—Green, 6—Violet, 7—Black, 8—Brown, 9—Pink. Use red lightly for pink, if need be.

Oh yes, about the scenario—it's nothing much, just a familiar episode in which the male (or is it female?) lead gets the run-around.

Apply colors neatly, of course; try to keep them from spilling over into adjacent areas.

Wheeler-Dealer?

HOW quickly can you compute the total number of wheels in a four-wheel wagon pulling a two-wheel trailer loaded with 11 tricycles and two bicycles? Ready, go . . .

Answer: Forty-three wheels in all.

Long and the Short of It

A TEN-INCH candle and a 7½-inch candle are lighted at the same time. The taller candle is three-quarters of an inch in diameter; the shorter candle is an inch and a half in diameter. If the rate of burning of these candles is inversely proportional to the area of their bases, how fall will they be when they are each the same height?

Answer: Four inches in all.

Wanna Bet??

UNLESS you are an exceptional person, you cannot—1. Stand for five minutes without moving while blindfolded. 2. Sit squarely in a chair and rise from it without bending your body forward or pulling back your feet. 3. Stand with both your heels against a wall and pick up something from the floor.

GREAT BOOKS X-WORD

Listen, World!

By Eugene Shefter

PHRASES now in common speech testify how widely persons have listened to, and perhaps been influenced by, certain men and women. Can you supply what's omitted here in a quotation from the past?

"There is nothing so powerful as ——; and of nothing so strange."

—Daniel Webster

Answer: Truth; truth is stranger than fiction.

Mini-Test

EIGHTY-seven minutes ago it was an hour and a half before midnight. What time is it now?

Answer: 10 P.M.

ANSWER, PLEASE

PERHAPS you are from Missouri, the Show-Me State, but can you identify the French king for whom the city of St. Louis was named?

Answer: Louis IX.

USE YOUR WITS and eyes to find a single error of factual circumstance in both drawings above, and then look for six differences in detail between Exhibit A and Exhibit B. Solution at right.

Who's it? PLAY'S THE THING IN COLOR

HE WAS AN Italian navigator in English employ. He sailed west in 1497 in search of a new route to the East. But he landed upon the mainland of North America, thus establishing an English claim to the new world. On a second expedition in 1498 he explored from Labrador to Chesapeake Bay. He died that same year. Who?

Answer: Sebastian Cabot.

EMO Report

active, but they can be harmful in other ways.

Gamma rays are the major source of external hazard. With sufficient intensity and for a long enough time, they can cause radiation sickness and death. But protection is possible. Placing heavy material such as concrete, earth or lead between the radiation and yourself reduces radiation. Placing distance between radiation and yourself reduces its effectiveness. The most significant reducing factor is decay. If the radiation rate at the hour of explosion is a lethal 3,000 roentgens per hour, it will drop seven hours later, through decay, to 300 r/p.h. Forty-nine hours later it will be down to 30 r/p.h. Two weeks later: 3 r/p.h. The decrease continues at this rate. By taking shelter you can stay alive until decay bring radiation down to livable levels.

Another fallacy is that the contamination of clothes and skin by radioactive dust is a death sentence. The small amount of dust which would cover such a small area would have to remain there a long time to be dangerous. By discarding dust covered clothes, by washing skin and hair, by whisking and vacuuming, this danger can be removed. Far more hazardous are the large quantities of dust clinging to streets, houses, automobiles, and other objects, concentrated and, at first lethal.

"But you have to breathe. Won't radioactive dust enter your lungs?" — is a common question at fallout shelter demonstrations. It will, but scientists say that early fallout particles are too large to be absorbed by the lungs. Danger from inhalation is considered small.

Beta radiation — also emitted by the dust — are different from gamma radiations. Unlike gamma, they cannot harm you greatly from the outside. They are stopped by a few feet of air, layers of clothing and outer layers of skin. Beta rays from dust left too long on the skin will cause a redness and eventual ulceration (often misconstrued as "burns"). But the real danger from beta is internal. If radioactive dust enters the body through wounds or through contaminated food or water, lethal disease may be caused by beta radiations many months or years later.

A knowledge of these facts about fallout can go a long way to dispel both exaggerated pessimism or unrealistic complacency, authorities say. Certainly it would offset the fatalistic approach exemplified by a famous novel and motion picture which portrays a whole population meekly accepting death by radiation without making any effort to survive.

"Education of the public about these facts is one of our most pressing tasks", says Dr. Hardman. "The facts themselves are serious enough as they stand. Confusion and exaggeration only add to the problem".

Softball solid for lights in Lindsay

The prospects of lights for softball, soccer, and minor baseball in the George Street Park became a little brighter Friday in spite of the fog.

Members of the Lindsay Recreation Commission at their January meeting Thursday night expressed the opinion that they would like to see some definite organization and program plans for the Lindsay Men's Softball and other organizations who might use the floodlight facilities before putting the $10,000 plus item in their 1965 budget.

Speaking with Lindsay Men's Softball president Friday "The Post" learned that a new and well experienced executive for the Men's Softball is in the making. "Although last year's final game may not have been good for softball in general", stated the 1964 president, "it did bring some of the old-timers to the rescue, and several former players offered their services for the 1965 executive." Walter Stewart said he would call a meeting to elect a new executive in the near future and definite plans and commitments would be available by the end of the month.

Recreation Director Harry Johnson indicated that the commission will call a meeting of all parties interested in park lights later this month.

Along the MAIN STREET

Pedestrians were heard to complain Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday regarding several patches of snow and ice on certain parts of the main street where Merchants failed to clear away the snow which fell in huge quantities last Saturday. It is reported that one merchant who operates a couple of places, never cleans the front walk after any storm. The wonder is that no fractured bones have been reported.

However, the loudest holler during the past three days has been from residential citizens who claim that something should be done to eliminate the manner in which the town snow plows shove snow off the paved roads and block private driveways. One irate citizen states that he has dug out his driveway three times and every time he returns home he has been unable to get into his private driveway.

It is suggested the Welfare department might assign two or three men on the receiving list to follow the snow plow and shovel out private driveways snowed in by the plow. Several church-going people complained the snow plow should have been out very early on Sunday morning. These complaints came from citizens who found it difficult to navigate on Sunday morning.

In the early nineteen-hundreds, Lindsay Junior Midgets suffered defeat in the hands of a fast moving hockey team from Port Hope. It was recalled a day or two ago that the late Alfred Gamble whose funeral took place at Dunsford, Monday, was a goalie for the Ontario Hockey Association championship. Later Mr. Gamble moved to Lindsay and was engaged as a plumber with the firm of Boxall and Mathie. For some time he played as a goalie with Lindsay teams. The late Alfred Gamble leaves one son Laird Gamble to mourn his passing.

If it is true that one of the out-of-town theatrical attractions coming to the Academy Theatre will present a number of satirical skits regarding such recognized statesmen as the late Major General Sir Sam Hughes and former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, then it is not altogether unlikely that some in the audience may walk out to show their disapproval. This may be the special privilege of members of the Sir Sam Hughes Royal Canadian Legion branch at Lindsay. It was stated by one Lindsayite: "Although Sir Sam Hughes had his faults (and what statesman hasn't), he is also recognized to have been one of Canada's greatest statesmen, especially for the magnificent task performed as Minister of Militia in connection with sending the first Canadian Expeditionary Force to World War One. He also served Lindsay and district well when he established the Canadian Arsenal here, as well as the Lindsay Armoury."

Continuing this citizen also added: "If this theatrical troop uses a skit regarding John Diefenbaker, then there should also be a similar skit regarding Lester Pearson.

ON RAISING CHILDREN . . .

Patrick McCormack of UPI

New York (UPI) — Puppets, preferably the homemade type, rank as the pre-school child's best friend.

Talking through a puppet can help a shy child find his tongue at a time he's speechless.

Making the puppet say things also helps children with speech defects to perform their exercises in oral communication.

And the child with neither of these problems finds it convenient to let the puppet do the talking when they can't speak for themselves.

Sister Olivia, president of St. Xavier's college in Chicago, maintains the reason puppets work such wonders is this:

"If there's a mistake, it's the puppet's — not the child's."

Puppets are used extensively in the unique art in education course at the college. It's unusual because the pre-schoolers teach the teachers.

One of the pint-sized "teachers" in a recent demonstration at St. Xavier's picked up his puppet when a stranger asked — "when did you lose your tooth, John?"

The stranger repeated the question, this time addressing the puppet.

"Came out last summer," the puppet answered.

Another question: "How much did you get for it?"

"Ten cents," the puppet said.

"Put it under the pillow," the stranger asked.

"Yup," the puppet answered.

The puppet that John, 6, used was one he made himself.

Most pre-schoolers can make their own the same way, with a little help from mom or dad.

He formed the head with bits of paper and paste over a balloon. Later he popped the balloon and the head retained its shape.

With paint for the face, yarn for hair and cloth body, the puppet was ready to laugh, cry, and do everything that the child ordered.

The small fry teach the teachers in other ways in the college classroom, sister Olivia reported. They build and make all sorts of things. The real teachers sit in an outer circle and diligently make notes, watching how the children react to working with paints, string, wire, paper.

Then they use these techniques in teaching history, math, geography and all sorts of subjects.

The college, noted for pioneering the ungraded system and other new educational concepts, believes participating art solves one of the toughest problems any teacher faces — Communication.

Lack of communication is particularly a problem in the primary grades.

"The child is beginning to learn reading and writing, but even before he does, he can communicate through art," sister Olivia said.

Geography, for example, becomes clearer if children make a relief map from plaster or build one from coloured paper.

The course for fledging teachers also stresses ways to improvise art materials in absence of purchased supplies.

The inventive child can do the same thing around the house, using string corrugated boxes, paper bags, coat hangers, salt, starch, egg cartons, straws, burlap.

What happens when the child learns through art: an increase in understanding and a perpetuation of his memory of the lesson.

The children who build a castle out of a box, for example, and then study medieval Europe do better than the children who study the subject from a book alone.

"Go to an underprivilieged neighborhood where even crayons aren't available," sister Olivia said. "You will see just how creative children are.

"Get any child a nice electric train and he'll play with the box. He wants to create for himself — not just sit back and watch."

New plant for Union Carbide

Toronto (UPI) — Nova Scotia's economy, expected to make a dramatic advance this year with the building of several new plants got another boost today when Union Carbide Canada Ltd., announced plans to build a polyethylene film extrusion and converting plant in Amherst.

Carbide President A.A. Cumming said the company had purchased a seven-acre plot in a new industrial area close to rail and highway services.

Cumming said the plant building was still on the drawing boards but that construction might begin late this year or early in 1966.

Union Carbide, with headquarters in Toronto, is Canada's largest producer of polyethylene resins, compounds, film and packaging materials and also one of the country's primary producers of chemicals, plastics, gases, metals and carbon. It operates nine plants from coast to coast.

Gooderham

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walls; Ricky; Randy and Bonnie have taken up residence in Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Smitzer had the misfortune to lose their home by fire on Tuesday, December 15th. They have moved into the village and are occupying one of Mr. Barr's houses.

FOUR KILLED, 110 INJURED SURVEY SHOWS

Four people were killed and 110 injured in accidents in the Lindsay area, excluding the town, the OPP traffic report for 1964 revealed. The report showed 342 motor vehicle accidents investigated during the year and 696 charges were laid for traffic offences.

The report showed 95 careless driving charges, eight dangerous driving, one criminal negligence, eight charges of drunk driving and 19 were charged for driving while their ability was impaired.

Production machinery sales tax "onerous" — calls for repeal

Scouts and cubs of Lindsay (top photo) wrestled with discarded Christmas trees, large and small, Saturday to get them to a site near the river at the end of Durham Street where they were burned. A cub of the 2nd Lindsay pack, below, Terry Begley, is silhouetted against the warming glow of the bonfire of Christmas trees.

Tax "absurd and iniquitous" claims C.M.A. president

Toronto, (UPI) — Canadian Manufacturers' Association President A. A. Cumming today called for a repeal of the "Onerous, absurd and iniquitous" sales tax on production machinery and equipment.

In a speech to the Canadian club Cumming said the "thoroughly bad tax" which came into full effect 10 days ago after two stages, saddled producers with added costs "at a time when world competition is as fierce as it has ever been."

He said the 11 per cent impost resulted in "pyramiding taxation with a vengence" because the manufacturers had to pay the same tax again on the sale price of the article itself.

"The whole result is to nulify much of the cost savings which manufacturers have been able to affect in other areas of their operations," Cumming said.

He said the competitive consequences of the tax may be more severe than expected and said it must be repealed immediately if Canada was to have any hope of holding its own as one of the world's leading industrial nations.

Cumming, president of Union Carbide Canada Ltd. also called for corporate and personal income tax cuts in finance minister Walter Gordon's 1965 budget.

"The weight of evidence points to new gains, new advances and more growth in the year ahead, he said but predicted a slowdown in the rate of economic increase toward the end of the year.

Cumming said recent tax cuts in the United States would mean a change in the balance of competitive advantages between producers on either side of the border. Unless Canada duplicates the U.S. tax cuts, he forecast Canada would not be able to stand up against competition from south of the border.

"If ever there was a time for giving back to both corporations and individuals some of their own money, it is now," he said. "The most powerful single argument in favour of lowering tax rates is the favourable impact it would have on the outlook for job opportunities in the years immediately ahead.

"It is we in manufacturing who are going to have to provide a major share of the necessary jobs and we can only do so if we have the means and the incentive to do so" Cumming said.

He called on Ottawa to foster population growth and boosting consumer purchasing power by attracting a greater number of skilled immigrants and cutting taxes.

"Let us continue to have national policies which reflect this fundamental truth in the certain knowledge that to build industry is to build Canada," Cumming said.

One "All About Us" star never takes a bow!

In a different Canadian community each night for five months of the 1964-65 theatrical season six outstanding performers receive a rain of applause when the curtain falls on the final scenes of Canadian Players' hit touring production "All About Us", which will be in Lindsay on Friday, February 5th, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Lindsay.

But there are actually seven stars in the show. Unlike the others, the seventh never has the spotlight focussed on him during the two and a quarter hour performance. Nor does he take a curtain call. Yet he is the first to begin performing and the last to heard by the audience. In fact, without him the play would not be a show. The performer in question is non other than the one-man band of the production — a young and extraordinarily talented Toronto pianist Charels Mountford.

Although barely 21, Mr. Mountford already has had his own professional dance band, has headed two Toronto trios and worked with many illustrious performers in a number of Toronto best known night spots. His stint with the Players is his first venture with a theatrical company and he "loves every minute of it".

FURTHER REMAND

Gordon Grant Pogue, 35, of Bobcaygeon was granted an additional remand for one week when the Crown was told of more charges being laid against the man. Mr. Pogue had eight charges against him when he was granted a remand on January 4.

Youth found asleep in car with motor running — jailed

A Lindsay youth, Joseph Collins, 18, of 80 Melbourne Street East was sentenced to seven days in jail after he was convicted in Lindsay Police Court Monday of having the care and control of an automobile while intoxicated.

Lindsay Police Constable Douglas Thompson said the youth's employer said the boy was "feeling pretty good" when he left his place of employment New Year's Eve.

When Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan asked why his boss didn't stop him drinking, Constable Thompson replied, "he wasn't feeling any pain either."

Constable Thompson said the accused was picked up when he was found asleep in the front seat of a car which was parked on Albert Street South with the lights on and the motor running. He said he the right front wheel was touching the curb but the rear of the vehicle was on the centre of the road. The constable said he and another constable helped the accused out of the car but the accused couldn't stand up. He said the accused became belligerent-yelling and swearing. He described the accused's legs as being "like rubber" when the two officers tried to make the youth stand up.

The accused was sent to jail and his driver's license was suspended for one year.

Lindsay council Inaugural meeting

The Inaugural meeting of the town of Lindsay will be held this evening in the Council Chambers. Following the Invocation Prayer, the clerk's report on the Declaration of Office will be read followed by the presentation of the Mayor's chain of office by Lindsay Lodge No. 100, I.O.O.F.

Following the mayor's inaugural address, committee chairmen will be appointed for the coming year. Special guests from the audience will be invited to address the council.

The meeting will then be adjourned until Tuesday evening when council business will be attended to, including the appointments to various Committees and of members to various Boards. The third reading to authorize Biennial elections will also be made.

Merchants must play tonight

Aurora Tigers and Lindsay Merchants will have to play as scheduled at the Kiwanis Arena Tonight at 8:30 p.m. After two months of negotiations the Tigers flately refused to change the date that rightly belonged to Minor Hockey. This gave the Merchants only twenty-four hours notice for tonight's game.

Bobcaygeon and Verulam hold inaugural meets

This morning, Bobcaygeon and Verulam councils held a joint inaugural meeting at Bobcaygeon. Former Warden Roy Bottum administered the oath of allegiance and declaration of office and Rev. George Meads of the Anglican Church gave the Invocation prayer and message.

Sworn in to Verulam council were Reeve William Fulton, deputy-reeve William Knox and councillors Lloyd Bick, Wallace Thurston and Hubert Meecham.

Sworn in to Bobcaygeon council were Reeve Hilliard Murphy, councillors Percy Nichols, Ross Poole, Edward Shea and Robert Thompson.

$500 DAMAGE

Damage of $500 resulted when a car driven by Arthur Switzer of Coboconk went out of control on County Road 8, one-and-a-half miles east of Glenarm and crashed into a telephone pole at 8:35 p.m. Saturday, Lindsay OPP said.

Police said no inj ries resulted.

MONDAY, JANUARY 11TH, 1965

Sir John A.

Today marks the 150th anniversary of the birth of Sir John A. Macdonald, the architect of Canadian Confederation and Canada's first and possibly greatest prime minister. The occasion will be marked today in Kingston by a reception and banquet attended by leaders of various political and racial elements.

Some of the comments Sir John A. made over a hundred years ago bear repeating today. "The prosperity of Canada depends upon its permanent connection with the mother country . . . .", he said. "I shall resist to the utmost any attempt, from whatever quarter it may come, which may tend to weaken that union."

And commenting on the flag, Sir John A. commented, "To you Canadians I appeal, and I ask you what have you to gain by surrendering that which your fathers held most dear? Under the broad folds of the Union Jack, we enjoy the most ample liberty to govern ourselves as we please, and at the same time we participate in the advantages which flow from association with the mightiest empire the world has ever seen . . . As for myself, my course is clear. A British subject I was born; a British subject I will die."

Today, 150 years after Sir John's birth, forces are still at work attempting to erode away our British traditions. Already the flag has been replaced by a leaf, and, some agitation is being heard for abolition of the monarchy and the creation of a republic.

If we are not faithful to our past, we are unlikely to enjoy our future. The spectre of annexation by the United States still looms over the country of Canada and should this ever come about, much of Canada will likely become a poverty-stricken area, its natural resources exploited for the benefit of the industrial giant to our south.

Ski Club

A splendid crowd of enthusiasts and would-be skiers attended an organizational meeting in the council chamber of the town hall last night and following the meeting saw several motion picture reels of various ski events held by the Peterborough club.

Jerry Duffus, assistant chairman for the eastern zone of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, of Peterborough addressed the meeting and conducted the election of officers. Jack Holland, ski instructor of the Peterborough Club, was present and gave a short instructive talk on various ski equipment required and the most satisfactory type for the individual.

The election of officers resulted as follows; President, J. E. Anderson, K.C.; Vice-President, Lloyd A. Flack; Secretary-Treasurer, Leo Begley; Directors: C. Strachan, Ted Brennan, rectors: C. Strachan, Ted Brennan, and Grant Whittaker.

Fire drinking police

Liquor and administration of justice don't mix any more than liquor and gasoline.

So says Attorney-General Gordon D. Conant in reply to an insinuation that provincial police officers, who are supposed to enforce the law of the province, drink themselves.

"We have no control over a man's habits or private affairs, but, if he thinks more of his drinking than of his job, he can't continue on duty in the administration of justice.

Raid

Britain was intrigued today by the question of what airplanes raided and bombed the German North Sea Naval base on the Island of Sylit yesterday.

Action against hockey

Hockey and roughness, and obscene and blasphemous language is strictly prohibited on the civic rink on Victoria Park, and in future those who indulge in these practices will be dealt with by the authorities.

This course of action was decided on at the council meeting this morning, after the members had listened to complaints and protests.

Fire Chief Bell said hockey playing on the rink had become a nuisance. Big as well as little indulged in the game, and young children had been injured. He asked the council to take some action.

Deputy-Reeve Smale said the unanimous decision of last year's council was, when it was decided to build the rink, that no hockey be permitted on the ice.

Alderman W. E. Baker said it had been suggested that boards and wire netting be used to divide the ice for skaters and hockyists. Perhaps the space was too small.

Reeve Jordan strongly condemned the blasphemous and obscene language used by some skaters, and insisted that this be immediately stopped.

Prominence

According to military orders, which are as yet incomplete, several officers of the 45th Regiment will fill positions of prominence with the Third Contingent. Their appointments will be published at an early date.

"I'm Damned If I See It"

by "the observer"

On 25th January 1759, there arrived at the humble home of William and Agnes Burns, a wee baby that was to be Christened, Robert Burns. He announced himself just like any other baby by making a few baby squeaks, but these squeaks were like music to the parents for he was their first born. The place of his birth was near Ayr on the west coast of Scotland and the place has been made a shrine and is kept today in the humble state that it was two hundred and five years ago. The Government has added a museum in which are displayed many of the poems as Robert originally wrote them along with his love-letters and correspondence. Alloway Kirk is only a short distance from Ayr and of course everyone has read the poem Tam O' Shanter and how the old mare Meg had outdistanced all the witches across the Doon. A couple of years ago I had the privilege of standing on the old brig of Doon and recalling the story told so well by Burns.

When chapman billies leave the street
And droughty neighbors neighbors meet,
As market days are wearing late,
An' folks begin to tak' the gate;
While we sit bousing at the nappy
An getting fou and unco happy
We think no on the lang Scots miles,
The mosses, waters, slopes and styles,
That lie between us and our dame
Where sits our sulky sullen dame,
Gathering her brows like gathering storm,
Nursing her wrath to keep it warm.

This truth fand honest Tam O' Shanter,
As he frae Ayr ae night did canter—
Auld Ayr, wham ne'er a town surpasses
For honest men and bonnie lasses.

A Tam, hadst thou but been sae wise
As ta'en they ain wife Kate's advice!
She tauld thee weel thou was a skellerin,
A bletherin', blusterin', drunken bellerin,
That frae November till October
Ae market day thou was na sober,

The western coast of Scotland is a very rough unproductive place with high rocky hills, and valleys and streams and just such a place that appealed to Burns in his songs and verses take Afton Water:

Flow gently, sweet Afton, among thy green braes!
Flow gently, I'll sing the a song in thy praise;
My Mary's asleep by thy murmuring stream,
Flow gently, sweet Afton, disturb not her dream.

Thou stock-dove whose echo resounds thro' the glen,
Ye wild whistling blackbirds in yon thorny den,
Thou green-crested lapwing thy screaming forbear,
I charge you disturb not my slumbering fair.

How lofty, sweet Afton, thy neighbouring hills,
Far marked with the course of clear, winding rills;
There daily I wander as noon rises high,
My flocks and my Mary's sweet cot in my eye.

—0—

And take again the first verse of "A Man's a Man for A' That"

Is there, for honest poverty,
That hangs his head and a' that?
The coward slave, we pass him by,
We dare be poor for a' that,
For a' that and a' that,
Our toils obscure an a' that,
The rank is but the guinea's stamp;
The man's the gowd for a' that.

An one more "The Farewell" to the brethren of St. James Lodge, Tarbolton and the last verse:

And you, farewell! whose merit claim
Justly, that highest badge to wear!
Heaven bless your honoured noble name,
To Masonry and Scotia dear!
A last request permit me here;
When yearly ye assemble a', —
One round, I ask it with a tear,
To him, the Bard that's far awa'.

In July 1796 at the age of 37 the great and gifted poet who will continue to be Scotland's pride passed to his eternal peace. In those 37 years he lived a whole life-span, and on the 25th of January 1965 we are honouring his name and memory at a banquet in St. Andrew's Sunday School hall at 6.30 p.m. We will have the Haggis and all the trimmings and we will have a gifted speaker, Lieut.-Col. Jack Anderson, Padre of Central Army Command, Oakville. Col. Anderson will tell us a lot about Burns and I feel certain he will be well worth hearing.

Under Man's Orders

"A great deal of nonsense about computers is talked by otherwise intelligent scientists and much confusion has arisen because of the need to use terms like 'thinking' and 'deciding' in describing what these man-designed and man-made machines do. But it is important to bear in mind that, in fact, they do not think or decide. They simply operate on the basis of a value which is put into the machine by the programmer. They can say what and when and how much, but unless initially the programmer gives them detailed instructions, they cannot operate at all." Sir Leon Bagrit.

Bright Planet

"Seen from the Moon, the Earth would be magnificent indeed. Its light would be much more brilliant than full moonlight at home, partly because the Earth would appear cosiderably larger in the lunar sky and partly because it is a better reflector of sunlight. Its albedo, or reflecting power, has been estimated as almost 40 per cent, which compares very favourably with the 7 per cent of the Moon."—Patrick Moore speaking in a BBC television programme on 'The Earth seen from Space.'

TIPS ON COOKING MEAT

Everyone is well aware that meat shrinks during cooking and this loss gives fewer servings for your money. But something can be done to prevent too much shrinkage according to food specialists at Macdonald Institute Food and Nutrition Department. First choose a high quality cut of meat without an excess of internal fat. This fat melts and is lost in cooking.

Then choose the correct oven temperature. Low temperatures produce roasts which are moist, tender and more appetizing. It has been proven that low oven temperatures require less fuel to roast meat than do high temperatures.

The idea temperatures for beef, veal, lamb and cured pork is 300 degrees F. (Poultry may be roasted at 325 degrees F.) Fresh pork must always be cooked at 350 degrees F.

Pork should always be well-done with no hint of pinkness showing. Veal, poultry and lamb also are best if well-done. Beef of course may be roasted to any of the stages: rare, medium or well-done.

A meat thermometer is the most satisfactory method of determining doneness. It should be inserted into the thickest part of the meat being roasted. These temperatures can be used as a guide to tell if the meat is cooked: rare beef - 150 degrees F.; medium beef - 160 degrees F.; Well-done beef - 176 degrees F.; cured pork and veal - 170 degrees F.; lamb - 180 degrees F.; fresh pork - 185 degrees F.; and poultry (in thigh) - 190 degrees F. Remember that meat continues cooking about 10 minutes after being taken from the oven. Allow meat to stand 15 minutes before slicing; it will "set" and carving will be much easier.

Removing Old Linoleum

When old linoleum is taken up in the kitchen, remove the remaining adhesive from the wooden floor by scrubbing with a strong, hot solution of sal soda concentrate — about a pound of the salt to the gallon of water. Let the solution work on the paste for an hour, then scrub again with a brush or scrape with a wide-bladed putty knife.

Economical Wood Stain

An excellent antique-like stain for pine wood is made of strong tea diluted with a little water. When dry, cover with two thin coats of fresh white shellac, and when that has dried, wax for a fine finish.

Sparkling Windows

Try this for sparkling, clean windows. Wash them with a cloth soaked in vinegar, then polish with a newspaper.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remedy a rug that has lost its stiffness

A. Get some sizing from a rug-supply dealer - This coming in powder or grain form, some kinds to be mixed with hot water, others with cold. To apply, turn the rug upside down on the floor, pour the sizing liberally out of a pot or saucepan, then spread around evenly with a broom. It will take about two days or so before the rug is dry enough to turn over again.

The Entertainment World

Toronto (UPI) — Moxie Whitney, Canada's best known band leader, who has garnered a lot of stars in his crown in the past 20 years, plans to add quite a few more.

Whitney, has set a record for longevity and popularity at the largest hotel in the commonwealth, the Royal York and now is eyeing the International scene.

He got a taste of it in 1961 when he went to Hawaii after the Toronto musicians Association asked him to pull his orchestra out of the strike-bound hotel.

Lured back to the hotel a year later after the strike ended, Whitney says he wants to be International. "I always want to have Canada as my base but I intend to travel to all parts of the world," he says.

The two most likely places are Nigeria and Grenada. Nigerian interests are opening three modern hotels and have asked him to go there with his band and train local talent.

"I'm also pretty interested in Grenada where a Canadian group is developing 400 acres with two hotels to attract tourists."

In both cases though, Whitney — darling of the well-heeled 40 to 60 year group — would stay only a few months and then come back to Canada where he has several pots boiling.

In addition to leading his 11 member orchestra six nights a week from 9 p.m. to 12.30 a.m. recording and running a talent agency, he is considering a coast-to-coast weekly TV program along the lines of Lawrence Welk, and delving into French music to reach the French-Canadian market.

Such activity to a certain extent compensates for his leisurely year at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel on Waikiki Beach.

"Hawaii was wonderful but I found I was getting a feeling of Lethargy although I am ambitious. I bought a house there and I used to sit in the backyard which was a real fruit grove and drink gin and pineapple juice before breakfast. I began to feel this was no way to live and about the same time the Royal York offered me a contract with the rights to book talent so I came back."

His return to his old stand two and one-half years ago was hailed in the Toronto entertainment pages. "Moxie's back," one headline said.

The hotel management, happy to be able to invite him back after the year-long strike, took the unusual step of giving him a five year contract.

Moxie now is in his 14th season with the hotel. He gives them the kind of music they want, like the two bandleaders he is most compared to — Guy Lombardo and Welk.

The Eastern Ontario Native — he was born between Prescott and Brockville — is used to long stands. He played at Banff Spring Hotel for 15 years before going to the Royal York.

The world of music that Moxie entered at the age of four has been good to him. He owns a house in Banff, another in Toronto's prestigious Rosedale district and a 66-acre "productive but not profitable" farm, 50 miles northeast of Toronto.

But he doesn't want his sons and daughters ranging downward from the age of 20 to follow musical careers.

"Too uncertain," he says.

TI-CATS WIN IN PACKED ARENA DOWN MERCHANTS 5-4 FRIDAY

Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats, after dropping their home game to the Merchants 10-4 last Wednesday, were trailing 4-0 in the second period Friday night at Lindsay, and bounced back with five unanswered goals to upset the Lindsay Merchants 5-4 before a packed house.

With every seat sold before game time, and an estimated 100 fans turned away, the Lindsay Merchants gained a 1-0 lead in the first period. With two goals, one minute apart, early in the second period, and another five minutes later, the Merchants appeared to have it made but the Ti-Cats proved otherwise. With Pat McCabe off for tripping the Cats started their comeback with two goals in 47 seconds before the second period was half over. Over 20 scoreless minutes followed during which Lindsay players served a major and two minor penalties and the Ti-Cats were on their second minor, when Len Grills cut Dale Junkin loose on a break-away pass. Junkin rounded the Lindsay defence and ripped a slap shot to the bottom corner that Randy Reid got a piece of but was unable to kick out. This goal put the Cats within one goal of the Merchants with seven and one half minutes left in the third period.

At 15:09 of the third period, Bill Horton was chased for high sticking and Ross Wray for roughing. Twenty five seconds later Pat McCabe joined the pair for holding. Playing five men against four the Ti-Cats put on the pressure keeping the Merchants in their own end of the ice. At the exact second that ended the pair penalty Bill Nichols scored the tying goal assisted by Ken Griffin and Ron Ingram. The goal also ended McCabe's penalty.

With possible victory within sight the Ti-Cats redoubled their efforts as they presented a solid defence against every Lindsay thrust. Finally at 18:03 Dale Junkin drew Reid out of position with a hard shot and Paul Grills banged home the rebound. The Merchants removed their goalie for a sixth attacker at 19:30 but to no avail although one Bobcaygeon clearing shot barely missed the empty cage before the game ended.

The win gave the Ti-Cats a solid hold on first place with 27 wins and two losses as of Friday night compared to 15 wins and four losses for the second place Merchants. Sunday night the Ti-Cats defeated the Twins at Sutton 7-4 to give the Cats a six point lead in first place. Other weekend scores saw Woodville tie the Chicks at Uxbridge 6-6 Friday night, and Little Britain Aces tied Newmarket 5-5 at Cannington Saturday night.

The Ti-Cats' win Friday night provided a decided boost for the Bobcaygeon Juniors who proved to be the best team in the final period when the chips were down. The departure of their scoring ace John Nicholls early in the second period may have spurred the Cats to their win for him, or in spite of his absence whichever the case might be. John played the first period with his wrist frozen. A second application between the first and second periods failed to 'take' and instead brought on illness forcing the big centre-man to retire from the game.

Rick Purdy opened the scoring for the Merchants at 14:08 of the first period. After going for what seemed like months without a goal in a home game, Rick grabbed the puck after Randy Reid had robbed two Ti-Cat attackers and spinted the length of the ice to beat Joe Junkin with a back hander. George Graham was 'Johnny-on-the-spot' for the second Lindsay goal at 2:42 of the second period. Gerry Heffernan took Horton's pass around the defence and tested Junkin at close range. The rebound went to Graham out front and he fired it home. One minute later Paul Yearwood cashed Bob Taylor's pass out for a 3-0 lead. and Gerry Heffernan battled in a loose puck after Junkin had turned back thrusts by Jim Scheffe and Mike Jackson at 7:54.

Scoring Summary

1st Period.

1. Lindsay - Purdy unassisted 4:08.

Penalties: Horton (charge) 0:49; Shearer (hold) 7:01; Shearer (knee) 11:03.

Penalties: Taylor (charge) major 13:27; Wray (holding) 19:48.

3rd Period.

7. Bobcaygeon - D. Junkin from Grills 12:36; 8. Bobcaygeon - B. Nichols from Griffin and Ingram 17:09; 9. Bobcaygeon - P. Grills from D. Junkin 18:03.

Penalties: R. McCabe (butt ending) 3:18; Morasse (interference) 5:04; Wray (hooking) 11:23; Horton (high stick) 15:09; Wray (roughing) 15:09; P. McCabe (hold) 15:34.

Referee — John Sullivan of Toronto; Linesmen - R. Lewis and E. Coombs of Lindsay.

The Bobcaygeon Lindsay game Friday night hung up the first sold-out sign of the season and was a stern reminder for those who have not purchased their subscriber tickets for the balance of the season and the play-offs. These tickets may be obtained at the Arena between 3:00 and 5:00 p.m. any day this week.

Minden

Miss Carolyn Coburn has returned after the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Coburn to another school term at Ontario Ladies College, Whitby.

The Minden Monarchs are to have a hockey team again this year in Intermediate league plays. Some players will be from Haliburton and several exhibition games will be played before they meet other teams in this league.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Biagi and family spent the holidays in Cincinnati.

"Opening doors" theme of Mission Circle meet

Mrs. H. M. Crown, President, opened her home for the January meeting of the Elizabeth Ryley Mission Circle of Cambridge Street Baptist church on Tuesday afternoon.

The hymns and devotional were apropos of the New Year season and a poem read by Mrs. Crown followed with prayer were also inspiring.

The theme of the devotional was "Opening Doors" and dealt with the opening of the door into the New Year of 1965. "Through this door in God's good providence, we are called to a new life of adventure, for we have not passed this way before."

Mrs. C. Suggitt prepared the paper which was used by Mrs. F. A. Reeds as part of the devotional period. The quotation of our late King George 6th was used viz. — And I said to a man who stood at the gate of the year. "Give me a light that I may tread safely into the unknown and he replied "Go out into the darkness and put your hands into the hand of God — that shall be to you better than a light and safer than a known way." Mrs. Suggett, Mrs. Soles and Mrs. Boadway read Scripture verses using the word "door" — John 10,9, Revelation 3:20; and 3: 8.

Mrs. Boadway offered prayer.

The third chapter of the Study Book was reviewed by Mrs. Suggitt and pertained to the "Revolt in Angola".

Mrs. M. Irvine, treasurer gave the annual report which was very gratifying.

The roll call was responded to by favourite Scripture texts.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. P. C. Reed with Mrs. Boadway taking the next chapter of the Study Book.

The hostess served refreshments and a pleasant half-hour was spent over the tea-cups.

Oakwood

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Webster left Saturday morning to spend the weekend with their daughter, Mrs. Ross Irwin and family Guelph enroute to their home in Osprey, Florida where they spend the winter months.

Are you one of the thousands of Canadians to get increased dividends again this year from Mutual Life?

Mr. James:
I'm happy to say I am.

Interviewer:
Did you know that this is the tenth time in the past twelve years that The Mutual Life has increased dividends?

Mr. James:
I haven't been keeping score—but I know Mutual Life's dividend record is tops.

Interviewer:
This year's dividends totalling $17,900,000 represent an increase of $1,400,000 over the amount paid in 1964. And the interest rate on accumulated dividends has been increased to 5%.

Mr. James:
You know, with earnings like that I might even consider increasing my coverage!

Interviewer:
It's a good idea to review your life insurance regularly to make sure it meets current needs. Just get in touch with your Mutual Life representative.

TREATMENT HELPS SUFFERERS OF PREMENSTRUAL SYDROME

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I hope you will get around soon to writing again about the premenstrual syndrome. I think I am a candidate for the club. For a few days every month before my period I am a Horrible Harriet. I'm looking for help. My doctor says he can. Mrs. D.

Comment: Before many of my reader-friends tag me as a Horrible Harry for using the term Horible Harriets in describing women who are at the mercy of their glands before their menses, let me raise my protective shield: many women who suffer from premenstrual tension realize how trying they are on their husband and children — and have used more severely descriptive phrases in identifying themselves.

I think the chief clue is that the normal sweet-tempered Sue has a complete reversal in temperment for a few days every month before her period. This should make her, and her doctor, suspicious of premenstrual tension. There are other symptoms: emotional, physical and mental. In some form or other, they affect from 50 to 90 per cent of menstruating women. One of the commonest signs is weight gain and bloating. (Clothes don't fit.)

The symptoms may affect social relations: cause resentment in husband, fear in children, and dismember long friendship relations. They may cause passionate outbursts with actual physical attacks on the innocent. They may reduce judgement on the job. The symptoms may arise in practically any part of the body: heart, lungs, stomach and intestines, kidneys, skin, etc.

MANY UNAWARE OF CAUSE

Such patients may come to their doctor completely unaware that the apparant trouble in the heart or lungs or skin is actually due to premenstrual tension. Likewise for an attack of sinusitis, severe headache, depression, acne or extreme weakness. Often, the condition aggravates already present disease like migraine, psoriasis, arthritis, epilepsy, asthma, psychoses.

As you can see, diagnosis is most important. Once on the wrong track, the patient suffers unnecessarily for years — and so do others associated with her.

In a study of 614 patients, Alice I. Macaulay, M.D., Clinic Director of Grasslands Hospital, Valhalla, N.Y., found that under treatment all symptoms disappeared in 41 per cent (252 patients). Results were good in 45 per cent (276 patients). Only fair in 8 per cent (49). Of no help in only 6 per cent (37).

Here were some of her results: Bloating and weight gain affected 100 per cent of the group (86 per cent improved). Irritability and or nervousness affected 180 per cent (72 per cent improved). Headache affected 43 per cent (82 per cent improved). Depression affected 12 per cent of the 614 patients. (75 per cent improved) Abnormal appetite or sleep pattern affected 10 per cent. (80 per cent of these improved.) Dysmenorrhea (painful menstruation) was relieved or reduced in 72 patients.

Treatment is prescribed to be taken from three to 10 days before expected menstruation. There is a choice, depending upon your own doctor's judgement: diuretics to remove excess fluid and control weight gain; tranquilizers and sedatives; stimulants such as coffee or amphetamine; hormones as indicated; psychotherapy.

I think, Mrs. D., that this "should give you the picture" and bring comfort to many other innocent sufferers.

Aurora Tigers here tonight refuse to change the date

Lindsay Merchants were notified last night about 8:00 p.m. that they would have to play Aurora Tigers at the Kiwanis Arena tonight as scheduled. Some two months ago when the Monday home date was first noticed, the O.H.A. and the Aurora Club were notified that the Lindsay Minor Hockey Association had the ice time booked on Monday evenings and two or three alternative dates were suggested.

As late as yesterday at 3:00 p.m. the game was off providing Aurora would agree to another date. Again a couple of alternative dates were offered but the Tigers refused to change the date. Finally the game was set for tonight at 8:30 p.m.

The Lindsay Merchants executive are very thankful to the Lindsay Minor Hockey Association and the Lindsay Arena for making schedule changes to accommodate the game at such short notice. This brings the stubborn Tigers against the mad Merchants tonight at 8:30 p.m.

FIREMEN CALLED TO FLY ENSIGN

Hamilton (UPI) — A fireman placed a Red Ensign atop the statue of Sir John A. Macdonald last night.

"We've been called out to pull a lot of flags down–especially during the recent flag debate–but this is the first time we have been called out to put one up", the fireman said.

The stunt was organized by members of Hamilton's Young Progressive Conservative club on the eve of Sir John's birthday.

The fireman was called when club members found they could not reach the statue without a ladder.

Earlier in the day, civic officials and other dignitaries laid wreaths at the statue located in downtown Hamilton.

Of course our bank likes to say Yes.

You see, we need the money.

Some of the revenue we earn comes from loans we make to people. So it's to our advantage to give every request for money much more thought. A little more understanding, too.

It could be money in The Bank, so to speak.

Another consideration: If we approve your loan you'll probably feel more inclined to do all your banking with us. Then we can really show you how truly helpful our complete banking services can be!

So do us both this one big favour.

Next time, see us for your money.

ON THE MAIN STREET

"Teddy" Ellison, a former CNR man, believes Lindsay should have a Senior Citizen's Club. Many towns and cities have special meeting places and fine programmes for these citizens, why not Lindsay?

Mr. Ellison is circulating a petition which he hopes will be signed extensively by citizens who are looking for an outlet for some energy, as well as a club where they can meet on a common level, play games, enjoy chit chat and a quiet smoke.

The petition will in time be presented to the town council for endorsement. In the meantime "Teddy" Ellison is scouting for a possible place for the proposed club to meet. Suggestions will be welcome, as well as new names for membership.

The trend towards manufacturing American motor cars in Canada, particularly the products of General Motors and Ford is increasing and the possibility of the cars selling for the same price in both countries is rapidly approaching.

This recalls the days when a firm in Chatham turned out the Grey Dort, when a former carriage works was transformed into a car plant. The first dealer in Lindsay to handle the Grey Dort was the late Jas A. Isaac, who ran a livery stable on York street south where the Claxton warehouse is located. Isaac was a good salesman and a number of Dort's rambled around the unpaved roads in this district. These were the days when cars were equipped with wooden wheels sometimes called artillery wheels, instead of the metal wheels of today.

A former Lindsay mayor, the late J. D. McLean operated a factory of Cambridge street, at the rear of the present billiard parlour operated by George McCombe. When the McLean factory, the Dominion Wheel Works started manufacturing wooden wheels on a large scale the firm was gradually squeezed out of production by the incoming of the steel car wheels. Former Mayor D. J. MacLean was for many years a member of the Lindsay Water Works board.

CORRECTION

In the locals column for Saturday an announcement for a trip to Toronto on a chartered bus for a shopping trip carried the wrong telephone number. The trip, to take place on Wednesday, January 20th, should have included the phone number 324-2900 instead of 28 printed. We apologize to the lady with the number erroneously printed for the frequent telephone calls she received.

Lindsay WI held Christmas party

The Christmas meeting of the Lindsay W.I. was held in the Town Hall in December and Mrs. Taylor the President welcomed three sister Institutes, Janetville, Kawartha Valley and Little Britain. After the usual opening exercises the minutes of last meeting were read by Mrs. Williams in the absence of Mrs. E. Davey. Mrs. S. Hutton gave the treasurer's and social report, after which all joined in singing Christmas carols with Mrs. J. Wheldon at the piano.

Much appreciated Christmas readings were given by Mrs. Staples and Mrs. McMullen from Janetville also Mrs. Fulton and Mrs. Augustus from Kawartha Valley. Mrs. Bruce Robertson sang a lovely solo accompanied by Mrs. Delmar Robertson. The meeting was closed with the singing of the Queen and Institute Grace.

Games were conducted by Mrs. L. Hutton and contests by Mrs. Lawrence and a monologue by Mrs. Randall of Lindsay. The exchange of Christmas gifts were distributed by Santa Claus with the assistance of Mrs. Lawrence. Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Preston welcomed the visiting ladies. A social time and lunch were enjoyed by all conveened by Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Preston and helpers.

Ontario featured in educational U.S. comic book

Dayton, Ohio — The Province of Ontario is featured in the current issue of "Treasure Chest" magazine, now being distributed to grade and junior high school students in Canada and the United States.

Entitled "Ontario–Heart of Canada", it takes the young readers on a tour of the Province and points up its position as the Dominion's leader in manufacturing, culture, and politics, and as a leading world supplier of nickel.

It is one in a series on Canada's provinces and territories being featured in alternate issues of this biweekly magazine published by Geo. O. Pflaum, Publisher, Inc., producer of educational materials.

Scripts for the series, "Canada–A Proud Nation and a Beautiful Country", were written by Robert A. Wischmeyer, Treasure Chest editor, with drawings by Reed Crandall, free-lance artist in Wichita, Kansas.

They were assisted during preparation of the series by advice and photographs from M. J. A. Carman, chief of the Publicity Division of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, Ottawa, and by source material from the travel bureau and the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Department of Trade and Commerce.

Here are three important reasons why it will pay you to renovate and redecorate your home now!

1 SKILLED MEN ARE AVAILABLE—NOW! Although more and more building is being done each winter, exterior construction does slow down during the cold weather. As a result, home improvement contractors and skilled craftsmen seek out the smaller interior jobs that they are unable to handle during the summer. You benefit—with skilled workmanship by experienced tradesmen when it's most convenient to you!

2 DISCOUNTS AND LOANS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW! To create incentives that will balance their sales and keep their staff employed throughout the year, building supply dealers run winter sales. These special discounts help you renovate and redecorate at the lowest possible cost. You'll find your bank a good place to visit, too—for low-interest Home Improvement Loans under the National Housing Act: up to $4,000.00, with up to ten years to repay!

3 MATERIALS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW! When building slows down, materials become more readily available. Result: irritating delays in completing your job because of late delivery of supplies are eliminated!

There's no doubt about it. Winter is the very best time to spruce up your home (and your place of business)—quickly, efficiently, inexpensively!

For advice and assistance call your National Employment Office

Everyone benefits when winter work is increased. DO IT NOW!

Issued by authority of Hon. Allan J. MacEachen, Minister of Labour, Ottawa.

SWEEP

Jay Housetan, a native of Switzerland, witnessed his first game of curling at the Peel Street rink last Tuesday night. He had been in Canada only three days and he watched his friend Tib Szego playing in front of the glass. The visitor, who has spent a year in the United States is associating himself with the Hogg and Lytle seed firm at Mariposa station. However the gentleman from Switzerland volunteered the information that curling is catching on in Switzerland and several motels and hotels can be noticed with outdoor curling ices built especially to attract tourists from England, Scotland and even from Canada. The visitor in a casual way said that he was fascinated with the game, although his fancy naturally turns to skiing and skating, for which Switzerland is noted.

C. E. Ferguson dropped in at the curling rink a few nights ago to morally support his son President Ferguson of the Lindsay Club, but also because he is a former curler and would be active at the game yet but for back troubles "C.E." started curling under the skipship of Past President George Beall, but one of the years he enoyed most was when curling for the late "Mac" Furlong.

The broom known as the "Little Beaver" has been creating a lot of interest in the past two years — also a lot of noise. The broom has a piece of three inch wide leather or plastic substance running down the centre of the brush. When strenously used it flaps and slaps the ice and is quite noisy. Four of these brooms were noticed on the Lindsay ice for the first time in the Walkwood bonspiel last Saturday, and were piled by an outside rink. Many players also were using the "black jack" broom which is said to be superior for curling than the usual brown. Just how much better the brooms are in obtaining sweeping results is still questioned by many curlers. One thing is sure, they are noisy.

A LOVELIER YOU

By MARY SUE MILLER

BACK VIEWS TO THE FORE. Summer fashions sometimes reveal the unrevealable. The feminine back, bared by low necklines, is a case in point. It presents a less than attractive view if it is fleshy, or bony, or round-shouldered.

Happily all those problems are correctable, but it is first necessary to examine the causes. Poor posture is the principal one. Habitually poor carriage triggers and aggravates troubles.

Fatty pads develop by hunching the shoulders and straining the head forward. From winging the shoulders back come prominent blades. Allowing the chest to sink into the diaghragm rounds the shoulders.

Weight, of course, may be a contributing factor. With a gain in poundage, a thin back fills out. A weight loss helps to deflate shoulder padding. But not unless there is an improvement in carriage; not unless the chest is held high, the shoulders fall relaxed in the dead centre of the body's profile, and the head reaches for the sky.

When those actions become a habit, problems begin to disappear. Results are hastened by corrective exercise:

1. (Trims Upper Back). Sit erect, and clasp hands behind neck. Quickly swing elbows forward to touch, and then back as far as possible. Repeat 25 times. 2. (Pads Thin Blades). Perform Exercise 1, slowly and with tension. 3. (For Round Shoulders). Raise chest and slowly rotate shoulder from front to back.

ANNOUNCING

Two great new ones from Vauxhall bringing new excitement to economy as only General Motors can!

VIVA SEDAN

the 1965 Viva

New beauty! New style! Completely redesigned Deluxe Series interior. Bright new colors. New luxury! Deep carpeting and quality trim. Armrests front and rear. New quietness! Extra soundproofing. New riding comfort! Improved, deeper, bucket-type seats in front. Full-width, "Wraparound" rear seat. Plus many proven Viva features. Generous hiproom! A full 51 inches in the front. High power-to-weight ratio! Brisk 90 h.p. engine. 10.7 cu. ft. trunk. Rock-bottom economy! Up to 45 mpg. And last, but most certainly not least, there's Viva's low, low price!

As low as $1,779.00

Suggested maximum retail price of a Viva sedan with heater and defroster at LINDSAY

Price quoted includes delivery and handling charges, Federal and Excise taxes. Provincial and local taxes and license are not included.

VICTOR 101 SUPER

the 1965 Victor

It's gracefully wider and elegantly longer. That's how the 1965 Victor 101 gets its brilliant new styling. And lots more is new besides. A new roominess that comes from the new curved glass side windows . . . an extra 4 inches of shoulder room that takes the squeeze out of three-abreast seating. There's new luggage space in the bigger trunk. New year 'round driving comfort in Victor's new heating and ventilation system. New efficiency in self-adjusting brakes. New durability in extra rustproofing and weathersealing. New extra power too. On the other hand, some things haven't changed. Like Victor's pocket-saving gas economy and delightfully easy handling. They're permanent Vauxhall features. But only first-hand experience could ever tell you all the new Victor 101 has to offer. So don't delay! See and test drive the 1965 Victor 101.

Hi and Lo

The high and low temperature readings during the past 24 hours were 20 and 15 degrees.

World news today

Ottawa — Opposition leader John Diefenbaker has returned to Ottawa, and he seems to be back in his politicking form.

The Conservative leader, looking tanned and fit, following his 10-day Tobago, Trinidad vacation, said the government is preparing for an election this year.

Diefenbaker said hints of tax cuts in a recent Toronto speech by Finance Minister Walter Gordon were a "prelude to an election."

Diefenbaker also said the government had another reason to want an election — he said the government, as he put it, "has a few things it would like to forget." It appeared to be a reference to scandals that have been plaguing the administration of liberal prime minister Lester B. Pearson.

Ottawa — Scandal was in the minds of a couple of other Ottawa politicians.

One of the top oficials of the Raillement Des Creditistes tonight charged that Liberal party election funds are linked to — as he put it— "The international underworld," and that he will demand a judicial inquiry into it.

The number-two man in the Creditiste party — Gilles Gregoire — said he will present his demand, although informally, when Parliament resumes February 16th.

Gregoire said in a press conference in Quebec City that the demand will carry the backing of creditiste leader Real Caouette, who is in a Rouyn hospital for a check-up.

Gregoire said a series of episodes have occurred recently which must be clarified for the public

In Ottawa, Social Crediter of a slightly different stripe, — Robert Thompson — also saw a need for some house-cleaning in the Federal government.

Social Credit leader Thompson says Prime Minister Lester Pearson must pull his government out of, to use his words, "the shadow of scandal."

Tompson said that unless there is a house-cleaning, or a cabinet re-shuffle, his party will not be able to continue its support of the Pearson administration.

New Democratic party leader Tommy Douglas has indicated he will take a similar stand. Loss of support by the two small parties would all but certainly force the government into an election.

Indonesia — United Nations officials in Indonesia are ignoring an order to get out of the country.

The U.N officials assigned to Indonesia say they will wait for any departure orders to come from New York.

Mexico — A bus loaded with soccer players and their families plnged off a narrow road near the Mexican town of Leon Sunday. The bus fell into a 450-foot deep ravine — reportedly killing 18 passengers and seriously injuring 22 others.

Sterling, Ohio — Six train crew members are believed dead following the head-on collision of two freight trains early today near Sterling, Ohio.

The Wayne county Sheriff's office said the two train engines collided — burst into flames — and exploded at a track junction.

New Orleans — Charges of racial discrimination by 20 Negro players have resulted in the cancellation of the American football league all star game set for New Orleans Saturday.

But league commissioner Joe Foss told newsmen in Chicago the game will be played Saturday in a city expected to be chosen later today.

England — The year-end report by the lifeboat crew at Christchurch, England, noted that the hardy crew was called out on 26 rescue missions during 1964.

But, the report noted, the crew received only one thank you note.

Gifts and treats at Christmas party

Coboconk (PNS) — The Apostolic Church Christmas concert programme was held on Sunday evening on December 20, 1964. Several carols opened the programme followed by prayer and the Christmas story from the Bible read by Mrs. Robert Bohm.

A recitation was given by Randy Greer, followed by Carol Powell, Five girls from Mrs. Frances Farrow's class did an exercise and Debbie Greer gave a recitation. While the little folk were dressing for the rythym band number Marvin Sawyer gave his contribution to the programme, followed by congregational carol singing. Then Mrs. Jean Hannivans class did their number, followed by Mrs. Audrey Downes and Mrs. Brechts classes.

Gifts and treats for Christmas were given out and the evening was closed with prayer.

Council hopes to hold tax line mayor reports at inaugural meet

It was a family affair for Mayor Joseph Holtom at the inaugural meet of Lindsay council on Monday evening. Present during the meeting were his wife Nell, and daughters Karen and Susan. — "Post" staff photo

Municipal office great honour Bobcaygeon councillors told

"It is a greater honour to be elected to a municipal council than provincial or federal governments" said 1928 Warden Thomas Martin when opening the inaugural meeting of Verulam and Bobcaygeon councils ed in provincial or federal election in provincial or federal elections have large parties and large sums of money supporting them and may be strangers to many of their electors. You people (indicating the ten elected members present) have stood on your own merits and are known personally by almost all your electors", he continued.

In accepting the nomination to chair the inaugural meeting, the former reeve and warden expressed his pleasure in assisting in any way and stressed the importance of municipal government. He sparked the meeting with timely reminders of incidents from the past, many of historical import.

Following the invocation prayer, Rev. George Meades of the Bobcaygeon Anglican Church read a portion of scripture from the Epistle of Paul, Chapter 13: "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers —" "This is a passage urging the people to be loyal to the government" observed Rev. Meades. "You are the government who have in good faith been elected to your office. Hold fast to that which is good" he commended the councils.

Former warden (1933) Roy Bottum administered the oath of allegiance and the oath of office to the 1965 councils. Members taking the oath for Verulam Council were reeve William Fulton, deputy-reeve Victor Knox and councillors Lloyd Rick, Wallace Thurston and Bert Meecham. Bobcaygeon council members included reeve Hilliard Murphy, and councillors Percy Nichols, Ross Poole, Edward Shea and Robert Thompson.

Bobcaygeon Reeve Hilliard Murphy speaking briefly thanked Rev. Meades for his inspiring and uplift, and warned the councils that a heavy year both municipally and county-wise was ahead.

"These meetings are often thought of as milestones that mark the passing of the years" remarked Reeve William Fulton. "If we can do something of benefit to the municipalities and mankind our efforts will not be in vain". Reeve Fulton continued "As we count our blessings one by one, we realize our greatest blessing is to live in a democratic country". He observed that the councils of Verulam and Bobcaygeon grow closer year by year in harmonious co-operation" as we hold our meetings year after year in this municipal building left by the Boyd family.

Retiring Reeve and 1964 Warden Max Kennedy congratulated the elected members and said he would miss the municipal work after 14 years, ten of which he was on County Council. Warden Kennedy made a strong plea in favour of the County Health Unit warning County Council members present that the Mayor Joseph Holtom, in his inaugural address to council Monday said although there have been predictions that taxes would increase this year, he was of the opinion it was possible to absorb any new demands for more money without increasing taxes. Mayor Holtom said, "It is dangerous at this time to attempt to predict how your taxes will be affected this year. Because council has no control over 70 per cent of the expenditures of tax money".

Bailey bridge suggested for Colborne Street

"I foresee continued industrial and commercial expansion for the town, with more employment opportunities for the citizens of Lindsay", Mayor Holtom stated. He said there are several projects which remain to be finished and gave priority to Cambridge Street South. He said William Street North and Colborne Street will be finished this year after a decision as to the width and use of Colborne Street is reached.

With reference to the future location of another bridge over the Scugog River, the mayor said, "There has been a very interesting suggestion that perhaps a temporary Bailey bridge might be erected across the river at Colborne Street as an aid to keeping the traffic moving, while the Wellington Street bridge is out of commission". He said the engineer is looking into this. He said the Wellington Street bridge would be started early and completed as soon as possible. Mayor Holtom said he felt it would be completed before the tourist season. "This bridge could have been started last fall but have been started not interested enough to put in reasonable bids at that time", he told the meeting.

Mayor Holtom described many of the blocks of sidewalks in Lindsay as "deplorable" and suggested the work of rebuilding sidewalks be stepped-up with a five-year-plan. He remarked, "It's time the pedestrians received a break." He also said downtown parking lots would be paved, lighted and metered this year and other projects under consideration are: the possible installation of sanitary sewer in the south-east part of town; the continuing installation of sanitary and storm sewers in the area of St. David and Beverley streets; and continued street widening to include Lindsay Street North at Kent Street, Albert Street at Kent and Queen Street.

Mayor Holtom told council he believed there was a need for a housing project for senior citizens of limited means. "While we have not had a survey in depth on this matter," he said, "it appears that there are many retired people in Lindsay who are living in sub-standard accommodations. This type of housing project would be an excellent undertaking for a service club or the Royal Canadian Legion and would deserve the full backing of council."

Nine-year old boy injured in Lindsay accident

A nine-year old pupil of King Albert School, Terry Dagg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dagg, 38 George Street East reportedly received bruises to his right leg when he came into contact with the side of a car driven by David Wayne Johnson, 47 Simcoe Street, at 12:08 today on Melbourne Street east at the intersection of St. Lawrence street.

The boy was taken home to be examined by his doctor. Constable Jack Henley of the Lindsay Police Department investigated.

Weather Outlook

Variable cloudiness today, windy and turning a little colder, clearing by the evening. Increasing cloudiness forecast by Wednesday with occasional light snow or snowflurries in the morning or afternoon. Winds westerly 25 to 35, increasing to 20 by noon and light tonight. High today 35, low tonight 15.

And jolly good friends are we

Last night at the inaugural meeting of Lindsay council, school board chairman George Inrig made reference to an editorial in an issue of "The Post" some months ago, referring to council as a "mutual admiration society" and said this was not a criticism but an indication of how well the councillors work together.

We don't think you really feel a "mutual admiration society" is a good thing, Mr. Inrig. We think you were just being nice to the council, after all everyone is complimentary at an inaugural . . . it's rather like the rule —"never speak ill of the dead"!

All councils, organizations and commissions need at least one prober, one needler, one who dissents in order to keep the members active and on their toes. Why even Mr. Diefenbaker has his Leon Balcer.

We note too Mr. Inrig's remarks regarding the school demands this year. At the election meeting school board member George Inrig said the tax rate must go up to meet the rising costs of education—it was "inevitable", he said. Last night Mr. Inrig said he thought the school board might be able to "hold the line" because of increased school grants from the province of Ontario. We would like to know more details of these school grants. We have a feeling they constitute "oil on troubled waters", poured by the provincial government to smooth ruffled municipal governments, groaning under the burden of school taxes, and continually complaining to the government of the manner in which they must raise the tax demands of the school boards, without adequate control over the expenditure.

Last year, many thought Finance Chairman Russell Taylor was "way out on the left field" over his stand on the cost of extensions to Leslie Frost school. We feel Mr. Taylor's stand and attitude was justified. We do not want to extend this "mutual admiration" feeling that Mr. Inrig apparently approves of any further between the council and the school board. We want a few more Russell Taylor's to inquire, probe, question and protest—when necessary.

Ops council appointments

Ops Council for 1940, composed of Reeve Thos. Hutton and Councillors Allan Currins, Nasmyth Henry, W. Ernest Stewart and Gordon Byrnell met at 11 a.m. yesterday and took their declarations of office. The Reeve and the members of council then made brief addresses outlining work which it was hoped would be accomplished during the year.

Health Board head re-elected

H. V. Mercer, was again elected chairman of the Board of Health at its inaugural meeting held last night in the town clerk's office. The meeting was also marked by the first appearance of W. E. Baker, well-known Lindsay business man, and a former member of the Board. Mr. Baker was appointed by council to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Felix Gassien.

T. H. Davies, Sanitary Inspector reported that there were two cases of scarlet fever in the town. Several samples of water from Lindsay homes were sent to the provincial laboratories and were all returned grade A. Dr. G. C. Lawrence, herd inspector, reported that all the milk samples taken were satisfactory.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Newton Smale welcomed Mr. Baker on behalf of the board and expressed gratitude that Mr. Baker had been appointed. His Worship Mayor A. T. Claxton, Dr. H. J. Gleason, M.O.H., also added their words of welcome.

Inaugural Meet

Woodville council met yesterday to take office for the ensuing year. They were by acclamation as follows: Reeve Mr. Will Grant; Councillors: Messrs. Earl McInnis, J. Trebell, Art Mark and Tom Morrow.

Passing of Powles oCrner Post Office

The post office at Powles Corners was closed the 31st December 1914. It it had remained open until the first of March, W. H. Powles would have been postmaster 24 years. Some of the readers of the Lindsay Post no doubt would like to know what business has been done in the post office since the fifth of March 1891, to the 31st of December 1914. The revenue of the office amounted to two thousand, one hundred and sixty-nine dollars and twenty-one cents, and the number of registered articles was three thousand six hundred and fifty two dollars.

General Hughes to the Coast

General Sam Hughes is still confined to the hospital. An X-ray examination of his knee showed that the injury was severe. The doctors have had considerable difficulty in keeping the energetic Minister in bed. He is chafed under the confinement and insists that he must leave on his western tour Wednesday night. As he is now making good progress the doctors will likely make no objection. The Minister will probably go through to the coast, in order to secure the five additional days' rest, stopping off in Calgary, Edmonton, Winnipeg and other mobilization centres on his return trip.

Rumoured changes on the C.P.R.

In keeping with the general policy of retrenchment inaugurated throughout the entire C.P.R. system, it is understood that the company will dispense with the day operator at Lindsay and Orillia. The agents at Gamebridge and Brechin will also be laid off; the agents at all small stations will do the car checking and two section gangs will do the work heretofore performed by three.

They'll Do It Every Time

Registered U. S. Patent Office — By Jimmy Hatlo

Changing Face of London

It looks as if "good old London" is in for a major face-lifting. Everywhere the old familiar landmarks are changing. St. Paul's Cathedral is being scrubbed clean for the first time in its 254 -year life and St. Paul's Churchyard — actually a narrow shopping street — has just been demolished as part of a plan to create a spacious, dignified setting for the Cathedral.

Going east from St. Paul's the Barbican, a once densely built-up commercial district, was almost wiped out by bombing during the war. Glass and steel skyscrapers already march along London Wall, the City's new motor route, and a "new town" with 43-storey apartments, schools, shops and an art centre is beginning to rise out of the ruins.

Even the Tower of London is to get a new and attractive setting.

New Scotland Yard is to abandon its turreted Victorian pile on the Embankment after 73 years and the building will become part of a gigantic renewal project in the Whitehall area, which will involve the building of a new wing for the Houses of Commons and the pulling down of the old Foreign Office with its maze of corridors, tiny partitioned rooms and open fireplaces. Built a hundred years ago to house 100, it now copes with 2,000. A new block of offices will house both the Foreign Office and Commonwealth Relations Office.

Eventual rebuilding in Whitehall is expected to involve the Home Office, the War Office and the Treasury buildings along with other government establishments.

Before long the coasters will have gone from the purlieus of Covent Garden Opera House; the old fruit and vegetable market is to move south of the river and thus remove one major traffic hazard from the centre of London.

Also south of the Thames, the Elephant and Castle, the grimy, noisy junction where main roads from the south meet, is being completely rehabilitated with new intersections, an enormous apartment block and a glass-roofed shopping centre.

Even Piccadilly Circus is not sacred. It is planned to re-position Eros (but only slightly), move back the surrounding buildings, make radical changes in the street pattern and redesign the circus along the lines of an Italian piazza, complete with reflecting pool, "walkways" at first-floor level and roof-top car parks.

Not everyone approves of what is happening. Many regret the passing of the old alleys, the blackened buildings of old London.

But planners and civic leaders worry whether the pace of change is sufficient to meet the population increases and the upsurge in car-ownership in the next ten to twenty years.

Open and Shut

"The trouble about the interview —finding out about each other in public —is that there aren't many minds about with interesting nooks and crannies to explore. Most of them are so cagey you can't get in and the others are so open they just echo." Broadcaster Johnny Morris in a BBC talk.

Foreign News Commentary

London, (UPI)—Red China's Mao Tze-Tung recently issued a new battle cry for intensified wars of liberation everywhere. Directed to the peoples of the whole world, it said:

"Dare to fight, defy difficulties and advance wave upon wave . . . against the U.S. aggressors and all their running dogs."

Mao's call to arms was made in a pledge to support the Congolese rebels. It has since been taken up again by Red Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai before the National Peoples Congress in Peking.

Thus, Red China apparently has signalled its entry into a more aggressive phase of Mao's concept of wars of liberation.

Signs of a stepped-up Red Chinese push for all out "wars of liberation" have come from a wide front of Peking's international activity, from range from Viet Nam, where Peking is seen to have an active hand in the latest stepped up Communist campaign, to the Congo where it has been supporting the rebels in their continuing fight against the central government of Moise Tshombe.

Latest moves now also affect Indonesia where Red China has come out in full support of President Sukarno's aggressive policies, all but egging him on to his war of "Liberation" of Malaysia.

Diplomatic dispatches have reported that Red China has played a key role in Indonesia's latest menacing confrontation strategy of "Crush Malaysia in 1965."

Red China's Deputy Premier and Foreign Minister Marshal Chen Yi and President Sukarno recently formally decided to "raise the level of the struggle against Imperialism, Colonialism and Neo-Colonialism."

This is taken to mean that Red China is pushing for all-out intervention, possibly including military action. Mao Tze-Tung's concept apparently envisages step by step advance from guerilla fighting to wider armed action.

The geographic proximity of Viet Nam has made Peking-controlled North Viet Nam apparently the first major theater for testing Mao's concept.

Not Yet Perfect

A recent purchaser of equipment was told in a letter that the guarantee period had ended. He got the news on the day before the last attachment was installed by the supplier.

The ingenuity of man has caused great strides to be made in invention and manufacture but human nature still allows a little bit of error to creep in. Perhaps this is a saving grace.

Only for the Tourists?

The minister of tourism and information in Ontario has had made one of those studies-in-depth. This was undertaken in the border states. It seems that tourists can be attracted in a number of ways, and one of these is "increased emphasis on our British heritage."

A country, of course, has better reasons for remembering its heritage, which is not really a matter of dollars and cents.

PAINT COLOURS NOW IN BOOK FORM

It is generally accepted that women's apparel is the purest and oldest form of fashion expression, but there also exist many other facets of fashion of which we are not so keenly aware. One of them is home decorating.

Styles of furniture, draperies and wall colours change as a result of revised tastes, just as dress styles do, and once accepted, they are more durable. Since decorating a home can be a major expenditure, this durability is a great advantage, but it also increases the importance of making the right decision in the first place. If you make a mistake, it is "frozen" for a long period of time.

So while selecting colours and furnishings for the various rooms of your home represents an opportunity to express your taste and flair, it also can be a challenge. Luckily, there is professional advice on the subject available and just as in choosing a wardrobe, there is a recommended starting point — wall colours.

Since walls make up the largest colour areas in a room, the selection of their colours is vital to the mood you wish to express and the background you want to create for your furnishings. To assist you at this critical stage in planning your decorating, colour specialists at Canadian Industries Limited have produced a "Masterpiece Colour Guide" which contains 200 pages, each in a suggested primary wall colour with two complementary colours showing through cut out windows.

By flipping through the pages you can see, at a glance, the possibilities of co-ordinating your wall colours with any of the basic shades currently being shown in carpeting, textiles, upholstery, ceramics, and furniture finishes. All of the colours are fashionable, distinctive and decorator approved; all you have to do is choose one that satisfies your personal preference.

This C-I-L colour guide can be seen at any of their paint dealers, and is well worth scanning by any fashion-minded person — it's very "Vogue ish".

Broken Chinaware

One method of mending broken chinaware is to make a thin paste of lime mixed with the white of egg. Apply to the broken edges, press tightly together, and put in a dry place for a day or two to harden. Be careful to take only enough white of egg to mend one article at a time, and mix well with a small quantity of lime.

Stale Cake

To freshen stale cake, dip it just for a moment into some cold, sweet milk, then heat it in a moderate oven.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remove rust spots from a ceramic tile floor?

A. With a washing solution made by dissolving one part of sodium citrate with six parts of commercial glycerine. Add water to thin the mixture, then mix with sufficient whiting to form a paste. Spread over the spot in a thick coating, scrub and then rinse off.

Q. How can I rid my kitchen and house of unwelcome cooking odors?

A. You can neutralize these odors very nicely by boiling three teaspoonfuls of ground cloves in two cups of water for 15 minutes. Or, heat vinegar on the range. Works like a charm.

Q. What is a good stiffening ingredient, instead of starch, for delicate fabrics?

A. Some delicate materials won't take to the usual starch. For these, dissolve granulated sugar in water, and use in place of starch.

Announce New Healing Substance: Shrinks Piles

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and inflammation in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most important of all—results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue.

New Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores—money back guarantee.

"Majesty" topic of Zion UCW meet

Zion-Fenelon (PNS) — Mrs. Clarence Sims was hostess to the Zion U.C.W. for their December meeting.

The meeting opened with a short verse read by the President. The topic was from the Observer titled "Majesty" which told of the Majesty of the "Son of Man".

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Correspondence was a letter of thanks for a donation to the Hillcrest Lodge of Orillia, also a card of thanks from Hillcroft Hospital, Bobcaygeon for gifts sent to patients at Christmas. Several cards of thanks were read from shut-ins who had received gift boxes of fruit.

Roll call was answered by ten members with a Christmas verse. There was one visitor.

The offering was received by Eleanor Worsley and dedicated by the President. The Study book chapter on "The Holy Spirit" from the Word and the Way was read by Mrs. Rumney.

The programme was an oral contest given by Mrs. E. Moynes and a number of Christmas readings by several members.

After the singing of table grace and the repeating of the mizpah. Lunch was served by the young women present, and a pleasant half hour enjoyed.

World news today

Ottawa — Canadians today were presented with a report on what roads the country's economy should take to get to a bright pot of gold by 1970.

The road is marked off with these signposts . . . the economy should shock off its shell and become more industrial, drop some of its own trade barriers, hustle out into freer world markets—and keep a tight lid on its costs and prices at home.

The end of the road, said Economic Council of Canada, would lead to less unemployment and higher cost incomes for Canadians.

The Council, under noted Economist John J. Deutsch, called for expansionary economic policies—the kind that would be in accord with tax cuts the government reportedly has in mind for its next budget.

With a few changes in the basic thinking of both government and industry leaders, the council foresees some spectacular growth for Canada in the next few years.

A well-planned economy over the next seven years, the council said, could bring 97-per cent employment level to the country. But it warned this would increase the need for more and better-educated and trained persons in the labor force.

Montreal — The Dorian Judicial Inquiry resumes today in Montreal. One of the first witnesses will be a Montreal man accused of murder in a gangland slaying last October.

Authorities aren't taking any chances that 35 year old Robert Gignac will take advantage of his appearance outside of Bordeau Prison to escape. A heavy police guard contingent will guard the accused slayer.

Generally, it is estimated the commission headed by Quebec Superior Chief Justice Frederic Dorian is half through its investigation of alleged bribery, coercion and influence-peddling. These are believed to involve high members of the Pearson Government and people linked to the International Crime Syndicate—the Mafia.

The actions took place n connection with an extradition case laid by the United States against accused narcotics smuggler Lucien Rivard. The offences were aginst Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne, who represented the U.S. in the case.

Saigon — The South Viet Nam picture was a melange of anti-government strikes, an Asian New Year truce pledge by the Communist rebels and the reported end of the feud between U.S. Ambassador Maxwell Taylor and the military. In Hue, the ancient Imperial capital, some 300 students rode through the city on bicycles demanding the resignation of Premier Tran Van Huong. The Viet Cong rebels let it be known they would observe a 3-day truce with the start of the New Year "Tet" on Feb. 2.

Leopoldville, The Congo — Rebel Congolese troops suffered 48 killed in fighting around Stanleyville and Paulis in the Northeast Congo. Both cities were liberated after the U.S.-Belgian airborne rescue operations which saved the lives of hundreds of white hostages.

Paris — The price of gold dropped in Paris and London. The sudden downward trend became evident after the United States warned that speculators would get hurt. A flurry of speculative gold buying was triggered by the U.S. announcement Friday that France was converting $150 million worth of U.S. dollars into gold.

Jakarta — There were mounting indications that Indonesia was moving steadily toward an open alliance with Communist China. One barometer hinting of even perhaps a formal tie was Peking's continued boradcasting of support for President Sukarno's move taking his country out of the United Nations. Another indication was Sukarno's statement that such countries as Red China, Communist North Korea and Indonesia do not need the U.N.

Vatican City — The Sacred Roman Rota, powerful court of the Roman Catholic Church was urged by Pope Paul VI to avoid undue delays in dealing with matrimonial cases. The Pontiff also called on the Ecclestiastic Tribunal that unjustified severity or high court costs could be harmful to the church and to the souls of persons involved. The Rota is one of the church's top tribunals and is best known as a court of appeals in matrimonial cases.

Jakarta, Indonesia — Indonesia today officially ordered the United Nations to close down its activities here and end all U.N. projects in the country.

The order was given to U.N. Director Vokjo P. Pavicic by Foreign Minister Subandrio at a 30-minute meeting in Subandrio's office. It followed President Sukarno's announcement five days ago that he was withdrawing Indonesia from membership in the U.N.

"Chatterbox" tin-can flattener "a trifle cumbersome" — reader

The Lindsay Post,
Lindsay, Ontario.

Mr. Editor:

In a recent issue of "The Post", "Chatterbox", advised us, how to construct a tin can flattener; which is, to say the least, a trifle cumbersome, and requires too much material.

May I point out, that you may get better results, and need less material to flatten tin cans. If you proceed as follows:—

After the contents of the can, have them removed, cut out the other end; and, "step on it", and then you have two flat ends and a flat can too; not so, with your method, because it is almost impossible, to flatten a can, with one end, still intact.

Try it some day, Eh.

M.O.H. won't carry on, Ops council told

Ops Reeve Milburn Hutchinson told a meeting of the township council Monday Dr. L. V. Shier has refused to carry on as the Medical Officer of Health for the township. He said the doctor advised him "to get another man."

Reeve Hutchinson told the council Dr. Shier may act in an emergency. He also suggested perhaps the Lindsay MOH if there is one would act for the township until the services of a doctor can be secured.

Supper prior to UCW meet

Oakwood (PNS) — The January meeting of Unit 2 of the Oakwood U.C.W. was held on Tuesday evening last in the form of a pot luck supper at the home of Mrs. George Greenway with 18 members present.

After supper Mrs. Fred Lane took charge of the programme with each one responsible for one item. Mrs. Lane opened with a reading and readings were given by Mrs. Roy Webster, Mrs. Howard Hardy, Mrs. Jim Irwin, Mrs. Albert Webster, Mrs. Frank Ferguson, Mrs. Hugh Stroud and Mrs. George Hardy, read a letter from Mrs. Vanderburg and her brother Rev. Frank Hardy.

There were musical selections throughout which were very much enjoyed including duets on the electric organ and piano by Mrs. Greenway and Mrs. Allan Rich. Piano Instrumental by Mrs. Frank Goard, who also played for several hymns that were sung. Thanks to Mrs. Greenway for opening her home was extended by the leader. During the short business period the roll was called and most members paid their 1965 fee. Mrs. Frank Ferguson was appointed to report any sick members to Mrs. Murray Squires.

Unit 2 is to provide lunch for the January meeting of the parent U.C.W. at the church. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Lane.

Youth charged with assault

A Lindsay youth, Michael Shannon, 19, of 129 William Street N., has been charged with assault, following a fracas at the Olympia restaurant midnight Friday in which Kenneth Eason, 17, of 25 William Street North was injured by a table fork. Lindsay Police said Mr. Eason, who received no serious injury, alleged that a table fork had been used in the altercation and laid the assault charge against Mr. Shannon.

Mr. Shannon, who was granted a remand Monday, will appear in Lindsay Police Court Thursday on the charge.

Papers taken

Quantities of Toronto newspapers have been stolen from Lawton's General Store in Manilla and Bell's Grocery in Oakwood, Lindsay OPP said Tuesday. Police said they believe striking printers are responsible for the thefts, which have occurred between 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. each day.

Ops council raise wages to comply with Wage Act

Ops Township Council decided to standardize wages for machine operators and raise the wage paid to casual labour to comply with the minimum wage requirements of the province. Following a complaint that machine operators employed by the township suffered wage cut of 25 cents per hour when they were doing work similar to work directly involve the use of their machines the council approved a standard wage for operators of snow-removal equipment and other township machinery, of $1.40 per hour. Casual labourer's wages were increased from $1.15 to $1.25 per hour as set out in the Minimum Wage Act of Ontario.

It was learned that snowplow operators who were engaged in clearing bush for the township were paid as casual labourers when they were working in capacities other than running equipment.

The council was notified by the Department of Highways that no subsidies would be allowed if the Minimum Wage Act was was not complied with.

Council briefs

Presentation of the Mayor's chain of office at the inaugural ceremony at the council chambers Monday evening was made by Laverne Gamble, Lindsay Lodge No. 100, I.O.O.F.

Special guests seated on the platform with the council at the inaugural meeting including former mayor A. E. (Bert) Hick, former mayor and reeve Col. R. I. Moore Victoria county warden Max Kennedy, Glen Hodgson, MPP, Hydro chairman George Baldwin, Parks Board chairman Percy Hill, Board of Health chairman Laverne Gamble, Industrial Commission chairman Roy Polito, Planning Board chairman Guy Mills, Library Board chairman Allan Lacey, Ross Memorial Hospital board vice-chairman Geo Hodgson, Reeve Hutchinson, Ops township, George Inrig of the Public School board, Lorne Jordon, Crown Attorney and H. MacDonald, Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Council members take their work as seriously now as they did in the 20's, 30's and 40's observed Col. R. I. Moore at the council meeting Monday. Col. Moore, former Reeve from the last session has retired from municipal work for the present. He has been mayor of Lindsay on a number of occasions.

"It will not be too long before Lindsay reaches the status of a city" commented former mayor A. E. (Bert) Hick at the Lindsay inaugural meeting Monday. "If the progressive growth anticipated takes place. Mr. Hick mentioned that it was the 150th anniversary of Sir John A. MacDonald's birth and said the great man had at one time spoke in Lindsay in that very council chamber.

Board of Health chairman Laverne Gamble paid tribute to the service the late Marshall Stephens had given the town in his capacity as chairman of the Lindsay Board of Health. Mr. Gamble also mentioned the valuable work of Dr. W. R. Crowe as a member of the board.

"The people who voted you in would vote you out if they were not satisfied", observed long-time Hydro chairman George Baldwin to council Monday, "evidently, the people are satisfied with council at present", he said. Mr Baldwin spoke of the vast increase in hydro consumption in the town. Visking is now using as much power as the whole town used 20 years ago, he said, and Dominion Rubber when they get started will use twice that amount and perhaps more. 'We want more assistance from the Industrial Commission", quiped Mr. Baldwin, "get them busy getting more industry so we can have a high transformer station in our own backyard — the hydro commission and the consumers will appreciate the savings and." he added, "we can all live better electrically in the years to come".

"We are happy to hear of the mayor's tree planting programme" said Parks Board chairman Percy Hill, "this is a major problem in town although only one phase of the Parks Board work". Mr. Hill said the Board were hampered by a shortage of funds, but considered the Victoria Park project a desirable one despite the fact centennial grants were not available for it. "We intend to work on the project piecemeal", he said.

Speaking of the Lindsay Library, chairman Allan Lacey commented that the Library Board had cut down their request for funds considerably some years ago to help in the trimming of the town's budget, only to find the Provincial Government gave us "very, very much less" in consequence.

Seven Merchants score eight goals against Aurora Tigers

Lindsay Merchants tamed the Aurora Tigers with an 8 - 4 thumping before a couple of hundred fans at the Kiwanis Arena last night. Leading 2 - 0 at the end of the first period, the Merchants shopped around during the rest of the contest outscoring the Tigers 3 - 2 in both the second and third periods.

The Lindsay Merchants collected 8 points on their eight goals last night as seven players baffled the Tigers goalkeeping dandy Harry Goodmakers. George Babcock fired two to the goal, and Bob Taylor, Gerry Heffernan, Paul Yearwood, Ray McCabe, Bill Horton, and Mike Jackson each adding one. Tigers scorers were Bruce Graham with two, John Cooper and Pat Flannagan.

Three Lindsay goals shortened Aurora penalties, two of them in the first period as the Merchants power play paid off. George Babcock flipped Ray McCabe's pass into the rigging at 17:02 with Weir off for kneeing, then with Wray in the bin for cross checking. Bob Taylor combined with Purdy and Frocking at 9:52.

The tigers got back in the game in the first minute of the second period on the first of Bruce Graham's two goals. Pat Flannagan and Wayne Hill were also in the scramble in front of Randy Reid. Babcock got that one back about a minute later when he measured Goodmakers from close range and kicked it into the top corner at 1:38. Ray McCabe got the help. Gerry Heffernan continued his week-end scoring converting Mike Jackson's rebound at 5:03 for a 4 - 1 lead. Yearwood went for tripping and Taylor for charging before mid period but the Merchants managed to keep the Tigers caged. Bruce Graham scored his second goal of the second period at 13:54 when Pat Flannagan drew Reid with a hard shot and Graham snared the rebound. Paul Yearwood completed the middle period scoring when he lugged George Graham's pass across the goal mouth and had Goodmakers at his mercy in the final minute of play.

The Merchants really moved the puck around as they tore into the third period and gave Goodmakers a good work-out. Ray McCabe beat him at 2:40 from Pat McCabe and Gord Frocking. Bill Horton's screened shot from the blue line drifted into the net at 6:27 with Purdy and Yearwood getting assists. A rash of seven minor penalties followed in quick order, in less than two minutes over all. Bruce Graham of the Tigers got two minutes each for elbowing and roughing and Bob Taylor for two for roughing at 6:45. Weir got two for boarding and two for slashing consecutive and Ray McCabe two for butt ending at 7:38. Heffernan and Bruce Graham was sent off for hold. ing his penalty delayed until 8:45. This flurry had all cleared up however before further scoring. John Cooper from Jack Foran closed the gap to 4 - 2 at 12:06.

At 14:06 Goodmakers got two minutes for throwing the puck ahead but the Tigers worried through the shortage at no cost, but Mike Jackson scooped Ray McCabe's goal mouth pass past the prancing goalie at 17:48 with Heffernan also helping. Pat Flanagan rounded up the scoring just before the final minute of the game when he stole the puck in the Lindsay zone and gave Reid no chance at close range.

Last night's win gives the Merchants 16 wins in 20 starts for a 32 point total, four points behind first place Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats. Ray McCabe with three goals and four assists in the last three games has moved into second place on the Merchants list. Bob Taylor with two and two still holds the lead. George Babcock's two goals and one assist in the last three tilts leaves him three points off the pace.

In other league action last night Little Britain Aces livened their play-off hopes when they plucked the Uxbridge chicks 7 - 3 in their own coop. With only two points separating three clubs fighting for the last play-off spot the Aces, Uxbridge Chicks, and Woodville Maroons are presently in a red hot stretch drive.

Tonight the Cannington-Sutton Twins go to Stouffville and Newmarket Redmen go to Aurora. To-morrow night Uxbridge Chicks visit Woodville in important game for both teams. Bobcaygeon goes to Little Britain and Lindsay is at Newmarket Thursday.

Teenager wins "battle" with Crown Attorney

Port Arthur (UPI) — A teenage motorist locked horns in a legal battle with veteran Crown Attorney P. V. Ibbetson and won Monday at Dismissal Police Court in Port Arthur.

Ibbetson marked 25 years as a Crown Attorney last month.

William James Baker, 19, of Port Arthur pleaded not guilty to a charge of failing to report an accident where damage exceeds $100.

Provincial Police calculated damage to his car at $200 after it overturned last November.

Baker presented a bill of sale and Ontario Retail Sales Tax certificate which showed he paid $35 for the 1953 car in September 1963.

He reasoned it was impossible to have made $100 damage to a car worth only about one third of that in the first place. Magistrate Tome Connon agreed. The charge was dismissed.

ESTABLISH "NEW IMAGE" LAWYERS ARE ADVISED

Toronto (UPI) — The Attorney General Justice of the High Court of Ontario last night called for Ontario lawyers to develop better procedures in court.

J. C. McCruer, now head of the Royal Commission on Human Rights, said the legal profession should try and establish a new image with the public. Most people, he said, are afraid of the courts and legal profession.

He spoke at the lawyers' clubs Judges' night.

Lindsay's industrial growth helpful to township — Reeve

Ops Township Reeve Milburn Hutchinson told Ops Council, in his inaugural address Monday, he felt the industrial expansion now taking place in the town would be helpful to the economy of the township. He said, "I am confident the industrial boom now taking place in the town will be extremely helpful to the township." Reeve Hutchinson told the meeting the township was in a depression and they must do all in their power to alter the situation. He emphasized, "We are not here for our own benefit, but are here to build for the future." In our work this year, we should aim toward combining progress with economy."

Deputy - Reeve Barney Rogers said a council must have individual thinking in order to prosper and said he felt that team-work on the part of council was over-stressed. He said this individual thinking is shown when a reeve breaks a deadlock in council. Deputy-Reeve Rogers said he did not share the popul. belief that a reeve was benipu on the spot when asked to break a dead-locked coun. Maurice Yacoob, a member of the council said he foresaw n increase in the township's population as a direct result of Lindsay's industrial expansion, and suggested that council should "take immediate steps to negotiate with the town for a programme whereby utility services, water and sewage could be acquired for the township when and where needed." He predicted a better share of growth in eastern Ontario in the next five years and said Ops must be prepared to take part in that development.

Councillor Mossom James said Ops Council accomplished much in 1964, despite the poor start.

Another member of council, Norman Nugent said there were several little items which should be tidied up this year and suggested council start now on its proposal to clean up and enlarge the dump.

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

A BOOST FOR AA; MIRALLE OF MANY

Mrs. G. tells me her husband is a chronic alcoholic. She has tried to have him join the AA group but he keeps saying it's no use. "All they do is advertise", he says. "They don't actually help".

Of course, it's nothing more than an excuse. Her man isn't ready to admit that he wants help or is ready for it. Alcoholics Anonymous doesn't advertise, as we all know. It gets its well-deserved boosts from its own members who have been helped.–Mrs. G., I hope you can get your husband to read the following letter, which is in reference to another alcoholic.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I just read the letter in your column about the unhappy alcoholic who didn't know where to turn for help. My heart goes out to him as I recognize his lost feeling. But there is help and salvation for him. I know as I, too, am an alcoholic (non-drinking).

I also have two brothers who belong to A.A. One brother was near the end of the line physically and mentally one year ago when he found A.A. It's even hard for me to figure out the miracle that has happened to the three of us and to dozens of others who come to the meetings. If possible, please recommend A.A. to this man.–Mr. S.

Comment: Advertising? I think your husband will agree Mrs. G., that this is an outstanding example of word-of-mouth advertising. Madison Avenue experts will tell you there's none more effective. It's for free but you can't buy it.

STERILIZATION PROBLEM

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Is there an operation I can have that would untie my tubes? If so, could I conceive again? I have eight children, am 31 years old and in good health.–Mrs. G.

Comment: Whether such an operation will work at all, is of course problematical, and something to be solved by your own surgeon. However, my real reason for reprinting your query, Mrs. G., is to put some question marks into the thinking of these women who are considering sterilization operations. Here is a woman with eight children who wants her sterilization undone!

How will those of you feel who have only two or three children–or none at all? For psychological, as well as for physical, economic and sociological ones, your reasons should be well considered before you undergo sterilization. True, there are pros and cons. All I am saying is don't rush into it.

Another aspect of the "late baby" question:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have read with amusement and interest the arguments pro and con for starting a second family at age 40 and over, and must agree it is a matter of personal choice. Let me state the case against. At age 29 I have three children under age 6 whom I love very dearly when they aren't driving me to the limits of my endurance.

The first two, 22 months apart, were carefully planned. The third was a happy accident. I am now using contraceptive pills and my husband is considering vasectomy when financially able to prevent further pregnancies.

When my children are able to leave the nest, I can conceive of no circumstance under which I would wish to start over again raising a family. When able I would like to go to college, travel with my husband, learn to play the piano, do volunteer work, throw myself more thoroughly into church work; and babysit for my grandchildren. Yes, that is my point. At 40 or 45 if I want to enjoy a baby, I would prefer it was my grandchild.–Mrs. S.

Comment: What say? How about a word from you dads? Does Mrs. S. make sense? I suppose some women will say Mrs. S. is being selfish. Is she? Isn't she? Personally, I think-- No, I'll leave it up to you to decide.

A sticky one! — Bernard Hunt, one of England's top professional golfers, has some spectators obviously pulling for him as he tries for a crucial putt at the Sunningdale Golf Club in England during his match with America's Dave Marr. Their match will be seen on "Shell's Wonderful World of Golf" Sunday, January 17, from 4 to 5 p.m. E.S.T., on the ABC television network. The Hunt-Marr match is one of 11 international matches to be televised in colour each Sunday afternoon through March 28. Gene Sarazen, one of golf's all-time greats, analyzes the play in each match.

Curling Glossary

New curlers are often bewildered by terms which they do not understand. Therefore, the following vocabulary may be of interest to many.

Rock — stone.

Roll — The change in direction of one stone after it has hit another stone off center.

Rub — A stone has barely grazes another.

Run — A portion of the ice surface where a delivered stone behaves in a manner different from what might reasonably be expected.

Runner — A fast-moving stone.

Second — Player on a side who delivers the second pair of stones.

Second shot — Stone that is second nearest to the tee.

Sheet — Area of ice on which the game is played.

Short — A stone that comes to rest in front of the desired position.

Shot rock — Stone that is nearest to the tee.

Skip — Player on a side who directs the strategy of the game. Normally (though not necessarily) the player who delivers the final pair of rocks.

Slide — Follow-through of the delivery.

Stone — Rock

Straight handle — A stone where neither in-turn nor out-turn is imparted during delivery.

Striking — Hitting.

Sweeping score — See "Tee Line".

Swingy Ice — Ice where a rock draws more than normal.

Take-out — A stone delivered with sufficient momentum to remove another stone from play, when the latter is hit by the delivered stone.

Tee line — Line passing through the tee at right angles to centre line, and behind which an opposing stone may be swept.

Third — The player on a side who delivers the third pair of stones.

Vice-skip — An Eastern Canadian synonym for "Third".

Weight — The amount of momentum imparted to a stone in delivery.

Wick — To strike another stone off centre.

Wide — A stone delivered outside the imaginary line connecting the stone at rest and the broom, and the imaginary line connecting the stone at rest and the final desired position.

Wobbler — A stone delivered so that it rocks from one side to another as it progresses.

HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, (UPI) — Bob Hope thought he'd had it all — laughs, the cheers, the thrills, the tears.

But he was wrong. On his recent holiday tour of military bases he clowned and mugged his way through hours of comedy for troops in a dozen bases including Viet Nam.

On his last stop, Guam, Bob was jolted with the biggest thrill of all. He tells it this way:

"From Guam we were flying back to the States. Well, it was a last chance for me to thank all of the gals and guys in the troupe for their time and effort to help entertain our boys over there. So after the final number I began introducing them to the GI's.

"I'd say, let's bring Jill St. John out here for a big hand. And they'd applaud and yell. Then it was Janis Page, Anna Maria Alberghetti, Jerry Colonna, Anita Bryant, Les Brown and his Band.

"They'd all come out and take a bow and the place would go crazy.

"Then it happened. Some GI way in the back of the crowd yelled, "what about Bob Hope?"

The response left the glib comedian with nothing to say. Several thousand American boys on that desolate island rose to a standing ovation for old ski nose, their shouts and applause ringing through the air for a full five minutes.

"Nothing like that has ever happened in all the years of my career," the usually wise-cracking Hope admitted.

We were having a lamb chop lunch at his home in the San Fernando Valley. He sat quietly, reliving those moments in Guam.

"I've had a few thrills in my life," he said. "I've had 'em all. But that was something else. Something I'll never forget."

Hope has an affinity for men in uniform that is unique. No other man in or out of uniform engenders such affection from our soldiers, sailors and airmen. Even Hope can't explain it, but he knows it's there.

Televisers will see the Hope magic at work Friday night (Jan. 15.) when his annual Christmas show is aired.

The comedian is busy this week editing down more than 100,000 feet of film to 8,000 for his hour-long heart-warming closeups of the GI's enjoying a taste of home.

One shot, however, will be missing. That's the footage of the ovation given Bob on Guam. He wouldn't feel right about showing it on television.

He doesn't have to.

Ops centennial grants cover one-third cost

Because of the population of Ops Township, it was learned at a meeting of Ops Township Council Monday, centennial grants for the township's proposed $10,000 project would pay only slightly more than one-third of the cost. It was learned that the maximum grants available for the project, a new municipal building, would amount to $3,770.

The council was told that in making application, plans for the proposed building would have to be submitted. The council queried whether equipment sheds could be included as a centennial project but learned that they could not.

Play presented at UCW meet

Oakwood (PNS) — Unit 3 of Oakwood U.C.W. held their first meeting of 1965 at the home of Mrs. Frank Rich recently. Fourteen ladies answered the roll call.

The worship service led by Miss Catharine Gordon based thoughts for the new year, on striving to make the world a better place to live in knowing we can have faith that God will help us. Mrs. C. Wooldridge offered prayer and the scripture was read by Miss Birdie Cory. Miss Margaret Gordon read a poem.

Mrs. Bert Jewell, was pianist and several hymns were sung. Mrs. N. Grills past leader, presided, during the business period. The treasurer reported $29.00 had been given to the parent U.C.W.

The net proceeds from the tea room at the Christmas Bazaar amounted to $62.00.

Thanks are due those who contributed money and groceries. Collection was received, several fees were paid and $11.65 was given to the cent a day project.

The secretary reported sending letters of thanks to two companies which had made large contributions to the tea room at the bazaar.

A play on "Stewardship" was read by five ladies, and after further practice this play will be used at the general meeting.

The treasurer, Miss Candace Rich, and the secretary, Miss Margaret Gordon were returned to office for the coming year, but at the present, no leader has been found. Mrs. Grills not wishing to carry on.

A committee of five ladies were appointed to be responsible for canvassing if necessary during the year.

The next meeting will be in March at Mrs. Charles Wooldridge home. Mrs. Ross Webster and Mrs. Bert Jewell are the lunch committee and Mrs. Russell Giles and Miss Candace Rich will have charge of the worship service.

At the close of the meeting, lunch was served, and a social time enjoyed.

Zone Commander installs officers

Royal Canadian Zone Commander Ian Scott, President of Branch 67, Tom Madill, Public Relations chairman, W. F. Dermedy and Zone Membership officer Arnold Schroter installed the new executive of Haliburton Branch Legion on Friday evening.

The new president of the club is John Fergus of Minden. Immediate Past President James Miles. Executive members are Richard Clarke, Ross Anderson, Elbon Sibley, Max Sisson and Bill Neimi. Treasurer is H. Douglas. Sgt.-at-Arms Reg. Brooks and Branch Service Officer Arnold Douglas.

PLEASED WITH APPOINTMENT

Lindsay Police Chief John Hunter said he was pleased with the new chairmanships as designated by His Worship, Mayor Joseph Holtom. The chief said he was especially pleased with the appointment of Russell Taylor as Chairman of the Police Committee. When asked for his reaction to Mr. Taylor's appointment Chief Hunter replied, "Mr. Taylor has the ability and I am sure he will make every effort toward the betterment of the police force."

GAS PUMP STOLEN

Lindsay OPP reported a gas pump, motor-hose and nozzle stolen from the premises of the Omemee Ready Mix Concrete Company Limited. Lindsay OPP said the theft was reported yesterday but company officials said the theft could have occurred anytime in the past year. The items were not missed until recently, police said.

BE SENSIBLE

Did you ever try driving the sensible way? Most of you have, but there's always the little group of show-offs and bullies who can't seem to get it in their heads that taking risks invariably stacks the odds against them. They never experience the delight and satisfaction of driving properly, obeying the rules and not trying to out-speed and out-maneouver everybody else. It's true, you know. There's a lot of comfort and relaxation in driving the right way, signalling, obeying speed limits, staying in the proper lane, giving in to rowdy drivers and pompous pedestrians. Try it, and you'll never go back to the rat-race style of trying to dominate the scene.

"Two of the trio are frantically opposed to personal publicity. The third only hates it."

A LAST JOKE FROM FLEMING (ALIAS BOND, 007)

London (UPI) — The bequest sounded more like James Bond than his creator, Ian Fleming.

Bond, flicking away a last cigarette in the death chamber of Smersh, would exit chuckling about his three friends.

But would Fleming, the urbane man-of-the-world, take the same delight in their predicament?

When Fleming died last August 12, thus closing down what he called "The smallest and most profitable one man factory" in existence, his will showed bequests of 500 pounds-$1,400-each to three friends on condition they spent it within 19 months "on some extravagance".

Fleming could have simply left them the money to do with as they pleased, in which event no more would have been heard of it. But the injunction to commit extravagance turned the spotlight of public interest on them.

As the author of the James Bond novels must have known it would.

Two of the trio are fanatically opposed to personal publicity. The third only hates it.

"It seems to have caused them a spot of embarrassment", said Fleming's secretary, Miss Griffy Williams. "But I'm sure the money was bequeathed with the best will in the world. They were among his dearest friends".

She did not think it was a last joke from Fleming—it was more in Bond's character than his own.

One of Bond's three legatees is the poet and author William Plomer who is such a recluse he does not even have a telephone in his country cottage and has to be contacted by mail through his publishers.

When Fleming created James Bond in 'Casino Royale' to, as he said later, "sooth my nerves before the appalling business of getting married in 1952", it was Plomer who persuaded to continue and develop the character of Secret Agent 007—licensed to kill.

Plomer has not yet received the bequest—none of the trio has and there is no firm word when it will be handed over.

"The fact is", Plomer wrote U.P.I., "I have not decided how to spend the money left to me by Ian Fleming".

Author Robert Harling, who served with Fleming in British Naval Intelligence during the past war, is more approachable but not much.

"Private life", he said, speaking in telegraphically short sentences. "Fight hard to keep it. Will buy rare books on architecture. Probably 18th century editions. Sorry. No photographs, please".

Mrs. Lisl Popper, an Austrian widow and International designer, met Fleming when she was 17 (and he was 18) and they went skiing together.

"I don't like photographs of myself in newspapers", she said. "Some people came to the door once and took one and the next day my friends telephoned and said: 'Since Bond.

ON THE MAIN STREET

It is reported that a farmer living some five miles east of Lindsay found the top section of a roadpost on which were painted the words "5 miles to Gough's clothing store". This post recalls the years when similar mile posts could be found on every leading road entering Lindsay. The mile posts were popular as was the men's and boy's clothing store owned and operated by B.J. (Barney) Gough at the corner of Kent and William streets where the Victoria and Grey Trust is now located. It was Lindsay's largest store of its kind.

Mr. Gough was a believer in advertising. The entire length and depth of the east wall of the store on William Street bore a picture of a well dressed, tall man with suitable advertising "B. J." was tall, wore a goatee and was not the most handsome gentleman in town, but the most colourful. He was an R.C. and was broad-minded and tolerant. Whenever the Orangemen celebrated the glorious twelth in Lindsay, one window in the Gough store was decorated with all kinds of Orange ribbons, badges and canes which were for sale. In those days every person seemed to buy and wear Orange decorations of some kind.

B. J. Gough was the first merchant in Lindsay to pay for an entire page of advertising and it was in connection with an Orange celebration. The large type heading read "Welcome to William the King of Orange and his followers from B. J. Gough, the King of Clothiers."

Incidentally, B. J. Gough was a brother of Gough Brothers who for many years ran a fur business and fur garment store on Young Street, Toronto, just north of Eaton's store.

Wicker Hampers

Wicker clothes hampers should be coated with shellac regularly to keep them spic and span. The shellac is best applied by spraying, but it may be brushed on in a fairly uniform coating if thinned down with alcohol to a watery consistency. Use only fresh, white shellac.

¾ cup fine dry bread crumbs
Fat or oil for deep frying
Sour Cream Sauce*

In saucepan, mix together salmon, mashed potatoes, 1 egg, cheese, lemon juice, onion and seasonings. Stir over medium heat about 8 minutes, to evaporate excess moisture. Cool. Cover and chill thoroughly. Shape into 2-inch balls, roll in flour. Dip in remaining egg, beaten, then roll in bread crumbs. Chill. Fry croquettes in hot oil (375°) until golden brown, about 2 minutes. Drain on paper towels. Serve with Sour Cream Sauce.

*To Make Sour Cream Sauce: Mix ½ cup dairy sour cream, ¼ cup mayonnaise and 2 tablespoons drained pickle relish in saucepan. Slowly heat, stirring frequently; do not boil.
Make 1-inch balls, if served as hors d'oeuvres.

COUNTY ASSESSMENT PLAN SENT TO COUNTY COUNCIL FOR STUDY

Members of the Victoria County Assessment committee meeting Tuesday learned that there are ten counties now working under the County Assessment plan. Yesterday the committee considered a detailed estimate of the costs of a county assessment system and discussed at length the various changes the new system would bring about.

While the new system would be more mechanized than present systems, various aspects of advantage or disadvantage were pointed out. One point of objection was that the new system removed certain responsibilities of the local municipal body, but it was pointed out that the local clerk would still calculate the amount of tax after the County system printed the assessment forms. The meeting was told that under the new system assessment rolls would probably be finished early in September, but that tax rolls could not be made up until the local body struck its tax rate in the new year.

County assessor R. F. Hall provided estimates of the various costs involved and outlined procedures carried out in counties under the new system. He said that in one county the assessors commenced work in mid summer and the new assessment rolls were ready when the new system was put in effect at the start of one new year.

Reeve Hilliard Murphy of Bobcaygeon stressed that the financial aspect was not the only major decision involved. He stated that local control of municipal decisions were being farther removed from the local authority. This aspect however, was somewhat relieved when it was learned that the local officials would still have to compute the actual tax roll.

While the committee were keenly interested in the possibility of a County Assessment system, and realized that it could be the coming thing since the government has added its support, Col. R. I. Moore moved that the committee chairman Edward Lowes present the information to the January session without any recommendation. The committee also asked the county assessor to pare down the estimates wherever possible so that some of the suggested salaries might be a little out of line. The motion was seconded by Carden reeve William Johnston.

MANY NURSING HOMES DO NOT REACH STANDARDS

Toronto (UPI) — Many of Ontario's 440 licensed nursing homes would be shut down if they had to meet every aspect of nursing home legislation.

A senior official of the Ontario Department of Public Welfare said "untold hardship" would result if the homes were made to comply with the letter of the law.

Welfare Administrator Louis Cecile warned recently that his department would get tough with nursing homes failing to meet regulations.

WEATHER OUTLOOK

Cloudy today with periods of very light snow today. Clear tonight and sunny Thursday except for afternoon cloudiness. Colder winds light becoming northwest 14 this afternoon. The high today and low tonight 20 above and 10.

Family offered Texas assistance

A man from Dallas, Texas, has offered assistance to the Calberry family, who moved to an Ops Township farmhouse when the apartment building they were living in was torn down to make way for a parking lot last year. The recent letter, addressed to Mossom James of Ops Township Council said there was plenty of work in Dallas. The man said Mr. Calberry and his family could use part of his house, which was completely furnished and included a refrigerator and heater, for one month, rent-free and if things didn't turn out too well, the family could stay for three months without being charged rent.

Mr. Calberry said he wouldn't mind going to Texas; he would like to get out of this area.

Being A Member of Parliament Is Not A "Bed of Roses" - Lamb

"It has been surprising to me to meet so many people who think that being a Member of Parliament is "a bed of beautiful roses," said Charles Lamb, Conservative Member for Victoria, Haliburton and Ontario North, a few days ago.

Continuing Mr. Lamb remarked; "I soon found out at Ottawa, as a new and inexperienced member that Parliamentarians can be busy practically day and night if they are conscientious, and I believe I am in this class".

"Many of us were in session early in the morning, had time for short lunches at the noon hour, were back in session all afternoon and back again many a night with sessions lasting early into the morning. Besides we attended the many caucus meetings held by the party and also attended meetings of the Committees to which members were assigned."

"It is also surprising", said Mr. Lamb, "the number of calls a member has from his constituents and I was always glad to have them call, show them Parliament in session and perhaps carry out other favours.

"It was a personal delight for me to have so many school boys and girls, as well as busloads of adult people call on me at the House and it was a pleasant task entertaining. It all takes time in a busy schedule", he observed.

"Members are called on to answer hundreds of letters from constituents and from people outside the local riding" commented Mr. Lamb. "I took pride and pleasure answering all correspondence and in many cases ferreting out special information desired by my friends."

Questioned about local matters the member for Victoria and Haliburton said he had received many letters regarding the lifting of steel rails by the Canadian National Railway between Lindsay and Coboconk and had attended meetings held at Kirkfield and other points. He had also petitioned the Department of Transport on behalf of many interested people in the proposed abandonment of the railway line between Cannington, Lorneville and Beaverton, including Woodville.

"I have done my best in this respect, but I am reminded of the meeting held in one of the Western provinces when there was a great objection to lifting railway lines. The hall was filled with farmers and business men from a wide area. One of the first questions the chairman put to the audience was how many had arrived by using the railway and not a single hand went up—there is the answer to much of the argument", added Mr. Lamb.

Mr. Lamb was questioned regarding his stand on the abolition of capital punishment. "I always believed in the biblical injunction of an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth and a life for a life, but in this respect I have changed my opinion. I believe in punishment, but the present methods of hanging in this country and the use of the gas chamber and electrical

The Humble Apple

Curious the number of old adages which in our day and age are being proven to have more than a grain of truth in them.

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away" is the latest to be so vindicated. According to recent medical research, it may do just that.

Apple-eaters, it has now been demonstrated, are not only generally healthier than apple-haters, specifically, they also are significantly less prone to arteriosclerosis, respiratory infections and ailments, including asthma, and teeth and gum disorders.

Apple, anyone?

FATHER REMEMBERS WHEN

Extracts from the files of the Lindsay Daily Post of twenty-five and fifty years ago

This Day 25 Years Ago

Pinned by tree

George Matthews, Lindsay, is recovering at his home today from very painful injuries received when he was pinned by a tree near Cresswell, while working for Ellsworth Davey. The Post is informed that the falling tree pinned Mr. Matthews quite early in the afternoon and he was not found until 7.30 that evening.

When found lying under the tree by Fred Broad, the man was unconscious and it was feared he was seriously injured. He was brought to the office of Dr. Hill in Little Britain, where he was treated and where he remained for some time before being brought to his home. He was suffering from severe back injuries and shock.

Yacht Club

George McCrae was elected Commodore of the Victoria Yacht and Anglers Association at the annual meeting of the club Thursday night in the new club rooms on William Street. The new rooms have been completely redecorated and mark the first permanent club rooms which the association has passed since its inception.

Radio man speaks to club

Richard S. Lambert, of Toronto, originator of the CBC presentation "Old Country Mail," was guest speaker at the Canadian Club Friday night. The speaker regaled his audience with amusing anecdotes concerning life in the British Isles under war conditions.

RAF returns blow

British planes bombed a German island seaplane base and flew over Western German cities, it was announced today, as Nazi airmen continued their reconnaissance flights over the British east coast.

Runaway causes little damage

A runaway took place at noon today on Cambridge Street. The outfit, which was a delivery rig belonging to F. C. McMaster, the grocer, was stopping at a residence near the Cambridge Street Methodist Church when the horse took it into its head to go home and struck off down Cambridge Street. A soldier ran out to stop it but the horse bared its teeth and after chasing him back on to the sidewalk continued on down the street. It turned west on Peel Street and lost the hind end of the delivery sleight when it turned the corner. It was caught further up the street. No damage was done to either horse or outfit other than bending a couple of bolts.

Will keep operator

The Post is requested to announce that the rumour in circulation regarding the decision of the CPR in reference to the local day operator is without foundation. No matter what the future policy may be in regard to other departments of the service, the services of the day operator will not be dispensed with.

Patriotic meeting

A very successful meeting in the interests of the Patriotic Fund was held last night at Eden, Mariposa, with a very fair attendance and what the crowd lacked in numbers, they made up in enthusiasm.

Reeve Rogers occupied the chair in a very acceptable manner. Patriotic speeches of a high and interesting order were made by a number of prominent residents of the district, including Messrs. Mullen, Gillies and Jewell.

Band at rink

The band will be in attendance at the Lindsay Street rink tonight.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

The Great Survivor

Moscow (UPI) — Nikita Khrushchev's round peasant face crinkled in a broad smile as he told two American visitors, "If comrade Mikoyan had been born in your country he would now be a millionaire."

That was a few years ago when Khrushchev still was the Soviet Union's number one man and Anastas Ivanovich Mikoyan was a first deputy prime minister. Now Khrushchev is gone but Mikoyan holds title as Chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, or President of the USSR.

Mikoyan's present office in the Soviet scheme of things is considered more honorary and ceremonial than effective. But as a Communist Party Presidium member he nevertheless remains one of the Kremlin's top policy makers.

Staying on top or near the top of the Soviet Hierarchy has been the story of Mikoyan's career since 1918. He is known as the "great survivor." Others come and go — Stalin, Malenkov, Bulganin, Khrushchev. Mikoyan survives, just as he did in October when Khrushchev, who had appointed him president in July, went out.

Mikoyan himself has said he was on Stalin's purge list when Stalin fortuitously died in 1953. It was not his first escape.

From the beginning Mikoyan has been close to the top men among the men directing the destinies of the Soviet Union. He has held a variety of jobs—the highest that of First Deputy Premier under Khrushchev until he was named president.

Mostly his duties have been concerned with direction of domestic and foreign trade, and distribution of consumer goods and food. He is rated an acute business man.

Mikoyan's sharp, dark face is familiar all over the world and well known to Americans from several visits to the United States. Dapper and self assured, with a sharp sense of humour and a keen mind, he is the type of personality who goes over well with Americans.

Experts on Soviet affairs attribute Mikoyan's political longevity at least in part to the fact he never has seemed to shoot for the top spot in the Kremlin but has been satisfied with advisory roles. So far as is known he never attempted to build up a party organization of his own or to create a personal following. The right hand of the throne has been good enough for him.

In this view, neither Stalin nor his successors had reason to fear the energetic Armenian but were happy to use his obvious talents as a foreign trade expert and troubleshooter. Khrushchev for example, sent Mikoyan to Cuba during the 1962 missile crisis to soothe Fidel Castro's ruffled feathers over what Castro considered a Kremlin letdown.

Mikoyan's wife died while he was in Havana but he stayed on the job, not return for the funeral.

Observers concede that to some extent Mikoyan's ability to survive the various Kremlin power struggles must be credited to luck. Nevertheless he also seems usually to have sensed which way the wind was blowing.

In 1956, it was Mikoyan who was said to have made the first major anti-Stalin speech at the party congress, greasing the way for the famous Khrushchev oration that launched de-Stalinization.

Today, so far as any outsider in Moscow knows, Mikoyan is as entrenched in the Kremlin hierarchy as he has ever been. His post as president is looked upon as a fitting reward for his long years of service to the Communist party. It also apparently was intended to take some of the ministerial burdens from his shoulders. His health in recent years has not been so robust.

A joke making the rounds among Western diplomats in Moscow reflects Anastas Mikoyan's ability to hold on while his ruling colleagues in the Kremlin fall from power.

It is 1980, according to this story, and the Czar has been returned to power.

Nikita Khrushchev, by this time living as an emigre in southern California, telephones the Kremlin and ask the Czar for permission "to come home and spend my remaining years." The Czar says he has no objection, but first must consult with his prime minister:

"Mikoyan, could you come here a moment . . ."

The Welcome Mat

Paris, (UPI)—President Charles De Gaulle of France has given orders to roll out the welcome mat for President Johnson whenever he comes to Europe.

That does not mean U.S.-French frictions suddenly have been forgotten or their relations brought out of cold storage. But De Gaulle has decided it is time for him to sit down and talk with Johnson. He wants to give the U. S. president his version of how U. S. relations with Europe, and specifically with France, should develop during the rest of this century.

The fact Johnson has accepted gracefully De Gaulle's position that their meeting should take place on the French leader's home ground in Paris and that Johnson would be coming here specifically to see him removed the last roadblocks of the French side for such a get-together.

As he advances in years—he is now 74—De Gaulle concerns himself less with day-to-day housekeeping details of international relations. He thinks of them more and more in their historical perspective.

De Gaulle is relatively uninterested by this or that minor source of U.S.-French friction. His mind is working on a broad blueprint for the future. It is this blueprint he hopes to expound to President Johnson.

Aides say the aging French leader will reassure Johnson that the 190-year-old U.S.-French friendship and their alliance spanning two world wars and the east-west cold war are something basic and indissoluble so far as France is concerned.

De Gaulle likes to recall that at the height of the Cuban missiles crisis he was the first of America's allies to pledge all-out support if it came to a nuclear war.

But De Gaulle feels deeply that the partnership must be one of equals. He sees as the two partners the United States on the one hand and Western Europe on the other, with the Atlantic alliance as the link between them.

But he is passionately determined that there must be equality between the two. He believes Europe should have full responsibility for its own defense, its own economy and its own foreign policy.

He concedes that in the final instance Europe must continue to depend for its safety on the gigantic American nuclear umbrella. But, with this limitation, he insists that Western Europe must be completely free from American control or "domination"—in every field.

The "Europe of the six" which he seeks to weld together into a loose confederation of independent states today, he regards as the nucleus for a broader European union tomorrow—perhaps a quarter-century or a half-century from now.

This is the essence of the picture he is likely to paint for President Johnson.

ALL-OVER ROLLERS ARE OUT - -

The girl who sleeps with her hair in rollers spend approximately 2,920 hours a year being uncomfortable!

Now, with the coming of the new shorter and smoother hair styles, there's a way to 'roller' your hair only once a week and still look marvellous the other six days.

The trick is the use of Scotch magic mending tape for styling and setting your hair — and for preserving the style until next you wash your hair.

Hair stylists first discovered that tape was ideal for achieving the new "uncurled" look, and now the idea is catching on with girls at home.

This is started by putting the top hair in rollers. This will give a lift to the crown that lasts all week. After that rollers can be put away until the next shampoo.

Next, Scotch magic mending is used to set smooth bangs, sides and necklines which need only the slightest curl. Because the tape is moisture-proof, hair can be set either wet or dry.

After that, the nightly hair-care routine is quick, simple and comfortable — its taped! Before going to sleep at night, comb the banks into place and tape them. Then comb out cheek curls and tape them flat. In this way hair can be worn either brushed softly forward or curled behind the ears, finally, brush and tape the back neckline to keep the desired shape while asleep.

In no time at all the hair is set. No awkward rollers, and no piercing hair clips to mar a comfortable night's sleep!

In the morning, this tape comes off easily, without sticking, and a smart hair style is still fresh and new.

Sleeve Board

If you don't have the ordinary variety of sleeve board for use in pressing suits and dresses, improvise one by wrapping a large rolling pin with several clean towels. This provides a firm, padded surface of variable size which can easily be slipped into the sleeves.

Watering Houseplants

During cold weather, tap water can sometimes be too cold for your tender houseplants. Let the water stand until it attains room temperature before adding it to your plants. Or, you can speed the process by adding warm water.

Patent Leather

Orange juice produces a good polish on patent leather.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I mend small leaks in rubber hot-water bottles?

A. A temporary measure is to cover the hole with adhesive tape. A permanent way is to melt an old jar rubber, run the molten rubber over the hole with a flat-bladed knife and press it down with your fingers.

Q. How can I insure smooth-working zippers?

A. By rubbing occasionally with a bit of wax.

BYLAW PASSED

By-law number 1 - 65 received first, second, and third readings by town council and passed last night. By-law 1-65 authorizes the council to borrow up to $300,000 to meet the current expenses of the Corporation until sufficient tax money is collected to carry on. Clerk W. Bates told council that last year about half of this amount was all that was required ut til late in December. Last year's borrowing by-law was for the same amount.

RAINED OUT

Dardanelle, Ark., (UPI) — Dardanelle and Lamar high schools sloshed their way into the basketball record books over the weekend.

None of the players did anything unusual, but it was probably the first modern-day basketball game to be rained out at half time. The credit goes to the leaky roof in the ardanelle High school gym.

Earl Kennedy named chairman of Hydro Board

Earl Kennedy was elected chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission at the inaugural meeting on Tuesday evening.

The power cut off last week in the North Ward in the vicinity of Pottinger and William Street North was due to metal fatigue and was discussed. Mr. Lightbody revealed that the aluminum hydro line had been installed about 1916 and had received little or no maintenance till this time. If time and money permit it, the next year, the Hydro Commission would like to remove the transformer from this area and relocate it and replace the aluminum line which runs down Victora Ave. to the former Arsenal, he said.

Before going into committee the Commission discussed the partial financing of hydro furnaces if a local contractor installed them. More details were needed and they will be brought to the next meeting and discussed.

disposal methods in other countries does not seem to me to humane. I believe they have abolished capital punishment by hanging in all civilized countries in the old, old days a man or a child could be hung for stealing a loaf of bread or a candy from a store."

"I think", continued Mr. Lamb, "the records will show that seventeen or more people have been sentenced to die in this country in the past one but that there have been no explaition of crimes by that ancient method. The official hangman, I understand, collects a salary of $3,000 a year. Life imprisonment, with its special avenue for learning a trade, re-establishing culprits (many of whom are mere boys), and the opportunity of becoming useful members of society when they are liberated, seems to me to be the best method of punishment."

Talk of Resigning?

Mr. Lamb was asked if the talk of him retiring or resigning as a member because of ill health was true.

"I have heard that rumour", said Mr. Lamb, "and I would like to know where it started. It is true I did have a spell of sickness, and I certainly am not alone in this respect, but I have been feeling much better lately. Why should I resign? I put my all into winning the Riding and I have tried to represent the Riding well at the Lawa. It takes time to adjust one's self at Ottawa and Members are under tremendous pressure. The Members of Parliament who appear to be in the limelight the most, are the men of long experience and there are Members who have been in Parliament for many years who are seldom heard in debate, but they are looked on as the hardest workers behind the scenes. A Member has to "learn the ropes" and in time adapt himself and become acquainted with the various multitude of matters under consideration.

Mr. Lamb said a meeting of the local Association for the election of officers should be held in the month of January. New officers will be elected and matters of Riding organization will possibly be considered. Mr. Lamb said he felt there would not be an election in 1965.

Mr. Lamb said he had received many favourable comments on the speech he made in the House during the flag debate. One paragraph was used also by the Hon. Gordon Churchill in his speech, was the reference to the medals issued to Canadian soldiers who took part in the Fenian raid. "I mentioned it in my speech", said Mr. Lamb, "that a Lindsay citizen, R. W. Pitts, had in his possession a Fenian raid medal which was issued to his father. On one side of the medal was a suitable inscription and the Red Ensign, which was recognized in 1870 as Canada's National flag."

Auxiliary of Omemee Legion elect officers

Omemee (PNS) — Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 497 have elected the following officers for 1965.

President, Mrs. James Brooks; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Jack Fox, 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Arthur Knout, Treasurer, Mrs. Dennis Acreman, Secretary, Mrs. Ross Rehill; Sgt. at arms, Mrs. Keith Hickson, Executive, Mrs. Russell Rawlins, Mrs. Elizabeth Blake, Mrs. Harry Ellis, Mrs. Clinton Endicott and Mrs. Wm. Acreman. Comrades John Bent and Robert Skuce assisted with the election.

A pot luck supper was scheduled for Jan. 2 when the installation took place.

Leading producer to speak at Academy Foundation meet

One of Canada's leading theatrical producers, Miss Marigold Charlesworth, Director and Co-Founder of Canada's Red Barn Theatre, will speak at the Academy Theatre Foundation's annual meeting at the Academy Theatre tonight.

Miss Charlesworth started her career in professional theatre in England, studying at London's Royal Academy of Dramatic Art. She then went on to become a member of the famous Stratford-upon-Avon company. In addition, she made appearances in a number of London's West End productions and BBC Radio and Television.

Since coming to Canada Miss Charlesworth has appeared in leading parts in several CBC Radio and Television presentations and in addition to her involvement with the Red Barn Theatre has appeared in the title role of Juliet in the Canadian Players touring production, directed at the National Theatre School and the Crest Theatre.

The annual meeting has been called to elect the 1965 officers for the Academy Theatre Foundation.

MINOR INJURIES IN TWO-CAR CRASH

A vehicle driven by Gordon MacCauley, 21, of 35 Queen Street sustained $600 when it was in collision with a vehicle driven by Ralph Calvert, 18, of RR6 Lindsay, at the intersection of Lindsay Street South and George Street at 10:20 p.m. last night. Lindsay Police said four people who were injured in the accident were treated and released from the Ross Memorial Hospital.

Police said the accident occurred when Calvert evident'y attempted to pass another vehicle which was travelling south on Lindsay Street. Calvert's care went out of control and struck the McCauley vehicle which was stopped at the intersection of George and Lindsay Street. Police said the two drivers sustained minor injuries and Velda Miller of 35 Queen Street, a passenger in the McCauley vehicle and Carl McLean of St. Patrick Street, a passenger in the Calvert automobile also sustained minor injuries.

No estimate of damage was available for the Calvert car.

Lindsay Police Sergeant Gordon Eberts investigated.

Lewis Keefer

Haliburton (PNS) — Born in Haliburton, Lewis Oliver Keefer dearly beloved eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Keefer passed away in Whitby on Sunday, January 10th. He was the husband of Mrs. Ann Keefer and dear father of Mrs. Mary Laliberte of Peterborough, Mrs. Jean Gerow, Peterboro, Harold and Ronald of Midland, Robert of Richmond Hill and Oliver at Peterboro, Norman of Frenchman's Bay, dear brother of George of Haliburton, Rev. Toronto not ready for amalgamation

Toronto (UPI) — Unless citizens in suburban communities show more interest in local affairs, self government will disappear according to Ontario Municipal Affairs Deputy Minister Lorne Cumming.

However, Cumming said yesterday that Toronto is not ready for an amalgamation of city and suburbs in the immediate future.

He told reporters he had not made a mistake in dismissing an applicant for amalgamation in 1951 while he was chairman of the Ontario Municipal Board.

"I have seen nothing since that would convince me to change my view", he said.

Fined $50

Wolfgang Schaffer of RR2, Stayner was fined $50 and costs in Lindsay Police Court today or 15 days for failing to produce proof of insurance. Fenelon Falls OPP Constable Dale Cole testified that the man produced an expired insurance card when he was asked for it by police near Coboconk on November 29.

Annual bonspiel

The annual Lindsay Business Girls Bonspiel will be held this coming Saturday. Rinks will be competing for the Labatts-Adams Trophy. Rinks are entered from Paris, Ontario, Toronto and Trenton as well as from Lindsay and surrounding areas.

Fined $100 for prowling

A 22-year-old Lindsay man, Joseph Avery of 38 Glenelg St. was fined $100 and costs in Lindsay Police Court today or 30 days after he was convicted of prowling at night near a local motel.

On Monday Lindsay OPP Constable Peter Hamilton said he was on routine patrol at 3:20 a.m. on January 10 when he saw a car parked at the south shoulder of County Road 18B, near the motel. He said he saw footprints leading from the abandoned car to several windows of the motel. He said the accused, who was found to be the owner of the vehicle, was apprehended later in town.

World news today

London (UPI) — Russia has called for the "Immediate extension of the three power nuclear test ban treaty but has ruled out any International control over the police."

The Russian call came in response to latest British suggestions that the test ban should be extended, to include underground tests which are so far excluded from the three power pact.

The test ban covers explosions above ground, underwater and in the atmosphere.

Leopoldville, The Congo — Premier Moise Tshombe yesterday rejected any plan for putting the Congo under International control.

"No Congolese can tolerate, I am convinced, that any organization—International or African and even if it calls itself the Organization of African Unity—put the administration of this country under tutelage", Tshombe said in a newspaper interview with the Etoile Du Congo.

He was commenting on a proposal for settling the Congo rebellion put forward by former Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Kenosha, Wis. — A baby girl of a set of quadruplets born to the Robin Graffs Monday died today, a hospital report said.

The hospital said the infant girl was the third child born Monday night to Mrs. Joyce Graff. The infant had suffered from apparent respiratory difficulties.

The hospital said the three surviving infants were "doing well".

The quadruplets were the first born in Wisconsin since 1907. An attempt was being made to determine the cause of death.

Tokyo — A Nationalist Chinese freighter with 44 persons aboard split in two in heavy seas 320 miles east of Tokyo today, the U.S. Air Force reported.

A spokesman said 21 survivors were rescued by ships which rushed to the scene.

The pilot of an air force rescue plane said the bow of the vessel sunk but that the stern remained afloat.

Cause of the split was not reported.

The ship, the SS Grand out of Formosa, was bound for Yokohama from San Francisco with a cargo of iron.

Saigon — South Vietnamese Premier Tran Van Huong Tuesday began sounding out Saigon's splintered political factions for suggestions on forming a new legislature.

Huong, faced by continuing Buddhist-inspired efforts to topple his regime, also contacted military leaders to discuss qualifications for the law-making body.

A group of young generals dissolved the previous legislature-the High National Council-three weeks ago in a partial coup d'etat on the ground that it was ineffective.

Woman driver fails test - loses examiner

Bournemouth, England, (UPI)—Mrs. Vera Byrne's driving was too much for the examiner who accompanied her on the road test part of her license application.

He jumped out of the car and ran.

The incident happened yesterday in the seaside resort.

Mrs. Byrne didn't really blame the examiner. She said she turned the wrong way into a one-way street and got stuck in a maze of oncoming traffic.

"I was petrified," Mrs. Byrne said. "The examiner directed me to a sideroad and got out. I was abandoned."

The License Examining Office looked into the matter.

"The examiner decided, quite rightly, to terminate the test in the interests of public safety," a spokesman said. "He was compelled to take verbal and physical action to prevent a more serious situation arising."

Mrs. Byrne, who is 44, did not mention what words were said or what physical action the examiner took.

But she admitted that he was "quite right" in failing her on the test.

Council Briefs

Authorization was passed for members of council to attend various conventions during the coming year. A member of council along with the town engineer were named to attend the Ontario Good Roads Convention February 22, 23, 24.

Membership was renewed in the Mayors' and Reeves Association and a delegation suggested to attend their conference in Kitchener, June 27-30.

The Town and Village Association will be meeting in Delhi, January 29th and 30th. Mayor Holtom suggested an invitation be extended by any Lindsay member who can attend, inviting the Association to consider Lindsay as a meeting place for one of their future conventions.

Clerk-treasurer B. Bates going over the Department of Highways audited report, told council that an additional $2,200 subsidy has been turned up in further grants on work board projects. The clerk also reported little response to the actual 5% discount on prepaid taxes so far in January. He said that payments generally start later in the month.

All governments in Canada spent $722 per capita in 1963, and took in $683.

PARKING METER AND TICKET REVENUE SUBSTANTIALLY UP

Parking Meter revenue for the town of Lindsay showed an increase of almost $3,500 in 1964 over that of 1963 according to reports received at Lindsay council meeting last night. Receipts for 1963 were $23,845.67 while the 1964 receipts were $24,343.71.

Revenue from parking tickets also showed a substantial increase of almost $2,000. The 1963 figure of $4,641.86 compared to $6,640.43 for 1964 missed the $2,000 increase by $1.43.

Deputy reeve Neil reported an increase of 13 single people receiving welfare benefits compared to last December, 32 as opposed to 19 in December 1963. Total cost for welfare for December 1964 was $5,535.19 with the province paying $4,072.47 leaving $1,462.72 as the towns share. The total number receiving welfare benefits in December numbered 174.

Lindsay Board of Parks Management were granted an advance of $2,000 by council last night on their tree removal budget of $9,700. A detailed statement of this budget will receive further study by the finance committee. Of the $9,700 total, $6,600 was earmarked for labour, $2,600 for equipment and $500 for tree replacement.

Fire department answered ten calls in December

The fire department report for December 1964 showed total estimated damage for the month of $100.00 Ten alarms were responded to with no damage in nine calls. A car fire, four space heaters attended, two sprinkler alarms, and two miscellaneous.

Thirty ambulance calls covered a total of 230 miles in December. 27 calls were for sickness and three for accident. There was a balance of $131.63 in receipts over expenses for the month.

Fire Chief Arnold Watson listed 13 inspections in his December report covering one rear lane, two mercantile, five public assembly, two service stations, one complaint, and two manufacturing inspections.

A total of 269 hours of instruction were recorded in December at the fire hall with 58 hours for volunteers and 211 for permanent firemen, 42 hours on factory tours headed the list with 36 hours on basic hydraulics and 34 hours on ventilation, and 27 hours on resuscitation receiving most attention.

The George Williamson curling trophy will rest for the next twelve months on a shelf in the home of Stan Edmonds.

Tuesday night, skip Edmonds' rink wrestled victory from a rink skipped by Frank Tummon, who will receive runner-up prizes. Rinks eliminated in the semi-finals were skipped by Art Woodrow and Jack Bellamy.

The oldest event in the local club, the Patron-President competition has also reached the semi-finals. The finals will be played at the Peel street rink on Thursday night. Patron Col. Moore and President Don Ferguson will present their prizes at the end of the curling season.

Mixed curling has caught the fancy of curlers this season to a greater degree than in any other department of the club. Veteran curlers of decades ago would literally "turn over" if they witnessed what was going on at Peel street rink last Sunday afternoon. Twenty-four rinks filled with mixed curlers occupied six sheets on two draws. Players had a real invigorating and healthy time and all games were thoroughly enjoyed.

Bell starting soon to replace 800 telephones in Fenelon Falls

Bell Telephone installers will soon start the task of replacing nearly 800 telephone sets in Fenelon Falls.

Reason for this is the conversion to dial telephone service late this year, says C. B. Symonds, Bell manager for this area.

"We try and get this work done well ahead of the conversion date for several reasons," he said. "For one thing, the job of replacing one telephone is in itself a big undertaking. Also, we have to allow time to check back and make certain each set has been installed in good order and then run tests to see that all lines function correctly."

In making the announcement, Mr. Symonds mentioned that Fenelon Falls customers could take advantage of the installer visits to consider the convenience of having more telephone service in their homes.

He added that the installation charge for extra residential telephone facilities is waived if the work is done while the installer is calling at a home to change the main telephone.

The Bell manager reminded customers that seven-figure numbers will become effective at dial conversion time.

"This means," Mr. Symonds said, "that Fenelon Falls will join the growing number of exchanges here and in the United States that have adopted the All Number Calling (ANC) plan."

Main advantage of ANC is that its use makes more numbers available — sufficient to ensure an adequate supply for many years.

NATURALIST CLUB PRESIDENT REVIEWS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Grant MacArthur was elected president of Victoria County Naturalist's Club at the annual meeting held on Monday evening at the LCVI. Immediate past president is Charles Brett.

First vice-president is Miss Hazel Freeman, second vice-president Charles Brett and directors John Doherty, Bob Colvin, Miss Anita O'Keefe, Len Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Casey. Publicity secretary Miss D. M. Harris.

Retiring President Charles Brett expressed thanks to members for past co-operation, reviewed 1964 activities and highlighted the vast scope of nature available for personal study.

"It has been a most successful year", commented President Brett, "and one that has given me much pleasure and satisfaction. First and foremost, I think that we have achieved the main object of my personal wish, to see the club enjoy a wider appreciation of Natural History and take in our programme the many aspects of nature study that go to make the world around us such a fascinating place."

President Brett reviewed the talks the members had heard during the year and the outings they had enjoyed. "Our outing to Algonquin Park was certainly a great success and a full coachload of members spent a most happy day wandering about under expert guidance and learning much about wildlife in its natural state."

Mr. Brett spoke of the club's campaign to keep the lagoons free from the depredations of vandals and acknowledged the generous loan to the club of a collection of nature books acquired by Mr. E. W. Calvert. He expressed thanks to the LCVI authorities for placing the library at the club's disposal.

"The attendance throughout the year has been quite remarkable", he said, "nearly every meeting bringing together about 50 members which I think must be a record for any similar organization in Lindsay. It is all the more gratifying that this number includes a goodly proportion of junior members whom we have tried to attract. Several members come from some distance in the country—a fact that speaks well for the attraction of our meetings."

PUBLIC ARE THE PROBLEM IN CONSERVATION — SWANSON

"Fish and Wild Life Conservation" was subject of a talk by guest speaker, Percy Swanson, to the Victoria Naturalist's Club this week at Lindsay Collegiate Vocational Institute.

Mr. Swanson, originally from Chapleau, Ontario, is Lands and Forests' Supervisor of Fish and Wild Life for Lindsay and surrounding area of 6,000 square miles.

Mr. Swanson gave a breakdown of the various departments and functions of the Lands and Forests, stressing the tremendous demand on natural resources by animals and man in order to live.

"The Public are the problem children", he said. "The biggest task incorported 80% management of human behaviour and 20% management of land and water.

Concern for the extinction of species was born by factual revelation of 178,000 hunting licences issue in 1952 increased to 500,000 by 1962.

Mr. Swanson's cryptic philosophy "Right Conversation leads to right Conservation" emphasized that right thinking, respect for nature and the law, fair play, generosity and humility are part and parcel of the "Good Sportsman".

Following his talk, Mr. Swanson was thanked by Len Thurston.

FIRE DESTROYS TRAILER HOME

Bethany (PNS) — Fire of unknown origin gutted the trailer home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Gilbanks here on Sunday night.

Occupants of the trailer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martichenko were dining with neighbours when they noticed smoke pouring from their home.

Quick response by neighbours failed to stop the blaze before much damage was done.

The Martichenko family which includes four children, Mary Ann, Debbie, Wayne and Diane are staying temporarily with Mr. and Mrs. Roland Scott.

Their little dog Tippy died of smoke suffocation.

Although no estimate of damage has been released, it is believed that the trailer is beyond repair and all the furnishings were destroyed. The Martichenko's lost all their clothing except what they were wearing, bedding and household supplies.

HUMILIATING!

London (UPI) — The Sun newspaper protested editorially today that a management consultant firm has introduced lie detectors in Britain.

The paper urged people to "indignantly refuse" to take lie detector tests. "The lie detector — is a most humiliating device," the Sun said. "The Americans have used them for years."

Kiwanis Juveniles scuttled 5-3 by Fenelon Falls

Lindsay Kiwanis Juveniles were tripped up in the late stages of their game last night by Fenelon Falls Juvenile and suffered a 5 - 3 loss.

After a scoreless first period Doug Lemoire scored twice in the second period to give the home team a head start. Up to this point the bigger Kiwanis boys had most of the puck, but the visitors checked closely to keep the game in reach.

Wylie Suggett got one back for Fenelon Falls early in the third period but Lemoire completed his hat trick to give Lindsay at 3 - 1 lead with fourteen minutes left. From here in, the sharp positional plays and accurate passing by the visitors began to overcome the rink long individual rushes by the Kiwanis team. David Watson started the Cataract comeback followed by Ronald McInnes to tie the score, then Edgar Dunn and Ronald McInnes each added a goal to clinch the win.

Haliburton Juveniles will make their second visit of the season next Tuesday night to meet the Kiwanis Juveniles at 9:00 p.m.

Recently selected as "Miss Boating" for 1965, pretty Jean Milburn of Toronto will reign over the 7th annual Canadian Boat Show in the Automotive Building, Exhibition Park Toronto, from February 5 to 13. The marine exhibition will have the most extensive display of boats, engines, marine hardware and boating accessories ever assembled under one roof in Canada. More than 160 exhibitors from seven countries will display a variety of boats and marine products.

NEWS FROM THE LCVI

BIG WEEK PROPOSED

One of the problems at school this term has been recognized by the Student Council. That problem is 'school spirit'. The older students on the council have realized that something is definitely wrong with "school spirit" this year and they are going to try to remedy this situation. They no doubt remember the past few years when they were in junior grades and the older students stimulated the theme of "school spirit" and now they know it is up to themselves, the senior students of the school to guide the student body to a path of greater school spirit.

This problem has been known for several months and now something is being done about it. The problem is not yet too severe but school spirit is certainly a great deal lower than that of previous years. The students of LCVI are not the only persons to notice this. In the fall, during the football playoffs with the two Peterboro Collegiates, the students from Peterboro were shocked by the weak support our two football teams received. This is an example of the lack of sufficient school spirit in LCVI and there are plenty of others.

Now, the Student Cuoncil as stated earlier, are going to try remedying the situation. They have several good ideas. They plan to have a week of festivities starting Monday morning and ending Friday at 3:10. They plan to have an "Old Clothes Day" when students will wear their old clothes to school. Then they plan a "Colour Day" and perhaps another "Feller Repeller Day". The climax, which is not yet decided, may be a Hootenany on Friday.

Best of luck Student Council Members, and congratulations on recognizing and trying to remedy the situation.

NEW FLAG

It has been reported that the Student Council has ordered Canada's new flag. The members of the council plan to have it fly on the flag pole at the front of the school. An assembly is being planned to officially receive the new flag.

DRAMA CLUB PREPARATIONS

With the new term being started, the Drama Club is already preparing for their annual "Drama Night." The publicity manager of the Drama Club, John Murphy, informed me that nearly all auditions have taken place and there are only a few vacant roles remaining. Of course, he said, stage hands and make-up artists are always needed. All who are in any way interested should attend the next meeting of the Drama Club. The exact date will be announced later.

This year, as in other years, there will be four one-act plays.

The four plays and their directors are as follows: "The House with the Twisty Windows", directed by John Murphy; "The Mask", directed by Terry Coderli; "A date for Bobby Sox" directed by Terry Moony and "The Boer" directed by John Humphries. This promises to be a very entertaining evening for all who attend.

In trying to eliminate the problem of the actors not being heard, the Drama Club has decided to use only one half of the auditorium. This means, of course, there will be two separate performances. The dates have been set and they are February 18th and 19th. Tickets are 75c for adults and 50c for students. Support the Drama Club and your fellow students while enjoying yourself. Attend "Drama Night".

TIMBER WOLF - THE GOOD NEIGHBOUR

White River — This frigid part of Ontario's vast northland may hold the dubious reputation of recording the province's coldest winter weather but it has a warm spot in its heart for the much maligned timber wolf.

Noting that "the howling of timber wolves is one of the most characteristic and exciting sounds of the north woods", the District Office of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests here observes: "It is being appreciated by more and more people as the realization grows that these animals will not attack human beings and that their presence is more often beneficial than harmful to the interests of man.

"The wolf occurs in northern areas around the world. In primitive North America, deserts were the only areas in which they did not occur. They lived in habitats that varied from the short grass prairies of Texas to the bleak tundra of the High Arctic Islands.

"The range of the wolf has been greatly reduced since the continent was colonized. In Ontario, however, they still occur over a large part of the province and are absent only from densely populated southern areas.

"In colour, our wolves are most commonly in variations of browns and greys. In the southern part of their range it is usually very difficult to tell individuals apart. In the north, it is not uncommon to observe packs that contain individuals that vary in colour from light cream to almost jet black.

"Wolves are very social animals and live in groups or packs which are believed to be families. They are primarily dependent on big game animals for their livelihood and cannot persist in an area for any extended period where large grazing or browsing animals are absent".

STAMP CORNER

The Golden Jubilee of Nigeria's Boy Scouts and the Scout Jamboree will be commemorated with a four stamp set to be issued in Lagos this month. The values of the set will be 1d, 3d, 6d and ½d and this set will be followed by a souvenir sheet containing a block of four of the ½d, value to be released in February.

Other commemmorative issues of Nigeria in 1965 will include stamps to commemorate International Co-operation, World Meterorological Year and the International Telecommunications Union Centenary.

GHANA

Topical collectors will appreciate the new multi-coloured pictorial issue released by Ghana in Decembtr. These bright stamps show animals, flowers and birds. The set of eight denominations picture: 1d African elephant, 1½d Secretary bird, 2½d Purple Wreath flower, 3d Grey parrot, 4d Mousebird, 6d African Tulip tree, ½d Amethyst Starling and 2/6d Hippopotamus. The set will also appear in two sheetlets, one of which holds the demoninations 1d, 1½d and 2½ and the other one holding the rest of the values of the set.

A new type of highway safety warning device is beginning to appear on Canadian highways, announced the Canadian Highway Safety Council. This new safety triangle is clearly visible day and night, at a distance of 1,500 feet. When a vehicle, for any reason, is stalled on the side of a highway, the safety device is placed 100 feet behind the stalled car or truck. Constructed of aluminum, surfaced with red reflective material, it is always visible night or day, in any weather condition, and there is no danger of failure from a power source. The R.C.M.P. have equipped their patrol cars with this new safety red triangle and it has been accepted in many countries around the world as a standard highway warning emblem. The Canadian Highway Safety Council recommends every vehicle on the highway should be equipped with such emergency warning equipment.

Completed in 1894 at a cost of over one million pounds, Tower Bridge is one of the best-known features of the London scene. The lifting and lowering of the bascules, each weighing over a thousand tons, to allow the passage of ships, takes five minutes and is performed by hydraulic machinery. By an act of Parliament a tug has always to be in readiness nearby for possible emergencies—British Travel Association photo.

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York (UPI) — Nature called the colours when the nation's trend-setting designers worked on spring clothes.

The colours range from the many hues in a flower garden to the pure tones of a rainbow. In between are the many splendoured reds and pinks found in a spectacular sunrise or sunset.

The call to the colours was evident during the 10 days of fashion for the Fashion Press Corps in New York-an event ending tomorrow and sponsored by the New York couture group and the American designer showings.

Favored colours, explained in the New York Couture group's fabric report, include the following:

— Tender greens, ranging from the ethereal first sprouts to the freshness of green grass.

— Blossom whites, featuring a variety of whites from the full blooming flower to all the subtle nuances seen in their hearts and buds.

— The blues, mostly delphinium blues, ranging from pale sky blue to deep aqua tones.

—Marigold following the gamut from pale yellow to the deepest, sharpest orange.

— Sweet pea shades going from the faintest pink to delicate mauves and lilac.

Prints in most designer collections favour a floral theme. Typical was a simple evening sheath in the Adele Simpson collection. It was done in a brilliant red floral silk crepe with a shirred neckline. It was teamed with a matching long stole hemmed with bright red ostrich feathers.

Highlights of other designer collections:

— B. H. Wragge made news with a crocodile tears dress. The tears appeared as cutouts in a white linen tunic worn over a Mardi Gras silk sheath. A "happiness is a warm poppy" print speaks for itself. The Mardi Gras print was a candy-striped affair. The collection also introduced the Wragge "strider"–a sleeveless dress with a bell-shaped divided skirt. It was suggested as ideal for afternoon shopping and-on-to-cocktails-and-dinner.

— Mollie Parnis liked the look of bare black dresses, and of veiled black dresses over nude. She called them "danger dresses". A collection of costumes called "public lives" was composed of dresses and coats, some in cravat silk. Most colorful: a turquoise and pink textured costume-quilted coat over a slim dress with shutter panel skirt.

— Geoffrey Beene in his first collection after receiving the Coty award, featured a crisp and sharply tailored look for daytime and a contrasting ly soft for one evening. Coats and jackets varied in length, cut and fit. A full-length glam hounds-tooth wrap coat was sashed in satin. A tunic-length "skimp coat" was shown over a slightly shorter tunic over blouse. His evening clothes included Gossamer chiffons with full skirts.

— Luis Estevez called his colection "Romantica". It included wide-legged silk hostess pyjamas which occasionally bared most of the midriff. Dresses had flowing lines and soft colours. Some of the movement came via trumpet-flared and ruffly black-tiered skirts.

— Rudi Gernreich, father of the topless bathing suit, introduced swimuits for children. Featuring portholes and keyholes, the suits were designed for regal knitwear. Some of the 1-piece suits took the form of inverted "V" tops over skinny briefs. Jump suits, once confined to the gym were favoured by Gernreich for swimming and surfing. These were sleevelss and had Jamaica-length legs.

He also used wide, wide straps to support briefs or bikinis.

Gernreich also showed three new models of his "No Bra". Designed for Equisteform, the bras were called — no side, no back, and no front. The No Bra is two sheer bust cups, cantilevered by a continuum of stretch tapes strategically placed. The No back one is bare to the waist in back and held in place with a narrow contour stretch waistband. And the No front bra just seems to have no front. The name is linked to the fact that the transparent tricot bra cups are literally half cups.

It's all part of Gernreich's campaign to liberate women from rigid corseting.

LINDSAY DAILY POST

Little Britain

Mrs. George Laroque has returned to her home at Montreal after spending a couple of weeks vacation in the village with her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Laroque and their family.

Mr. Alvin Found and family spent Christmas and also New Year's with some of his friends and relatives Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Found at Lindsay.

Mrs. Ray Moore and Mrs. Robert Thornton have returned to Lindsay to resume their duties on the teaching staff after spending the yuletide season at their homes in the village.

Several of the hockey fans and spectators for this community motored to the Cannington arena on Saturday evening of last week to witness the hockey game between the Little Britain Aces and the Newmarket Redmen.

The many friends of Mrs. Everett Mark are glad to hear that she is now able to be home again and that her condition is considerably improved after being confined to the Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Varcoe spent Christmas with their son-in law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hickson and their family at Mount Horeb.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Found (nee Elsie Coolidge) have moved and are now settled on their new farm and property on the sixth concession of Mariposa in the Salem District which they purchased some time ago from Mr. John Colette.

Messrs Alvin and Donald Found, Garnet Murray, Stanley Dayton, Ross Bloye and Noble Swain motored to Lindsay on Monday evening of last week where they were in attendance at the monthly Fellowship meeting which was held at William Street Baptist Church and after the meeting all adjourned to the basement of the church where refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed.

Mrs. Nelson Palmer has accepted a position on the Little Britain Teaching Staff and commenced her new duties in connection with the same at New Years and replaces Mrs. Stan Nowakowski who has been acting in that capacity here for some time.

Mrs. G. B. McGibbon has returned to the village after spending a couple of week's vacation with her son-in-law and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Stephenson and their family in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hill and family of Peterboro spent New Years in the village at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. George Varcoe.

Several members and adherents of the Little Britain Fellowship Baptist Church met and gathered on the farm property. of Mr. Raymond Found where they held a wood bee for the church and the buzz saw was supplied by Mr. Alvin Found.

Friends of Mrs. Russel Wallis regret to hear of her illness and that she is at present confined to the Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay but hope that her condition will soon show signs of improvement.

Rev. and Mrs. Lorne Norton and their family have returned to their home in the village after spending the Yuletide season with some of their friends and relatives at London and Brantford.

Mr. Austin Mortimer spent New Year's with his son and daughter in law Mr. and Mrs. William Mortimer and their family at Fingerboard.

Misses Hazel and Ethelwyn Dix of Peterborough spent a few days in the village at the home of their brother in law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Everett Mark.

Friends of Mr. Wilmot Mark of Valentia regret to hear of his illness and that he is at present a patient at the nursing home in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rhodes have returned to North Bay to spend another month with some of their friends and relatives after spending the Yuletide season at their home west of the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wakeford motored to Sunderland the home of his sister Mrs. Dan where they spent New Years at Glover.

Mr. and Mrs. Gladwin Davey of Sunderland called on some of their friends and relatives here last Sunday evening and also attended the service at the Fellowship Baptist Church while here.

ON THE MAIN STREET

A gentleman who has rendered over 37 years of faithful, conscientious and important service as an employee of the Lindsay Post Office has retired. He is Guy Mills, well known and popular Lindsay citizen.

Mr. Mills had several years to go in the civil service but decided to retire in order to establish himself in some line of business in the town. Mr.Mills has been one of the most efficient and popular members of the post office staff and for several years past has been the assistant Postmaster. He has been active in the work of his church, in boy scout organizations and in recent years has rendered fine service as a member of the Town Planning Board. Several years ago he contributed to the life of sport in the town, especially as a hockey player. His friends wish him well.

"Every Little Movement has a meaning all its own". Remember this old time but far from being worn out popular dance tune? The tune is still popular on many dance record programmes. It was recalled to mind Saturday night when heard on the air. "Every Little Movement has a meaning all its Own" was heard at many a dance held in the present town hall by the Red Feather Club. One of the best dancers at the time who taught lessons was Walter Dixon, a photographer by profession. Another well known teacher of dance steps was the late Mrs. T. J. Tully. Most of the dancers wore dancing shoes and the dancers really "dolled up", when it came to formal dances and they were popular. The ladies wore long evening dresses with plenty of jewellery and carried small beautiful mesh purses of silver and gold and fancy coloured beadings. The men looked "handsome" in long tails, shirts with pearl buttons and short white vests, also with pearl buttons. Waltz and two step dances were popular and there was fun in dancing the number of "Coming Through the Rye" which involved what seemed to be difficult steps and manoeuvres. Lunch was served by the ladies, lots of sandwiches and fancy home made cookies. No one carried extra liquid beverage on the hip and coffee was enjoyed. Remember!

A galaxy of statesmen and leading personalities attended at the annipersary event celebrated at Kingston in connection with the 150th anniversary celebration of Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's first Confederation Prime Minister. The Hon. Leslie M. Frost. Hon. J. Robarts and the Hon. John Diefenbaker and others attended.

It is worthy of note that Sir John visited Lindsay many years ago. The late Samuel Howe of Lindsay often recalled the fact. Apparently Sir John addressed a large gathering at the town hall when he spoke from a small balcony which at the time was located above the present entrance to the present town hall. At the time the hall was known as the opera house (the first in Lindsay).

The present long and ancient windows of the present town hall have been admired by many people interested in "Canadiana". The windows resemble the original windows in the building where the first Confederation parliament met in Charlottetown.

Mrs. Holgate of Scarborough says, "everyone I know who is a member of Chambers Food Club is pleased with the savings!"

"In 36 months I saved the price of our freezer plus an automatic washer and new drapes for one bedroom."

You may not save the same amount as Mrs. Holgate, but we guarantee you'll save $100 in the first year of membership.

Our Club is the oldest and most experienced food club in Canada.

During the last 25 years we've learned how to trim the cost of food — and help families eat better, too. We buy in bulk, have small overhead and handling costs, little advertising and promotion expenses.

You won't find expensive frills in our Food Plants. That's one reason why our prices are always lower than supermarket chains.

In fact, we guarantee to save you $100 a year—if you spend $15 a week with us. If you don't we'll refund the difference between what you do save and $100.

Finest quality foods. Chambers brands are packed exclusively for us by well-known food manufacturers. We are particularly proud of the quality. Of course, we also handle many of the national brands you are now buying. For over 25 years we have sold Red and Blue brand beef exclusively 15 Membership privileges. Our booklet describes all these valuable privileges—including our free Accident and Sickness benefits.

You are not obligated to buy large amounts of food. And you buy only those items you want. You don't have to buy a freezer from us. And you can shop by mail or in person at our Food Plants. All the details are in the booklet.

We have 5 separate food plants: Scarborough (65 Underwriters Road), Weston (65 Signet Drive), Cooksville (Wharton Glen Avenue), Oshawa (933 Ritson Road South, Peterborough (765 The Kingsway). They serve over 20,000 members. About 250 new members join every month.

We'd like you to know more about our Club, so please write or phone for our free booklet. And visit our Food Plant nearest you. Any Tuesday, Thursday or Friday evening between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Or Saturdays between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

MG (MYASTHENIA GRAVIS) NOT SO RARE AS BELIEVED

MG (myastenia gravis) is not as rare as once formerly thought to be. Physicians are becoming more aware that the patient complaining about vague aches, muscle weakness and "god-awful" tiredness and exhaustion are not all neurotics and hypochondriacs. Although we do not know its actual cause or cure, there is much we can do for myasthenia patients when it is diagnosed early or late. Consider this letter:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Thank you sincerely for your column on myasthenia gravis. I am 65 and it took over 32 years (and being labeled a neurotic complainer) to get the correct diagnosis.

Dr. S., head of the MG clinic at Massachusetts General (who diagnosed it), and the MG Foundation, have been too wonderful for words to me and many other victims—if not only MG, but the MDs who still consider it a neurosis.

For years I had nightmares nearly every night of being down, paralyzed and helpless on a public street while everyone passed by with nothing but jeers. And I grew more desperately ill. No one can imagine the torture of that on top of the suffering, intense to the point of being unendurable, of MG without relief.

Personally, I have found potassium chloride more helpful than anything and everything else—Mestinon, Prostigmin or any other form of treatment. The Foundation has found that the disease is far less rare than was formerly believed, many cases turning up after men like you call attention of the public (and doctors) to it. Too few physicians know of the Tensilon test or even the Prostigmin test. You have done all of us a great service. Thank you more than we can say!—Mrs. P. (R.N., retired).

ALLERGY OR ASTHMA?

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: For many years, every spring when maples are in bloom, I suffer from allergy. It takes about two months to get over it. During the season I would go with plugged nose and open mouth. But at night in my sleep I shut my mouth and try to breathe through my nose. Result is that I wake up almost choking, sneezing and my heart pounds and trembles.

Nose drops work for just a couple of hours. I also have been taking antihistamine tablets. When the season is over I am able to breathe through my nose. But I still have a tightness and heaviness in my chest and a shortness of breath. I am 41 years old and overweight. I wonder what's the cause?—Mrs. P.

Comment: Of course, you know I won't even attempt to put a diagnostic tag on your symptoms. You haven't mentioned a doctor. Are you treating (and diagnosing) yourself? Or, are you under a doctor's care? If not, why not? You will be better off knowing rather than wondering.

In my mind, there are many possibilities. Are you sure you haven't asthma? How about emphysema as a cause of the shortness of breath? Have you had chest films made? How about electrocardiograms to help rule out heart disease?

What I am getting at is this: Don't blame it all on allergy until you are sure you are otherwise healthy. You say you are overweight. Don't let's forget that. Thirty or 40 excess pounds can cause an awful lot of shortness of breath, too.

Mr. Y.: I wouldn't know the difference. Sometimes many tests are necessary before the doctor can find the cause of severe anemia. If your family doctor says he's stumped, I believe the next logical step is for him to call in a hematologist (blood specialist).

THE ENVOY SHERWOOD STATION WAGON

The Envoy Sherwood Station Wagon is all-new for 1965 — longer, wider and lower with four inches more shoulder room inside. Space-Curve engineering features curved doors and window glass that provide more room inside without affecting the sleek exterior. Features include a 71 per cent increase in torsional rigidity, cold-weather starting and a new heater designed for sub-zero temperatures, a new improved braking system and splash guards inside the front wheels that can be removed. There is a new nine-to-one compression ratio in Envoy's four-cylinder engine—an engine which develops up to 70-horse-power. The Envoy Special and the Sherwood are both all new for '65. Among other features, this station wagon has improved torton bars for the rear loading door.

IN-A-HURRY DRIVERS

Speed is the mightiest killer on Canada's highway. But what is speed? It isn't necessarily 80 of 100 miles an hour. Speed is a relative term. If the street is slippery, if traffic is heavy, if snow is falling, 25 miles an hour can be deadly speed.

The "fast" driver isn't always the menace, although he is always a menace. It can be the motorist in a hurry—cutting into a busy traffic line, passing on curves and hills, pushing through intersections, trying all the "tricks" to get there fast and beat the other guy. The in-a-hurry driver begs for disaster, and usually gets it.

Cannington reader asks: Is Lindsay hungry for revenue?

The Editor,
Lindsay Daily Post,
Dear Sir:

Regarding the issuance of parking tickets currently employed by town officials.

Recently a resident of our town motored to Lindsay to make a substantial purchase. In rushing around to complete the purchase the parking meter had expired by some ten minutes and a parking ticket was issued.

Under such circumstances could a parking friendly warning not be employed? Can it be that the town is hungry for money and not interested in out-of-town business?

Yours truly,
A reader,
Cannington, Ontario.

HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press International)

Hollywood (UPI) — Academy Award nominations soon will be mailed to Oscar headquarters as Guilds and Craft organizations submit their choices for final balloting in March.

This year's awards probably will be summed up in three words: "My Fair Lady".

The Warner Bros. screen version of Broadway's most successful musical has been received with such enthusiasm that many producers and studios held up the release of their pictures until after the New Year to avoid competing with the Lerner-Lowe blockbuster.

It already has won the New York Critics's Award which in years past has been an excellent barometer of how the Oscars will go.

But three other movies are good bets to be nominated for the Best Picture Award of 1964: "Becket", Dr. Strangelove" and "Night Of The Iguana".

The fifth possible nominee is more speculative.

It might be one of two other musicals. "Mary Poppins" or "The Unsinkable Molly Brown". Or possibly "Topkapi", Chalk Garden", "Marriage-Italian Style" or "Seance On A Wet Afternoon".

It doesn't matter. Not since "Gone With The Wind" has Hollywood felt so positive about a winner as My Fair Lady.

Almost as good a bet is Rex Harrison for best actor for his role as Professor Henry Higgins in Fair Lady. He, too, was a winner in the recent New York Critic's Awards.

Expected to provide the toughest competition for Harrison is another Brittisher, Richard Burton, for his work in "Becket" and "Night Of The Iguana". Two other British stars, Peter Sellers (Dr. Strangelove) and Peter O'Toole (Becket) are likely to be nominees as well.

American actors are liable to be shut out of the running altogether if Peter Ustinov (Topkapi) is the fifth nominee. But possible nominations may go to Frederic March (Seven Days In May), Cary Grant (Father Goose), Tony Randall (Dr. Lao).

The best acress category in all likelihood will include Harrison's co-star in Fair Lady, Audrey Hepburn, although she is considered less likely to win the Oscar than he is.

Sentimental favorite for a nomination is Julie Andrews (for "Mary Poppins)) and/or "The Americanization of Emily") who most Hollywoodians though should have played the Eliza Doolittle role in Fair Lady, repeating her magical broadway performance.

Kim Stanley, however, won the New York Critic's Award for her brilliant performance in Seance On A Wet Afternoon, and is almost a certainty for a nomination and perhaps the oscar.

Other prospects for the two remaining nominations are Ava Gardener and Deborah Kerr (Night Of The Iguana), Geraldine Page (Dear Heart), Anne Bancroft (The Pumpkin Eater), Sophia Loren (Marriage -Italian Style).

Nominations will be announced next month, after which each picture containing nominees will be shown at least twice to accomodate the voters and advertising campaigns by hopefuls will blossom.

But the wagering gentry is taking bets on "My Fair Lady" to sweep the boards.

Dunsford

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Knox, Mrs. William McGahey and Mrs. W. D. Henderson visited with friends and relatives of Mrs. Henderson's at Orangeville on Sunday.

Mrs. W. D. Henderson of Dunsford attended the funeral of Dr. W. Price of Orangeville on Monday.

A speedy recovery is wished Mr. Hazle Thurston who is a patient in Hillcroft Hospital, Bobcaygeon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hardy, daughters Debbie and Dianne, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thibadeau of Lindsay on Sunday.

NOW YOU KNOW

The First Academy Award for an actor went to Emil Jannings in 1928 for his performance in Way Of All Flesh, according to the World Almanac.

Woman's View

New York — Jottings from the notebook after 10 days of seeing the spring fashion collections from leading New York designers:

Spring will be the season of the print, no subdued figure prints, but giant patterns, many of them in the abstract rather than traditional floral or geometric. Typical is one in a short cocktail dress, unbelted and with spaghetti string straps across otherwise bare shoulders, from the firm of Jerry Silverman. The designer Shannon Rodgers, used a black and white combination, a silk version of a pony's patch colouring.

No reporter worth his or her salt ever discusses the hours and endurance spent on a story. But consider the same sort of a record set by the more than 200 representatives of newspapers, television and radio who for the past 10 days have been viewing the new collections, under the sponsorship, first of the New York couture group and then of the American designers group which ended the shows yesterday.

There were 87 events to attend. These included breakfast, starting at 8:00 a.m. at which time "trend time" was reported; a fabrics house taking the reporters by private express subway to Wall Street followed by "Blue Chip" fashions shown atop the towering Chase Manhattan Bank in the financial district; a presentation of a new car design "with emphasis on the ladies' touch", plus dinner and entertainment; a "day of beauty", which added up to only minutes for a report on the newest in make-up and hair style in between regular ready-to-wear showings; a "bags and baggage" show by a leathergoods manufacturer (again breakfast, 8:00 a.m.), and a Bloody Mary party on a Sunday given by designer Arnold Scassi.

In between, the schedule was marked "free writing period" — usually one-half hour. And amongst all of the variety, the editors saw spring collections from some 50 pace-setting designers.

There was, for example, the collection of Christian Dior-New York, whose clothes, designed by Gaston Berthelot, were representative of spring fashion trends generally.

Gray Flannel, for instance, came back in both dresses and suits.

Dior endorsed the long, slim and unbelted line on daytime silk dresses and also the self-fabric belts riding low on the hip for long-waisted look. In, at Dior and other houses: Camel hair shades for spring.

Designer Ferdinando Sarmi liked prints, too, many of them in black and white combination. He was among the New York designers reviving the full-skirted ball gown for evening.

The French-born Pauline Trigere went along with a considerage revival of navy as a spring colour (for a while there, pink and pale pastels generally did the navy in). She produced a designer invention called the "top suit", with built-in versatility. It started out as a suit. Underneath was a complete dress. The suit could be worn alone, with jacket alone over the dress, the skirt worn with dress, or the dress worn solo.

Throughout all collections: Ostrich or other feathers serving as boas, as part of hemline flounces, as borders for stoles, as trim for some of the new millinery.

Ranked by value, Canada's principal mineral products are crude, petroleum, nickel, copper, iron ore, natural gas and by-products, gold, uranium, asbestos.

THIEVES NET ABOUT $800 CASH IN CHICK HATCHERY ROBBERY

Alf Evans owner of the Bray Chick Hatchery points to a locked drawer that thieves forced open when they ransacked his office last night. He said a steel cash box inside contained about $800 in small bills.

Thieves netted about $800 when they forced a locked drawer at the Bray Chick Hatchery on York Street last night or early this morning. Lindsay police said a cash-box containing the money was taken from a locked file-drawer prior to 1:15 a.m. today. Entry was gained through a side door that leads to the hatchery and to an upstairs apartment. Police said the door is left unlocked at night.

The proprietor, Alf Evans, said he and his wife had gone to a show and returned about 12:30. He said when they got home his 18-year-old son, Mervyn, his daughter Pearl, 15, and a baby were all asleep. He said he surmised the theft occurred between 11 p.m. and 12:30 a.m. He said in their haste to leave, the thieves pulled the knob off the door.

Mr. Evans said after the movie he and his wife went to a restaurant for something to eat. He said if he had gone straight home he might have caught the culprits in the act. He said the money taken was all in small bills, and remarked "It was an expensive night out".

Corporal Roger Keene of the identification squad of the Cobourg OPP was in Lindsay this morning to assist town police in the investigation, police said.

Fire destroys Oakwood barn — bitter cold hampers firemen

A fire of major proportions was averted this morning when one of three barns on the farm of Leonard Webster, about three miles east of Oakwood was burned to the ground. Effective work of the Mariposa Fire departments from Little Britain and Oakwood, and the Lindsay Fire Department succeeded in preventing the fire from spreading to the main barn only four feet from the barn that burned.

Firemen were seriously hampered in the early stages by the lack of water and the sub zero temperatures played havoc with hose lines when attempts were made to conserve the diminishing supply of water.

Upwards of thirty firemen combined in battling the blaze for two hours before it was brought under control. With the water that was available firemen concentrated their efforts on wetting the exposed corner of the main barn and the north end of the burning barn. Galvanized sheeting on the burning barn to a considerable extent prevented sparks and flames from reaching the other nearby buildings.

The fire was discovered about 9:15 this morning in the stable of the burned barn. It is thought the water pump, located in this stable, froze up causing belt slippage which ignited the initial blaze. The Webster family and some helpers who came in off the highway succeeded in putting out the fire in the stable, but it had spread to the straw stored in the barn above the stable and got out of control.

Mrs. Webster told "The Post" that the twelve or more head of cattle in the east stable were saved along with the implements stored in nearby buildings. Many men at the scene were heard to remark that saving the other buildings was the result of the best fire fighting they had seen.

HALIBURTON MAN FINED $400 FOR TWO DRIVING OFFENCES

Edgar Stamp, 45, of Sunnyside Street in Haliburton was fined a total of $400 and costs in Lindsay Police Court Thursday on the option of a jail sentence amounting to nine months when he was convicted of second offences or driving while his ability was impaired, and driving while his license was under legal suspension. A charge of driving without a license was withdrawn by the Crown. Mr. Stamp was fined $200 and costs or three months for driving while his ability was impaired, and a fine of $200 and costs or 6 months, consecutively, for driving while his license was under suspension. In addition his driver's license was suspended for two years and his car impounded for three months.

Lindsay OPP Constable Grant Saunders testified that on December 19 at 7:35 p.m. he was dispatched north on Highway 35 and told to be on the look-out for a southbound vehicle. He said the driver was alleged to have been intoxicated. One mile south of Cameron, the officer said he saw two vehicles approaching; the second was an OPP cruiser with the red dome light flashing.

When the driver of the vehicle got out, after being pulled over, he was unsteady on his feet and showed other signs of having been drinking, Constable Saunders told the court.

The constable said the accused told him he (the accused) had just his license a number of years ago but could get it back anytime. He said he just hadn't made application.

The accused's record showed his license was under legal suspension from a conviction of driving while his ability was impaired in April of 1963.

Robert Groves dies, age 81

R. W. (Bob) Groves passed away at the Ross Memorial Hospital early this morning in his 82nd year.

Mr. Groves was one of Lindsay's finest citizens, a gentleman imbued with the idea of rendering service to the community and to various organizations.

The late Robert Groves served for many years with the Grand Trunk Railway and the Canadian National Railway and as a young man laboured long and late hours with the railway at Allandale as a telegraph operator and for some time was an agent at Markham. He was transferred to Montreal as General Agent and then promoted to Lindsay in the capacity of Chief Dispatcher.

He had a thorough knowledge of railroading, worked with many high ranking officials and worked with a large number of railway operators and despatchers. He was popular with railway men in many divisions.

In Masonic circles the late Robert Groves was one of the youngest Masters of a Lodge while residing at Markham. He became a dedicated member of the fraternity, and was an affiliated member of Faithful Brethren Lodge No. 77 A.F. and A.M. and a charter member of Gothic Lodge No. 605 in Lindsay. His devotion to the Craft was recognized in a higher degree when he became District Deputy Grand Master of Victoria District. As the years passed by he became active in the higher degrees of Masonry and was a popular member of the Chapter and the Scottish Rite fraternity.

One of the finest outlets for the energy and loyalty of the late Robert Groves was felt in his membership in connection with the Kiwanis Club. He was a charter member of the Lindsay Club and served as the club's third president. In his association with this organization the deceased worked hard in connection with fund raising campaigns for extensions and expansions in connection with the Ross Memorial Hospital, the new Kiwanis Arena and boys work in regard to the training School for Boys at Bowmanville.

As a member of the Lindsay Boy Scouts organization the late Robert Groves gave further service in a worthwhile way.

In the broader field of endeavour Mr. Groves served for many years as a member of the Lindsay Public School Board and became one of the Board's finest chairmen, a position he filled with exactness and ability for a number of years. Until recently he was assistant Secretary of the Victoria County High School Area Board and as such was highly regarded by fellow members as well as by members of the teaching staff.

As a member of the Lindsay Curling Club, the late Robert Groves added greatly to the fine spirit of fellowship and following his thorough apprenticeship he was elevated to the position of skip.

In still another line of service the late Robert Groves served faithfully and well as a member of St. Paul's Anglican Church. He was also a past president of the Rotarian Club and in politics he was for many years a worker in the ranks of the Conservative Party.

Many citizens in all ranks of life will remember the decased gentleman for his keen sense of wholesome and dry humour.

The late Robert Groves is survived by his wife Jessie Ethel Smith, and by his son Robert James Groves of Ottawa and daughter Margaret (Mrs. John E. Powell) of Willowdale. Mr. Groves is resting at the Bruce A. McArthur Funeral Home. 1 Russell Street East, Lindsay after 7 p.m. this evening for service on Saturday, January 16th at 2 p.m. Interment Riverside Cemetery.

6-YEAR OLD COLLIDES WITH AUTOMOBILE

A six-year-old Lindsay boy, Ricky McCarron of 51 Simcoe Street, a pupil of St. Mary's Separate School was struck by a car driven by Paul Grazos of 41 Glenelg Street East after the boy left the school at 3:50 p.m. Wednesday. Police said it is alleged that the boy came out of the school, ran in front of a parked car and into the path of the Grazos vehicle.

The boy was rushed to Ross Memorial Hospital by town ambulance and police said he was examined by Dr. T. W. L. Broadfoot. Police said the boy suffered no apparent injuries.

Lindsay Police Constable Ralph Fountain of the Lindsay Police investigated the accident.

Exhibition Report

The annual meeting of the century-old Lindsay Central Exhibition took place at the Government Building on Wednesday afternoon, and for possibly the first time in the long annals of the meeting a lady presided as chairman. This young lady was Miss Shaaryn Wylie, past-president of the Kawartha Junior Farmer's organization who was crowned Queen of the International Plowing Match in Peterboro last Fall.

Now we admire Miss Wylie as a most capable young lady who has won many honours in many fields of endeavour—however we do not think she should have been asked to preside over the annual meeting of the LCE. It was obvious that the men in the audience were not comfortable with such a young lady at the helm and undoubtedly debate was stifled. Few men spoke at the meeting and few reports were given on livestock, horse racing or from committee chairmen.

All is not perfect with the Exhibition and it is essential that debate be encouraged and not stifled. With all due respects to the young people of the Junior Farmers organizations they should not be given the task of chairing important meetings such as these.

Police chase innocent man

Laboring under the impression that his two small sons had committed some crime in Lindsay while they were selling shoe laces and pencils, a Blackwater man led Provincial and Mounted Police a strenuous chase through fields and over fences in the vicinity of Taylor's Corners, before he and his two small sons surrendered. When the authorities discovered that he was not the man for whom they were looking they supplied transportation for the three tired people back to Blackwater.

In possession of a circular advertising for the arrest of a man wanted on a charge of abduction, who was thought to be accompanied by two boys, a local police officer recalled this poster to mind when he noticed the Blackwater man and his two sons acting suspiciously. He notified Provincial Police and Constables William Kennedy and David Adair, accompanied by Constable Burger of the RCMP proceeded out the highway in search of the three people.

Struggle can be won only in the field.

"The struggle in Europe can only be won when the Allies are put in the position where they have a superior number of men and a predominance of munitions," said Col. G. A. Weeks, speaking before the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club at the Hotel Benson today. Col. Weeks emphasized that the war would not be won by an economic blockade of Germany.

"We have to smash the main army in the field," he said.

The speaker expressed the opinion that Canadians are letting their minds dwell too much on the noncombatant front lines.

German discharged

Last evening a volunteer was placed in the guard-room and this morning was brought before Lieut-Col. Fee for insubordination and also for being a German. The young man was born in Germany and has also visited that country since coming to America. Sergt.-major Sims was instructed to deprive the young man of his uniform and discharge him.

Stars defeat Central

Last evening the town rink was the scene of a fast, exciting game of hockey between the Stars of the Separate School and the North Ward Central School team. The score at the 1st half was 2-0 in favour of the Stars. When players came on the ice again there was a decided change in the scoring, one of the Stars scoring four in succession. When time was up, the score was 7-1 in favour of the stars.

The line-up for the night was as follows: Central team — R. Webster, goal; L. Davis, right defence; J. Hogan, l. defence; L. Chamber, rover; H. Sutton, centre; R. Sutton, l. wing, L. Williams, r. wing. Stars—E. Commerford, goal; N. McClory, l. defence; L. Bissette, r. defence; C. Oliver, rover; (Capt.) W. Murphy, centre; G. Bell, l. wing; H. Killen, r. wing.

The defeated team are a fast seven and expect to bang it over the Stars in the next game.

Parade

The Lindsay Home Guard and the members of the Overseas Force, Third Contingent, will parade this evening with the regimental band.

More Money, more jobs in 1970

Ottawa, (UPI) — The economic Council of Canada said Tuesday the average Canadian will be making more money and enjoying a better standard of living with more educational and job opportunities for his children by 1970.

He will be earning more — 23.8 per cent more than now—and there will be an added 1.5 million jobs available. The growth in personal income will almost double the income growth rate between 1926 - 63.

While earning more, he also will spend more. Per capita consumer spending, based on an annual three per cent growth rate over the seven-year period, will reach $1,775—almost double the average per capita consumer spending of the late 1920's.

The average Canadian will have more neighbours, with the urbanization swing continuing and population expected to reach 22 million urban growth will thrive on greater residential construction, with emphasis on apartment construction.

The urbanization trend also will mean improved roads, streets and transportation services, but these improvements are expected to be countered by a 33 per cent increase in the number of motor vehicles being used in Canada.

Of immediate interest to the average Canadian will be the council's call for expansionist economic policies, with the stress on the need for a tax cut. And in the long run, tax rates will be without major change.

But Mr. Canada, if he is earning more, also will pay more, despite the fact that rates may not change. The Council, in forecasting the next seven years, estimates that government revenues will almost double from the present $12,900,000,000 to $24,250,000,000.

But there will be more taxpayers to share the tax load, and increased revenues from the higher average salary scale.

As unemployment soars—to an expected 7,883,000 in the labour force by 1970—unemployment is expected to decline to what the ECC views as a realistic goal of three per cent jobless.

Mr. Canada will have problems in the years ahead. Education and technical skill will become more and more important, and old jobs will disappear. This will require greater mobility and flexibility from the average worker to adapt himself to new working conditions.

Education itself, while becoming more available, may be hamstrung by a lack of qualified teachers, professors and staff. The economic report noted with concern that the average Canadian was less qualified than his American counterpart in education.

To meet this challenge, a larger share of government revenues will be poured into education. Per capital expenditure in 1970 will jump from the present $110 to $141, the largest single item of government spending.

Peking Makes Strides

London, (UPI) — Red China, which last fall achieved her first nuclear explosion, is believed to have made unexpected progress in other fields of modern weaponry.

Latest indications to reach the west suggest that Peking is building modern type fighter planes and, even more surprising surface-to-air rockets.

Some of these rockets are believed to have moved down two unnamed reconnaisane planes flying over southern China. Peking claimed that two remote-controlled, American-made reconnaissance planes were downed recently.

Red Chinese Deputy Premier Marshal Ho Lung boasted in Peking that Red China has "greatly strengthened the weaponry and equipment" of her army. He claimed that Peking above all has "a comparatively powerful air force."

Whatever the justification of these claims, intelligence reports seeping through the bamboo curtain suggest that something is afoot in the modern weapons sector of Communist China.

Experts concede they have been surprised by the technical advance displayed by Peking's first nuclear explosion. Since then some western experts have predicted that Peking may have nuclear weapons operational within two to five years, instead of the previous estimate of five to ten years.

Speculation about Red China's development has been set off by a number of rockets displayed by Albania, Peking's closest Communist ally in Europe, during a military parade in the Albanian capital of Tirana last month.

These rockets apparently have been supplied by China, since Russia stopped supplying Albania years ago because of the sharp attacks on former Premier Nikita Khrushchev's policies.

Red China was believed to have copied the rockets from samples she received from Russia at a time when the two Communist giants were still on close terms of friendship.

Some experts believed Red China is in fact now producing these short range and relatively sophisticated surface-to-air rockets in quantity.

It was furthermore to be reported that Red China has started producing a delta-wing supersonic fighter plane, resembling the supersonic Soviet MIG-21 jets.

Peking also appears to have overcome, at least partly, the acute high-grade fuel shortage which at one time virtually grounded Peking's air force after Russia halted supplies in the wake of the intensified Sino-Soviet ideological conflict.

Much of these claims remain in doubt so long as verification is impossible because of the secrecy which surrounds China's military and technological developments.

But, say the experts something is afoot and there is reason to believe that Red China is making noteworthy strides.

No Seating Problem

The shooting stick, with its sharp point for digging into the ground and its handle that opens out into a seat, once indicated the kind of life where 'county' sports like shooting had a regular place. But its practical advantages for anyone who prefers to sit rather than stand are appealing to a far wider public today.

Commuters rather than shooters are making the big demand, according to Mr. Robert Adeney, of the well-known London firm which supplies sticks and umbrellas of all kinds. Interviewed recently in BBC Woman's Hour, he said that although a large number were still sold to regular racegoers, seat sticks, as he preferred to call them, were becoming more and more popular with people who travelled to and from work on crowded trains. They were used, too, at cocktail parties, exhibitions and art galleries, and for golfing. Since parquet floors do not take very kindly to having sharp spikes driven into them, an adapter, with a rubber tip could be either fixed to the stick or carried in the pocket. Their range of seat sticks included one with a whiskey flask down the centre, and a similar one with an umbrella.

NEED FINGERS TO TELL NEW KNITS FROM WEAVES

Fingers are going to be needed more than eyes when it comes to identifying many of the new fall knits. Take such fashion favorites as ottoman, matelasse, herringbone and flannel. They are usually associated with woven fabrics. Now, so many are knitted, only the fingers can tell whether they are stretchy or rigid.

Formerly the easiest fabrics to recognize, knits have "burst their stitches" and are defying classification as well as the eye. Many fabrics are in man-made fibres of nylon, "Antrone" nylon, "Orlon" acrylic and in blends with wool. Many textures are "Ban-Lon" fabrics.

Intricate tailoring and dressmaking techniques are also beginning to play a notable part in fashioning knitwear. A number of coats and suits for this Fall are constructed with all the shape and fit usually found in woven fabrics.

Knitted evening and at home designs are becoming more elaborately cut and styled.

Being basically knits, the garments retained all the comfort and ease of movement inherent in a herringbone construction.

The more casual designs emphasized rather than concealed their knitted origins.

Some knits with a knitted look are the bus boy's jacket, a group of travel coats and a collection of blocked winter hats.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK
By Roberta Lee
Bicycle Wheel

If one of the wheels on junior's bicycle is out of round — flat at one point and has a bump at another — remove the wheel from the bicycle and take off the tire and tube. With a spoke wrench and screwdriver, loosen the spokes at the flat point and tighten them at the bump. Then to check the roundness of the wheel, tie a string to a nail and, holding the nail in the centre of the axle hole, sweep the string around the rim.

Cleaning Switch Plates

To clean an electric light wall switch plate without staining your wall or wall paper, cut a hole the exact size of the plate in a piece of cardboard and fit this around the plate while you are scrubbing it.

Carbon Paper Stains

Carbon paper stains can often be sponged out of fabrics with carbon tetrachloride. To remove any remaining traces of the dyestuff, flush out with a solution of water, detergent, and a small amount of ammonia.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

Q. How can I remedy loosened wallpaper that has come away from the wall?

A. Mix a thin paste of flour and water which can be picked up in a medicine dropper. If the bulge is in the middle of a sheet of paper, puncture the paper at the top of the bulge so that the tip of the medicine dropper can be inserted. Rub the area gently with a damp sponge or cloth to smooth the paper and remove the excess paste.

Q. How can I remove fish or onion odors from my cutlery?

A. By adding a little ammonia or vinegar to your warm dish water. Or, a little butter rubbed on the forks or knives will also remove any odor.

Q. How can I renovate hardened shoe polish?

A. You can soften it into usable consistency with a little turpentine.

Cottage Break-ins

Haliburton OPP are investigating breaks-ins during the week into about 40 cottages in the Koshlong Lake area. Police have notified owners of the cottages of the break-ins and will meet with them this weekend, said police.

Police are conducting their investigation by snow-cruiser, it was learned.

EMO co-ordinator guest speaker at Haliburton meet

Victoria County Emergency Measures Co-ordinatoir, James Hall, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Haliburton Red Cross Society in Haliburton Friday evening January 15th.

The co-ordinator told "The Post" Wednesday that he has had several offers of help following publication of his weekly reports. He said one person called headquarters and volunteered to be of service in any capacity in which he could help.

On recommendation of the co-ordinator, the Victoria County E.M.O. committee Wednesday deferred action on the purchase of a truck for the district unit. It was the opinion of the co-ordinator that the used truck available in Toronto and recommended by head office would not fill the needs of a rural area.

STICKLESS VALVES

To prevent corrosion and sticking of valves in brass musical instruments, the brass pistons are plated with a thin coating of tin and nickel.

Seagrave

On Monday Dec. 29th Mrs. McNeil held her annual Christmas party for children of 12 years and under in the S. S. room. Mrs. G. Stone, Mrs Clifford Short and Mrs. Chas. Short who acted as pianist, assisted. After a period of games and songs, refreshments were served and each child received a gift.

The annual S.S. meeting was held on Tues. Dec. 30th. Reports showed an increase in attendance, more money in the treasury and more M. & M.

During the past year there has been the Superintendent Mr. Cliff Short and three assistants, each taking one Sunday a month. Each year the superintendent is retired and the 1st assistant takes his place. So now Douglas McMillan is Supt., and Neil Wanamaker, Jim Fishley and Ken Sturman are assistants. Secretaries are Maureen Tobin and Jack Short, Treasurer Mrs. L. Nicholls; Sylvia Wanamaker takes the place of Mrs. Dawson as pianist with Mrs. Tobin. The teachers are the same. The accommodations for classes in the basement was left to the committee which was previously appointed.

Death has taken Mr. Wm. Short who has recently resided in Port Perry, but had been a Seagrave resident for most of his life. He had been a patient in Port Perry Hospital for several weeks but had been at home only a short time when he passed away. Sympathy is expressed to the family.

Sympathy is also expressed to Mr. Isaiah Irvin Moore whose sister Mrs. Sarah Johns passed away last week in Port Perry Hospital.

Crystal Monahan was in hospital a few days with ear trouble.

Mrs. Thomas Drinen is a patient in hospital.

Mr. Eagar Butt is under the doctor's care but is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. W. Clark visited in Barrie for New Years.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bryant at the Clements- Belair home for New Years.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Eagleson with the Fristrams in Scarboro.

Mr. Harold Moon and Miss Joan Hindley of Toronto with Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Moon for New Years.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Boe visited Mr. and Mrs. Ted Suddard in Oshawa on Sunday.

Mrs. Martha Couch, a life long member of the Seagrave area passed away at the Strathaven Rest Home, in Bowmanville on Wednesday morning. She is resting at the McDermott-Panabaker funeral home in Port Perry for service on Saturday afternoon.

The U.C.W. executive met at the home of Mrs. B. L. Wanamaker on Wednesday evening to plan the meeting for Jan. 13th and discuss plans for 1965.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Durwood celebrated New Years with a large number of their family at home. Also Mrs. Nelson of Fairview Lodge. Mrs. Walter Durward and Mr. and Mrs. John Smokes of Sunderland. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Durward and family of Picton and Herb Acton of Blackwater.

PRODUCER ADVISES ACADEMY THEATRE TO PROVIDE ITS OWN SUMMER THEATRE

One of Canada's leading producers, Miss Margold Charlesworth, told a meeting of the Academy Theatre Foundation Wednesday that Lindsay should have a summer theatre. She said Lindsay needs a working company of professional actors and actresses, graduates of an acting school. She said it would be impossible for Lindsay to operate this on a year-round basis at this time but said she was sure a summer theatre here would be successful. Miss Charlesworth suggested beginning this year and by 1967, she said, the theatre would be in a strong position to sponsor a Canada-wide playwriting competition for the centennial. She said this would be a "stimulus in this area", and added, "you could then produce the winning plays in your theatre".

"My first reaction is—I don't believe it", Miss Charlesworth told members of the Foundation when she looked around as she began her address. She called the improvements to the theatre "wonderful, encouraging, astonishing" and told her audience she was speaking to them as people with their sleeves rolled up—ready to go to work.

She spoke in terms of the professional theatre and said it was against the theatre to tell people to get out and support the theatre, and said the theatre would not lose support if it tried to "culturalize" the people. She said, "It is wrong to exault people to support the theatre".

She spoke of the fine qualities of the Academy Theatre and said there were quite a few buildings across the country for dramatic spectacles "Many are not ideal", she remarked, "and some are impossible but the most important thing is what's going on inside them". She urged the Foundation to consider a working company for the Academy and emphasized that it would be much better for the Academy theatre to have its own summer theatre than to rely on summer stock.

Lemon Juice Recipe Relieves Arthritic & Rheumatic Pain

If you suffer rheumatic, arthritic or sciatic pain, try this simple inexpensive recipe, that thousands are using. Get a can of RU-EX Compound from any druggist. Mix it with the juice of 6 lemons and 1 pint of water (enough for a month). It's tasteless and pleasant. Take only 2 tablespoonfuls 2 times a day. Often within 48 hours — sometimes overnight — you should feel the joy of relief from pain and stiffness and you may be amazed at how easy you can be and RU-EX will cost you nothing. You are the sole judge as RU-EX is sold on a money back guarantee. Over 6 million satisfied users. Ask for RU-EX Compound. Adams Laboratories, 221 Bartley Drive, Toronto 16.

One-year suspended sentences for two Bancroft area youths

Two Bancroft area youths were handed one-year suspended sentences on probation when they were convicted in Lindsay Police Court today of breaking into a Bicroft warehouse and stealing some gasoline.

Constable Maurice Baker of the Bancroft OPP detachment said the two, David William Windsor, 18, of RR3, Bancroft and Terry Louis Payette, 20, who was formerly the Bicroft uranium mine, by forcing a window with screw-drivers. He said they syphoned about 10 gallons of gasoline from the truck and took it, in four glass containers, found in the warehouse, to Payette's car. He said they were accompanied by a 15-year-old Bancroft youth.

When passing sentence Magistrate Ian Munro told the pair, you two are not children any more. You are citizens and should not be fooling around doing silly things like that."

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

ROAD TO REDUCING NOT EASY, PATIENTS ARE THE FOOT SOLDIERS

It's easy for the doctor to give orders. "Stop smoking". "Better give up liquor". Take a vacation". "Cut down on your cholesterol intake". "You need to take off at least 25 pounds". etc.

Let's consider the most common order: "You'd better go on a diet". Thousands of patients hear these words in doctors' offices every day. Obesity is recognized as the common enemy. And the portly patients are the foot soldiers. The doctor-commander says the charge and they're supposed to walk gallantly through thousands of calorie rich foods without laying a hand on them.

My contention is that the doctor is a better and more sympathetic healer who has himself been one of the foot soldiers. Who has, for example, been ill and knows exactly what it is to suffer as a patient. Who has, for instance, endured the pangs of hunger while on a diet.

I recall how humorlessly I used to give my patients who were overweight, lectures on the dangers of obesity. How I'd put them on a diet. How they'd cringe while looking at the scale pointer on their return visits. How I'd shake my head if they hadn't lost a little. How I'd say, "I guess you don't really realize the seriousness of it. Otherwise it's not likely you'd come back time after time so without having taken off an ounce".

Me! I was normal-weighted at the time. What did I know about the rigors of dieting? I could have all the pastry I fit into and never put on a mid-section bulgeon. I could eat ice cream by the pint and more. French fried potatoes by the plateful. Who was I to give orders to harried patients as if I were a little god?

MIRROR, MIRROR ON THE WALL

But came the time this past year, when I happened to catch myself in side-view one early morning on a return visit from a New York publisher. I couldn't believe it was my reflection. I got on the bathroom scales. It was no painful illusion I saw in the mirror. It was stark, fat truth. I was at least 10 pounds overweight.

I made my resolve. It was hard. I learned first-hand what it is to forego ice cream, fried foods, pastries, a snack of toast or wheatcakes, trips to the refrigerator for a snack at night. For three weeks I suffered, though I swelled with pride and felt like a saint when so many complimented me on my strength of forebearance and will. I lost those 10 pounds. What ecstacy it was to look at the scale pointer and mentally thumb my nose at it.

All that happened about a month ago. But I want to learn more, that patients have known for long. Dieting itself is not the only test of will. Staying on the diet, keeping that hard-won leanness is the difficult part of the trick.

For lately I have found myself gradually accumulating weight again: perhaps four to five pounds. It is here that men are separated from the boys, women from the girls. I must gird myself for the second attack. It is here that most patients win or fail.

If I allow all that weight to come back on, I'm lost as far as this battle is concerned. My future will be filled with weeks of elevator-style living (losing and gaining weight). So I'm off on my diet again, knowing that if I win, that's it. It will be a permanent victory. (This is all in answer to Mrs. R. who wrote: "What's the hardest part of losing weight?"). It's not the initial loss, it's the keeping it off that count's.

Varied Programme at W.I. Meeting in Zion-Fenelon

Zion Fenelon (PNS) — Mrs. of two contests, a reading by Carl Demoe was hostess to the Pleasant Valley W.I. for their January meeting. Mrs. Mac Moynes the president welcomed the members and visitors. The Ode, Mary Stewart Collect and Lord's Prayer were repeated in unison. Mrs. Moynes then called on Mrs. W. Webster for her talk on the motto "If you think the world is wrong, remember it contains people like you and me".

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Correspondence contained a letter from the Department of Home Economics about the Achievement Day and girl's club work. Also a letter from the Scott Mission. Cards of thanks for Christmas cheer boxes were read from Miss Knight, the Victoria County Home and Miss Pearn expressed her thanks for remembrance. It was decided a donation be sent to the Scott Mission and the Sick Children's Hosptial.

Mrs. Wm. Pearn gave a report of the East Victoria board meeting and gave the list of articles for W.I. exhibits for the Lindsay Fair; The Women's Institutes are to meet with Forums on February 1st to discuss the topic of the evening. Mrs. W. Webster offered her home. Roll Call was answered by eleven members with "A Current Event". There were four visitors present.

Mrs. Morley Moynes read a paper on Public Relations, concerning the many attitudes of city people toward the farm and the farm people toward the city, closing with a piece from the "Family Herald".

The programme consisted

BIG AND LITTLE COINS

The world's largest pure nickel coins, each weighing nearly one ounce, are the Belgian 20-franc pieces minted in 1931. The smallest are the current 10-cent pieces of the Netherlands, each weighing one-twentieth of an ounce.

FRIENDLY, OFF DUTY!

Denver, (UPI) — Patrolman Fred Stevenson asked for help in locating his missing police dog, Honda, a 95-pound German shepherd.

The officer told searchers they did not have to be afraid of the dog because "he's friendly off-duty."

HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood (UPI) — The eighth annual underwater film festival will be held next month a competition in which fish outnumber the actors.

And the fish have a better chance of winning.

Skin divers and underwater cameramen from several nations meet in Santa Monica's Civic Auritorium for the aquatic event. It's the same auditorium where Hollywood honours its dry land cameramen with Oscars.

The Academy of Underwater Photographers, a sponsor of the event, couldn't have picked a better spot for the show. The auditorium is only a few blocks from the Pacific Ocean. So if two fellows disagree on the best angle from which to photograph a sardine, they can jump into the ocean and prove their point.

Al Tillman, a teacher at Los Angeles State College, is director of the festival which takes place Feb. 5 and 6. He expects a crowd of 5,000 to attend the two-day event.

Tillman, who spends much of his spare time wandering around on ocean floors, said the festival is held to encourage aquatic filming.

"This is the eighth year of the festival", he said. "We started out with 200 persons in attendance. Last year we had a total of 5,000 for two nights and we turned away 3500 requests for tickets".

Tillman said photographers from such countries as France, Japan, Canada, Australia, Mexico, England and Germany have attended the event or sent film.

Almost all of the short films are on serious subjects, although one fellow titled his entry, "The Care and Training of Mermaids". Makes you wonder what he saw down there.

"We'll be showing a total of about 20 films in two nights", Tillman said. "We encourage photographers. They need a place to exhibit. We won't show a staged event. A re-enactment of a thing is legitimate but we won't do the flagpole-sitting type of thing".

Hollywood's movie industry is not involved in the event, Although stars occasionally attend. Lloyd Bridges and Hugh O'Brian, both of whom are interested in the subject, have attended.

Gold medals are given for outstanding work in the non-profit festival.

"It's self supporting out of paid admissions", Tillman explained. "What we get over our expenses goes into a grant. There are three different areas where we give grants".

One enterprising photographer has requested a grant to study the behaviour of sharks at night. He owns a cage which he plans to take down into the depths with him. If a shark comes too close, the fensman ducks into the cage.

"It's a big area", said Tillman of oceans and underwater photography. "Diving branches off into two areas after you've got the skill. You become an amateur scientist or underwater photographer".

He hopes that this year's festival will make a big splash.

Nestleton

The Lawrence Malcolm family spent Christmas Day with Mrs. S. Brooks, Bowmanville. Gail remained for a weeks holiday with her grandmother, Mrs. S. Brooks spent New Year's weekend at the Lawrence Malcolm's.

The Executive of the Nestleton U.C.W. held a meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of the President, Mrs. Lawrence Malcolm to plan for the years activities.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kidd of Grandview, Manitoba, were recent callers on their cousin, Marvin Nesbitt. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Williams and family spent the weekend in North Bay with the Lonnie Chapman family.

Sympathy is extended to the relatives and friends of Mrs. Herman Wilson who passed away in Oshawa General Hospital. Interment was in Nestleton United Church cemetery. Also to the relatives and friends of Dr. George Montgomery who passed away in Toronto over the weekend. Interment in Union Cemetery, Cadmus.

Mrs. Charles Gloster and Miss Marion of Sutton West called on Miss Ruth Proutt and also visited Evelyn English in Port Perry Hospital. Several local folk attended the 25th Wedding Anniversary celebration for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rowan in Yelverton Church Hall on Friday evening.

Speedy recoveries to all local folk in hospital. In Port Perry Mr. G. Willett, Mr. Edward Bruce., Mrs. W. G. Bowles. Mrs. Herman Samells, Miss Evenly English and also to Mr. Mr. W. D. Ferguson now of Oshawa but a former Cartwright resident. In Oshawa hospital to Mrs. Edna McLaughlin, Mr. Elmer Nesbitt and Mrs. Alan Suggitt now of Port Perry and Mrs. Fred Bowen both of whom are Cartwright folk.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Olver and Mr. Robert Halloran, Toronto, visited Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Heastip, also the Donald Prew family of View Lake. Mr. and Mrs. William Steel are with Mr. and Mrs. Howard McMullen, Lotus and friends trust he feels much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thompson were pleased to hear from the John Finlay family over the holiday. John worked on the farm with them for several summers. He is now Assistant Secretary of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation. He has a Western district from the Bruce Peninsula to Pelee Island and from Windsor to Cayuga and the northern district from North Bay to Kapuskasing. His work involves travelling about attending professional development, salary and business meetings and being available when problems arise. They recently purchased a 100 acre farm in the Woodstock area. The house built in 1845 was purchased from the original family with interesting furnishings and surroundings.

CROWN OF STEEL

A nickel stainless steel replica of Princess Margaret's diamond-studded crown, 14 feet wide and weighing 2,500 pounds, is on display on the roof of a hotel in Bermuda. Hand made in Canada of the gleaming steel, at a cost of more than $20,000, the crown took eight men one month to build.

WHERE'S CHARLEY?

Laguna Beach, Calif., (UPI) —A skunk wandered into the garage where the Don L. Ward family of Nearby South Laguna kept its cat, Charley.

In the battle that ensued, the Ward family was awakened, the skunk's aroma permeated the air conditioning system, forcing the Wards to seek refuge with neighbours and two cars in the garage were perfumed. Charley is missing.

Shaaryn Wylie chairs annual meeting
LINDSAY FAIR ONE HUNDRED YEARS OLD

Lindsay Central Exhibition is a century old, Manager N. G. Wilson told the annual meeting held at the Provincial Building on Wednesday. He added that ninety years ago, according to old minutes of the organization, an invitation was received to send delegates to the Philadelphia Centennial Exhibition. Fair Directors at the time, recorded the minute book, were advised to concentrate their efforts on the home town fair and this added the General Manager "is what the Directors of the Lindsay Fair are doing today".

For the first time in the long annals of the organization a lady presided as chairman. This young lady was Miss Shaaryn Wylie, past president of the Kawartha Junior Farmers organization who was crowned Queen of the International Plowing Match held at Peterboro last Fall.

Fair manager Newton Wilson submitted a detailed report to the meeting in which he said Pat Conklin of the Conklin Shows , as well as high ranking officials in connection with agricultural fairs in this country, and the U.S. declare the trend towards having one general admission entitling patrons to every attraction. This is a matter for the director to consider, said Mr. Wilson.

W. E. Weldon of Oakwood said perhaps there should be a return to the old method of having patrons of the Fair attend two and three days, instead of concentrating on one day.

Directors Elected

Directors for the year 1965 were elected as follows, twenty four out of over thirty-five nominated:

President Alvin Mark of Cameron, first vice-president Grant Benson of Coboconk, second vice-president Roy Neville, of Lindsay, third-vice president Glen Corneill of Lindsay. Directors, Mrs. M. Collins, Lloyd Graham, David Elliott, Joe Reynolds, David Linton, Dr. Lester, Earl Graham, Lawrence Staples, Carl Hickson, Joe Wilson, Don McFadyen, Gordon Mackey, Harold Beatty, Gordon Mark, Joe Murphy, Henry Mark, Ken Graham, Sherman Moore, Gordon Henderson, Cliff Lillico.

Immediate past president John Jenkins of Oakwood, submitted a brief but interesting report in which he said, despite abnormal weather and abundance of rain, the Society finished the year with a surplus of $1300, which he characterized as an opening surplus.

Past President Jenkins paid tribute to the work of Mrs. Ken Thornton who was presented with the President's award for outstanding service.

Manager Newton Wilson presented Past President Jenkins with a personal gift as a mark of appreciation for outstanding service.

Among those commended for excellent work were Mrs. Mel Jamieson, secretary, Mrs. M. Collins for general fine work in the Ladies Department as well as Mrs. Ken Thorne, also Roy Neville for work in connection with the schools and art department.

Roy Neville commended Manager Wilson and said much of the success of the Lindsay Central Exhibition has been due to the manager's efforts. Mr. Neville mentioned changes which will take place to improve the displays and arrangements of school and other exhibits. He thanked the directors for the assistance given to schools and school boys and girls.

Mrs. M. Collins and Mrs. Ken Thorne mentioned contemplated improvements for the displaying of exhibits in the women's department.

Former Mayor A. E. (Bert) Hick complimented the manager, president and directors on the successful 1964 despite the inclement weather and Monty Robson added words of praise and wished the fair success in the future. Greetings were also brought to the board by Mr Glassco, superintendent of the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto.

HEAD-DRESS INSPECTION

Exeter, England (UPI) — The 400 boys at Exeter Public School will have to line up for a "head dress" inspection when the new term starts. The school master said they'll be sent home if their hair is too long.

The high and low temperatures recorded during the past 24 hours were 8 and -17 degrees.

WHAT WILL THOSE YOUNGSTERS THINK OF NEXT? At least that's what these older chaperones seem to be thinking as they observe the goings-on in American International's merry musical comedy "Pajama Party", opening Friday Evening at the Century Theatre. The pajama'd oldsters are, from left, Jesse White, Elsa Lanchester, Ben Lessy and Buster Keaton, who sports the latest in Indian night garb.

William Stalker

William Elbern Stalker, formerly of 167 Lindsay street south, entered into rest at the Ross Memorial Hospital on Sunday January 3rd. in his 60th year. Born in Lindsay, Ontario, he was the son of the late William and Mabel Stalker. He spent his lifetime in Lindsay and passed on after a short illness. He is survived by one sister Mrs. Ruth Thorburn of Montreal P.Q. and one brother Bruce Stalker of Bowmanville.

William Stalker received his education in Lindsay Public School and was a member of Queen Street United Church.

The funeral service was held from the Mackey Funeral Home at 2.00 p.m. Tuesday Jan. 5th. The service was conducted by Rev. B. Garrett of Queen Street United with interment at Riverside Cemetery. Pallbearers were Donald Martin, Donald Pascoe, Allan Munro, Robert Reynolds, Thomas Moore and George Gassien.

THREE-WHEELER

London (UPI)— Truck driver Ronald Andrews was driving down the road with only three wheels on his truck when police arrested him. Andrews was fined $70 for drunken driving.

LINDSAY FAIR RECOGNIZED AS ONE OF ONTARIO'S BEST

Lindsay Central Exhibition Manager Newton Wilson told the annual meeting of the Lindsay Fair Wednesday that there will probably be a change in the classification of fairs. He also stated the Lindsay Exhibition is recognized as one of the best.

Mr. Wilson anticipated increased grants to the fair from the Government, especially if the Board undertakes further improvements. He mentioned that the Lindsay Fair was the first to install a refrigeration system and that other fairs, including London, are adopting the idea.

It was suggested that the fair improve the grandstand performance and also that the show should be reduced to an hour and a half instead of two hours.

Manager Wilson emphasized that the present high standard as an agricultural fair should be maintained but said agriculture alone will not attract patrons. There must be special shows and special displays, he said, and better entertainment. He commended the President and directors and thanked the various news media and complimented secretary Mrs. Mel Jamieson.

Wants milk at 4-H banquet

Miss Pat Wray representing the 4-H organization spoke at the Annual Meeting of the Lindsay Central Exhibition on Wednesday and thanked the Board for the interest they took in the club. She commented on the success of the club with regard to the grandstand performance on Wednesday night at the exhibition as well as the success of the Fair in its relationship to the junior farmers.

Miss Wray also suggested milke be substituted as the beverage at the annual 4-H banquet sponsored by the Fair Board.

The Officers and members of Faithful Brethren Lodge No. 77 and Gothic Lodge No. 608, A.F.&A.M. and other brethren are requested to assemble at the MeARTHUR FUNERAL HOME at 9.00 p.m. Friday, January 15th to conduct a service for our late R. WOR. BRO. ROBERT W. GROVES Masonic clothing.

W. E. Rogers, Secretary 608. C. H. Heels, Secretary 77

Farmers' Union ask government to probe Co-operative loss

Directors of the Ontario Farmers Union Tuesday agreed to ask the Ontario Government to probe the loss of $1.5 million by a farmers' co-operative in the attempted purchase of a Burlington meat packing plant.

The co-operative, Farmers' Allied Meat Enterprises Co-operative Ltd. bought the F.W. Fearman Co. plant in Burlington last September. When it was unable to pay more than $1.5 million of the $3.5 million purchase price the vendor, E. R. Gunner of Great Britain, regained control of the plant.

In addition to advocating a government inquiry into the FAME plant purchase, the Ontario Farmers Union agreed they would discuss with anyone methods of saving the money put into FAME, and the setting up of a co-operative meat packing plant in Ontario.

Minister honoured before departure

Oakwood (PNS) — A large number of the congregation of the United Church gathered in the school room of the church on Wednesday evening last to bid farewell to Rev. and Mrs. W. Brignall, Lloyd and Julie.

Mr. Lloyd Graham welcomed all and after singing an opening hymn, passed the duties over to Mr. Everett Nicholls to preside for the programme that followed presented by the school children which included choruses, vocal duets by Daryl Graham and Stewart Manley, tap dancing by Janice Tamblyn, Piano solo by Lois Squires and a vocal solo by Sharon Everson.

At this point of the programme Mr. and Mrs. Brignall and children were asked to take the seats of honour and an address was read by Mr. Lloyd Weldon on behalf of the congregation. Messrs. Everett Nicholls and Earl Manley presented them with a beautiful wall clock, electric coffee percolator and a sum of money. Daryl Graham gave Lloyd Brignall a travel alarm clock, and Mary Webster to Julie Brignall who was unable to be present on account of illness, a locket and chain. All expressed their thanks remarking they will have many pleasant memories of their stay here. They leave on Monday for their new charge at Osgoode.

Merchants go to Newmarket tonight

The final four games of the Central Ontario Hockey League schedule for the Lindsay Merchants will be completed by the end of next week. The Merchants go to Newmarket tonight and return to battle the Tigers tomorrow night at the Kiwanis Arena. The final pair of games next week are each good for four points. Next Tuesday the Merchants go to Aurora and Friday, January 22nd., the final game of the schedule brings Newmarket Redman to Lindsay for a four pointer.

A meeting for the Junior "C" team is slated to be held at Newmarket this evening to schedule the round robin-play off series between Lindsay, Aurora and Newmarket. This set is expected to start about Jan. 26th. It is expected the two top teams of the round robin series will meet in a best of seven series for the group championship and the right to advance in the provincial playdowns.

"Life and Love" topic of UCW meet

The United Church Women met at the home of Mrs. Robert Fortheringham. Hymns were sung. Mr. McAllister who read thescripture from John 20 also offered prayer. Mrs. Billings gave an inspiring talk on "Life and Love".

A very interesting letter from Rev. Charles Catto of Hampton was read. He is chairman of the work camp committee at Split Lake, Manitoba. A new church has been built with much help from the Indians who are being trained and taught along with other Christians of different races and creeds.

Mrs. Fotheringham read the minutes. Roll call was answered by a New Year's Poem. Mrs. Madill gave a treasurer's report. Lunch was served.

A delicious lunch was served by the U.C.W.

New WMS president takes chair at meeting

Woodville (PNS) — The December and Christmas meeting of Knox Presbyterian W.M.S. was held in the schoolroom of the church with twenty-six ladies present and the new President, Mrs. Neil McMillan in the chair.

Mrs. McMillan opened the meeting with prayer. This was followed by minutes of the last meeting and also minutes of a full Executive Meeting which had recently been held. Offering was received and dedicated by Mrs. McMillan. Roll was called and answered by a Christmas gift for the members of the home for unwed mothers "Armagli". Mrs. Alex Imrie announced that the Explorers are selling the church calendars and Mrs. Thomas announced the final plans for the C.G.I.T. Vesper Service. Mrs. McMillan very graciously welcomed everyone to the Christmas meeting and expressed the hope that the New Year will be one of Peace and Good Will and all working together to further God's work throughout the world. Mrs. Lloyd Pethick, convener of the programme and worship period, then took charge. A carol was sung followed by a Christmas meditation and prayer by Mrs. E. L. Faed. Mrs. Pethick gave a reading after which she announced that everyone would celebrate Christmas in scripture, song and story.

Mrs. McMillan read the Scripture lesson from the 2nd chapter of Luke. The following memberes then each gave a Christmas article or poem interspersed with all of the lovely well-known Christmas carols. Mrs. W. Hill, Mrs. L. Thomas, Mrs. Wm. McKewon, Mrs. Ralph Veale, Mrs. Cecil Simpson, Mrs. E. Thompson, Mrs. B. Gilson.

Just before the last carol, Mrs. C. Simpson and Mrs. B. Gilson sang a beautiful duet.

Mrs. Pethick thanked all who had taken part and wished every one a peaceful and Blessed holiday season and closed a very fine Christmas meeting with prayer.

Lunch was then enjoyed in a period of fellowship.

KLTA PROPOSE INTERNATIONAL SNOWMOBILE CONTEST IN 1967

The initial ground-work was laid last night by the Kawartha Lakes Tourist Association at a meeting at Lakefield for a world snow-mobile championship competition to be held in this area in 1967 the Centenary of Canada's Confederation.

A report presented by Special Events Chairman, William Spenceley suggested world snow-mobile championship should be held on a rotation basis so the Kawartha area could benefit from it in 1967. He told the meeting the Kawartha Cup would be put up for competition at the Quebec Winter Carnival this year and suggested it should be competed for in the United States in 1966 and in this area in the Centennial year. Mr. Spenceley said it would be no good to have a snowmobile competition this year when there is one at the Quebec Winter Carnival. He added, the world competition would probably include competitors from Europe as well as North America. Mr. Spenceley stressed, "We can't sit by life; we have to work to have a competition here in 1967."

The KLTA approved an expenditure of $500 for a five-man committee to work with while the ground-work was being laid for the plan. It was suggested the KLTA should not directly sponsor the proposed event but rather a separate entity be incorporated with five representatives of the KLTA. Appointed to the committee were William Spenceley, David Logan, Donald Scott, Arthur Lark and Harry McDonald.

Mr. Spencely told the group he had no idea for a site as yet but worth the event would probably draw over 100,000 people to the area. He recommended the competition be scheduled for either four or seven days and asked the members to consider erecting bleachers or building a stadium for about 10,000 people when the site, which would be a permanent site for winter sports, was chosen.

He told the KLTA since snow - mobile competitions would be a major winter sport by 1967, the Queen should be invited, since it is Canada's Centennial year, or if it is too early in the year for the Queen to come then he suggested inviting Prince Charles to open the event.

Mr. Spencely, who proposed the forming of an incorporated "foundation", said the purpose of the foundation would be to plan and execute winter or off-season activities, especially winter sports in the Kawarthas, including the 1967 world snow-mobile competitions.

David Logan recommended a corporate body with limited liability be formed when it was necessary, because of large expenditures under the provincial act. He said it should be chartered under the provincial rather than the federal act because, though it would be called a sporting competition, it would be provincial in scope since it would be held in the Province of Ontario.

TIRED LANGUAGE

London (UPI) — David Holbrook, who is helping compile a new Church of England Hymnal, said most Victorian Hymns are "full of tired, third hand language and grotesque expressions and crude sensualism."

SIR WINSTON CHURCHILL STRICKEN GREAT STATESMAN SERIOUSLY ILL

London (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill suffered a stroke today and fears were felt for his life.

The great statesman, 90 last Nov. 30, was stricken while apparently recovering from a cold.

His personal physician, Lord Moran, summoned Lord Brian —one of the world's leading neurologists—into consultation.

In a bulletin issued just before 3 p.m. (10 a.m. EST) they reported: "After a cold Sir Winston has developed a circulatory weakness and there has been a cerebral thrombosis".

Neither doctor would elaborate on the bulletin and said another one would be issued at about 10 p.m. (5 p.m. EST).

Medical experts took a grave view of the bulletin. They pointed out Sir Winston has had several strokes in the past 15 years, but this one is complicated by his great age and the consequent decline in his recuperative powers.

They particularly noted the phrase "circulatory weakening", which implies the phenomenal resilience, which has helped Sir Winston through many serious illnesses, is ebbing away.

Word of Sir Winston's illness, so soon after the happy family party that celebrated the start of his 10th decade, brought Londoners thronging to this three-story red brick house in Hyde Park gate.

Despite the chill winter winds more than 100 people clustered in the narrow deadend street into which television trucks maneuvered their way. Reporters, photographers and citizens massed around the doorway to watch the comings and goings.

As usual where Sir Winston is concerned visitors spoke not at all or only in the tersest terms.

"I saw him at luncheon", said Sergeant Edmund Murray, his bodyguard for 15 years.

But he would not describe the circumstances of the meeting, whether he spoke to Sir Winston or whether his boss spoke to him.

Viscountess Asquith, one of the visitors, would only say: "I found him very peaceful".

Sir Winston's daughter, Mary, was at the house twice during the day but refused to comment. Her husband, former Tory Minister Christopher Soames, shook his head.

The plane carrying Sir Winston Churchill's daughter Sarah to London returned to Rome's airport tonight for an emergency landing.

The Nigerian Airlines plane turned around shortly after taking off.

Reasons for the return were not immediately disclosed.

Following his retirement in 1955 "Winnie" devoted much of his time to painting and he is pictured here studying a canvas.

No estimate of Oakwood fire loss

No estimate of damage as a result of the fire which destroyed one of three barns on the farm of Leonard Webster at East Oakwood is yet available Mrs. Webster told "The Post" Friday noon. All livestock was removed from the stables and the loss besides the building consisted of a part now of hay and a water pump and heater in the stable.

Mrs. Webster said they could hardly believe the main barn was saved considering the close proximity of the two buildings. She highly praised the efficient work of the three fire departments and the splendid assistance rendered by neighbours from near and far. Several neighbourhood housewives rallied at the scene and assisted in providing hot coffee to the firemen and prepared sandwiches.

A factor that clinched the control of the fire was the arrival of a further supply of water. Mr. Arnold Perrin, Cameron water merchant learned of the need about eleven o'clock, and drove immediately to the scene, pausing at McLaren's Creek to take on over 1000 gallons of water arriving about eleven-thirty to re-load two of the pumpers at the scene. With this addtitional supply the firemen were able to water down the burning straw.

No intention of resigning - Diefenbaker

Ottawa (UPI) — Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker said today he had nothing to say on demands by his 10 Quebec members for a National Leadership Convention.

At the same time, he indicated he had no intention of resigning.

"I have no information on this other than what I hear on the radio or read in the newspapers", Diefenbaker declared. "I haven't heard anything-no one has been in touch with me".

Pressed for comment on the demands for a leadership convention, Diefenbaker retorted: "The matter is hypothetical".

"I made clear my views (on resigning) when I arrived back from my holidays", he added. "They are competely unchanged in every way".

At that time the opposition leader declared he had "no idea whatsoever of living up to the hopes of some people".

He declared that when such an announcement was to be made, he would make it.

$300 DAMAGE

Total damage estimated at $300 resulted at 10 a.m. Thursday when a car, driven by Francis R. Teefy, of RR4, Lindsay, struck the rear of a car driven by Ola Eveline Cook of 155 Lindsay Street South, when the Cook vehicle dropped at a railway crossing on Lindsay Street. Lindsay Police said both vehicles were proceeding north on Lindsay St. South and when Miss Cook applied her brakes the Teefy vehicle, unable to stop in time, collided with the rear of the Cook automobile.

Weather Outlook

Sunny but clouding over by midday. Light snowfall this afternoon. Sunny Saturday continuing cold. Winds light becoming easterly 15 to 25 this afternoon and northeast 15 this Saturday. High today and low tonight 10 above and 10 below.

Debate not stifled at meeting - Wilson

Newton Wilson, Manager of the Lindsay Fair commented today to "The Post" on yesterday's editorial in which he was suggested debate at the annual meeting was possibly stifled because a young girl junior farmer had been selected as chairman of the meeting. "Absolutely not", said Mr. Wilson, "we get ideas from our youth and new ideas are what the exhibition needs".

Mr. Wilson said Mr. Glasswell, representative of the Royal Winter Fair had commented favourably on the innovation of using a girl as chairman of the meeting. "Debate was not stifled", said Mr. Wilson, "we allowed a twenty minute period for free debate and all who wanted too, spoke".

Roy Morrison, popular reeve of Mariposa Township will be a strong contender for the Wardenship of Victoria County when sessions commence in Lindsay at the county building on Tuesday.

A Great Age

Sir Winston Churchill, at 90, the world's greatest statesman, suffered a cerebral thrombosis, or blood clot in the brain today and was described by doctor's as seriously ill. What was described as 'circulatory weakness', a dangerous complication in a man of his age was reported to have developed.

Longevity is the final boon on a life already blessed with every other gift man and nature can bestow. But those who know him do not think Sir Winston is grateful because, against all the odds, he has lived longer than any former Prime Minister in British history.

Sir Winston has given time, the final enemy, a memorable battle, but it is a war no man can win, even a man who has conquered in everything else.

He was born prematurely to his American mother on November 30th, 1874. He suffered from a weak chest as a boy and was sent to Harrow-on-the-Hill where altitude was considered good for his condition. He survived the last cavalry charge in British military history and escaped from the Boers in the Boer war to become a national hero.

"People simply cannot think of Sir Winston as old" said a man present at at meeting of "The Other Club" which Churchill helped found among parliamentarians in 1911 so members could hear the other Fellow's point of view. "But he is old. Very old. And one must not expect too much from him."

Reaching 90 may be a privilege, but retirement and debility are its inevitable penalties.

Season's first blizzard

The first blizzard of the season struck the Lindsay district today with a ferocity reminiscent of some of the weekend storms last year with blocked roads and halted transportation for hours. Although there were few blocked roads in this district, it is believed there would have been had the snow been drier and drifting.

Constable Adair transferred

Provincial Constable David Adair, stationed for the past three years in Lindsay, left this morning for Belleville where he will continue his police duties. Members of the local police force, provincial police and RCMP presented Constable Adair with a handsome Gladstone bag prior to his departure.

W. H. McBrien, of Belleville will succeed Constable Adair in Lindsay.

Accident

In spite of the unfavourable conditions of the highways only one accident was reported by police today.

No one was injured when two cars collided on Highway No. 7 about a mile and a half west of Lindsay about 10.30 p.m. A car driven by Jack Beall of Lindsay and containing Miss Aileen Doble of Sunderland, was proceeding west when it was in collision with one driven by Gordon Dunlop of Cavan township, with Misses Marion Whitmore and Alice Leetcher, both of Peterboro, as passengers. The provincial snow plow was preceding the Beal car and as Dunlop attempted to pass it his car skidded into the side of the Beal car knocking it into the north ditch. Damage to both cars is estimated at $350.

Haliburton hydro weak

The streets of Haliburton are in darkness owing to the extremely low water in Drag Lake above the power house. It is reportedly possible that the streets might remain in darkness until spring.

Man dismissed not German

A relative of the young soldier who was dismissed from the ranks on Thursday, and who informed both Lieut-Col. Fee and Chief Short he was a native born German, wishes the Post to state that he was born in Kinmount, and has no German blood in his veins.

Bring officer home for burial

Word has been received this morning that the body of the late Lt.-Col. Frank Strange, of Kingston, who was well known by Lindsay military men, and who died at Salisbury Plain, will be shipped on the steamer Grampian from London on Friday and would arrive at Halifax or St. John. Arrangements will be made for a military funeral.

Home Guard parades

Last night about 100 members of the Home Guard turned out at the armoury for parade and drill. Headed by the 45th Rgt. band, the guard paraded in command of Capt. Williams. Afterwards drill was held at the armoury. The members of the overseas force did not turn out as it was not compulsory for them to participate in the parade.

Quite a number of soldiers watched the drill of the Home Guard last night with interest and were surprised at the precision with which they performed the several movements. It is unfortunate indeed that a greater number of our citizens do not identify themselves with this worthy organization. It is a duty they owe their country and their town.

Commands Company

Capt. V. W. Lancaster, of Bobcaygeon, has been given command of the Builders and Trades Company of the Home Guards Regiment of the city of Peterboro. The regiment has about 1000 members, and the Captain is in charge of about 90 members.

They'll Do It Every Time

Registered U. S. Patent Office

By Jimmy Hatlo

Why don't they care?

Across Canada, voting in this year's local elections, always poor, appears to have been lighter than ever. In many cities and towns, Toronto being a case in point, hardly more than one third of those eligible bothered to cast a ballot.

Making due allowance for the sick, the infirm and those suddenly called out of town, the great bulk of remaining non-voters seem to fall into our categories. There are the cynical ("they're all the same so what does it matter?"); the lazy ("I was so busy I just didn't get around to it"), the forgetful ("I thought it wasn't until next week") and the basically disinterested ("I don't know enough about it").

It's easy to deplore this kind of mass abstention and to write off those who indulge in it as incorrigibles, delinquent in the exercise of their civic responsibility. The fact remains that a high proportion of these same people do care enough to go to the polls in provincial and federal elections. With these apparently they are able to "identify" with local elections they are not. The question, is: Why?

Granted that the widespread indifference which keeps two out of three citizens away from municipal polls is bad for democracy, what is the answer? How do you make people care more about such things as road maintenance, sewers, garbage disposal, police and fire protection, zoning regulations — yes, and the most vital (and costly) item of all, education?

Time for cuts

Mr. Walter Gordon, Canada's Minister of Finance, could be forgiven for not making any cuts in either corporate or personal income tax rates in his last budget. He cannot reasonably expect the same understanding if they are not forthcoming in his next, due in a matter of weeks.

Twelve months ago, the two probabilities influencing Mr. Gordon in the direction of a stand-pat budget were those of yet another massive deficit and of an economy capable of strong expansion in the ensuing year without the stimulus of tax cuts. The situation is a good deal different today.

Thanks to an even more vigorous economic performance in 1964 than had been foreseen, federal government revenues have risen much more sharply than expected. In consequence, meaningful tax reductions can now better be afforded than at any time in the past several years.

By far the most important single reason for urging such reductions in the upcoming budget, however, is their likely impact on the course of business activity in 1965. True, the immediate economic outlook continues to be good, but with four consecutive years of expansion now behind us, some slowing of the growth rate is indicated as government spokesmen admit.

There are those who may see no great cause for alarm in a slower rate of growth. But, with young Canadians entering the labour force in record numbers, what is needed is not fewer new job opportunities but more.

A lower tempo of business activity of course, also means smaller government revenues than would otherwise be the case.

Would early tax cuts, in fact, avert any slackening in expansion? In answering this question, the experience of the United States can hardly be ignored. Last year's reductions in both corporate and personal income tax reductions in that country have done all that those who advocated them said they would do, including improve the competitive position of U. S. industry. Retail sales, capital spending and government revenues are all up, while the level of unemployment is down.

In the words of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association's pre-budget brief to Ottawa: "In view of the similarity of conditions in the two countries, it is reasonable to conclude that a tax reduction in Canada would have the same result."

Your move, Mr. Gordon. —Industry

When Old-Timers Are Dropped

If Moses can be called a politician, he was the first one in history to have seen the promised land but failed to reach it. Other politicians, including some great ones, have had their disappointments. Charlotte Whitton last month said confidently that she had never been defeated for any municipal office for which she ran, but she failed to get herself re-elected mayor of Ottawa. Another woman in politics in a less conspicuous way announced that she wanted to be re-elected because that would complete for her 25 years in that particular office. The voters said nay. A former mayor of Ontario's largest city an election or so ago allowed it to be known that he wanted to be mayor when Canada's most peculiar city hall was opened. The voters said nay.

On the basis of recent evidence, and going back to Moses, politicians should make no reference to the fact that they've been in office many years and deserve on that account to be re-elected. Voters sometimes seem to think that a man who has been in office for quite a number of years should not be elected.

The most painful, startling and perhaps unfair rejection was that of Winston Churchill in 1945. Under his regime all the king's enemies had been defeated. But the king's subjects in Britain did not on that occasion permit him to stay in office as leader of the British people.

The mood of the electorate is difficult to fathom. A horse race, if one studies the charts, may be a little more predictable.

ONTARIO APPLE DUMPLINGS

Tender, juicy apple dumplings, warm from the oven, make a delightful dessert to end a winter meal. Some varieties of Ontario apples, Northern Spy, Greening and McIntosh are excellent cooking apples. Try your favorite apples in these old-Fashioned Apple Dumplings suggested by the Foods Department at Macdonald Institute, Guelph.

OLD-FASHIONED APPLE DUMPLINGS

6 medium Ontario cooking apples; ½ cup brown sugar; 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon butter; flaky pastry for two-crust pie.

SYRUP

1½ cups boiling water; 2 tablespoons sugar; ¼ cup butter; ½ teaspoon cinnamon; 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind; 3 tablespoons lemon juice.

Roll pastry ⅛-inch thick and cut into six inch squares. Peel and core apples; save peelings for syrup. Fill apples with brown sugar and cinnamon mixture and dot each with butter. Place filled apples in centre of each pastry square; moisten the edges with cold water and bring points up over apples. Press edges together. Place in greased 12 x 8 x 2 inch baking dish and refrigerate.

Pour boiling water over apple peel. Simmer, covered 20 minutes. Remove peel, add other ingredients, stirring until sugar dissolves. Pour over dumplings and bake at 375 degrees F. until tender, about 40 minutes. Serve warm.

Wooden Salad Bowls

Wooden salad bowls develop a mellow odor with age, and the flavour of garlic rubbed in to the wood is preserved if the bowls are not washed. Drain the bowl each time after use, rub dry with absorbent paper and polish with oiled paper. Keep in a cheesecloth bag when not in use.

Egg Stains

Apply cold water immediately to egg stains on fabrics. If treated soon enough, this usually solves the problem.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

By Anne Ashley

Q. What is a recipe for a good chicken-corn chowder?

A. Combine one can condensed cream of corn soup, one can cream of chicken soup, one or more cans milk and one cup chopped cooked chicken (leftover or canned). Blend and heat. Add a pinch of curry or any favorite herb or spice, for a special flavor.

Q. How can I, when painting window frames, mask the glass when I have no real masking tape on hand?

A. Cut a sheet of newspaper to the size of the window pane, and press this tightly against the glass. This will catch the paint smudges or spatters, and can easily be removed.

Q. How can I add luster to my linoleum without actually waxing it?

A. One old-fashioned, but effective method is to add a little sour milk to your rinse water when you wash the floor.

World news today

Ottawa — Opposition leader John Diefenbaker today charged that Canadians were being "discriminated against" in the sale of Canadian mint coins.

In a written statement, the Conservative leader charged that the mint sets of 1965 Canadian coins were being denied to Canadian coin collectors, while United States dealers were obtaining large orders. He declared that he would raise this matter in the Commons when the present session resumes.

"A number of Canadians including students and school children have complained of being deprived of having the opportunity of obtaining a mint set of new Canadian coins while others outside of Canada were able to do so for commercial purposes", Diefenbaker said. He said Canadian collectors have complained that preference is given to a few large collectors, "particularly those in the United States", denying Canadian the opportunity of collecting their own coinage.

Diefenbaker said it was the practise in a number of other countries including the United States, for domestic orders to be granted priority over foreign orders.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario — Firemen are investigating the theory that a restaurant fire was caused by a torch used to thaw out water pipes in 30 degree below zero weather.

The mercury had climbed ten degrees to 20 below by the time the fire got going.

A woman fleeing the fire from an upper story apartment returned for a coat and was burned to death.

Montreal — The Dorian Judical Inquiry heard yesterday from the wife of accused smuggler Lucien Rivard.

She said she had raised money to help her husband—some 60-thousand dollars—from their friends.

Asked why this was put in a joint account with accused murderer Robert Gignac, she said she didn't know—she was upset and really didn't understand what was going on.

Ottawa — The First issue to the government of flags of the new Maple Leaf design will be ready within the next week. Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's office said yesterday some 16-thousand flags are being run off in the first order.

British Columbia — Another landslide was reported in British Columbia last night. This time, it was east of Vancouver and blocked the last major road link with the rest of Canada. No was injured, although one truck driver barely escaped. B.C. is just recovering from two earlier slides which took more than ten lives.

Houston — Hollywood and movie fans are mourning the death of Jeanette MacDonald—best known as the co-star with Nelson Eddy in musical operettas of the late 30's and early 40's.

She died of a heart seizure yesterday in Methodist Hospital in Houston.

Alabama — Dr. Martin Luther King has announced that a drive will begin Monday to test the Civil Rights Law in Selma, Alabama. He announced the drive last night and said it would cover voter registration and public accommodations.

Moscow — It has been officially announced in Moscow that Soviet leaders will hold their first summit meeting with East European allies since the ouster of Premier Khrushchev last October. The meeting will be held in Warsaw with speculation that Premier Kosygin and Soviet Party Chief Brezhnev might travel there Tuesday.

NOT MUCH THERE

New York (UPI) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York, presented a golden key to the city to Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato at a dinner last night.

"This key opens our hearts but not our treasury because I am afraid there is not much there", Wagner said referring to the city's chronic deficit.

England — A London nonconformist who often dresses in rags wore his Sunday best clothes to conduct his own divorce case yesterday. Nigel Kingsford-Watt says he got dressed up for what he called the "solemn occasion of the dissolution" of his marriage.

The chimes of Big Ben are famous throughout the world. The clock, due to expert supervision, is a perpetually accurate gauge of the time. The tower looms over the imposing buildings of the Houses of Parliament, over which it has stood solemn guard through the decades. A flag on Victoria Tower by day and a light in the clock tower by night indicates that the House is in sitting.—British Travel Association photo.

Cresswell (PNS) — The January meeting of Cresswell W.A. and W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Andrew Dix, on in Manilla, with an attendance of eighteen women and 3 children. The President, Mrs. R. Wood, was in the chair and opened the meeting with a New Year's thought followed by a hymn. Scripture reading by Mrs. Wood was taken from Joshua 1. Mrs. P. Brown read an article based on the Scripture reading, and followed with prayer. The second article on Study "Mission on our Doorstep", was given in dialogue form by Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Currie, Mrs. Boultwood, Mrs. Acton, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Switzer and Mrs McPhaden. It gave a resume of the organization and history of the W.M.S. through the hundred years since the beginning in 1864. W.M.S. collection was received and dedicated.

The business followed with the reading of the minutes of the two December meetings, and the roll call, which was answered by the receiving of fees for the year of 1965. Nineteen memberships were received. W.A. Collection was received and the Annual reports given by W.M.S. Treasurer, Mrs. B. Currie and the Secretary's report by Mrs. P. Brown. Correspondence was read and business of the minutes dealt with. Suggestions and ideas regarding ways in which to raise additional sums of money were made and dealt with as well as suggestions for Roll Sall. A draw was taken for members to be responsible for meetings throughout the coming year.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

WAITING ROOM IS THE NAME FOR IT

I recall one ebullient lady praising her doctor as one of the best. I asked her on what she based her appraisal. She said: "Do you know, when you make an appointment to see him, he's so busy, you have to wait around for hours? Once I sat in his waiting room for six hours before I could see him. Now you know a doctor must be good if patients will wait so long to see him".

I though to myself that no doctor was that good. And that same patients are aptly named, but misspelled. It should be patience. But not all patients agree. They refuse to wait around endlessly. I think that both patients and physicians will benefit from reading the following letter.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Please give your opinion on medical men who make a habit of giving appointments which they can't possibly keep. For instance, appointment is 9:30 a.m. and he doesn't see the patient until 4 p.m. No emergency came up. This is the way he manages his office day after day. It is also impossible to speak to him; only to his nurse.

Don't misunderstand, I realize problems sometimes develop the doctor cannot foresee and one is willing to wait for an hour or so under such conditions. But it happens too often to use emergency as an excuse. Nevertheless, the doctor I have in mind has a large following. Is there something wrong with me or with those who spend an entire day waiting in his office?

I, for one, would die of an ailment or nerves before I would repeatedly pay such a doctor regular visits. No doubt that for some patients with time on their hands such waiting is O.K., but not for those of us who pay baby sitters or burden neighbours, family or friends.—Mrs. S.

MOTHERHOOD AT 47?

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am 47 years old and soon to be married for the first time. I am a career woman but my greatest desire since young womanhood has been for a family of my own. Being the age of many grandmothers do you think I am too old? Being a wife and mother, to me, is the most queenly job in the world. I am in good health and young in heart and soul.—Miss X.

Comment: It's never too late to get married. The other day I read of two 90-year-olds who marched down the aisle. So you are a comparative youngster. However, as far as your desire to raise a family is concerned, the outlook is not so sunny as the approaching marriage ceremony itself.

I think you must go into it with eyes wide open. Although it is possible, the likelihood is against your having a child. If that is your only purpose for marrying, think it over carefully. You can still stay young in heart and soul in a childless marriage at your age if your sole purpose is not marrying just to have children.

"Cancer" topic of W.I. meeting

Woodville (PNS) — The January meeting of Woodville Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon English with thirty-five members and three visitors present and the President Mrs. John Teel in the chair.

After singing the Ode and repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison the visitors were introduced. These were three ladies from the Heffernan district and included Mrs. Bagshaw who is President of Georgina Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society and who spoke later in the evening.

The Roll was called and answered by a "Grandmother's remedy for illness". Minutes of the December meeting were read and approved and business arising from same was dealt with. Treasurer's report was given and the attendance prize was drawn for and won by Mrs. Frank Bray. Offering was received and attention was drawn to the Pennies for Friendship container.

Mrs. Lloyd King gave the Remembrance Committee report and told of the cards and gifts of fruit and plants sent to sick and shut-ins of the community at Christmas. Many replies of thanks were received among them a letter from Mrs. Murray Austin in Florida and a Christmas greeting card from the West Victoria District President. Also a thank-you from Scott Mission in Toronto for a donation sent them.

Miss Joyce Westlake is Curator of the Tweedsmuir Library Book told of her duties in this office and asked for co-operation of the members. Mrs. Canning then distributed the books to the members.

Red Cross supplies to be knitted and sewn by any who would do this important work, were distributed by Mrs. Murray thanked Mrs. Bagshaw for a very informative address also Mrs. English for the use of her home. Mrs. Teel announced the next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. A. Jackson and closed with the Mary Stewart Collect and The Queen.

Mrs. English had three prizes to present. One for the person who came the farthest won by Mrs. Bagshaw. One whose birthday was closest to January 1st won by Mrs. E. Thompson and one for the person sitting nearest a lucky spot won by Mrs. D. Ferguson.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Murray and her committee.

Mrs. Stanley Murray, convener of Home Economics and Health then took charge of the programme. Mrs. K. J. Rooney who spoke of the motto which was "Good food and good health dread disease. She also showed two of life's greatest blessings and Mrs. Veale played the piano. Mrs. Murray then cer patients and also some asked Mrs. Bagshaw to take which the patients make to Sunday visitors with Mrs. D. Ferguson were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis King City and Mr. D. N. Sinclair and Mrs. A. Jamieson of Lindsay.

Mrs. H. Graham has returned home after spending the Christmas and New Year holidays at the home of her son and her sister-in-law, both of Toronto.

EYE-SPY MIRROR

P-S-S-T! Chalk one up for counter-espionage. Shown below are details of a transparent mask used by enemy agents. You are invited to construct a replica of this instrument for demonstration purposes among friends. These are the materials needed: two panes of glass, several sheets of cellophane or plastic wrap, a small box, masking tape or other adhesive.

Note step-by-step assembly and function: 1 and 2—Mirror frame assembly, 3—Box assembly, 4—Application (Subject stands with back to light; viewer can see him; he can't see viewer). You may find it necessary to experiment with varying numbers of layers of cellophane or plastic for best mirror effect.

Ladder-word Poser

IT TAKES many steps to make a town into a city. However, TOWN can be transformed into CITY in no more than seven steps by the word ladder method of changing one letter each step to leave a common word. The order of letters cannot be changed in the process.

Answer: TOWN, DOWN, DOWS, DOES, DOSE, DISE, CISE, CITY—in one hundred seconds. A is for Hundred and Seconds.

A and B Complex

STUDY the following sets of figures:

A plus B equals 169.
A divided by B equals 12.
A times B equals 2,028.
A minus B equals 143.

Now see how quickly you can determine which numbers A and B represent.

Answer: Henry, 13; Ellen, 11; Bill, 4; Mabel, 17; Lily, 7. What counters did each person draw?

Quick on Pick-Up?

AT A party, five guests qualified for prizes. Ten counters, having the numbers one to ten, inclusive, were put in a bag, and Henry, Ellen, Bill, Mabel and Lily drew out two counters each. The sum of the two numbers drawn in each case was: Henry, 16; Ellen, 11; Bill, 4; Mabel, 17; Lily, 7. What counters did each person draw?

Answer: Henry, 8 and 8; Ellen, 10 and 1; Bill, 1 and 3; Mabel, 9 and 8; Lily, 6 and 1.

One, Two, Three Shift

THERE is something about this game of one, two, three reminiscent of the old Army game involving the pea and a walnut shell. Perhaps it is because it seems so easy to do, yet can prove so confusing when attempted.

Note that the total of each vertical and horizontal column at right above is six. Also one diagonal column totals six. The other diagonal column, however, totals only three.

By moving three figures in this arrangement, both diagonal columns as well as all vertical and horizontal columns can be made to total six. See if you can make the adjustment.

Answer: Move the bottom row to top to the same order (1-2-3).

His Memory's Driving Him Nuts

DOOR old Mr. Squirrel has done it again—forgotten in which tree he stored his food. Fortunately, our bushy-tailed friend is on the right track and will eventually make his way to tree No. 4. Can you trace his path through the woods, visiting the trees in consecutive order?

Eccentricities

AN eccentric farmer calls in an eccentric painter to have a 26-foot square barn painted. The sides of the barn are 10 feet high. The painter is told to draw a diagonal line from the bottom corner of one side to the top corner of the fourth side of the barn; above the diagonal must be red, below it, green. Ordinarily, the painter can do 200 square feet an hour; but he likes to work with green paint so he can do that 25 per cent faster. However, he abhors red paint, so it takes him twice as long as usual. If he's paid at the rate of $2.50 an hour, how much will he earn?

Answer: Painter will earn $12.50.

Birds and Beasts

IN a certain zoological collection there are 34 heads and 100 feet. How many birds and beasts in the collection? Answer in two minutes.

Answer: Between them, they would have 68 feet. Birds would have 2 feet, beasts would have 4 feet. Subtract 68 from 100 leaves 32 feet. Divide 32 by 4 and the result is 8 beasts. Subtract 8 from 34 leaves 26 birds.

It's Your Turn To Win

WHITE checkers, moving up the board, to move first and win in three moves is the challenge here. Says Millard Hopper, originator of this problem: "A second look is better than second sight in any checker game. Look every possibility over carefully before you leap to any conclusions."

Remember, you are asked to complete the game in just three moves.

Answer: Move the white checker in the upper right-hand corner to the square in the lower left-hand corner. Then move the black checker in the lower right-hand corner to the square in the upper left-hand corner. Then move the white checker in the upper left-hand corner to the square in the lower right-hand corner.

Puzzles and Pastimes

AFTER-DINNER PICK ME UP

CAN you follow instructions? Place 30 matchsticks as shown. Remove nine and have nine left. Restore one, remove eight, and have nothing left. Restore 11, remove six and have 10 left. Restore three, remove three and have 100 left. This makes an interesting match puzzle and can keep folks occupied for some time.

Answer: To get nothing remaining, remove the center matchstick. To get 100 left, remove the 100 of sticks. Remove 9 of sticks. Remove 10 of 11 sticks. Remove 3 of 3 sticks. Remove 3 of 3 sticks. Remove 3 of 3

Flu still packs a wallop

Many people believe influenza need be feared no longer in this age of miracle drugs. Here, according to Reader's Digest, are the facts:

a) There is no specific treatment to cure flu. No drugs, pills, capsules or syrups attack the virus.

b) Flue returns in cycles. No epidemic is expected this winter, but some epidemiologists fear that a serious one will strike in the winter of 1965-66. The last one was in 1963.

c) With its major complication, pneumonia, flue is a serious killer.

Influenza is a rapidly contagious disease that takes hold within 18 to 36 hours after its victim is exposed to the virus. The victim suffers chills, headaches, muscular pain, frequently a cough, always a fever. He is likely to be prostrate for approximately three days.

The aged are especially vulnerable to flu and its complications. Eighty-four per cent of the 1,183 Canadians whose deaths were caused by influenza in the winter 1963-64 were under one or over 65 years of age.

During an epidemic, these precautions should be taken:

1) Get plenty of rest; eat regular, well -balanced meals to help keep up your resistance to infection.

2) Avoid crowded places.

3) Try to keep a safe distance from coughers and sneezers.

4) If symptoms start, go to bed. Keep warm and out of drafts. If you have a fever, call your doctor; he can do much to protect you against dangerous complications. Stay in bed until your doctor says danger of pneumonia seems past. And for the safety of those in your home, remember that you have a catching disease.

CONFEDERATE SPACE MAN

Weslaco, Tex., (UPI) — The Confederate Air Force is getting a space man.

The Flying Rebels announced yesterday that Astronaut Virgil Grissom of Houston has applied for membership and will be given his confederate colonel's commission at the group's grand ball here Jan. 30.

The Confederate Air Force is a group of flying enthusiasts most of them from South Texas who collect and fly old warplanes.

'Missions' theme of WM Council meet

Gooderham (PNS) — The Women's Missionary council of the Pentecostal Church was held in the church on Thursday afternoon. The new President Mrs. Ron Campbell was in charge of the meeting and gave an interesting talk on missions.

Other officers elected for the year 1965 are Vice President Mrs. FranK Dewey; Secretary, Mrs. Charles Billings; Treasurer, Ms. Mabel Hunter. The work committee consists of all members.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Campbells. The February theme to be on "This is the hour".

All time sales record for VW

An all time sales record for Volkswagen Canada Ltd., was established in 1964.

Dealers across Canada report sales of 34,444 VW cars, trucks and buses, an increase of 16.8 per cent over the 1963 sales total of 29,498 units.

The 1964 sales figure is 2.5 per cent higher than the previous record year of 1960 when 33,601 units were sold in Canada.

Volkswagen's success in Canada during 1964 parallels similary successes in other countries. Sales in the United States are estimated at 325,000 units for the year, from 277,000 in 1963. Sales in Germany increased from 445,000 in 1963 to 520,000 during 1964, an increase of more than 15 per cent.

Hymns were sung and prayers offered.

The Department has been lauded by the Canadian garment industry for its assistance in promoting Canadian designed and manuactured clothes both at home and abroad.

Merchants down Redmen 6-1 Aurora Tigers here tonight

Another hat trick by Bob Taylor set up the Merchants seventeenth win of the season at Newmarket last night. Merchant goalie Doug Broad had a shut-out all but made and ready to wrap up only to have it vanish with four minutes to go. The final score was Lindsay 6, Newmarket 1.

The Merchants took control early in the game last night but only managed one goal in the first period against rookie goalie Dave Ballard. Of the three Lindsay penalties in the first period, two were but two seconds apart but several key saves by Doug Broad kept the Redmen at bay.

Regular goalie Terry McGowan handled the second period for the redmen during which time the Merchants ran the score to 4 - 0 on goals by Ray McCabe, Bob Taylor and Bill Horton. Ray McCabe served two penalties and Doug Burrows one in the middle frame.

Ray McCabe's second goal and Bob Taylor's third completed the Merchants scoring in the third period with the penalties three to one against the Merchants. The Redmen's goalie, Terry McGowan had to retire after about two minutes of the period when he stopped a low shot with his face. It was expected quite a number of stitches were required to close the wound on his upper lip and alongside his nose. Dave Ballard was put in again after a short delay and again he held the Merchants to one additional marker. The Newmarket goal came at 15:53 of the period after the Redmen had been under attack for several minutes, when Ivan St. John followed a clearing pass into the Lindsay end and fired to the bottom corner. Doug broad got a pice of the shot but not sufficient to turn it aside.

To-night the Lindsay Merchants will play host to the Aurora Tigers at the Kiwanis Arena. Two games next week brings the Merchants schedule to a close, and a round robin play-off will start Tuesday, January 26th. The complete play-off schedule was drawn up at a meeting held last evening at Newmarket.

Handy Scrub Brush

You can make a very efficient scrub brush by cementing a piece of rubber stair tread to a wooden block. The corrugated-rubber tread is excellent for cleaning linoleum and painted surfaces, and also acts as squeegee to remove excess water.

At a dinner in Kingston, Ontario honouring the 150th birthday of Canada's first prime minister Sir John A. Macdonald, Ontario prime minister John Robarts, pictured here in jocular mood, told the gathering that highway 401 running from Windsor, Ontario to the Quebec border would be called "The Macdonald-Cartier Freeway" in honour of our first prime minister and his Quebec lieutenant Etienne Cartier. Last year it had been suggested highway 401 be named "The Leslie Frost Freeway" after the former Ontario prime minister.—"Ontario Dept. of Tourism and Information photo.

High on Growing List of Province's New-Found Riches

Saskatchewan Oil

Drilling-crew member descends from Drill Rig No. 27, near Midale in southeastern Saskatchewan. In 10 years, province's oil production has quadrupled.

Stepping squarely into the big picture of Canada's booming development, resource-rich Saskatchewan is making its impact upon the world. Renowned more than ever for massive wheat exports, the quarter-million-square-mile province now balances its agricultural earnings by producing another one and a half billion dollars worth of other vital commodities — not least among them, oil. In a dozen years Saskatchewan oil has risen to an average daily production of 230,000 barrels — nearly a third of Canada's total — a growing flood of natural wealth which, combined with new-found riches in potash, base metals, chemicals and manufacturing, has set the provincial economy on a steady course to increased prosperity. As the demand for oil continues, 1967 is expected to be the third consecutive year of growth in Saskatchewan's new petroleum boom. Exploration, up 70 per cent last year, is estimated to keep up its fast pace during the coming year and the industry's expenditure is likely to match the $200,000,000 spent in 1966. For the million people of Saskatchewan, the modern developments in mineral wealth mean a succession of economic record-breaking years, the fastest growth in Canada of retail sales, soaring per-capita income and a buoyant, wider outlook across the horizons of their changing prairie province.

Oil-well owners of Saskatchewan's Weyburn field have consolidated in the operation of Canada's largest waterflood project for forcing oil to surface. Above, Caspar Waldal checks alarm panels in control room.

Hydraulic-electric oil-well pump—horse's head—is one of many rising over the flat, rich prairie lands of Saskatchewan. $10,000,000 waterflooding operation in this area will boost field's reserves to 315 million barrels.

NATIONAL FILM BOARD PHOTOSTORY

As prairie sun sets in the west, the lights of Drill Rig No. 27 come on. Estimated production of Saskatchewan oil fields last year is more than 80 million barrels.

Farm Fair Plan Offers Long-Term Loans

Ottawa (UPI) — Agriculture Minister H. Hayes Thursday announced the government's plan for farm fair assistance would be presented to 100 fair representatives meeting at Ottawa.

The proposals would extend the revised classifications introduced last year on a trial basis and aimed at streamlining agricultural shows. Prize money also would be boosted through federal aid.

The Agricultural Minister said legislation may be introduced to parliament, changing the present grant policy to a programme of long-term, 30-year loans to fair boards for the construction of multi-purpose buildings that would not be restricted, as they now are to purely agricultural activities.

"They could use the loans to build curling rinks, swimming pools, ice-rinks—anything at all", Hays said.

The loans would be made on a matching basis with the communities concerned.

The proposals advanced to the fair representatives today, however would reduce livestock classifications from 20 to seven, and propose a dollar-for dollar grant to the fairs endorsing the new plan in prize money field. In general, this would mean prize money would be increased approximately six times in each of the seven new classes.

STEERING FAILS, DUMP TRUCK HITS TREE IN OPS

A tandem dump-truck sustained $2,000 damage to its front-end and frame when it went out of control and crashed after the steering mechanism failed on Concession Road 4, Ops Township, three miles east of Glendine at 1-45 p.m. Wednesday, Lindsay OPP said the truck, driven by Lloyd Bruce Hawkins, 39, of RR3, Little Britain, was southbound on the concession road when the steering mechanism failed and the truck went out of control and crashed into a large elm tree on the south side of the road.

ACADEMY THEATRE NAMES DIRECTORS

The Academy Theatre Foundation chose its ten directors for the new year at a meeting of the Foundation at the Academy Thursday night. Appointed to the Board of Directors were Dr. C. W. M. Service, Father C. J. Carroll, Rev. R. K. McLean, the Hon. Leslie M. Frost, Stewart Peel, Mrs. F. C. Pugh, Judge H. E. Richardson, Russell Taylor, A. B. Patterson and Lawson Blakely.

The firm of Rathwell, Watson and Howie were appointed as auditors for the Foundation for the coming year.

Where else can you park overtime for 50c? — readet

The Editor,
Dear Sir:

Replying to the Cannington reader's question "Is Lindsay Hungry for Revenue?" . . .

Where in the whole wide world (except Lindsay) do you pay only fifty cents to park overtime? On Coxwell Ave., Toronto, during the rush hours the fine is $10.00, and not a Courtesy Box in sight!

Sincerely yours,
Viola Warrilow,
RR 2, Cameron, Ont.

Dominion Rubber receives order for fuel cells

Dominion Rubber Company Limited today learned that it has been awarded an order for $923,959 worth of fuel cells by Northop Corp. of El Segundo, California.

It is the largest Northop order ever received by Dominion Rubber for this product in terms of unit volume.

Manufactured at the Dominion Rubber General Products plant at Kitchener, Ont., the fuel cells will be installed in the Northop T-39 Jet fighter used in the Air Forces of many nations of the world. The F-5 is one of the fighter planes which is now under consideration by the Canadian Government for use in National defense.

Aces meet Ti-Cats in first game on new ice Saturday

Little Britain Aces playing this season in the Central Ontario Junior Hockey League expect to play their first game on home ice Saturday night. The game, originally scheduled for tonight, has been postponed to Saturday, the regular hockey night in Little Britain.

The Aces with a win and a tie in their last two games, are making a concentrated drive to gain a spot in the play-offs. The opposition for the Aces Saturday night will be the front running Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats.

The recent installation of artificial ice at the Little Britain Arena caused the Aces to play part of their home games in Lindsay and the balance on Cannington ice. Saturday night's game will be the first Junior game on the new ice surface. The Aces have four home games left to play and one game at Bobcaygeon according to team manager Art Field. Game time Saturday night will be 8:30 p.m. Little Britain Bantams will play Sunderland Bantams in a league game at 7:00 p.m. to start Saturday night off.

Eddie Shore watched Merchants last night

Eddie Shore, the former Boston Bruin great, was among the spectators at Newmarket last night. Looking hale and hearty, the Springfield boss man recalled fond memories of the couple of years of fall training at the Kiwanis Arena, and the Junior "B" hockey team he helped organize in Lindsay. A former Lindsay goalie of that era, Paul McGuire, at that time from Aurora was also on hand having attended the league meeting before game time.

KINMOUNT MEETING

A bush lot owner meeting will be held at 8 p.m. on January 27th in the Lions Hall at Kinmount. this week's eekly Report from the Lindsay District Department of Lands and Forests notes.

Week of Prayer held in locality

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — "The Path of Prayer" was the theme of the universal week of prayer services held in Fenelon Falls. Arrangements for the services were in charge of the local association of churches.

At the introductory service, held in Immanuel Baptist Church, the Rev. M. C. Fisher, minister of Fenelon Falls United Church, spoke on "The Reality of Prayer". He was introduced by Pastor E. Potter. Mrs. A. Jackett was at the organ.

On Tuesday evening, the Rev. James Harrison of St. James Anglican Church spoke in the Salvation Army Citadel.

The service on Wednesday evening was in the United Church with Rev. G. A. Bell of the Fellowship Baptist Church as the preacher.

On Thursday evening Brigadier Stanley took the service in the Fellowship Baptist Church.

On Friday evening the Rev. E. G. MacDonald of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church preached in St. James Anglican Church.

On Sunday evening the services concluded with a mass rally in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church when the message was given by Pastor E. Potter of Immanuel Baptist Church. The choir under the direction of Mrs. Bruce Cooper sang an anthem and Mr. and Mrs. James Nesbitt of Glenarm sang a duet. Following the message Mr. Tyndall sang a fitting anthem. Rev. E. G. MacDonald pronounced the benediction to bring to a close a series of inspirational services which should help to set a pattern for the coming year.

Arthur C. Cooper

Norland (PNS) — The village of Norland and surrounding community was greatly saddened at the sudden passing of Mr. Arthur C. Cooper at the Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay on Sunday, December 6th, 1964.

The deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper and was born at Head Lake in Laxton Township on July 24th, 1897 and was in his 68th year.

A veteran of World War I he served overseas and returning home in 1918. Mr. Cooper has been in failing health for several years due to war effects.

Prior to coming to Norland in 1924 he was a resident of Head Lake. On September 15th, 1928, he married Elizabeth Porter and built a home north of the village of Norland.

Besides his wife surviving are two sons and two daughters. Bradley of the Provincial Police detachment at Red Lake, Jimmie of Kirkland Lake, Alice (Mrs. Don Burnett) of Lindsay, Margaret (Mrs. Don Archer) of Severen Bridge, 12 grandchildren, a sister Mrs. Alice Puterbaugh and a brother Eddie Cooper both of Norland.

Mr. Cooper rested at the Bryant Funeral Home in Coboconk thence to the Norland United Church for funeral service on Wednesday, December 9th. Rev. D. M. Drew officiating spoke very fittingly to the bereaved and to a large gathering of relatives and friends and neighbours.

The many beautiful floral tributes expressed mute testimony of the respect of the deceased and sympathy to the bereaved family.

Pallbearers were Athol Rumney, Roy Bryant, Andy Jewell, Bert Perry, Charles Brohm and Harvey Tripp.

Interment was made at Pine Grove Cemetery.

Quebec Tories will remain in P.C. Party

Members of the Quebec wing of the Conservative party announced tonight they will remain within the National party but have demanded a leadership convention.

The demand for a convention to "decide upon the leadership of the party", will be forwarded to Tory National President Dalton Camp to convene the party's national executive to set a date for such a meeting.

Neither Leon Balcer or any of the 10-member Quebec delegation would confirm or deny they had decided at a meeting today that party leader John Diefenbaker must be replaced.

"We are asking for a leadership convention", Balcer told newsmen "draw your own conclusions".

Another Quebec Tory, Theogne Ricard, said there was never any question of Diefenbaker going. Another member said he was very confident the National Executive will back the demands of the Quebec caucus.

Asked about the possibility of leaving the party, Heward Grafftey said "we feel we can work out our problems within the National Party". —UPI.

INCOMPLETED PASS

Oroville, Calif (UPI) — An incompleted pass broke up a recent football game on the lawn of the Juvenile Hall.

Authorities said inmates Dale Anderson, 17, and Frank Powell, 16, ran deep into the secondary on a pass play, disappeared through bushes bordering the field—and were last seen running up a dry creek bed toward Table Mountain.

Martha Couch

Seagrave (PNS) — A life long resident of the Seagrave area, Mrs. Martha Couch passed away at the Strathaven Nursing Home in Bowmanville, on Wednesday, January 6th. Mrs. Couch was Martha Moon and was born on September 15th, 1868 on the farm where Mr. Mansell Sleep and his mother now live.

She was much respected and loved by friends and neighbours alike for quiet and retiring nature, she was always ready to do her part in church and community. She had been a patient in the nursing home for five years.

She was twice married, first to Oliver Sleep and six children were born of this marriage. Mrs. Tunnicliffe (Florence) Mrs. Jas. Reynolds (Viona) both of Moose Jaw, Sask. Mrs. O. J. Boe (Reta) Mr. Melville Sleep, Bowmanville; Cecil V. and Alma, both predeceased.

Later she married Thomas Couch and had one son Mr. Wilbert Couch.

The funeral took place at Cedar Dale Funeral Home on Saturday afternoon, Rev. E. McNeil, conducting the service.

Interment took place in Pine Grove Cemetery, Prince Albert.

The pallbearers were grandson, Milford Sleep, Carl Boe, Arnold Sleep, Percy Reynolds, Jas. Couch and Ted Suddard. After the funeral the friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Boe where the ladies of the North Group of the U.C.W. served refreshments.

Alfred Gamble

Alfred Gamble of Maple Leaf, Ontario, entered into rest at the Barry's Bay Hospital Barry's Bay, Ontario, on Friday January 1st, 1965, in his 80th year. He was born at Port Hope, Ontario, the son of the late William and Sarah Gamble. He is survived by his wife Clista Marie Gamble. He was predeceased by his former wife Mable Mae Sleeman.

Alfred Gamble lived at Maple Leaf for the past four years and passed on after an illness of two months. He formerly lived at Port Hope, Allandale, Lindsay, and Port Credit Ontario. He is survived by a son Chester Laird Gamble of Lindsay, two daughters Mirriam Madeline (Mrs. Norman Heavn) of Port Perry, and Audrus Rosamond (Mrs. Jack Corley) of Lindsay. A second son William Alfred is predeceased. Also surviving is a brother Leo Gamble of Belleville, two sisters Florence (Mrs. William Boyes) of Toronto and Mame (Mrs. Norman Kerr) of Huntington P.Q. and three step-daughters, Lila (Mrs. Len Francis) of Lindsay, Greta (Mrs. Ted Simons) of Maple Leaf, and Audrey (Mrs. Bruce Johnson) of Oshawa.

Alfred Gamble was a steamfitter and plumber by trade. He received his education at Port Hope and was a member of the Anglican Church.

The funeral service was held from the Mackey Funeral home at 2.00 p.m. Monday, January 4th. The service was conducted by Rev. D. E. Lemon of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Lindsay, with interment at Dunsford Cemetery. Pallbearers were Charles Heels, Clifford Golden, Ross Golden, Harold Wood, Arthur Gilkinson and Hugh McCulloch.

PLAY IT SAFE

It's human nature for a pedestrian to recognize and try to stand on his so-called rights in traffic, but he ought to remember two important facts: first, an automobile vastly outweighs him; second, an automobile is a machine whose operator can suddenly lose control. If you're walking in front of motor traffic, never rely entirely on the manners of the driver or the ability of the vehicle to respond to its brakes. It doesn't take three guesses to figure who would suffer the most in a pedestrian auto-mobile collision.

Play it safe.

CLEAR THE ROAD

Cortez, Colo. (UPI) — Paul Wilson, a private pilot was returning on a flight from Bryce Canyon, Utah, yesterday when he was told the Cortez Airport was fogged in and that a nearby gravel strip was too muddy to land.

Wilson calmly radioed the Colorado State Patrol to clear a section of Highway U.S. 160 and landed his single engine craft there.

Ladies' Aid 1965 officers installed

Mrs. Grattan Curtis was hostess for the first meeting of the New Year of St. Andrew's Ladies Aid.

Mrs. Curtis opened the meeting by reading a poem. Devotions were taken by Mrs. Murchison followed by the reading of the first verse of a hymn. After the singing of a hymn, Psalm eight was read and the thoughts for meditation were based on the Wonders of God's Creation.

The officers for 1965 were installed by Rev. G. E. MacDonald.

After the regular business period, which included annual reports from the varied committees, Rev. MacDonald pronounced the benediction.

The White-Tailed Deer A Road Hazard

Signs many and varied are erected by the Department of Highways for the guidance of motorists travelling on provincial highways. They warn of curves in the road, railway tracks, concealed intersections and many other hazards out of respect for which the motorist is expected to reduce his car's speed. Included in the list of such signs is one which reads simply "Deer Crossing".

These signs are erected in recognition of the white-tailed deer's propensity for travelling paths of runways from which it prefers not to deviate even when such paths are intersected by a highway or other road, and are calculated to warn the motorist of the danger of collision with deer at these points.

Sixty-five such collisions were known to have occurred in the Lindsay District during 1964 — 16 in Burleigh Township, 7 in Mariposa Township, 4 in Smith Township and the remainder in lesser concentrations throughout a number of District Townships.

These mishaps usually result in the destruction of the animal involved, if death is not instantaneous its injuries are often grevious to the point that the poor creature must be destroyed.

But what of the motorist and his vehicle? Personal injury seldom results but vehicle damage can be extensive.

Estimates obtained in 48 of these cases revealed individual damage ranging from negligible to $700.00, the total was $8,280.00 and the average $172.50.

It is interesting to note that most deer-vehicle collisions occur during the months of March, October, November and December, and, as many an "awakened from a sound sleep Conservation Officer" can attest they frequently take place late at night or in the early hours of the morning.

Approximately one-third of the total were killed in townships in which there is no open season.

What should one do when involved in such a situation?

Well first, it must be recognized as a road accident, therefore, if the damage to one's car exceeds $100.00 or someone in the car sustains an injury, or after striking the animal you lose control and damage roadside property, private or public, it must be reported to the Ontario Provincial Police.

If the damage is relatively light but the animal is lying dead or injured you should notify the nearest Lands and Forests Office.

Under no circumstances may you assume ownership of the carcass or any part of it, to do so leaves you liable to prosecution for illegal possession.

All meat fit for human consumption is donated to charitable institutions with the remainder going to kennel operators. Conservation Officers are required to obtain receipts for meat donated.

Bed-patient wing at Home for Aged "wise decision"

"The decision to proceed with plans for a bed-patient wing at the Home for the Aged was one of the most important decisions made by the 1964 County Council" said Clerk-treasurer Frank Weldon at the close of County home committee meeting Friday afternoon. "This type of care has not before been available in the County" he continued, and he suggested to the committee members that they should take every opportunity to inform the public of the work being done.

"The care and happiness of these people must be the prime concern of the staff at the home, even though some at times may be troublesome. These people (the staff) have been chosen because of their ability to take these things in stride" concluded Mr. Weldon.

Mr. L. Keeler, superintendant of the County home, told the committee members that there were now nine bed patients at the home with accommodation for seven. The new wing is badly needed, and although it will mean considerable added responsibility, this would be willingly assumed in order to provide the better accommodation, he said.

William Burke

A long-time Lindsay resident William Burke entered into rest at the Lindsay Private Hospital on Friday, January 15th, 1964. He was in his 95th year. Mr. Burke was the beloved son of the late Edward and Mary Ann Burke and dear brother of Elizabeth (Mrs. William Allen), Joseph and Charles, all of Toronto and Fred of Detroit, Michigan, also Margaret (Mrs. James Shannon) of Lindsay, Alex of Orillia, Edward of Toronto and Jack of Lindsay, all predeceased. Mr. Burke is resting at the Mackey Funeral Home, Peel Street, Lindsay, for Funeral Service in the chapel on Monday, Jan. 18th at 2 p.m. Interment at Riverside Cemetery, Lindsay.

KLTA SUGGEST HARNESS RACING ON ICE SURFACE

The Kawartha Lakes Tourist Association will investigate the possibility of holding harness racing on ice, it was learned at a meeting of the KLTA. J. W. Jones, District Representative of the tourist industry development branch of the Department of Tourism and Information asked the KLTA to consider this as a winter sports programme for next year. He suggested it should be operated on a weekly basis. He told the meeting harness racing on ice proved very successful in the Gananoque area. Mr. Jones said since the racing would be on ice, The Canadian Trotting Association would have nothing to do with it. He said the Trotting Association only deals with harness racing on land and ice is considered water. Subsequently, he said it is not necessary to have registered horses for the event. Mr. Jones suggested Lakehead Park, near Omemee, as a possible site for the event if the KLTA were to take on the project.

Lindsay dealers visit Furniture Exhibition

Mervyn Courtemanche and Ray Tinsdale of Court's Furniture and Appliances are just back in Lindsay after spending some days at the Canadian Furniture Show in Exhibition Park, Toronto where they inspected the newest lines in furniture and furnishings for the modern home. Mr. Courtemanche said large orders had been placed for new lines of furniture which would be displayed in the store as soon as they arrive.

Miss Mary Louise Lynch, a member of the five-member National Parole Board will be the speaker at the Canadian Club of Lindsay in the Legion Hall on Monday. Miss Lynch has had varied and extensive experience in Law and was the first woman to argue a case in the New Brunswick Court of Appeal. Miss Lynch for some years handled various legal and financial matters for Lord Beaverbrook. She will speak on "Juvenile Delinquency in Canada".

Reeve George Finney of Lindsay will try for the Wardenship of Victoria County on Tuesday when Victoria County Council reconvenes for the first session of the year.

Standing room only

A recent projection by the Canadian Universities Foundation provides some indication of the kind of enrolment hurricane which is going to hit our centres of higher learning over the next few years.

In the current academic year, some 179,000 students are enrolled at Canadian universities and colleges. By 1971/72 that number will more than double—to an estimated 371,000. And by 1976/77 it will have soared to something like 480,000.

The big question, of course, is whether we are going to have anything like enough university places and staffs to cope with so staggering an increase. As of now, the outlook is none too bright. Already, brilliant students in, for example, the field of medicine, are failing to gain admission to their faculties for no other reason than simply inably to accommodate or teach them.

Merely preventing the present situation from becoming worse is going to be a costly business; making proper provision for the future will run to tens of millions of dollars more. Yet this is the kind of educational investment which Canada simply cannot afford not to make.

But where should the necessary monies come from? The provincial governments and Ottawa currently contribute nearly 60 percent of university operating costs, with 26 per cent coming from student fees and the remaining 14 per cent from foundations, corporations and individuals.

Is this a good balance, a fair one? Does it represent a proper and satisfactory basis for apportioning the impending huge rise in expenditures? And what of capital costs? Should they continue to be raised as now?

Town refuses $1,000 slot-machine offer

The police committee of the town council received and quickly turned down a request from "a certain gentleman" that the town extend permission for him to install ten slot-machines in the town for which he would pay the town $1,000. If the town would allow him to put in eleven pin-machines, he offered to pay the town $550. Deputy-Reeve J. L. Baker, chairman of the police committee, reported that he had been approached by the man and he had promised that he would bring the matter before the committee.

Alderman Lorne Jordan expressed the opinion that slot-machines and pin-machines were both illegal and the town would get in trouble if it licensed them. "We had some convictions here, wasn't it last year, and the convictions were sustained on appeal."

"There's your answer," said Alderman C. E. Ferguson.

John Maunder passes

The death occurred yesterday of one of Lindsay's best known citizens in the person of John Thomas Maunder. The late Mr. Maunder was born in Lindsay, September 25, 1870, and lived his entire life in Lindsay. He was one of the oldest and most widely known hotel owners in this section of Ontario, having inherited the Central Hotel from his father, who founded it in Lindsay over 100 years ago. The hotel is now managed by his son, John Maunder, Jr.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

"The Deputy"

Toronto, (UPI)—The Crest Theatre, Canada's premier professional theatre, is known as a tough place—a cauldron of hot water—but the theatre management figures this latest bath might turn out to be soothing.

Generally speaking, the staff of the much-troubled theatre figure if they can stand the complaining phone calls, then the issue is all to the good.

The latest issue to plague the Crest is its production of "The Deputy", a controversial German play, which in two years of existence has provoked riots, protest marches and picketing.

The play, which opened here Jan. 13, hasn't prompted this sort of reaction mainly because most Torontonians would rather shrug and look the other way than be caught carrying a placard.

However, production of the play, due to run at least to Jan. 23 is not without drama.

On opening night, plainclothes police mingled with the audience and dutifully applauded at the curtain calls in an attempt to hide their identity.

Outside the Midtown Theatre, uniformed police paced up and down the street and around the corner, sitting in cars, lurked would be counter-demonstrators.

Most of them were from Jewish organizations, a theatre spokesman said. "They said they had been told, and they told us so we could tell the police, that Nazis were going to picket the theatre."

The Nazis didn't show and the counter-demonstrators remained hudded in their cars as the temperature slipped from 21 to 5 above.

As a precaution, the police are staying on duty until the play's run ends. As a further check, the ushers are examining each theatre stub when the patrons enter the theatre after intermission. The management thinking apparently is that if the demonstrators show up, they'll at least have to pay to get in.

In the previous week before opening, the Crest received about 50 protesting phone calls, all from people identifying themselves as Catholics. In some cases, the callers insisted that no Catholic ever again would attend the theatre.

But the resultant publicity about the Deputy, which accuses the late Pope Pius XII of moral cowardice in not condemning Nazi outrages on Jews, has helped the Crest.

Plagued by ill-attendance and lack of support, the Crest, one of the few Canadian theatres which produces plays instead of booking in road casts, could not open its doors until New Year's eve, four months later than its planned opening.

It got hefty-sized audiences for its first production, a Severed Head, because most Torontonians, many of whom contributed money so the theatre could re-open, were genuinely glad to see it back in operation

Now, threats of Catholic boycotts, Nazi pickets and Jewish counter-pickets have so intrigued theatre goers that they're turning out to pack the 800 seat theatre.

"The play was to go off Jan. 23 and come back Feb. 2 but the way the tickets are selling, we might keep it running through that period," a spokesman said.

This is in sharp contrast to a year ago when for one performance, the theatre was able to muster only 13 viewers.

And what is this first Canadian version of the Deputy like? The three Toronto newspaper critics gave it a so-so review.

Herbert Whittaker, of the Globe and Mail, praised producer Murray Davis for not following the Broadway production with a melodramatic Pope but instead "restoring some balance and giving the Pope a conscience and a point of view."

The Toronto Star's Nathan Cohen found the production fell short of "the hard, strong, desolate and immaculate simplicity which should take us relentlessly in its grip."

Ron Evans of the Toronto Telegram found "that more often than not, the play slipped and crashed inert like a huge stone tablet on the stage."

Nobody asked the plainclothes detectives.

What to do in Accidents

Do you know exactly what you should do if involved in an auto accident? If you don't, your insurance coverage may be in jeopardy, as well as your licence. An article in the January Reader's Digest lists six things you should do right away.

1) Stop immediately as close to the scene as possible without blocking traffic. If the vehicles can't be moved out of the traffic lanes, put out flares or other warning or ask bystanders to flag down oncoming cars. Turn off the ignition. Do not smoke (gasoline may be leaking).

2) Count 10 before saying anything. Trivial accidents have ended in brawls because tempers flared.

3) Get assistance for the injured. Except to avoid further injury, do not move anyone who may be hurt. Call an ambulance. Unless you are a trained first-aider, the less you do for the injured the better.

4) Notify police immediately if anyone has been injured or if property damage appears to exceed $100.

5) Exchange identification with the other driver. Give him the name of your insurance company, but don't reveal the amount of coverage you hold. Get the names and addresses of all occupants of the other car and note their apparent physical condition.

6) Make a record of all pertinent facts. Take down the police officer's name, badge number, force and station. If you suspect the other driver has been drinking, ask the police officer to give both of you a chemical test or, alternatively, to note your request in his report. Draw a diagram showing the type of intersection, if any, the point of impact; the position of the cars. If anyone is taken to a hospital, get its name and location.

Here are four things you are not required to do: You need not make any admissions to the police, either at the scene or at the station house; you need not admit fault; you are not required to sign anything at the scene for anybody but the police; you are not required to state whether or not you are hurt.

To sum up: if an accident should occur, be courteous, co-operative and reasonable. But don't be naive.

ONIONS PROVIDE A VERSATILE DISH

Baked, Scalloped, Creamed, Buttered or Deep Fat Fried — prepare any of these ways Onions provide interesting and delicious accompaniments to many a main course.

Here's a special dish to try out on your family:

— Place alternate layers of cooked or canned green beans, and French fried onion rings in a Casserole.

— Over this, pour condensed cream of mushroom soup.

— For party fare add more mushrooms and some sliced browned almonds. Sprinkle the top with grated cheese and bake for 30 minutes.

If you wish the recipe for this Onion Bean Casserole — and for French Fried Onion Rings—drop a card to Ontario Food Council, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Ont.

A CULINARY RIDDLE

The riddle - -

What, in the Living Room, is a social out-cast, but in the Kitchen is the Gourmet's and the Cook's delight?

The Answer - - - The Onion.

"In the bag" the experienced shopper will find top grade onions will be dry and mature. Shake the bag gently when you select your next bag of onions. That characteristic rustle or crackle you hear indicates that the contents are crisp and dry and of good quality.

For recipes for using Ontario Onions in many delicious ways, write the Ontario Food Council, Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 2.

Paint Wiper-Upper

When you are removing paint or varnish from a surface, the paint or varnish that has been softened by your remover can be wiped up very early with an open-weave sack such as those in which oranges, onions, and potatoes are sold. The sack will not clog as readily as burlap or other cloth having a closer weave.

Tape Cutter

Adhesive tape is easy to cut if you snip a section of the beaded rim from the circular container that snaps over the roll of tape. This will leave a sharp edge which will serve as an efficient "knife" for cutting your tape.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. Any suggestions for the cleaning of colored silks?

A. Colored silk fabrics require much care when washing. Don't allow them to become badly soiled before laundering. Add a little salt to cold water to prevent the color from running.

Q. How can I prevent water pipe condensation in my basement?

A. By wrapping three thicknesses of one-sided corrugated cardboard around the entire pipe, taping the edges to hold them in place. This cardboard may be painted, too, if you wish.

Q. How can I add more "body" to an organdy dress I am washing out?

A. If a tablespoon of sugar is added to a gallon of water when rinsing the dress, it will give it more body without making it too stiff.

In Memoriam

WALDEN —In loving memory of a dear husband and father Lewis Albert (Bert) Walden who passed away January 17th 1962.

Your loss left a beautiful memory,
And sorrow to great to be told,
But to us who loved and lost you
That memory will never grow old.

Sadly missed by wife and family. (1551)

Bell speaker to address women's club

Miss Anne Barwell of the Bell Telephone's public relations will be taking members of the Business and Professional Women's Club on a nostalgic trip through the last 60 years when she represents her illustrated talk, "The Changing Years" at their January 18 meeting at St. Andrew's Church Hall at 6:30 p.m.

With the assistance of slides and recordings, Miss Barwell will be taking her listeners back to the turn of the century when taffy pulls were all the rage and milady just wasn't in vogue without a bustle back skirt and high button shoes. She also employs slides to depict the appalling conditions in the early 1900's when 12-year-old boys worked as miners for 45c a day and Alexander Graham Bell at the opening of the trancontinental telephone line in 1915.

The audience will be treated to the only recording of Rudolph Valentino's singing voice, proving it was just as well he was a silent screen idol. The abdication speech of Edward VIII and the incomparable Winston Churchill delivering one of his famous speeches during the dark days of World War 11 are also part of the sight and sound trip.

"The Challenging Years" is a running commentary which touches on the light and the serious, the quick, ever-changing tempo of the first 60 years of the 20th Century.

WORLD OF RELIGION
by Louis Cassels

(UPI) — Protestants and Catholics in hundreds of communities will hold joint worship services during the coming week.

They will pray together for God's guidance in reuniting the divided Christian family.

A Week of Prayer for Christian Unity is held each year during the period Jan. 18 - 25. The observance began on a very small scale about 40 years ago, and has grown into a great international movement. It is now sponsored jointly by the world council of churches and the Roman Catholic Association for Christian unity.

Catholic participation in ecumenical worship services with members of other churches was authorized and encouraged in the Christian unity decree adopted by the Vatican Council last month.

President Lyndon B. Johnson was invited to a Washington Ecumenical service to be held inauguration day next Wednesday, but decided to attend a semi-private service at the National City Christian Church instead. The latter also will have an interfaith flavour, because Johnson has asked a rabbi and a Catholic priest, as well as three protestant ministers, to take part in it.

The 1965 year book of American Churches, published this week, reports that 64 out of every 100 Americans are affiliated with a church or synagogue.

That's four times as great a proportion of the population as was affiliated with religious bodies in the middle of the last century. The 1850 census showed only 16 per - cent of the American people to be church members.

By 1900, the figure had climbed to 36 per cent. It continued to rise slowly during the present century, reaching 49 per cent in 1940. It shot up to 57 per cent during the decade of World War II and kept on moving up after the war until it reached its present record level.

Although nearly two-thirds of the American people maintain church membership, slightly less than half of them actually attend worship services on any particular Sunday.

The United Synagogue of America, principal organization of Conservative Judaism, issued a plea this week for "dignity and simplicity" in Jewish funerals.

It seeks to all its affiliated congregations a series of recommendations for avoiding ostentatious display and pagan practices in funerals.

When a death occurs, it said, the bereaved family should consult its rabbi first of all, and allow him to oversee the arrangements.

It urged the use of simple wooden coffins, and disapproved of embalming (unless required by civil law), floral displays and opening of caskets.

A Lutheran official suggested this week that parents resort to boycotts to persuade advertisers that it doesn't pay to sponsor television programmes featuring crime and violence

The proposal was made by the Rev. Dr. Robert E. Van Deusen, Washington representative of the National Lutheran council who charged television broadcasters with ignoring their own codes and breaking their promises of a clean-up.

Writing in the Lutheran magazine, Dr. Van Deusen said parents who want to spare their children from the damaging effects of continual exposure to callous acts of violence can do three things. First, they can forbid their youngsters to watch violence shows — and stick by the ban no matter how much screaming it produces. Second, they can write letters of protest, to TV stations and networks, to advertisers, and the federal communications commission in Washington, which grants station licenses.

"The ultimate weapon", he said, "would be a consumer boycott of companies and products which sponsor objectionable programmes."

TAB BOOKS
by Lea Woodward

Each month, an illustrated sheet comes to every pupil in Grade 8, for their order for the books they want. If a purchaser has received four books he is given a free book. Although there are many students participate in this book club, I am sure there are many more students who can take the advantage of these very inexpensive books.

FILMS

Although the students were expecting to hold their Junior Red Cross meeting on Friday, films replaced this. The first film explained about the water shortage in many countries. The last film which we saw showed the beauty of the Fraser River.

These two films will help the students in future studies.

BOMBERS AND FLYERS CLASH
by Ron Johnson

The first hockey game on January 12 ended in a three-all tie between the Bombers and the Flyers. For the Bombers the scorers were Gord Grieder with two and Ronny Balfour with one. Scorers for the Flyers were Frank Dowell, Sandy Flack and Gordon Ferguson. The Flyers had four minor penalties, the Bombers none.

ROCKETS CRUSH JETS
by Ron Johnson

In the 5 p.m. game the Rockets walked away with a 10 to 1 victory over the Jets. Scorers for the Rockets were Doug Kingsborough with two, Doug Purdy with three, Norman Staples with two, Jeff Stuart with one, Fred Growden with one and Bill Edwards also with one. The lone scorer for the Jets was Doug Kent. The Rockets got one minor penalty, the Jets two.

TOP SCORERS
by Ron Johnson

The five top scorers of the Central Senior School Hockey League are Doug Kingsborough of the Rockets with nine goals and eight assists for a total of 17 points; Ron Short of the Jets with four goals and six assists, a 10 point total; next is Doug Kent with five goals and one assist giving him an eight point total. Last but rising fast is Doug Purdy with a seven goal, seven point total.

Next Tuesday the Rockets meet the Bombers and the Flyers play the Jets.

BASKETBALL
by Ron Johnson

On January 15, a schedule for basketball will be posted on the main bulletin-board and a list of the teams will also be posted. Regular league games will start on Monday, January 18.

PT CLASSES
by Carol Ellis

The PT classes at Central for the girls have become quite interesting in the past few weeks. We have been learning new basketball passes including the breast-shot as well as under and over-arm passes. We have been trying to pivot and for some of the girls it seems quite easy, but for the others . . . ! We have also been timed on the number of shots we can put into the basket in three minutes. We

Two Union Carbide Subsidiaries Consolidates in Overall Company

Two of Union Carbide Canada Limited's subsidiary companies, Polyethelene Bag Canada Limited, and Campbell Containers Limited, have been consolidated with the overall company operations according to an announcement by A. A. Cumming, company president. The subsidiaries became a part of the Union Carbide plastic products, polyethylene films, sponsible for the manufacture and marketing of all of the company's flexible packaging products, polethylene films, fabricated plastic products and food casings.

The consolidation of the subsidiaries results in Union Carbide now having a total of nine polyethylene film extrusion and or converting plants in Canada plus a fabricated plastic products plant. The plants are located from coast to coast and in close proximity to the company's major marketing areas.

H. Wasylyk, Sr., formerly president and general manager of Polyethelene Bag has been appointed executive assistant to the general manager, plastic products, and will continue to be located in Winnipeg, Manitoba. E. H. Campbell, formerly president and general manager of Campbell Containers Ltd., has been appointed operations manager for the plastic products group and will be responsible, in association with the general works manager, R. C. Wilkes, for the manufacturing operations at the nine polyethylene plants in Canada. Both will be located at the company's head office in Toronto.

An additional six regional sales offices have also been added to the plastics marketing force under the direction of R. J. Southwell, general marketing manager, plastic products.

In addition to this consolidation of operations, Union Carbide has also made other internal changes with the formation of specific products groups. The company's former Bakelite Division and Chemicals and Plastics Division have been combined to form the Chemicals, Resins and Fibres group. The Consumer Products Division has been changed to the Consumer Products group and the Metals and Carbon Division to the Metals and Carbon group. The former Bakelite Division and been changed to the Gas Products group, and the Plastic Products group is a combination of the former Visking Division and Plastics Co-ordination Division, and the subsidiaries Polyethelene Bag and Campbell Containers. No major changes have been made in the management operations of any of the product groups.

The reorganization of the company internally has been designed to better classify the numerous product activities of Union Carbide and eliminate the external confusion that may have developed with the multiplicity of division and subsidiary names. In future all activities and contact with the company will be done under one identity only, Union Carbide Canada Limited.

WCTU holds meet in United Church

An excellent message by Mrs. Carl Bowes, two delightful solos by Miss Patricia Gordon accompanied by her mother and an inspiring devotional period by Mrs. C. Sugitt were special features enjoyed by the members and W.C.T.U. in Cambridge Street United Church on Tuesday afternoon.

President Mrs. F. A. Reeds conducted the meeting and gave two thought-provoking quotations.

Mrs. Suggitts devotional dealt with the open doors that lie before us in 1965. A prayer for the New Year was read. Mrs. Suggitt also offered earnest prayer. Mrs. Capt. Bowes' message was based on the theme "What is in thine hand?" from Exodus 4.

Mrs. Randall offered the closing prayer after which a Fruest was enjoyed during the half hour of sociability.

"Flying spoon and dirty look" cause of restaurant fracas

A flying spoon and a dirty look caused what defense counsel A. T. Lacey termed "a high school kid's fracas" which cost an LCVI student, Michael Shannon, 19, of 129 William Street North, $25 and costs in Lindsay Police Court Thursday or 10 days. Shannon was convicted by Magistrate Ian Munro of common assault, reduced from the original charge of assault causing bodily harm. He was alleged to have assaulted Kenneth Eason, 17, of 25 William Street North, in a Lindsay restaurant, injuring him with a fork, on January 8.

Shannon related to the court that he, two girls and a boyfriend were sitting two tables away from Eason at the restaurant. Shannon said his friend, James Nichols, of 10 Caroline Street, flicked a spoon and it landed on Eason's table.

The Nichols youth said Eason gave Shannon a "dirty look."

Eason told the court, "Shannon asked, "What are you looking at me for?" and the next thing he knew Shannon had one hand on Eason's throat and a table-fork in the other.

A waitress at the restaurant, Heather Daniel, testified she was cleaning the table beside the one Eason was sitting at and told the court Shannon was standing beside Eason. She said while he was holding Eason by the arm and throat, Shannon remarked, "You think you're smart —show me how smart you are," and put the fork to Eason's face.

Evidence showed that in the course of the ensuing fracas, Eason's chin was somehow cut by the fork.

During cross-examination Shannon admitted drinking about eleven ounces of liquor that night. Shannon said, "I had no intention of hurting him at any time."

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan said, "The whole thing started because of a flying spoon and a dirty look."

Magistrate Munro said a fork is a very dangerous weapon and told Shannon he was trying to impress the girls he was with. He said the assault committed was deliberate and unprovoked.

HYPOCHONDRIACS TAX DOCTOR'S VIGILANCE

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Lord help the hypochondriac who really gets sick. The odds are against him that his doctor will some day overlook serious illness. How do you doctors guard against complacency in treating the person who is always complaining? Mrs. E.

Comment: A good and important point you make. All doctors should make a habit of rereading the fable. Then, when the wolves of illness really attack the patient, we won't be likely to dismiss his complaints as another false alarm. This is a common trap the doctor may fall into unless he is constantly on his guard.

I recall a businessman, recently recovered from a severe depression, who became overly concerned about his digestion. He returned again and again, sure in his own mind that he had an ulcer. He complained of gas, discomfort after meals, pain between his shoulders. At no time did he have an acute attack of pain and vomiting.

Repeated X-rays of his stomach showed no ulcer. One day he came in, complaining bitterly of pain in the upper abdomen. Things were apparently the same as at other times when he had cried, "Wolf! Wolf!"

But this time, examination disclosed a yellowish tint in his eyes and in his skin. Tests confirmed the presence of jaundice. For the first time, the doctor considered the possibility of the gall bladder (and not a stomach ulcer) being the cause of his complaints.

You guessed it. His gall bladder was filled with stones. It was removed. Within a week our hypochondriac was free of all his previous symptoms. Instead of visiting the doctor every other week with his complaints, he came in only once a year for his physical.

We doctors should be alert when treating patients who are in the habit of complaining more than others. Wolf! Wolf! Some day the nervous shortness of breath may really be due to a failing heart. Some day the pain in the chest may actually be due to coronary thrombosis. Some day the extreme tiredness may be due to a previously undisclosed diabetes.

The trap we must stay out of is complacency. When a patient complains (no matter how much or how often) we should investigate all clues. In this way there is less likelihood that the major crime of serious illness will sneak past our defenses.

WANTS ASSURANCE

Dear Dr. Stencrohn: I haven't had a period in four years. I repeatedly ask my doctor if it is possible to become pregnant any more. I am now 53 years old. The only answer I receive is "Anything can happen; there is no guarantee." Does one have to worry and be forever under strain? This can make marriage unnecessarily difficult.

Why should women like myself have to use birth-control because no one has the answer or bothers to give an explanation? This fear causes much strain in many cases between husband and wife. Why isn't more time and understanding given to older women as well as to younger women? Mrs. A.

Comment: I understand your dilemma, but you are trying to put your doctor on the spot. Perhaps he's being unduly conservative, but he's truthful. How can he tell? Not any more than he can say to the next woman in early pregnancy, "I guarantee you won't have triplets or quadruplets." It's unlikely, but possible.

There have been some authenticated cases of pregnancy in the 50's but they are rare. Your chances of becoming pregnant are practically nil. You will be happier gambling on that, than by ruining your marriage while living in fear.

Bibles donated by Gideon Camp

An interesting feature of the regular meeting of the Lindsay Gideon Camp held here on Monday evening was a discussion o nthe subject of "Witnessing" conducted by Chaplain Ben Dalby.

Memorial Bible representative R. W. Pitts reported 17 Bibles donated during the past month at Funeral Homes.

Gideon Elmer Evans reported 50 bibles presented to schools since the last meeting. It was decided to explore the possibility of having a Gideon Sunday in Lindsay during the coming Spring.

President Frank Rogers read interesting letters from L. D. Crimp who is touring several countries in the interest of the Gideon Ministry. Mr. Crimp is is Vice-President of Gideon-International of Canada.

Mr. Sam Rivers of Wilberforce was welcomed into the Camp as a new member by Vice-President Stan Kennedy.

During the social half-hour which followed the meeting lunch was served by hostesses Mrs. F. Rogers and Mrs. K. MacAleese.

The next meeting will be held in Fenelon Falls when the chief speaker will be A. J. Burnham of the Gideon Head Office, Toronto.

Blackstock

Excellent congregations attended services in both churches Sunday morning. In St. John's the Sacrament of baptism was administered by Christonher Kenneth, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hudson, Canon Ashmore delivered a fine missionary sermon.

In the United Church Rev. Romeril spoke from the text "He hath set eternity in their Hearts."

Mr. Kashore Dashi of Lindsay formerly of India give a very interesting talk on India, its customs, religions and showed slides he had just received from a brother in India, at the HIC meeting Sunday evening.

WOMAN'S VIEW

By Gay Pauley

New York (UPI) — Cures proferred for the common cold are as numerous as the germs spread from a sneeze.

I know that common cold caught up with me, probably from a combination of the "pure" air we breathe in this big town and from not wearing boots on a rainy day.

The results are certain, for the bathroom chest looks like a minature drug store. There's a pill for every cough and the makers of tissues, aspirin, antihistamines, rub-on balms, vitamins, et cetera, now can declare a dividend just because of the likes of the sneeze set. I'm a living example of one of those "before" candidates in the television commercials for cold remedies!; a hopeful example of the "after", if from all the suggestions of cures from friends, and the physician, one of them works for, to each his own when it comes to treating the cold.

Said the doctor: "I don't want to put you on antibiotics, for just a cold.

"Drink penty of fluids and get a lot of bed rest. You'll be recovered in no time."

Yes, but "Just a cold!" And, doctor, how many gallons or orange juice can you pipe into the system each day. And doctor, once caught up on sleep, the bed becomes a dull spot when the eyes are so bleary you can't watch Captain Kangaroo, read a book, even work a crossword.

Said one friend, "turn on Beatle music. It'll cheer you right into recovery". Yeah Yeah.

Another, a non-professional but consistent reader of medical stuff, allowed that "a cold actually is good for you. By fighting it, the body is building immunity to a lot of germs. It's like a vaccination". Yeah, Yeah.

One associate said the best way to avoid a cold in the first place was to have taken vitamin C tablets, one a day all fall and winter. But if one sniffle did get past that daily quota, stoke up on the C tablets—as many as 10 a day—for a speedier recovery.

For the congested chest, a mustard plaster. Yes, the sting and reddened skin from that treatment are remembered from childhood.

You need a spring tonic in mid-winter. Tried sassafras tea? Or, why not ward off any other germs with a potion of asafetida worn around the neck. Ever smell asafetida?

Eat raw onions. Or, drink piping hot onion tea. Ever taste piping hot onion tea?

Treat the cough with a mixture of honey and vinegar. Or, chew on a slice of lemon.

Soak the feet in hot water. This treatment presumably gets the mind off the aching head.

To break the fever, pile on twice as many blankets as you need, drink hot orange pekoe and perspire it out.

Numerous were the suggestions that the victim put a hat on a poster at the foot of the bed, a bottle of spirits by the bedside. Take a nip frequently, or until you see two hats on the bed poster. Then, sleep it off.

Someone said, just suffer, suffer, suffer.

The cure I would prefer was, "Go South and soak up sunshine on a beach for two weeks."

All right, what's your remedy?

Rendering Fat

To render fat, cut into small pieces or run through the food chopper. Then melt in the upper part of a double boiler, and follow this by straining through cheesecloth laid in a wire strainer.

Seven Curling Clubs were represented at the annual Rotary bonspiel held at Fenelon Falls Wednesday and sixteen rinks entered in the event. Ice conditions were good and hospitality excellent.

Rotarian Barker of Midland carried back to the grain port the trophy and top prizes for three wins. Dr. Langlaid's Oshawa rink was in close pursuit and Dr. Bill Graham of Fenelon Falls finished in third place. Fourth place went to Ken Welling of Haliburton.

Rinks were on hand from Toronto, Weston, Oshawa, Midland, Haliburton, Lindsay and Fenelon Falls. Two Lindsay rinks were in charge of Grant Terrill and George Fuester.

Hydo power failed at Fenelon Fall Thursday leaving many homes without "juice". The power failed at the curling rink but the temperature was quite sufficient to carry the plant on for several hours.

An open bonspiel at the Cataract Club will be held Saturday of this week.

EMO REPORT

Role of Emergency Measures Organizations

by EMO Co-ordinator for Victoria—Haliburton JAMES HALL

An emergency measures organization is in reality an agency whose main purpose is to encourage the development of emergency plans by departments and agencies of government. The EMO should be made responsible for the co-ordination of all departmental plans. Consequently, it should not be assigned the task of developing plans which are, or should be the responsibility of specific departments of government which, in an emergency, whether prepared or not, would be expected to operate. It is of interest to note that in the event of an emergency, the Federal Emergency Measures Organization would, in effect , cease to exist as a functioning organ of government. At such a time all its available personnel would assume previously assigned tasks in other branches of emergency government.

In provinces and municipalities, the same process should take place. If the Emergency Measures Organizations have done their job in peacetime, then their trained personnel should become part of the executive arm of the government they had previously served. It is recognized that there are important functions of emergency tasks which have to be carried out for which there is not, in peacetime, an appropriate department, or agency of government to whom the task can be assigned. Therefore, one finds that local emergency measures organizations become responsible in peacetime for the organization (on behalf of the municipal government) of such important emergency services as — emergency communications, wardens, rescue, radiological defense, public information. However, if these services have been properly organized, then in an emergency they become, or should become, another operating service of government, such as the police, fire, health, engineering and so forth.

Responsibility of Civil Government

Too often in the past many people have visualized the Emergency Measures Organization, or the Civil Defence Organization, as THE organization which will direct operations in an emergency. Such a view loses sight of one of the main purposes of emergency planning, that is the preservation of civil government and the responsibility of civil government to carry out its commitments to the people in the period of disaster. Acceptance of this purpose is in complete accord with the basic principles on which western society has been established. Government is established to direct those matters which government can best carry out for the common good.

Some Steps Have Been Taken

Some of the steps which have been taken at the federal level to ensure the operation of government in an emergency:

(1) Seventeen departments or agencies of government have been given emergency tasks. Key people have been assigned to carry out those tasks. Each of these departments or agencies has a small staff which is primarily concerned with ultimate development of departmental emergency plans, as well as keeping up to date the plans which have been developed.

(2) There have been created in six provinces, (and planned for in others) emergency government centres from which representatives of federal (including Army) and provincial authorities will be able to direct survival operations. In those provinces which do not have permanent headquarters, interim facilities are available.

(3) Emergency orders and regulations which would be necessary to empower government officials to be able to carry out their emergency tasks have been prepared, and are under constant review. Some of these orders and regulations permit the creation of the following:

(a) A War Supplies Agency, for the control, distribution, and production of essential commodities.

(b) A Wartime Accommodation and Construction Agency for the purpose of ensuring that available housing and other accommodations will be used to the best advantage.

(c) A National Manpower Authority to ensure that the best use will be made of the available manpower during the period of the emergency.

(d) A Road Transport Control Organization to so-co-ordinate the use of commerical fleets of buses and trucks.

(4) Outside of Ottawa a number of sites have been constructed which will serve the central government in providing the necessary direction and co-ordination for national survival.

Conclusion

In conclusion, there are at least five salient points which arise out of civil emergency planning, and, in particular, out of the arrangements for the continued operation of government during emergencies:

* The emergency plans prepared by government must have a continuous capability of being implemented instantly.

* Civil defence is in reality total government in action during an emergency;

* Emergency planning in peacetime cannot be divorced from the everday activities of government, and is a continuous process;

* Emergency planning responsibilities that are inherently the responsibility of a particular department of government cannot effectively be assigned to other agencies of government;

* Plans for the survival of the population cannot be developed in isolation from the plans for the continued operation of government.

are all hoping we will have a game in PT class soon to prepare us for the scheduled games which should be starting very soon.

Also in our classes we have been doing "back-breaking" exercises at the beginning of each class. According to our teacher these exercises will put us in good working moods for the rest of the class. We have had to travel the width of the gymnasium many times doing a bunny-hop, crab-walk, duck-waddle or a kangaroo-hop. Many of the girls end up walking half the distance of the gym before the time is up. Physical Education classes have been a lot of fun despite the strenuous exercises.

JANUARY'S ALMANAC
by Barbara Johnston

January, though not a particularly unique month, certainly contains many "special" days, although not necessarily more than any other month. Teh name is derived from that of Janus, the Roman god, and cleverly implies more that it appears to at first glance. Janus was a two-headed god, which leads us to believe that by looking backward to the old year with one head and forward to the new with the other, the fitting name was derived. The flower of the month, carnation and the birthstone, garnet, are well-known to many.

The national holiday of Scotland and the official beginning of the new year falls on the first of this month. English General James Wolfe (1727-1759) celebrated his birthday on the second closely followed by Louis Braille (1809-1852) on the fourth, who invented the modern system of printing for the blind. On the twelfth day after Christmas, January 6, the Epiphany, a Christian feast, is celebrated. Reading St. Matthew 2: 1-2 tells the complete story. Nationally famous this week, Sir John A. Macdonald, the first Prime Minister of Canada, was born on the eleventh of this month, and although not of widespread knowledge, the official announcement of the beginning of the examinations for Central School on February 5 was made. Although of uncertain nature, UN officials on the twelfth were ordered out of Indonesia. The results of this will be interesting to note. Stephen Foster, the composer, is remembered in a memorial day on the thirteenth. Albert Schweitzer, Alsatian philosopher, a physician and missionary in French Equatorial Africa, who was acclaimed as one of the greatest men of the modern world, was born on January 14, 1895. United States President Benjamin Franklin (1716-1790), was also famous for his writing and scientifical talent was born on the seventeenth. He was the originator of the statement, "Don't leave 'till tomorrow what you can do today". A kite and key were his trademarks. The steam engine and the nineteenth are not noticeably linked but inventor James Watt (1736-1819) claimed his birthday as such. In 1909 history in the form of a sea rescue was made on the twenty-third. The original C2D was later changed for the sake of convenience to the familiar SOS in 1912. The poet, Robert Burns, who made words sing, was born on the twenty-fifth (1759-1796). At the bottom of the world, Australia Day, the 186th anniversary of the arrival of the first colonists is celebrated on the twenty-sixth. "Alice in Wonderland" the story of the fantasy world of a little girl was written by Charles L. Dodgson (1823-1898), who was born on the twenty-seventh. This is probably a surprise to those who thought it was written by Lewis Carroll, which was Dodgson's non-de-plume.

And so closes January in this manner, a month of names, dates and places.

Academy Theatre renovating a "Cinderella story" — Service

"This is rather like a Cinderella story" Dr. C. W. Service told members of the Academy Theatre Foundation at the first annual meeting when he referred to the accomplishments made in a short space of time, with regard to the renovating and refurbishing of the building. He said the fund-raising campaigns have been most successful. "I would like to emphasize, however, that there is still a great need for money to complete the whole project," Dr. Service added.

He told his audience it was most gratifying that the town council recommended the Academy Theatre Foundation as the town's centennial project. He said the recommendation of the council was that two thirds of the money available under the centennial grants would be given to the Foundation and the other third to improve the park area about the Theatre. "It is imperative that the Foundation does everything within its power to insure that many special events will be available to this community for 1967.

Speaking of the programming this summer, Dr. Service said the Foundation is hopeful that the "Country Holiday" show, starring Tommy Hunter, will return this year. He said it was most successful last year.

STOLE RENT-A-CAR, BOBCAYGEON MAN JAILED FOR THREE YEARS

A Bobcaygeon Man, Gordon Grant Pogue 35 was sentenced to three years in the Kingston Penitentiary when he was convicted before Magistrate Ian Munro in Lindsay Police Court today on the theft of an automobile. Additional concurrent sentences were imposed on conviction on a charge of forgery and seven counts of false pretenses as well.

The accused told the court he had a drinking problem and said alcohol was the cause of these and previous charges. He said when he drank he lost all sense of responsibility. He said this was all in one continued escapade. Mr. Pogue said he travelled from one area to another, "almost everywhere".

He said he completed his high school education in Kingston. "I had high aspirations when I came out", he said.

Magistrate Munro handed down concurrent sentences totalling 10 years for passing worthless cheques in Lindsay, Coboconk, Stratford, Kinmount and Toronto.

Evidence showed the accused went to the Avis Rent-a-Car Limited in Toronto and told the attendant there he wanted a car the following day because his car was in a local garage for repairs. He left a $25 deposit. On November 27, the day he was to return the car, he phoned the company and requested permission to keep the car for the weekend because his vehicle was still not repaired. He told the company representative he would forward another deposit. Constable Jean DesLaurier said he didn't contact the car-rental agency again nor did he return the car. Constable DesLaurier of the Coboconk OPP said on December 25 he proceeded to Pogue's residence, where his parents also live, and saw a car that answered to the description of the vehicle reported missing by the car-rental company. He said he went back to get the chief constable of the village and when they returned to Pogue's residence the car was gone. He said it was later found parked behind Pogue's Service Station the owner of the garage is an uncle of the accused. He said the car had a single Massachusetts license plate on the rear. The original Ontario markers were later found under the front seat of the passenger's side, the constable said. He said the accused admitted the vehicle had belonged to Avis Rent-a-Car. Constable DesLaurier said the accused told him he had gone to Michigan in the Jaguar and it broke down and after the owner was unable to go down to pick it up, Pogue rented a car in Toronto and returned to the border. He said he got as far as Windsor and the money he had to get the Jaguar had been mostly spent on liquor. He said he was staying at a motel in the Windsor area and realized the police would be looking for the car so he put on the U.S. marker he found near the motel.

SIR WINSTON SLIPPING CLOSER TO DEATH, END BELIEVED NEAR

Winston Churchill lost more ground this morning.

He is slipping peacefully closer to death.

His stout heart has faltered . . . but his will to live persevere s.

A medical bulletin released at 6:50 a.m. (EST) said—Sir Winston had a restful night. He is a little weaker but there is nothing further to report".

A British Medical Association spokesman, commenting on the latest report, said Churchill's illness "appears to be following the normal pattern. There is no indication of any great change in Sir Winston's condition".

Lord Moran, Churchill's personal doctor, said the next medical bulletin will be issued at 3:30 p.m .(EST).

But this morning's report heightened fears that the end is near for the great statesman. The pressure of a stroke, weakening circulation and old age have snapped his dwindling strength.

The prayers of millions around the world that he could rally dimmed with each successive report from his doctor.

Late this afternoon all members of Churchill's immediate family were again assembled in the house.

Sir Winston's son, Randolph accompanied by two of his children, entered by a side door shortly before 5 p.m. (noon EST). Others already there were Churchill's two daughters, Mary (Soames) and Sarah (Lady Audley).

A similar gathering of the family last night had prompted speculation that death might be imminent.

This country is expected to pay its homage to Sir Winston Churchill, if he dies, in funeral services in St. Paul's Cathedral last resting place of Britain's military immortals.

But under present plans he will be buried in a simple parish church.

Rev. John E. James, rector of Bladon Parish Church in Oxfordshire said today that the great statesman had expressed the wish to be interred near his father, Lord Randolph Churchill, and his mother, the former Jennie Jerome of New York.

His brother, John also lies in the little churchyard on the fringe of the estate of Blenheim Palace in which Churchill was born.

Rev. James said he understood that Sir Winston would lie in state in London in Westminister Hall, the ancient chamber built by King William Rufus, son of William the Conqueror, nearly 900 years ago.

It is now part of the House of Parliament in which Sir Winston served his country for 62 years. King George VI lay in state in the same historic room.

Other sources said plans for a great state funeral had been drafted and during one of Sir Winston's previous illnesses and these would be implemented if he should die.

In such a case heads of state and other dignitaries would be expected from many nations.

Weather Outlook

Overcast with snow this morning but tapering off to a few flurries this afternoon. Mostly sunny, Tuesday with little change in temperature. Winds light becoming northwest 25 this afternoon. High today and low tonight at Peterboro 22 and zero.

A fireman, covered from head to feet in ice, pauses gratefully to accept a cup of steaming coffee from Captain Carl Bowes of the Salvation Army on Saturday afternoon. Firemen fought a stubborn blaze at the corner of Wellington and Sussex streets for many hours.—

Fame

It is reported thirteen of the 18 directors of Farmers Allied Meat Enterprises Co-operative Ltd. resigned Friday after being criticized for an apparent loss of $1,500,000, but nine of them were later re-elected.

At the meeting shareholders in FAME demanded that the provincial government guarantee a bank loan for FAME equal to the appraised value of the F. W. Fearman Packing Co. which FAME agreed to purchase last year for $3,500,000.

FAME paid $1,500,000 in August and was to pay another $1,000,000 on November 30 but failed to raise the money. In total FAME, received four extensions of time but was unable to pay for the plant which reverted to its previous owner E. R. Gunner, an English meat packer.

This means 13,000 Ontario farmers have lost their $1,500,000 down dayment on the plant, however Mr. Gunner said he would seriously reconsider the whole question if FAME's financial position changes appreciably over the next three months. "I would be morally obliged to do something. It would be difficult not to help them", he added.

Probably FAME would have to find $2,000,000, reports "The Rural Co-operator.", In addition at least $500,000 working capital would be needed.

We are sorry that the investers in FAME have apparently lost their money but we cannot see why the provincial government should be asked to float a loan. It is up to the co-operative movement in Canada to get behind the project if they wish to solve the FAME crisis. These farmers are not the first to have lost money in co-operative ventures. Prior to the successful establishment of the Rochdale Society of Equitable Pioneers in 1844 in Rochdale, England, the first successful consumers' co-operative, hundreds of attempts had failed and thousands of people lost money. Early socialist Robert Owen constructed a co-operative community in New Lanarkshire, Scotland, under co-operative principles with nonprofitmaking stores which failed, and then established in 1825 the ill-fated community of New Harmony, Ind. and the National Equitable Labour Exchange and other co-operative societies trading goods for labour, which were also doomed to failure.

After a shaky start, FAME took many months to gather reasonable working capital, however never raised sufficient money to start plant construction. By the end of June FAME had raised $2,292,710 ($1,363,400 in common shares and $896,000 in debentures). However almost $1,000,000 of this money had been spent on land purchase, fees, collection and administration expenses.

Thus, there was no money left to complete the Fearman plant purchase. The FAME organization bought the Fearman plant as an alternative to building one at Ayr which would have cost close to $4,000,000.

The purchase was considered a quick way of bringing FAME members into the packing business. For some months there had been unrest among shareholders because of lack of action on the part of the directors.

We feel now FAME must look to the co-operatives for help rather than the provincial government. The provincial government turned FAME down when it tried to raise funds for the second payment on January 4th.

As we said earlier, we do not like to see farmers lose their money, but they must have realized at the start this was not a sure-thing money maker. Co-operatives in Europe and Britain are among the biggest businesses in the world. But they too have seen many failures, during the building of the Co-operative movement.

Bolivia and her tin

In a discussion about Bolivia broadcast recently in the BBC General Overseas Service programm 'The World Today', John Barr, who spent two years there as a teacher, described some of the physical features of this land-locked Latin American country.

"The Altipiane of Bolivia—a dramatic barren plateau five hundred miles long and thirteen thousand feet high, ringed by the peaks of the Andes — is the Tibet of the western hemisphere," he said. "On this treeless, luner landscape where anything over two feet tall is likely to be a man or the camelike llama, little can be grown: there are straggly patches of millet and potatoes the size of ping-pong balls. It is a desperate terrain with desperately poor inhabitants, in a nation at once cursed and blessed. Cursed because of that high bleak plateau where eighty per cent of its people live and because it is a land-locked nation, one of only two on the South American continent. Paraguay is the other. Yet that Altiplane is blessed with huge forests of valuable timber, where today wild cattle roam and under whose floor oil lies.

"Four times the size of Britain, Bolivia has fewer than four million people —more than half of them pure Aymara or Quechua Indians, the proud but impoverished descendants of the great Incan Empire. It was greed for the silver of the Indian Empire which more than four hundred years ago drew the Spaniards there: the conquerors shipped home silver valued at two hundred million pounds sterling. Nearly 300 years after the Spanish conquest—in 1825—the revolutionary Simon Bolivar liberated the country (until then known as upper Peru) and gave it his name." Since then, until the revolution in 1952, a turning point in Bolivian history, a succession of military dictatorships had ruled the country from the two-mile high capital of La Paz.

"Today the Bolivian Indian lives much as his forefathers 400 years ago," said Barr. "With his huge lungs to cope with the lack of oxygen, he is physically a prisoner of his environment and falls an easy prey to the diseases of the lowlands. He earns perhaps three pounds a month, and his expected lifespan is thirty-two years." It was no wonder that, whenever he could afford it, he chewed the intoxicating coca leaf "to make his top of the world seem a less forbidding place."

James Hunt, a London commentator on South American affairs, explained why tin was not only the most important of Bolivia's rich minerals, but also the one that gave rise to the greatest concern. Tin accounted for three-quarters of Bolivian exports, but while Bolivia was the world's second largest tin producer, current output was little over half what it was twenty years ago, and even if all plans for improvement succeeded, production in 1970 would not reach beyond three-quarters of what it had been. The industry had suffered from four basic weaknesses: the low grade of the ore; inefficiency due to lack of experience on the part of the state mining corporation set up in 1952; freight costs incurred from having to ship tin concentrates abroad for smelting, and the fluctuation of world market prices.

Some formidable operating losses had been made good by United States aid, said Hunt, a modernization programme. Operation Triangle, had been launched three years ago jointly by the United States, West Germany and the Inter-American Development Bank, and with world tin prices higher than ever before, Bolivia's mines promised to 'break even' for the first time in twelve years—if the country's new leaders could maintain order in a turbulent industry. The answer for the future was to develop other industries and agriculture, but Bolivia's only capital asset today was the tin industry.

Arsenal to begin major production

A statement from national defence headquarters in Ottawa late yesterday to the effect that Lindsay arsenal would begin major production in the spring or early summer has been heard in Lindsay with some satisfaction. The report stated that some 300 additional employees would be required for the work. According to the report, the arsenal is being turned into a huge shells supply depot and manufacture will start next spring or early in the summer.

Warden elected in seventh vote

On the seventh ballot of one of the closest contested elections in the history of Victoria County Council, Reeve Clifford Benson of Eldon Township was elected Warden for the year 1940 at the opening session on Tuesday. Reeve Benson, while he has been a member of the council for a number of years, is still one of the youngest members and one of the youngest men ever to hold the highest office in the municipal council. Mr. Benson was opposed by Reeve Harry LeCraw of Dalton, Laxton and Digby; Reeve Wilford Short of Mariposa and Reeve George Parkin of Fenelon.

Log crushes bush worker

James Fairrie, 55-year-old bush worker, was rushed thirty miles from a lumber camp at Haycock to a hospital at Haliburton today, suffering from a double fracture of the skull, numerous bruises and shock. He is expected to recover.

In the act of straightening a log with a cant-hook, Fairrie slipped and fell face downward on the load. The teamster who had loaded a log along the jammer, not noticing the top loader had fallen, released the suspended log. It crashed down striking Fairrie's head.

Fear sabotage

Great Britain's 600,000 railway workers were reported ordered on the alert today for acts of sabotage against the nation's lines.

Drumhead service

The first drumhead service ever held in Lindsay attracted a large gathering to the armories on Sunday morning. The soldiers were drawn up in hollow square formation with the drums in the centre. Capt. (Rev.) French, of Fenelon Falls, conducted the services which were of a strictly military character, and preached a powerful sermon, replete with patriotic sentiment. The 34th Regimental band was present and led in the singing of such well-known hymns as "Fight the Good Fight," "O God Our Strength in Ages Past", and "Onward Christian Soldiers." "God Save the King" was also rendered as well as "O Canada" at the close.

Adanac Quartette tonight

Tonight at Cambridge Street Methodist Church one of the best musical concerts ever given in Lindsay will take place, viz., the great Adanac Quartette, Messrs. Hollinshead, Dixon, Blight and McDonald. No better, perhaps not quite so good, has ever appeared in Lindsay. In addition to these will be the eminent Russian pianist, Eduard Hesselberg. Mr. Hesselberg played in Peterboro for several nights in succession to crowded houses, and also goes from here to Peterboro for a return engagement. If people only realized that all the talent taking part were artists of first rank, the church tonight would be crowded. The soldiers will attend in a body, and occupy seats in the gallery.

Only four killed

A despatch from the front today declares the Princess Pat's casualties in their recent fight total only four killed and 14 wounded.

HEARTY "MEAL-IN-A-DISH" RECIPES FOR MIDWINTER MENUS . . . using economical canned Pink Salmon, are designed to bring a change of pace to the dinnertable — and, to budgets!

SALMON PIE

Pastry for 2-crust, 9-inch pie, 2 (1 pound) cans B.C. Pink Salmon, 3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced, 2 teaspoons dill seed, Salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup medium white sauce, 1 egg, beaten.

Line pie plate with pastry. Add half the salmon. Top with sliced eggs. Sprinkle with dill seed, salt, pepper and chunks of butter. Top with white sauce. Put in rest of salmon. Cover with pastry top. Seal edges, prick top and brush with beaten egg. Bake in hot oven, 425 deg. F., 30 to 35 minutes or until well-browned. Makes 6 servings.

SALMON HASH

¼ cup butter or margarine, 1 medium onion, chopped, 1 medium green pepper, chopped, 1 cup chopped celery, ¾ cup chili sauce, Salt and pepper to taste, 2 (1-pound) cans B.C. Pink Salmon, drained and flaked, 2 cups diced, cooked potatoes.

Melt butter in frying pan. Add onion, green pepper and celery. Fry 10 minutes or until slightly tender. Stir in salmon and potatoes. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Makes about 6 servings.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I "antique" a wood panel.

A. Combine raw sienna with raw umber and a touch of Venetian red. Dilute this mixture with a thin glue sizing. After the finish is done, apply a thin coat of bleached shellac and rub down with a fine sandpaper. Repeat until the surface is smooth. A final finish may be made with a flat lacquer or rubbing varnish.

Q. How can I improvise cream of tartar when one of my cake recipes calls for it and I don't have the real thing on hand?

A. A good substitute for cream of tartar is buttermilk. If the buttermilk is not sour enough, add a little vinegar.

Q. How can I make wallpaper washable?

A. Go over the wallpaper first with sizing, then with a clear shellac. After this, a damp cloth will clean it easily.

Useful Magnet

A small magnet or magnetic screwdriver is a very handy little gadget to keep around for retrieving screws, nuts, and other metallic articles that have been dropped into otherwise inaccessible places. A magnet can also be used to test whether hardware is of solid brass or of iron that has been brass-plated. The magnet will adhere to the plated material, but not to solid brass.

Ice-Cube Trays

Make a practice once a week of washing your refrigerator ice trays with warm, soapy water. Rinse and dry. When refilled and frozen, the tray will permit the ice cubes to slip out more easily.

Cracked Chinaware

Cracked chinaware will take on a much improved appearance if you'll boil it in milk for about 45 minutes.

GOOD SAMARITANS!

St. Louis, Mo (UPI) — Clarence Harrell and his wife tried to be good samaritans during the weekend and today they were wondering why they ever bothered.

The Webster Groves, Mo., couple saw a pickup truck and a car collide on the highway near here Saturday. They stopped and offered to act as witnesses.

But the drivers of the other vehicles told Harrell to go away and then they each hit Harrell and his wife. Part of Harrell's ear was bitten off in the scuffle.

The other drivers were arrested on assault charges and Harrell said, "In the same situation I'd be praying someone would help me, but people don't seem to care anymore".

A LOVELIER YOU

By MARY SUE MILLER

COOL LOOK FOR HOT DAYS. To the male contingent, the most refreshing sight on a sweltering day is a cool and collected female. She even outclasses the colonel's julep!

That being so, we girls are fortunate that wit is available. The first condition is faultless personal grooming. Once the basics are out of the way, these anti-wilt tricks work like magic:

Before dressing, rub down with chilled cologne. Then don freshly laundered lingerie.

In the make-up department, use the thinnest film of powder base and, sure to the core, set with a dampened silk sponge. Follow up with a light dusting of powder and blusher; blot entire face with a layer of tissue. For a frosty, lasting finish, depend on luminous eyeshadows and lipsticks in tender tints.

Luminous cream shadows provide a whisper of soft, dewy color that stays put. Lipsticks are light-as-air, yet gloss the lips with naturally pretty tints. Incidentally, frosted ceramic nail glazes and pearly enamels bring cooling effects to the nails.

As a sleek hair-do spruces the appearance as nothing else can, secure with hair spray or pomade. Let simple, smooth and neat be your by-words.

Now, what will you wear? Above all, let it be crisp and immaculate. And let there be no extraneous accessories. Keep the extras to a minimum.

For the doing, you will look like an oasis in a desert and be as welcome!

Impressive service for new minister

Cannington (PNS) — On Sunday evening, December 27th, the Reverend James Reaves was ordained to the Holy Ministry in Knox Presbyterian Church in Cannington. Over two hundred people attended the impressive service which was conducted by the Moderator of Lindsay Presbytery, the Reverend Herbert Buntain of Port Perry. The Reverend Pitzsimons of Beaverton preached an inspiring sermon on the text Philippians 2. The Reverend Orville G. Locke of Lindsay, Clerk of Presbytery narrated the steps leading up to the Ordination of Mr. Reaves, commenting upon the high scholastic standing of Mr. Reaves and the continuing interest of Lindsay Presbytery in his progress.

Following this the Ordination questions were put to Mr. Reaves by the Reverend Herbert Buntain, Moderator of Presbytery and when these were answered satisfactorily, Mr. Reaves knelt and was ordained to the Holy Ministry by the ancient rite of the laying on hands by the ministers of Lindsay Presbytery. The Charge to the newly-ordained minister was given by the Rev. Kenneth Rooney, Minister of Knox Church, Cannington who exhorted Mr. Reaves to learn the art of listening in all his ministry — to listen for God's leading in prayer and Bible study — to listen for the real needs of his people — to be a real friend to those among whom he ministers — to have a real sense of humour — to be joyous at all times and trust God listening always for his guidance in all thoughts, words and actions.

The Reverend James Reaves concluded the servivce by pronouncing the Benediction.

Following the service a reception was held in the Church School auditorium. Refreshments were served by the ladies of the church. The Rev. O. G. Locke brought greetings and congratulations to Mr. Reaves from the members of Lindsay Presbytery.

Mr. John Summerfeldt, Clerk of Session of Knox Church, Cannington, presented Mr. Reaves with a private Communion set from the Session and people of Knox Church and expressed best wishes to him for his future ministry. In reply the Reverend James Reaves expressed his thanks for the gift and for the help and encouragement given to him during his studies for the ministry.

The new minister left by automobile Monday for Medicine Hat, Alta., where he is under appointment to the Board of Missions of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Relatives and friends of the Reaves family from Toronto, Orillia, Scarboro, Beeton, Tottenham, Brooklin, Oshawa, Lindsay Uxbridge, Sunderland and Woodville attended the service.

HOME FOR AGED SHOWS SMALL LOSS THIS YEAR

The financial statement for the year 1964 at the Home for the Aged, was presented to the Committee meeting at the County Court House Friday. In 1964 operating expenses expensese exceeled recepts by $838, th second year in the past seven that a profit has not been shown.

Frank Weldon, referring to past records, told the committee that a profit as high as $2700 had been shown in 1958, 1959 showed a profit of $1100 in 1960 the profit was $165, and in 1961 a loss of $624 was realized. The next two years were profit years showing $970 profit in 1962, and $739 in 1963.

Chairman Robert Cammack pointed out various factors that affected the profit or loss margin such as farm markets, feed costs etc. Questioned as to the effects of the opening a new home in Haliburton, the superintendent pointed out that only 15 of the 95 residents were from Haliburton County.

The Committee report to council will also include the thanks of the Committee to the many groups and organizations who have visited the residents and brought them favours and much enjoyment. The report will also inform County Council that the fire alarm system has not been repaired as no guarantee can be secured.

Impressive services for Robert Groves

Three impressive services were held in connection with the passing of the late Robert W. Groves at the McArthur Funeral Home.

The Kiwanis Club service paid tribute to a Charter member and a Past President. Past Governor R. Ivan Moore was the spokesman.

The Masonic service, which was largely attendede despite below-zero weather was conducted by Past Master Hugh Carter and Past Master Ab. Wheldon, the latter officiating in his capacity of Chaplain.

Rev. David Lemmon, rector of St. Paul's Anglican Church conducted the regular funeral service Saturday afternoon. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. C. H. Deyman, Charles Wright, C. H. Heels, W. D. Whytte and two grandsons, James and John Fowell of Toronto.

Merchants come from behind to beat ten Tigers 3-2

Ten tenacious Tigers gave the Lindsay Merchants a scare Friday night at the Kiwanis Arena. The short handed Yonge street crew led Lindsay Merchants 2 - 1 through most of the second period Friday night and half of the third period was gone before the Merchants were able to pass the Tigers to gain a slim 3 - 2 win.

The Aurora Tigers that played Friday night showed a marked resemblance to the Tigers of 1963 and issued a warning to all teams that Aurora Tigers mean business from here in. Leaving some of their smaller players at home, the Tigers were on top of the Merchants at every turn and had little if any resemblance to the Tigers that bowed to the Merchants 8 - 4 one week ago.

Four minor penalties to Aurora and a major to Lindsay went into the records before the first goal was scored at 8:40 of the first period Friday. Jack Wray got two for slashing at 1:30. Fifteen seconds after he had returned to the ice he chose Pat McCabe for a sparring partner. Wray was given two minors for roughing and McCabe a major for fighting at 3:45.

At 5:35 Abby Barnsdale departed for tripping. One minute and five seconds later George Babcock beat the nimble Goodmakers from close range ending Barnsdale's penalty, but he was back in at 8:03 for interference, and Jim Scheffe joined him at 8:37 for kneeing. A tripping penalty to George Morasse gave the Tigers a chance to get steamed up, and a minute after the penalty expired, Dave Cotey tested Randy Reid from in close and Abby Barnsdale tied the score with the rebound.

Dave Cotey came back with John Cooper at 4:05 of the second period to put the Tigers in the lead 2 - 1. Play ranged from end to end during the period with Goodmakers making unbelievable saves on charging Merchants. One minor penalty to each team went by harmlessly and only a couple of minutes remained on the clock when Jim Scheffe centred to Gord Frocking who knifed through the middle of the Tigers defence to beat Goodmakers cleanly from fifteen feet.

Bob Taylor scored what proved to be the winning goal at 9:27 of the third period assisted by Morasse and Purdy. Scheffe got two for holding at 10:43 of the third, but by this time it was ten tired Tigers fighting to get back in the game, with the result that the Merchants penned the Tigers in their own end during most of the penalty and almost added to their lead.

The Merchants wind up their schedule this week with a trip to Tiger town to-morrow night, and a game with Newmarket Redmen here on Friday. To date the Merchants have won eighteen of twenty-two games played. Of the twenty-two games, Randy Reid played fourteen, and Doug Broad eight, in goal for the Merchants. In his fourteen games Reid has allowed 40 goals for an average of 2.857 per game. Broad has allowed 23 goals for an average of 2.875 per game. Both games this week will be four point games making a possible 44 points available to the Merchants if they can win both games. Next week a round robin series involving Aurora, Newmarket, and Lindsay will get underway and play-off time will be here again.

Scoring Summary

1st Period

Golden Wedding celebrated by Coboconk couple

Coboconk (PNS) — Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wakelin of Cobocong celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary on Tuesday, December 29th, 1964 in the Coboconk United Church Hall. Their many friends and relatives gathered to share the happiness of the eventful day and evening with the honoured couple.

Their attendants of 50 years ago, bridesmaid Mrs. James Irwin of Oakwood, sister of the groom and Mr. Will Quinn of Norland the groomsman, brother of the bride, were present for the occasion.

A large number of guests called during the afternoon and evening to offer their congratulations and best wishes for many more years of good health and happiness.

A framed message of congratulations was received from the Hon. John Robarts, Ontario Prime Minister and presented by Mr. Glen Hodgson, M.P.P., also greetings from Mr. Charles Lamb, member of parliament of the Dominion House.

Greetings and flowers were received from Mr. C. Shields of Prince George, B.C., also.

Greeting and flowers were received from their granddaughter, Mrs. Jack Hughlet and family of Saskatoon, Sask.

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

IS CHEWING TOBACCO, SNUFF GUILTY OR INNOCENT

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Why is it that the doctors who talk about smoking condemn it but never mention the snuff habit?

My husband is an addict to both chewing tobacco and snuff. He chews two different kinds of tobacco and dips snuff every day and night. He goes to bed with it in his mouth and gets up all through the night for it. We no longer share the same bed on account of it. I do not use tobacco in any form and can't stand the smell of it.

He complains of squeezing chest pain lately. I've tried to get him to go for a check-up but he says I'm only interested in having the doctor tell him to stop chewing. He says I just want to nag him.

He reads your column in our paper every night. Will you please give him a lecture? Help please.—Mrs. B.

NO GOOD LECTURING

Comment: Lectures won't help. If the motivation to take care of yourself isn't there, I doubt I could influence anyone to do the reasonable thing or chest pain: be examined. So I'm not trying to force you into anything, Mr. B.

However, be thankful your wife is nagging you to see your doctor. Some day you may thank her instead of being angry at her interference.

For it is true that you are in danger on two fronts. Not only is the chest pain suggestive of the possibility of coronary disease; you are also in danger of developing mouth cancer because of your habit of chewing snuff. Way back in 1921 Dr. J. C. Bloodgood wrote: "The evidence, therefore, is overwhelming that the continuous and prolonged irritation from tobacco in some form is the chief factor in producing a lesion which may later develop into cancer".

All patients who chew tobacco do not develop cancer; neither do all patients who have chest pain suffer from coronary disease.

Nevertheless, Mr. B., I have two suggestions for you: 1. Better see your doctor for a complete physical, which includes an electrocardiogram and heart X-ray. 2. Tell him that you are an habitual snuff dipper and tobacco chewer. Ask him to double check to make sure that you haven't any precancerous lesions in your mouth.

If I sound as if I've been a top my soapbox for another lecture, please forgive, Mr. B. You see, your wife is no more of a nagger than I am.

BLOOD PRESSURE JUMPS

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My pressure jumps all around when I dip my hand in ice water. I have a fast pulse and sweat easily. My pressure is anywhere from 90 to 120. Usually it hangs around 116. Can this be due to the condition known as pheochromocytoma?—Mrs. T.

Comment: It's possible. There have been a few cases reported with normal blood pressure. If you are still in doubt, ask your doctor to check on it. There are special tests which will make the diagnosis or rule out this adrenal tumor.

By the way, how do you happen to know all these variations in your blood pressure? You haven't gone and done what some patients do on their own: buy a sphygmanometer (blood pressure apparatus) and sit around all day taking their pressures and worrying themselves to death?

If so, better stop it. You'll become an anxiety-prone as the fellow who goes about taking his pulse every few minutes, and sticking out his tongue at every mirror to check on his health.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Our little 3-year-old boy sleeps only about nine hours out of the 24. He drinks no more than a half cup of milk a day. He is full of energy, looks quite healthy, but never seems hungry or sleepy. His doctor says he's O.K. in every way and not to worry. Your advice?—Mrs. T.

Comment: Ditto.

CAUGHT BY A SMIRK

Chicago (UPI) — A man was arrested yesterday thanks to a smirk on the face of Alexander Hamilton.

Dmitar Urelac, 62, of Suburban Skokie was charged with suspicion of possessing counterfeit $10 bills when he allegedly tried to pay for a hotel room with a bogus bill.

Hotel clerk Howard Liouis told police he became suspicious because Hamilton's lips were turned up more than usual on a genuine $10 bill.

Cars collide at Coboconk, $320 damage

Total damage of $320 resulted when two cars collided at a "T" intersection in the village of Coboconk at 8:45 a.m. Friday.

Coboconk OPP said cars driven by Norman Edward Tufts, 48, and Ruth Margaret Taylor, 43, both of Coboconk collided in the narrow intersection. Police said the Taylor vehicle was southbound on a Bexley Township road, making a left turn at the intersection and the Tufts car was turning right when the collision occurred.

Coboconk OPP Constable Barry J. Connelly, who was transferred to Coboconk from Cobourg last week, investigated the accident.

NEW MATHEMATICS WORKSHOP AT LESLIE FROST SCHOOL

On Saturday morning, January 16 the opening session of the "new mathematics workshop" for local elementary school teachers was held in the auditorium of the Leslie Frost public school. The workshop was under the direction of Robert J. Allan ,principal at Leslie Frost, and director of arithmetic for the Lindsay public schools.

Approximately 125 teachers from the inspectorates of J. H. Bates and B. Barrett attended despite the bitter-cold weather. Miss Margaret O'Keefe, primary Supervisor for Peterboro Separate Schools conducted the programme.

Miss O'Keefe said in part:

"Why new mathematics? If you draw a line one mile in length to represent all the mathematics known in the world, the amount taught up to the end of grade twelve could be represented by one inch. The truth is that most of the ideas contained in the new programes are not new; they were well known to mathematicians in 1800. The difference between the new math and the old lies not in the content but in the presentation. In the new math" she continued, "the purpose is to have the children learn by reason rather than rote. Teachers now want the children to discover the underlying principles of math rather than merely memorizing certain mechanical procedures. An important feature of the new programme is the prominence given to "Discovery" whereby pupils are helped to explore, to find out for themselves", explained Miss O'Keefe.

Introductory remarks were followed by a demonstration lesson taught by Miss O'Keefe to a small group of Grade 2 pupils from the Leslie Frost school. The pupils responded well to Miss O'Keefe's questioning and encouraging guidance. Miss O'Keefe gave another demonstration lesson after the mid-morning coffee break and answered questions from the group in open forum.

E. C. Dettman, principal of Parkview Puplic school, thanked the speaker.

"LETDOWN SINCE FROST LEFT" — H. R. CHAIRMAN

Toronto (UPI) — Eamon Park, Chairman of the Human Rights Committee of the Toronto and District Labour Council, said yesterday that Premier John Roberts didn't seem to take as much pride in Ontario's Civil Rights Legislation as his predecessor Leslie Frost.

"I personally have felt a sort of letdown in this field since Mr. Frost left", Park said.

He told 100 delegates to the annual Toronto and District Labour Conference on Human Rights that the provinces legislation, thought the best in Canada, contains loopholes and anomalies.

NEIGHBOUR FINDS WOMAN DEAD

Mrs. Carmen Thurston (formerly Mary Warren) of Fenelon Falls, about 50 years of age, was found dead in her home at Fenelon Falls on Sunday morning about 11 a.m. by a neighbour, Mrs. William Palmer.

Police and the coroner Dr. George Johnstone were called to the scene. It is reported Mrs. Thurston died from a gunshot wound.

Firemen from Little Britain, Oakwood and Lindsay combine to fight a stubborn barn blaze at the farm of Leonard Webster, three miles east of Oakwood on Thursday. Firemen were hampered by severe cold and a shortage of water. —"Post" staff photo.

CAR BREAKS THROUGH ICE ON STURGEON LAKE SUNDAY

A car reportedly driven by Ron Szego of Lindsay went through the ice on Sturgeon Lake on Sunday afternoon about 4 p.m. and completely submerged. Passengers in the vehicle were Ronnie Rich of Little Britain, James Algers of Sonya, Ronnie Jenkins of Little Britain and James Herr.

No injuries were reported.

It is understood the car was travelling on the ice in the vicinity of Riverview Pavilion. A Toronto man helped the vehicle driver and passengers to dry off in his nearby cottage.

An attempt to raise the vehicle will be made this afternoon.

$10,000 ESTIMATED DAMAGE IN LINDSAY HOUSE FIRE

Lindsay Firemen battled for several hours in sub-zero temperatures to control a $10,000 blaze at the corner of Sussex and Wellington Streets on Saturday, just before noon.

Lindsay Fire Chief Arnold Watson said the alarm was turned in at 10:40 a.m. by Mrs. H. Leary, a teacher at the King Albert School, who occupies the rear apartment. He said the front apartment is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hall and, he believed their four young daughters. Chief Watson said faulty wiring in the second floor bathroom was believed to have started the fire which caused an estimated $6,000 damage to the building and $4,000 to the contents. He said a lack of fire stops in the walls and ceilings allowed the fire to spread quickly and made it exceptionally hard to control.

An aerial-ladder , pumper and hose-truck responded to the alarm. It was not known whether the loss was covered by insurance.

dan said he could not accept that a bottle was behind it all. He told the accused he was astute enough to change the plates on the car.

The accused questioned, "Do you think it was astute or panic?" When the Crown Attorney said he thought the man was astute the accused replied, "I wish I were."

Magistrate Munro said passing bogus cheques was an easy living and told the accused that con-men were considered to be the intelligensia of criminals because they were able to convince "hard-headed businessmen" to accept their cheques.

Miss Margaret O'Keefe, Primary Supervisor of Peterboro Separate School, centre, conducted a workshop on the new method of teaching mathematics at the primary school level at the Leslie Frost Auditorium Saturday morning. Eight grade 2 pupils from the host school assisted in the demonstration which was attended by over 100 members of the Victoria County Teachers Association. VICTORIA COUNTY LEADS THE WAY UNDER THE AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT GUIDANCE

The many ways in which the Ontario Department of Agriculture extension branches come to the assistance of those occupied in the many phases of agriculture are seldom fully realized. Not only in providing facilities and promoting displays and sales of agricultural products, but also the many sources of accurate advice in any farm problem arrived at by actual trial at experimental stations by providing bulletins on all phases of agricultural operations, as well as personal advice by specially trained personnel both in the field and in the office are but a few of the benefits available to those who enquire.

Victoria County was one of the first municipalities provided with this trained help. In 1907 Mr. F. H. Reed became agricultural representative in Victoria County. During the first year he taught in school part time but field work demanded his full attention during the second year of his term in Victoria County.

Mr. D. A. MacKenzie succeeded F. H. Reed in 1909 followed by A. A. Knight in March 1913 M H. Winter succeeded Mr. Knight in 1926 and gave unstintingly of his time and talents until his retirement July 31st, 1948. The present and popular representative is LeRoy G. Brown now in his seventeenth year.

ASSISTANTS

Assistant representatives that have served in Victoria County over the 56 year span include A. A. Knight in 1909 and 1910; J. G. Taggart 1911; W. T. Hunter 1912 and 1913; H. R. Hare, April to September 1913 and W. G. Orton (school fairs) 1913 who remained until April 1st 1916. Three men served a month each in 1917 in including R. J. Shortsill, R. Atkin, and M. Bickle who returned for a short course in 1918. George DeLong came for the school fairs in 1918; Ian S. MacKay was here for one month in 1921; H. C. Mason, E. I. McLoughry and Fred Webster served in 1922; R. Irvine and J. A. Garner assisted in 1923, and A. W. MacKenzie came in 1925.

Assistant representatives in later years included John R. Steel from June 1952 to May 1954. Morris G. Freeman was here in the summer of 1954 and returned in 1955, remaining until October 1956. Through 1957 to May 1960, H. Ivan Bell was located at Lindsay. Don Smith succeeded him from May 1960 until February 1962. Doug Young came in May 1962 and fulfilled his duties here until the present assistant Art Hamilton succeeded him in May 1964.

Following are some of the outstanding departmental activities accomplished in addition to routine extension work.

On April 18th, 1908, F. H. Reed organized the Victoria Purebred Live Stock Association. This organization has operated continuously since that date and has conducted an Annual Sale of purebred live stock since 1910.

In 1910 D. A. MacKenzie organized the first Shorthorn Sale on February 1st which organization is still operating. In that year Mr. MacKenzie was secretary of the Christmas Fair and Poultry Show. Other activities listed in the 1910 Annual Report includes considerable work on drainage, live stock, cereal and legume tests, milk testing and School Fairs.

In 1914 the first Live Stock and Seed Judging Competition was held in Victoria County. The first outbreak of army worms was experienced July 1914 and the first silos were erected in Victoria County, and the first farmer's clubs in Victoria County were organized

FIRST CAR

The first motor car for the Agricultural Representative was provided in 1915. Two Farmers' Clubs were organized in the county. The first Junior Farmer group was organized in Victoria County at Fenelon Falls.

The first Inter-County Judging Team for Victoria County, and the Victoria County Holstein-Friesian Association was organized.

The first Home Garden contest was organized in the county in 1916. The first agricultural timestone from Kirkfield Quarry was used on clover, and the first weed spraying was done in Victoria County, using sulphate of iron.

In 1917 the Junior Farmer Association was organized at Woodville, the first co-operative sale of wool from Victoria County was shipped to Guelph. Two tractors and plows, owned by the Department, were operated in Victoria County, and the first Baby Beef Competition was organized.

The year 1918 saw a Junior Farmer Club organized at Little Britain. Victoria County Hereford Breeders Association was formed in June and the first poultry culling demonstration was held by Dr. Marcellus.

A junior Farmer club was organized at Lindsay, January 31st, 1919 and the First Yorkshire Club was formed.

Cameron Junior Farmer Club started January 20th, 1920. First use of motion pictures by an Agricultural Representative 1920. First weekly release for local papers by the Agricultural Representatives; the first government bonus paid on purebred rams in 1920.

Another first was the formation of the Woodville Pig Club in June 1921. The Junior Farmer Club organized in Omemee in 1922 The Advisory Agricultural Council came into being on January 22nd. Two Bacon Hog Clubs were formed by the representative and the first International Plowing Match was held in Victoria County in October 1922.

Three Roar Clubs were organized in Victoria County in 1924, and in 1926 a Junior Farmer Club was organized at Oakwood.

In 1927 a Lindsay dairy installed the first pasteurizing plant and the first Bacon Hog Fair was held at Cameron. Weed Inspectors were appointed in each Township in Victoria County in 1927 and the T. Eaton Trophy was awarded for the first time for School Fair work.

In 1928 the first rural hydro was installed on 20 farms in Victoria County. The first Farm Mechanics short course was held in 1929 and the first Junior Boys Swine Club was formed in 1931.

1932 saw the first soybeans grown in the County, the first Junior Extension grant ($100.00) was made available to Victoria County and the first Inter-County Swine team was formed in the county.

A warble fly control programme was started in 1934 with the distribution of powder to the farmers. The first Junior Grain club was formed in the County and local leaders were used in Swine Club work.

In 1935 two standing field crop competitions were held. A Bot Fly Control programme was in one township.

Seven townships in Victoria County canvassed for T.B. test in 1936 and the first Junior Calf Club was formed in the county. In 1937 road-side weed spraying was commenced in two townships and the first foal club was organized.

T. B. TEST

The first area T.B. test was complete in Victoria County in 1938. Hydro had been installed and was in use on 49 farms in the county. The T.B. test was completed in Haliburton County in 1939. The Victoria Crop Improvement Association and the first Junior Poultry Club was organized in that year which saw the last of the school fairs.

The first Black and White show in Victoria County was held in Lindsay in 1940, and the Victoria County Federation of Agriculture was organized in April 1944.

A title ditching machine was purchased by Victoria County Council in 1947, and in 1948 an Artificial Breeding Unit was organized in the county. Woodville Junior Farmers Club was re-organized in March. The International Plowing was held in Victoria County that year.

The first warble fly control spraying was done in one township in 1949 and the second general T.B. test was completed. The first Junior Sheep Club, the first Junior Forestry Club and the Kawartha Junior Farmer Club were organized in the county in 1949.

The first Extension work was done in Haliburton County in 1950. A beef pasture demonstration farm was located in Victoria County, and a junior plow team from the county won first at the International Plowing match in 1950 The first Provincial Junior Farmer Curling Bonspiel was held at Lindsay and won by Victoria County.

The first Junior Tractor Club was organized in 1951 and a soil survey was completed in Victoria County. The crash in live stock prices struck all live stock producers.

The third general T.B. test was completed in the county in 1952. An assistant Agricultural Representative was assigned to the County and an Agricultural Engineering Officer was stationed at Lindsay. In 1953 four townships in Victoria County were under the bruccilosis Control Programme and the first Junior Calf Club organized in Haliburton.

In 1954 a Junior Farmer Club organized at Fenelon Falls Night School classes were organized at Haliburton High School. The department office in Lindsay transferred to a new location and the second Provincial Dairy Day was held in the county.

Fifteen 4-H Clubs were formed in Victoria and Haliburton in 1955 and the first Regional Agricultural Representative's Conference was held in Lindsay.

"Farming" topic of W.I. meeting

Blackstock (PNS) — There was an attendance of eighteen members at the January meeting of Blackstock Women's Institute held in the Community hall, January 6, 1965. The Opening exercises were conducted by the Treasurers and secretary's reports, Letters of thanks were read from those remembered at christmas as well as letters from the Department concerning farm meetings of interest to women.

Mrs. Mervin Graham and Mrs. Chas. Smith were named a committee to plan for Port Perry Fair. Mrs. Leith Byers will head the committee to plan an exhibit for Cartwright Fair. A committee will meet with the Parks board concerning use of the "Community Hall" for meetings. Plans were made to sponsor two card parties with the first on January 29th. Mrs. Chas Smith reported on her visit at the meeting of the Port Perry hospital Auxiliary. Plans were suggested for the bazaar in the spring

Roll call was answered with a farm safety tip. The motto The Bliss of Growth, the glory of action, The Splendour of Beauty" was responded to by Mrs. Sanford Van Camp.

Mrs. Ralph Larmer introduced the guest speaker Mr. A. O. Dalrymple, P. Ag. District Agriculture Representative who gave a splendid address on farm problems at the work of the representative. Mrs. McArthur, group leader, expressed thanks to Mr. Dalrymple. Mrs. McArthur conducted a contest After the "Queen" a lunch was served.

Bracebridge man jailed in U.K.

London (UPI) — Canadian Robert Lawrence Shuttleworth was jailed for three months today after he pleaded guilty to obtaining credit by fraud by running up a 166 pound ($465) bill at the Hilton Hotel in London.

Shuttleworth, a 24-year-old clerk from (McMurray St.) Bracebridge, Ont., was on vacation in England. He stayed at the Hilton from Dec. 22 until Jan. 5 and then said he had no money to pay the bill.

He had one pound two shillings ($3) with him when he was arrested.

Court magistrate Geraint Rees said it was a deliberate fraud.

CPR revenues highest in its history

Montreal (UPI) — The Canadian Pacific Railways will show the highest level of railway revenues in its history, CPR president R. A. Emerson said today.

The company also expects to record highest net earnings since 1945.

But Emerson warned the Canadian Club of Montreal that the rate of return was inadequate in relation to increased investment and services.

He said the railways saw little for the future of its passenger operations in the face of growing competition from the airlines and motor vehicles.

"Overall, we can see no prospect of being able to attract to passenger trains people in sufficient numbers at prices they are willing to pay to defray the expenses incurred" Emerson said.

"It was "disservice to the nation," he complained, to continue operating uneconomical routes.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, en route to Ottawa from a Caribbean holiday, is interviewed during stopover at Montreal International Airport.

World news today

Saigon, Viet Nam — Four students were shot and wounded in mass demonstrations against the government in the Northern cities of Hue and Dalat. The demonstrations came as the government reported a Vietnamese military unit had inflicted heavy casualties on a communist Guerrilla band preparing an ambush.

Tunis — President Habib Bourguiba praised the United States for its contributions to end colonialism throughout the world. In an interview, Bourguiba, who rules his one-party state under a policy of moderate socialism, said Communist China is exploiting nationalism in Southeast Asia for its own benefit.

Warsaw — Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and Communist Party Chief Leonid Brezhnev were en route toWarsaw for a summit meeting beginning Tuesday with their East European Allies. Although the purpose of the Warsaw conference remained obscure, it appeared the talks would center on co-ordinating policy for major moves in east-west relations, possibly a new communist peace offensive.

Bonn — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard prepared for possible critical talks this week with French President Charles De Gaulle on the future of Western Europe and the Atlantic Military alliance. Government sources said Erhard, in his talks with the Gaulle Tuesday and Wednesday, would urge French cooperation in achieving European unity, a policy upon which Erhard has staked his political career.

Lyons, France — Cardinal Pierre-Marie Gerlier, Archbishop of Lyons and primate of the Gauls, died today at the age of 85. The death of the highest ranking French prelate reduced the number of French Cardinals to five.

Waterloo, Ont. (UPI) — A Conservative member of parliament said here this week-end he and at least three other English-speaking Conservatives are in favor of replacing John Diefenbaker as party leader before the next election.

Gordon Aiken, MP for Parry Sound-Muskoka, was speaking during a panel discussion Saturday night with Liberal and New Democratic MPs at the University of Waterloo.

He said Diefenbaker's policies have been unfair to Quebec and have failed to recognize Quebec's role in Confederation.

Asked if there would be a change in the Conservative party leadership before the next election, Aiken said: "I hope so, but I don't know".

Halifax, N.S. — Two major Atlantic storms dealt only glancing blows to the Maritimes over the weekend, cuffing the coastal provinces with up to seven inches of snow.

Prince Edward Island was hardest hit by snow, with about seven inches. Nova Scotia had between two and six inches of snow, while New Brunswick still lies beneath a blanket of snow.

The weather office said a third major storm would skirt past Cape Breton about midnight, bringing a light snowfall to most of Eastern Nova Scotia the Prince Edward Island.

London — The worst gales in more than 10 years battered Britain during the night. Winds up to 101 miles per hour left a trail of death and destruction.

Rain, snow and thunderstorms created havoc on highways. The high winds toppled trees and knocked out telephone lines.

At sea, several ships were forced to take shelter.

Toronto — Sources at Queen's Park have disclosed that Ontario universities may receive almost $160,000,000 in grants this year compared with $101,296,000 last year—an increase of 60 per cent.

William Davis, University Affairs Minister said he thought the 60 per cent increase seemed too high. However, he did admit there would be substantial increases to universities.

He said total figures have not been computed because complete figures have not been obtained from all the province's 16 government assisted institutions.

Two and Ten

There are many ways for a hockey player to land up in the penalty box but a couple of players from the Swedish First Division Teams, Grums, have been binned for unusual reasons.

A week ago goalie Haakan Olsson got a penalty for building a snow wall in front of his goal in order to stop the puck.

Yesterday defender Tommy Gustafsson was penalized for biting one of the referees ringers.

The referee was pointing at something when Gustafsson skated by him and bit his finger. The referee got angry and gave the player ten minutes in the box.

Retarded Children annual meeting on January 27th

W. R. Kirk, executive director of the Ontario Association for Retarded Children will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Lindsay and District Retarded Children's Association on Wednesday, January 27th at St. Mary's School at 8 p.m.

Association President Ian Milner told "The Post" the meeting would be very interesting and lively and invited anyone interested in the problems of retarded children to attend the annual meeting.

The Nominating Committee will bring in a slate of officers for 1965.

$ WHO PAYS

if you fail to keep your automobile liability insurance in force and you are responsible for an automobile accident resulting in a claim?

You do!

Here are the reasons why you should always carry automobile liability insurance:

1. If your automobile insurance lapses, you become liable to a fine of up to $500 unless you immediately renew your insurance or pay a $20 uninsured motor vehicle fee at a motor vehicle licence agency office.
2. Payment of the $20 fee gives no protection whatever against a subsequent judgment against you. Some judgments may be in excess of $25,000—a serious blow to the future of any young man and to his family as well.
3. If there is a claim against you as an uninsured motor vehicle owner and you are liable, the claim will be paid by the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund, but you must repay the fund. You will not be allowed to own or operate a motor vehicle until you make arrangements to repay the fund.

When you apply for your 1965 Ontario licence plates be sure you have an automobile liability insurance policy in force and avoid payment of the extra $20 fee. Be a safe, responsible driver and protect your future.

Prizes won at euchre party

Valentia (PNS) — A Euchre Party was held at the school house. The games were later in starting than usual at 8:30. After eight rounds the score cards were collected up by Gayle Jenkins and Ray Howlett and lunch was then prepared.

The prize winners for the euchre were Women's Mrs. Maude Jordan with a count of 43 and was donated a Pyrex Beverage Server. Mr. Jack Coulson held the high card with a score of 44 for the men and was awarded a pair of work gloves.

The Consolation Prizes went to Mrs. G. Grills and Richard Grills the prize was a wooden spoon and cigarette holder.

The tables were cleared up and tickets for the freeze out game were given to the men, each drawing a pink ticket to find their partner, the losers droping out each table, and final table was played by Ben Howlett, Mrs. Ethel Mark and Mrs. Gayle Jenkins and Terry Cockerill at the final time, the game was tied when extra hands had to be played to secure the winners with Ben Howlett and Mrs. Mark winning by a very small margin. Shaving lotion and hand cream was given as the prize.

Spokesman asks council to form Senior Citizen's Club Committee

Sergeant Arthur Gordon Stout is welcomed as the new officer in charge of the Lindsay OPP detachment by Corporal C. E. Gibbons who has been in temporary command. —"Post" staff photo.

Advise on sidewalk displays Lindsay council asks merchants

A delegation representing the Merchants' Committee of the Chamber of Commerce were heard by town council last night. James Nolan, spokesman for the committee also represented by Joe Lamantia Jr. and Laverne Gamble, told council of their meeting last November at which time the merchants were "in the dark" as to he requirements of council.

During discussion it was revealed that a bylaw of long standing limited space that might be occupied by displays of town sidewalks, but this bylaw applied only to fruit dealers. Members of council last night indicated that complaints had been received concerning merchandise other than perishable goods which had become an inconvenience on town sidewalks, and in some cases hindered the view at intersections. Since it was considered that some of the abuses, affected the safety of citizens, council was of the opinion that a new bylaw should be drawn up, but said they were looking to the merchants for guidance.

Councillor Carl Brown noted that machines or scales left on town sidewalks over night were a liability of the town and could affect insurance rates.

Mayor Holton assured the delegation that council did not want to eliminate all displays. He questioned those present as to the most desired programme regarding the extent of sidewalk displays that would be suitable, and suggested the merchants' committee take the thoughts expressed back to another meeting of their committee and form suggestions for more concrete guidance of council.

Thirteen FAME directors resign — nine are re-elected later

Thirteen of 18 directors of Farmers' Allied Meat Enterprises resigned last week after being criticized for an apparent loss of $1,500,000 but nine of them were later re-elected.

President Clayton Frey of Sarnia resigned at a meeting attended by over 300 delegates and refused to stand for re-election. No one was elected to replace him.

Shareholders asked the provincial government to guarantee a bank loan for FAME equivalent to the appraised value of the F. W. Fearman Packing Co. Ltd., which it agreed to purchase last year for $3,500,000.

FAME paid $1,500,000 in August and was to pay another $1,000,000 on November 30th but failed to raise the money. The deadline was extended to January 4th but payment was not made. The provincial government turned down FAME's application for the second payment.

The Fearman plant has now reverted to its previous owner E. R. Gunner of England.

Newly elected to the board were Clifford Johnston, Peterboro, Harold Schmidt, Baden; and Melvin Becker, Ayr. The directors are expected to vote for a new replacement President.

Directors who resigned and were re-elected were: Merlyn Baker, Stouffville; Wilfred Bishop, Norwich; N. J. Hill, Delhi; Ormond Pridham, Fullerton; Lorne Wettlaufer, Newstadt; John Laventure, Glasgow Station; Wilson Anderson, Stratford.

Directors defeated after resigning were: Ray Webster, Little Britain, Alexander Anderson, Guelph, Carl Hemingway, Brussels.

Directors who did not resign are Charles McInnes, Iroquois, a former president; Morley Mills, Kingston; Honore Bourdeau, St. Onge; Alva Rintoul, Carleton Place, A. R. Service, Milton.

No action from Arena Board —E. O. Ellison

"I would like to see town council take action — not the recreation committee, I would like to see council appoint a committee tonight" said E. O. (Ted) Ellison when he approached council as a delegation of one on behalf of the senior citizens of Lindsay.

Mr. Ellison suggested Lindsay town council appoint a committee of four or five to meet a committee of like number from the town's senior citizens to consider securing a location for the forming of a senior citizen's club. Addressing his remarks to Finance and Advisory Committee chairman John Eakins, Mr. Ellison said he had contacted the Recreation Committee and understood they would not take action, as the Kinsmen have been working on the project for two years. He said a downtown location with ground floor facilities would be required. Mr. Ellison pointed out that 10% of Lindsay's population are senior citizens.

Mayor Holton suggested that the Recreation Commission is there to provide this type of thing. "This is the group that do this for council" the Mayor noted, "for the young old ones, and the old young ones". It was also noted that any activity of this type would have to be handled through the recreation commission to be eligible for grants.

A motion by Mayor Holton and Dr. Gill referred the request to the Recreation Commission, and suggested that council representatives on the Commission, Reeve Finney and Councillor Dr Fawcett interview the Senior Citizen's Committee and discuss their proposed programme. The only space available at the recreation centre for such a group would be on the third floor level, which would involve too many stairs for many members.

Ted Ellison thanked council for their consideration, and suggested a combined committee visit towns that have Senior Citizen's Clubs. He also referred to a petition that had been forwarded to council containing the names of many Lindsay tax-payers. He said the Club would be a mixed group.

Separate school board chairman is re-elected

Joseph Becke was re-elected chairman of Separate School Board for his second consecutive term at the inaugural meeting of the board held Wednesday at St. Mary's School. Roy Pollitt was elected vice-chairman, replacing Walter Humphries who held the office last year.

Other appointments made at the meeting included Felix Fox, re-appointed as secretary-treasurer and attendance officer and George Hodgson, re-appointed as representative to the Lindsay Public Library Board for the two year term 1965-66. A. T. Lacey, Q. C., is serving the second year of his 1964-65 term as representative on the Library Board.

Appointed as representative on the Victoria County Area High School Board for the coming year was Les Porter, replacing Austin Kirley who now resides outside the Lindsay Separate School area.

The chairmen appointed to head-up the various committees were Finance, R. Pollitt; Property, L. Miner; Management, B. McGreevy.

The board meetings for the coming year were scheduled for the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m., July and August excepted.

New OPP Sergeant takes command

Sergeant Arthur Gordon Stout arrived in Lindsay to take command of the Lindsay detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police yesterday. Sergeant Stout told "The Post" he was a corporal in Belleville and served in the Belleville area for about 18 years. Sergeant Stout, his wife and three children, Deborah, 10, Kevin, 8, and Marleah 9 months, have moved to Lindsay although the sergeant said they haven't decided on a house as yet.

The Lindsay detachment now has 21 men, the largest number in its history. Sergeant Stout relieved Lindsay OPP Corporal C. E. Gibbons who assumed command of the detachment after the tragic death of Sergeant J. W. Erskine last year.

Reeve Robert Cammack elected Victoria Warden first ballot

The members of Victoria County Council today elected Reeve Robert Cammack of Laxeton, Digby and Longford, 1965 Warden on the first ballot by the necessary 14 votes. Reeve George Finney of Lindsay received seven votes and Reeve Roy Morrison of Mariposa polled six votes. Col. R. I. Moore administered the oath.

Victoria County Warden for 1964 was Max Kennedy of Verulam Township.

Golden Anniversary

Today "The Post" salutes Kiwanis International on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the organization, and particularly the Lindsay Kiwanis Club which was formed on March 11, 1922.

The Kiwanis motto "We Build" has been amply demonstrated by the local club. They have taken an especial interest in the building of the Ross Memorial Hospital and the arena facilities in this town and have over the years, raised and donated vast sums of money to benefit the town and surrounding area.

The community minded citizens who are members of Kiwanis (or of the other active and progressive service clubs in town) deserve a big hand. Only a member, or former member of a service club like Kiwanis, Rotary, Kinsmen or Lions can know the hours of work provided by members for community betterment. And with remarkable little publicity.

On this Golden Anniversary of Kiwanis we pay tribute to fifty years of fine service, to the community, to the nation and internationally.

Contentment

Contentment furnishes constant joy. Much covetousness, constant grief. To the contented, even poverty is a joy. To the discontented, even wealth is a vexation.—Ming Sun Paou Keen.

Industry

At the working-man's house hunger looks in, but dares not enter; nor will the bailiff or the constable enter; for industry pays debts, but despair increaseth them.—Franklin.

Bailey Construction are now in the process of removing the old one lane bridge at Coboconk to make room for a new two-lane structure. Traffic is temporarily being diverted across the Gull River on a bailey bridge located just east of the old bridge. Foreign News Commentary

Paris, (UPI) — French President Charles De Gaulle seems set to resume his wooing of the Germans.

He wants bygones forgotten and a new start given to the French-German honeymoon-that-never-was.

West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard comes to Paris Jan. 19-20 for, one of the regular six-monthly meetings with De Gaulle provided for under the two-year-old Treaty of Co-operation and alliance between the two countries.

But it will be a French-German summit meeting with a difference.

Relations between them have been far from harmonious. De Gaulle has suspected the Bonn government of ganging up with the United States rather than accepting the "special relationship" with France he envisaged when he signed the alliance with Erhard's predecessor, former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Jan. 22, 1963.

Now De Gaulle wants to make a new start. He is determined to charm Erhard as he once charmed the aged Adenauer.

The joint meetings of the French and West German cabinets customary on such occasions, has been postponed.

Instead, Erhard will bring only his foreign minister Gerhard Schroeder.

In place of full dress talks in the Elysee Palace conference room in Paris, De Gaulle and Erhard will hold three long private sessions with only interpreters present at the Chateau of Rambouillet, about 30 miles south-west of here.

French Premier Georges Pompidou and the two Foreign Ministers will not be called in until the last moment.

What De Gaulle seeks is a complete slate-wiping with Erhard.

"Let's forget past differences and start anew," he will tell the West German leader in effect.

De Gaulle does not want to discuss details of this or that proposal for European political unity or allied nuclear strategy or trade within the European Common Market. He wants the talks on a high philosophical plane. He wants to see whether he and Erhard have the same basic ideas on the future of Europe and its relationship with the United States.

De Gaulle will seek to persuade Erhard that West German's only real future lies in being a member of a loose confederation of sovereign western European countries—the "Europe of Fatherlands" often outlined by De Gaulle spokesmen.

He will seek to convince Erhard that such a Europe should be completely independent of American "domination."

He will explain to Erhard his belief that such a Europe should be allied to the United States, but only as equals and under a completely reorganized North Atlantic treaty organization (NATO).

De Gaulle will tell Erhard pointedly he sees no sense in discussing various European political unity formulas or proposals unless and until it is clear that they agree on the basic issue — namely the type of Europe they have in mind and its relationship to the United States.

If De Gaulle can "charm" Erhard into agreement on this, then the French-German honeymoon should be off to a new start.

"It's a big 'if'."

Council grants $600 total

Two grants were made by the Schools Committee of the Victoria Victoria County Council on Thursday, while one was referred to the June session. A statutory grant of $500 was made at the request of M. H. Winter, Department of Agriculture representative and a grant of $100 towards young people's work in the county was also made.

Council concurred in a resolution sponsored by the counties of Durham and Northumberland and a similar one from Kent County, deploring the increased cost of text books, resulting from changes in the courses of Education in High and Continuation schools, and requesting the Department of Education to take effective steps to lessen the burden of buying books on the parents of secondary school pupils.

The committee also received and filed the report of the Victoria County Teachers' Association.

Officer leaves

In an impressive ceremony at the Armoury this afternoon, officers and other ranks of the 45th Field Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery (How.) (CASF bade farewell to Capt. G. A. Welsh, Battery Captain, prior to his transfer to the 14th (Midland) Field Battery, RCA, CASF, as Officer Commanding with the rank of Major.

McLean re-elected to Fair Board

B. L. McLean, president during 1938 and 1939 was again elected to head the Fair Board and in his address urged the society to continue its improvement to the grounds and buildings.

With a surplus of $1,126.95 and its bonded indebtedness completely wiped off, Lindsay Central Exhibition ended one of the most successful years in history, members of the association were told yesterday at the annual meeting.

Lockmaster dies

One of the best known lockmasters on the route of the Trent Canal in the person of Jacob C. Bates, died on Friday night following an attack of appendicitis. For the past five yaers he was lockmaster at Burleigh Falls and few residents of that neighbourhood or few navigators on the Kawartha Lakes are without his acquaintance. Previous to being appointed lock-master he was a resident of Burleigh but on the death by drowning of Charles Fuller of Burleigh, former lockmaster, he was appointed to the position.

The late Mr. Bates was 65 years of age and leaves a family of grown-up sons and daughters besides his sorrowing wife.

Military features in carnival

The Advancement Club has decided to hold their annual mid-winter attractions this year on February 18 and 19. The programme will be somewhat different from that given at the two carnivals held in past years. Advantage will be taken of the presence of the militia in Lindsay and a military programme will be presented each day. Major-General Hughes will be invited to attend and the committee has secured the Police Pipe Band of Toronto for the occasion. This band consists of twelve pipers and four drummers and the members are said to be over six feet in height.

Wife must consent

All married men not having turned in their wives' consent in writing into the orderly room at the barracks had to report today. No pay will be allowed until this is complied with.

Out late

Owing to the different attractions last night, Lieut-Col. Lee granted the soldiers pass until eleven o'clock.

TIMELY TIPS
by Macdonald Institute, Guelph

To enjoy the full flavor and goodness of Ontario apples, store them carefully. Always keep apples cool, either in plastic bags in the refrigerator or in a cool humid room, about 40 to 46 degrees F. Sort frequently as one bad apple will spoil the others.

* * *

Cooking beef at low temperatures produces moist, tender, flavourful meat and also prevents losses due to shrinkage. It has been found that 300 degrees F. is the most satisfactory oven temperature for most meat. However, fresh pork must always be cooked at 350 degrees F.

* * *

For breakfast, luncheon or supper snack, sprinkle generous amounts of grated Ontario cheddar cheese over hot french toast. Cheddar cheese gives a "perky" flavor to french toast and provides high quality protein so necessary for growth and good health.

* * *

Treat your family to lots of pep and energy every day by serving an appetizing and nourishing breakfast. It has been recommended that at least one serving of high quality protein food, such as milk, cheese, eggs or bacon every morning will keep your whole family alert and full of energy until lunch.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK
By Roberta Lee
Coffee Table

You can fashion an attractive coffee table from a picture frame. There are ready- made legs available in hardware and lumber houses, and a sheet of plate glass will fill the picture space in the frame. Or you could use a ceramic or plastic top of your own making in place of the glass, if you wish.

Crocheting

To prevent crochet work from raveling while it is laid aside, pull the last loop out far enough to pass the ball through. This fastens it securely, and it can be easily opened in the same way when you resume your work.

Sour Milk Recipe

Two tablespoons of lemon juice added to one cup of sweet milk sours it to the acidity desired for sour-milk recipes.

HOW CAN I ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remove scorch stains from a white shirt?

A. If the scorch it too deeply burned in, there is nothing you can do. If, however, the scorch is light, cut a piece of tissue paper large enough to cover the burned spot. The drop a little peroxide on the tissue and while still wet, place a heated iron over the tissue. Often, when the tissue is removed, the scorch will have disappeared.

Q. What is a quick and easy and economical way to wax a linoleum floor?

A. Try scrubbing it with very hot water into which a candle has been shaved. This is a good way to use up those old candle stubs. Be sure all these shavings are melted before you start.

Q. What is the covering area of a gallon of white wash?

A. Usually about 225 square feet of wood, 180 square feet of brick, and about 270 square feet of plaster.

Reports heard at Cambray W.I. meet

Cambray (PNS) — The Women's Institute held their January meeting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Alger with an attendance of eighteen members and two visitors. The meeting opened with the Institute Ode, Creed and the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Mens Softball to meet to-morrow

The Lindsay Men's Softball Annual meeting Wednesday night could be a turning point in local softball history. Possibility of lights for softball in Lindsay depends largely on decisions to be made tomorrow night.

The Lindsay Recreation Committee, presently considering the recommendation of a $12,000 expenditure for lights to be inserted in town budget, are taking a long hard look at local softball history. Some members of the recreation committee have expressed th opinion that men's softball should show more responsibility and some indication of financial security, with a definite programme and a responsible executive to carry it out.

The meeting Wednesday night will give supporters of softball an opportunity to form an executive outside of the team rosters and provide the quantity of help required to successfully operate a league. The meeting will be held at the Recreation Centre starting at 7:00 p.m.

Car crashes through guard rails at junction

Wayne Maurice Hayes, 19, of RR2 Omemee, was treated for possible head injuries and James McLean, 22 of Omemee suffered facial cuts and bruises when a vehicle, driven by Mr. Hayes went out of control and crashed through a number of guard-rails at the junction of Highways 36 and 7 at 12.15 a.m. Sunday.

Lindsay OPP said damage to the vehicle was extensive.

Constable Donald Reeds of the Lindsay detachment investigated.

A half-ton truck driven by Robert Sanderson of Peterborough sustained $250 damage when it crashed east of Omemee on Highway 7 at 7 p.m. Sunday. Lindsay OPP said the vehicle was proceeding west on the highway when it lost control on the snow-covered surface and crashed into the west ditch.

Lindsay OPP Constable Peter Hamilton investigated.

Hits hydro pole

Peter G. Houghton, 21, of 14 Mary Street East, was charged with failing to report an accident Sunday after the car he was driving crashed into a hydro pole and sustained $200 damage. Lindsay Police said Mr. Houghton was proceeding east on Kent Street East, making a right turn onto Mill Street when his car slid into the hydro pole.

Lindsay Police Constable William Bowes, who investigated, said the accident occurred about 4 p.m.

SPORTS CARS IN REVIEW

DEARBORN, Mich.-Vintage cars contrast with the newest at the "Sports Cars in Review" exhibit at Henry Ford Museum. The thirteenth annual show features 60 U.S. and foreign cars, including some making their first midwest or world premier showing. Visitors can trace much of the development and history of high performance and competition cars from 8 nations at the show such as this new GSM Delta from South Africa and the forty-year old French Hispano-Suiza, with its custom hand made wooden ribbed body and shiny brass trim. An outstanding movie on racing is shown several times daily in the Museum theater. The exhibition continues through Feb. 7, with hours from 11 a.m. until 11 p.m. daily. Henry Ford Museum is located fast 15 miles from downtown Detroit.

Fowlers Corners lead Omemee league with 3 wins

Fowlers Corners maintained their undefeated record in the Omemee and District hockey league last night when they won over Reaboro 7 - 2. In the opening game of the double header, Omemee bowed to Dunsford 9 - 4.

Next Monday night, Reaboro meets Dunsford in the opener while Omemee will be at home to Fowlers Corners in the 9.00 p.m. game.

Present standings show Fowlers Corners leading the loop with three wins, Dunsford has won two and Omemee one of the three games played by each team.

Police busy with accidents

Total damage of $170 resulted when a truck driven by Matthew A. McCrae, 29, of RR2 Bobcaygeon and a car driven by Kenneth Peter Grace of 156 William Street North collided while crossing the Wellington Street Bridge at 9 a.m. Monday. Lindsay Police said the left rear wheel of the truck and the left front wheel of the car rammed causing the two vehicles to come together.

Earlier Monday morning, at 3 a.m., a traffic signal at the corner of Kent and Albert Street was damaged when it was struck by the top of a load of lumber. Lindsay Police said a truck driven by Donald Robinson, 25, of 2 Ironwood Road, Weston was proceeding west on Kent Street West, making a right turn onto Albert Street North, when the top of a load of lumber he was hauling struck the signal on the north-east corner. Police said the truck was owned by Agroforests of Toronto.

A hit-and-run accident at 11 p.m. Sunday caused $200 damage to a vehicle driven by 18-year-old Brian Chisholm of RR6 Lindsay. Lindsay police said the Chisholm vehicle stopped on Lindsay Street South, facing north at the traffic signal when a vehicle made a left turn onto Lindsay Street and struck the left rear of the Chisholm vehicle.

Police said the second car involved was described as being an older model, light in colour.

Redvers King

Norland (PNS) — Sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family of the late Redvers King of Toronto who passed away Sunday January 13, 1965 at The Toronto General Hospital, in Toronto at 64 years of age.

The late Mr. King and family for over 30 years have spent the summer months vacationing at Norland having built a cottage and cabins on the outskirts of the village.

The deceased was the husband of Lillian Bowins. He leaves to mourn his passing his bereaved wife and family of six Clifford, Phillis (Mrs. Harold Greig) and Donald all of Toronto, and Dorothy (Mrs. T. Pasyuhl) of Dunbarton, Ruth (Mrs. H. Edwards) and Robert both of Whitby, also 11 grandchildren.

The late Mr. King was past master of L.O.L. 2159 Past County Master of Eastern district and Grand Treasurer of Grand Lodge of British America.

A very largely attended Funeral Service was held from the Ingram Funeral Home, Gerrard St. E., on Wednesday, Jan. 6th at 1:30 p.m.

Interment at Resthaven Memorial Gardens.

Pall bearers were Lloyd and Henry Bowins, Clifford King Jr., Gary Greig, Wilfred and Percy King.

Three charged for break-ins

Haliburton OPP have apprehended three people, one of them a juvenile, and charged them in connection with break-ins at a pool-room and a laundromat in Haliburton in December. Police said some cigarettes and money had been taken in the break-ins.

Charles Lazier, 26, of Minden and Douglas Lee, 16, of Minden were apprehended and charged after they were caught stealing gasoline from a truck in Haliburton Friday night. Haliburton OPP Constable Donald Lloyd, who investigated, said the pair were scheduled to appear in Minden Police Court Tuesday.

Special service in Glenarm church

Glenarm (PNS) — A very encouraging number attended the Christmas service and the final service of 1964 in which the service of "the Seven Lessons McLean" was joined in.

Rev. McDonald was in charge of the Service with Miss Joanne Nesbitt at the organ for the carols.

Left to mourn her passing are three daughters, Mrs. Gordon Keown of Dwight, Mrs. Norma Goldthorpe of Huntsville and Mrs. Alfred Allibon of North Bay; three sons Ivan of Huntsville, Anson of Toronto and Lloyd of Dwight; three sisters, Mrs. Jack Browridge of Toronto; Mrs. Gilbert Ding of New York City and Mrs.

Coboconk man sentenced to 14 days jail

William Hamilton, 50, of Coboconk was sentenced to 14 days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for one year when he was convicted in Lindsay Police Court Monday of driving while his ability was imparied by alcohol.

Coboconk OPP Constable Jean DesLaurier said he saw a vehicle answering the description of one he was told to be watching for, at the junction of Highways 35 and 46. He said when he started to follow the car, it accelerated, skidded and crashed into the south ditch. He said the driver showed signs of having been drinking.

A Fort Henry guardsman, arms reversed and head bowed, stands guard at the grave of Sir John A. Macdonald at a wreath-laying ceremony in Kingston on Jan. 11, 150th anniversary of the birthday of Canada's first Prime Minister. Participating in the ceremony were (left to right), Hon. George Mollewich, president of the Privy Council; Ontario Prime Minister John Robarts; Lieutenant-Governor W. Earl Rowe; and Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker.

Lucy Jane Bradley

The death of Lucy Jane Bradley occurred at Hunstville Memorial Hospital on December. 25, 1964, following an illness of three years. She was 79 years of age.

Mrs. Bradley lived at Dwight and was a daughter of the late Benjamin and Mary Hewitt of Minden. Born in 1885 the deceased was educated at Minden and first came to this district in 1912. She was married in 1906 to Samuel Taylor Bradley who predeceased her in 1950. She was a member of Dwight United Church and U.C.W.

Left to mourn her passing are three daughters, Mrs. Gordon Keown of Dwight, Mrs. Norma Goldthorpe of Huntsville and Mrs. Alfred Allibon of North Bay; three sons Ivan of Huntsville, Anson of Toronto and Lloyd of Dwight; three sisters, Mrs. Jack Browridge of Toronto; Mrs. Gilbert Ding of New York City and Mrs. Ben Harrison of Boskung and three brothers, Jack Hewitt of Seattle, Washington, Bill Moore and Allen Hewitt both of Minden. In addition there are 10 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

The funeral service was held in Dwight United Church and conducted by Rev. Duncan Fleming. Entombment followed in Hutcheson Memorial vault. Pallbearers were Jack Haldane, Wm. Sluman, Thomas Lowe, Glen Chrapman, Bert Kewon and Joseph Taplin.

Announce New Healing Substance: Shrinks Piles

Exclusive healing substance proves to shrink hemorrhoids and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most important of all—results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue.

Now Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores—money back guarantee.

RIVETS

By George Sixta

"Shooting Stars" are being developed by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company under a contract recently awarded by the National Aeronautic and Space Administration. NASA's Langley Research Centre at Hampton, Va., will use these artificial meteors or "shooting stars" to determine the size and mass of natural meteoroids. This unique project includes development of a shaped-charge gun which will be the final stage of a multi-stage rocket designed to re-enter the earth's atmosphere at meteor speeds. NASA will photograph the simulated meteors with the same cameras as used for natural meters from its Wallops Island, Va., launch site. Photographic and radar data will be compared with equivalent data obtained from natural meteors.

FINAL HOURS APPROACHING FOR WINSTON

London (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill appeared to be laboring through his final, critical hours today and the nation he exhorted and drove to victory in World War II was asked to pray for him as death approached.

A call to prayer was issued by Dr. Michael Ramsey, Arch bishop of Canterbury. Special prayers also were said for the gradually weakening, 90-year-old statesman by the boys at his old Harrow School.

Queen Elizabeth was kept up to the minute with developments, as was Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Churchill's faithful physician and friend of more than 20 years, Lord Moran, spent most of the night with the fading Prime Minister and told newsmen at 7.38 a.m. (2.38 a.m. EST) it had been a very restless one during which Sir Winston's condition "deteriorated."

Weather Outlook

Cloudy, clearing this evening, local freezing drizzle during the day becoming snow flurries and drifting snow during the afternoon. Little change in temperature. Winds west 15 becoming northwest 25 this afternoon.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

BLADDER INFECTION STUBBORN CONDITION

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I had an operation for external hemorrhoids about 3 weeks ago. The following night they had to go into my bladder with a tube and take my water.

Then two days after that I started to pass blood and sting like fire. It was hard for me to pass water.

The doctor took a urine sample and said I had an infection. They gave me sulfa for a week. After a while I stopped bleeding but it still hurts to pass water and I feel plugged up. He took another urine sample and said the germs were all gone and that I would be fine.

Well, I've had it over a month and still feel the same. He is a busy man and won't talk to me about it. Can you tell me what is can possibly be and what I should do about it? I can't get any answers at all from him. Don't you think he owes me an explanation?—Mrs. M.

ASK FOR CONSULTATION

Comment: I can tell you what to do about it with more directness than I can make the diagnosis. After all, I can only guess from way back here. And that guess is cystitis (inflammation of the urinary bladder).

Sometimes sulfa is used other times antibiotics (several combinations) depending upon the type of germ that has caused the bladder infection. Sometimes medicines are applied to the bladder wall itself.

If your trouble is cystitis, remember it can be stubborn. It resists treatment. Your doctor may be correct when he says you'll be fine. However, in your present state, I think you deserve the answers you seek.

If he won't explain, you have the right to ask for consultation-if only for peace of mind. Don't hesitate to ask. Too many frustrated patients are actually afraid to ask for consultation.

PEANUT BUTTER CAUSE CANCER?

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have read recently that peanut butter is thought to be a cancer-causing agent. Is this true? I've also heard it has been removed from the school lunch program.—Miss D.

Comment: I must be very carfeul in my reply. There is such a vast amount of medical literature, that it is quite possible to miss a new theory here and there. And then, Zowie! come the letters from my colleagues in the hallowed halls of the universities.

For example, in a column a few months ago I refused to get excited about some investigation being carried on about the dangers of eating cheese to those people who happened to be taking a certain kind of tranquilizer. I said that it might be true in some patients, but I did not believe that all cheese-fanciers should be deprived of the pleasure unless your own doctor specifically disapproved.

Sure enough, I received a letter from a professor in a Boston medical school who reproved me for overlooking the danger of cheese (and beer and wine) in high blood pressure patients taking tranquilizers.

TO THE POINT

Now, in a roundabout way, I come to your own specific question, Miss D. I presume you (or yours) love to eat peanut butter. At the risk of minimizing some report somewhere to the contrary, I would be the last to say, "Give up your peanut butter".

I have heard that broiling steaks and hamburgers and hot dogs over charcoal (and eating them) is conductive to cancer. I have even heard that some investigators suggest that milk be kept away from children because they "may" get coronary disease 50 years later.

Yes, I have heard many theories. But I refuse to go overboard until proof is unquestionable. Call me a maverick. But that's how I feel about it all.

I'll enjoy my charcoal-broiled steaks and peanut butter until my own family doctor tells me to quit. He'd better have good reasons.

Businesswomen relive sixty years of history highlights in club talk

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club at Lindsay relived the highlights of the past 60 years when Miss Anne Barwell of the Bell Telephone Company's Public Relations Department gave an illustrated talk on "The Changing Years."

Miss Barwell, with the assistance of slides and recordings, took her listeners back to the turn of the century when taffy pulls were a favourite form of entertainment, and to Rudolph Valentino who made the ladies swoon at the mere sight of him.

She described the days of the first automobile when the "crank" was man's best friend and ladies wore goggles and dusters to risk their lives along the dusty countryside speeding at eight miles an hour. And it was the era of another "crank" — one that was eliminated from the telephone in later years.

The audience was treated to pictures of milady's elegant modes in high button shoes and hustle back skirts, and telephone operators tending their switchboards in aprons. Slides depicting the appalling conditions of the early 1900's when 12-year-old boys worked as miners for 45c a day; the tragedy of the 30's, the first icebox, Al Jolson in the first "talkie" and Alexander Graham Bell at the opening of the transcontinental telephone line in 1915, were other highlights of the talk.

They also heard recordings of Enrico Caruso, the abdiction speech of Edward VIII, and the incomparable Winston Churchill delivering one of his famous speeches during the dark days of World War II.

"The Changing Years" was a running commentary which touched on the light and the serious, the quick-changing tempo of the first 60 years of the 20th Century.

This talk is being given by Miss Barwell to groups throughout Ontario as a public service at no charge.

HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press International)

Hollywood (UPI) — Television's "Mr. Novak" has a new boss, his old one having gone fishing.

Novak, played by handsome Jim Franciscus, works in a Video high school bossed by principal Albert Vane, portrayed by Dean Jagger.

Illness has forced Jagger out of the series. He went to the hospital for treatment, was released and was last heard of heading for Mexico, leaving behind his make-believe principal's job.

To make up for his absence, and to allow for an occasional return visit, the show's producers promoted Mr. Vane to superintendent of schools.

Then they started looking around for a new headmaster, finally settling on that fine actor Burgess Meredith. He came out here from the east, accepted the job and plans to have his wife and two children follow.

Sitting in his Sunset Blvd. apartment, Meredith talked about his new job as principal Martin Woodbridge of Television's Jefferson high.

"I think there are chances to involve yourself with subjects which aren't just 'get the villain' or the chase," he said.

The 54-year-old Meredith has the reputation of a first-rate performer. His career began in 1929 on the stage in New York and he made his movie debut in 1936 playing in "Winterset."

Meredith is acting in his first television series, although he did the narration for one some years back. He has been reluctant to take a regular series role, not caring to get involved in the long, tedious and often frustrating marathon work that goes into a new show.

"I've been fending them off," he said. "They all said five-year contracts and I kept thinking of myself finishing up as an old man being carried out on a stretcher.

"And I always shied away from the birth pains of a pilot film. I've had everything offered to me, like Ma and Pa Kettle, Jamie McPheeters and all of those things."

He took the role on NBC-TV's Novak because the series is established and the "invitation to join Novak came when I didn't have something in the immediate future."

He admits to having "snooped around" to find out what the working conditions were on Novak's set at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studio.

"I though it over a few days and snooped around a little bit," he said. "I found the atmosphere was very nice, no problems that I could see would come up. They've given me a pretty good break as far as my hours are concerned."

Meredith's first job will be to entertain fans loyal to the departed Jagger. Two Jagger fans are Burgess' children.

"They were sorry that Dean Jagger was leaving," Meredith said. "I'll have to win them over as well as everybody else."

Aces upset Twins 14-7 last night

Little Britain Aces served notice over the week end that the Aces are aiming for a play-off spot. Last night at Little Britain, the Aces upset Cannington-Sutton Twins 14 - 7 after battling Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats to a 6 - 6 tie with five minutes to go before bowing out 7 - 6 Saturday.

The Aces seem to have taken a liking to their new sheet of artificial ice. Saturday night the Aces matched the Ti-Cats goal for goal through the first period which ended tied 4 - 4. Bobcaygeon scored the only goal of the second period and added one in the third to lead 5 - 4. The Aces however battled back to tie the score with five minutes left but in vain.

The Aces, to gain the playoffs will have to overtake the Uxbridge Chicks presently five points ahead following their 6 - 3 win over Woodville last night. Uxbridge have four games to play and Little Britain three.

Parking fines

Robert Mason, of Brighton Ontario, was fined in absentia $3.00 and $2.00 costs on each of three charges of illegal parking at Lindsay Police Court Monday morning. The offences took place on October 23rd November 3rd and 7th in 1964.

Hearn Leasing Ltd. of 3180 Lakeshoe Blvd west, Toronto, were also fined $3.00 and $2.00 costs in absentia on each of three illegal parking infractions dated November 12th, 13th and 14th, 1964.

Archibald J. Barnes of RR2 Peterboro also was fined $3.00 and $2.00 costs for illegal parking on November 6th or three days in lieu of payment.

World news today

London (UPI) — The British Parliament has cancelled its 700th birthday party because of the illness of Sir Winston Churchill.

Parliament, which resumes today after its Christmas recess, was to have met briefly Wednesday morning before adjourning for a social gathering in the Royal Gallery to mark the anniversary of the first meeting of parliament as a representative body on January 20, 1965.

But a spokesman for Prime Minister Harold Wilson said the celebration had been cancelled because of Churchill's illness. The former Prime Minister spent 62 years in the House of Commons.

Penetanguishene, Ont. — A 21-year-old man sentenced to the Ontario Hospital here five years ago for the icepick murder of an 81-year-old Toronto woman, has been set free by an order-in-council.

Michael Brady was given his freedom by the order-in-council from Lieut- Governor Earl Rowe, hospital officials revealed yesterday.

However, Brady is staying at the hospital for a few more days on a voluntary basis.

An Assize Court jury in 1959 found him not guilty of murder, but insane when he stabbed Ida Dean 73 times with an icepick.

The psychiatrist who was treating Brady at the hospital brought his case up at a daily meeting of the staff, and an independent psychiatrist was called who examined Brady and agreed that he had recovered.

A request to release him was passed by all authorities and the release was ordered by the Lieutenant Governor.

Thorold, Ont. — A tip from a man arrested in a Huntsville, Ont., robbery led police yesterday of the recovery of $40,000 worth of Canada Savings Bonds stolen from the Thorold post office Dec. 7, 1962.

About $7,000 in bonds and six diamond rings stolen at the same time are still missing.

The bonds were addressed to the Thorold branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and the rings to a local jeweller.

Kingston, Ont. — A law professor said yesterday lawyers, magistrates or judges would be more suited to preside over inquests because of their training and experience in judicial processes.

Professor Stuart Ryan of Queen's University said doctors serving as coroners are not qualified to conduct inquests.

"The coroners are usually able to understand their office only at the direction of Crown Counsel assisting them at inquests", he said.

He suggested medical examiners should continue to decide if an inquest should be held, but they should be conducted by someone else if needed.

France — Seven person are feared dead following the collision of an American freighter and a French tanker at the mouth of the Le Havre, France harbor.

Two persons aboard the tanker died of burns and a search is underway to find five missing French crewmen presumed dead.

Poland — The European Communist World's Summit Conference gets under way today in the Polish capital of Warsaw.

The meeting is clouded in secrecy. Western diplomats say the Communists might map plans to reduce East-West tensions under the pressure of continuing hostility from Red China.

England — The pigskins will fly at Tiverton, England, today.

But football fans won't be interested. These pigskins will contain pigs.

The porkers will be flown to an International livestock show.

WOMAN'S VIEW

By Gay Pauley

New York (UPI) — The National Council of Oral Hygiene recommends that toothbrushes be replaced every three months to insure good dental health.

But there's no need to assign the old toothbrushes to the trash can. Toothbrush makers are bristling with ideas about new uses for old toothbrushes.

First, you sterilize that old brush in boiling water. Then you put it to work doing dozens of small jobs — from combing false eyelashes to cleaning typewriter keys.

One toothbrush maker (Dr. West) says the following tried and true ideas are from people who have written to the firm about new and imaginative uses of discards.

— Beauty tool. Use the brush to rub warm oil into the hair and scalp during hair treatments or for applying hair dye. Dip it in warm, soapy water or cuticle remover and you have real help with manicure or pedicure. Put it to work brushing eyebrows into place smoothly and when applying mascara.

— Jewellery cleaner. Costume and fine jewellery sparkle when scrubbed with a toothbrush dipped into a solution of rubbing alcohol and water. Laden with silver cleaner, it makes the job of scouring tarnish out of silver's carvings easy.

— Polisher. Many persons use old brushes to apply polish to shoes, belts and handbags. They also are excellent for cleaning and napping suede accessories.

— spot removing. Used with dry cleaning solution, a tooth brush is fine for spot cleaning woollens, upholstery fabrics and rugs. It's also excellent to use in soap and water washing of intricate porcelains and pottery vases, lamp bases and bric-a-brac.

— Refinishing furniture. Decorators advise that when redoing furniture, interesting antique effects can be achieved by dipping an old toothbrush into raw umber and rubbing the ball of the thumb lengthwise along the bristles above the newly-painted surface for natural-looking wormholes. Using the toothbrush to apply raw umber in streaks and blending the results with a soft, lintless cloth achieves an aged look, too.

— Scratch treatment. Old toothbrushes, when teamed with various formulas, take scratches and stains from furniture. A badly-scratched natural wood cabinet looks like new when mineral oil is applied and blended into the scratches with an old toothbrush. Mayonnaise applied to the white water marks on table tops and rubbed in with an old brush removes them. Repair mahogany by applying iodine with an old brush to its scratches. For ebony furniture, use black liquid shoe polish or shoe dye.

— In the bathroom, use the old brush to scrub stains and fingertip spots from gloves for cleaning gooky soapdishes, to scrub combs. Or, assign the brush to a new job: use as a children's nail brush.

— Plant cleaner. Dipped into warm water and used very gently, the old toothbrush can be used to keep the house plants clean. Regular plant washing in this manner is recommended by florists for it frees leaf pores of dust.

P.S. — One tipster told the firm that his old toothbrush became a relaxing back scratcher!

Rudness can be contagious anywhere, but in traffic it becomes highly dangerous. A pedestrian who ambles slowly and deliberately across an intersection when he could walk at a faster pace is inviting trouble. He could rile tempers and send motorists on to cause a disaster. A pedestrian who makes a motorist angry could well be guilty of killing. Think of that the next time you start to walk across a street where vehicles are moving or waiting to move. A pedestrian's RIGHTS could suddenly be his RITES. Play it safe.

NEWS FROM F.F.D.H.S.

by "The Post" Fenelon Falls Collegiate reporter Ron Beall

At a recent meeting of the Student Council, I was appointed to the post for Public Relations. The main point of this is to compile a weekly column for "The Post".

To make matters less complicated for myself, I have organized a group of other reporters to do all the writing. They are: Boys' Sports — Ron McInnis; Girls' Sports — Kay Weaver; Drama Club — Jim Goodman and Student Council reports will be written by myself. Other clubs such as the Library Club, School Spirit Committee, etc., will report activities of interest from time to time.

Our staff advisor is Mrs. Kennedy of the English Department.

So here goes for the first week. Comments invited.

BOYS' SPORTS
by Ron McInnis

The Kawartha District Basketball Schedule has been issued to F.F.D.H.S. with the first games to be played on Friday, January 22. These Junior and Senior games will be played from 6:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. with a record dance afterwards.

The Senior team has one win, one tie and one loss in their exhibition games and the Juniors have two wins and one loss.

We wish the teams lots of luck in their future games.

GIRLS' SPORTS
by Kay Weaver

Girls' sports activities this year have been confined, so far, to volleyball. This year the Junior and Senior teams were victorious in an exhibition game with Lindsay. The following week, October 31, the Senior team won the Kawartha Tournament for "B" school, making them District Champions. The Juniors, in their tournament placed second.

DRAMA CLUB
by Jim Goodman

This year the Drama Club is producing two plays. They are: "A Marriage Proposal" and "The Devil Daniel Webster". The latter is a comedy about a New Hampshire man who sells his soul to the devil and the court case which follows when the devil comes to collect his just dues.

"A Marriage Proposal", directed by Mr. Fitzgerald is a comedy about the trials of Russian courtship. The Variety plays are to be presented on Variety Night.

STUDENT COUNCIL
by Ron Beall

The two social convenors, Jim Merritt and Gail Pearce are not wasting any time in the new year. Already plans for the Valentine's Dance on February 12, are partially complete, and plans are going ahead on the Spring Prom. The Spring Prom is to be held on April 2; the name for this dance was to be decided at the next meeting of the student council which was on Monday, January 13.

The monthly tea dance has been postponed until January 29, due to the Basketball games and record hop on January 22.

The support for our Greek child (Foster Parents Plan) is still going strong. The second payment will be sent on February 2. Keep it up kids-only 4 cents each month from each student is needed.

"What ho! and what have we here?", exclaims General Wolfe. "Can it be the craggy shores of Quebec at last?" With a comment like that who can blame sailors Ken James (background) and Bruno Gerussi (foreground) for wondering just what they're in for, in a scene from the Canadian Players' forthcoming production, "All About Us". The hilarious skit, based on the Battle of the Plains of Abraham, features Hugh Webster as Wolfe and Eric House (left) as the Admiral. "All About Us" will be presented on stage Friday, February 5th in Lindsay at the Academy Theatre. The show is being sponsored by the Lindsay Rotary Club.

Merchants receive play-off schedule

Lindsay Merchants will be gunning for eight points in the league standings when they go to Aurora to-night and meet Newmarket here Friday as the Central Ontario Junior "C" schedule draws to a close. To balance the total points available to all nine teams in the league the "C" teams each play 24 games while the remaining teams play 26 games. The four point games this week gives the "C" teams the same number of possible points.

The Junior "C" play-offs start next Tuesday night in the form of a round-robin double schedule with each of the "C" teams visiting their two opponents twice. Following this series the two top teams, point wise, will play a best of seven series for the right to enter provincial play-downs. The following round-robin schedule was approved at a group meeting at Newmarket last Thursday night and has been issued by convenor Cliffe Phillips.

KIWANIS GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Proclamation

WHEARAS January 21, 1965 is the Golden Anniversary of the founding of Kiwanis International,

And, WHEREAS achievement of this milestone represents more than the completion of fifty calendar years, but is, in truth, the golden anniversary of community service,

And, WHEREAS the men of Kiwanis have contributed unselfishly to the good of this community, aided in their work by the citizens,

I, therefore, call upon the citizens to join me in honoring the Kiwanians of The Lindsay Club, as those Kiwanians have honored us in countless ways throughout the years, and I declare this to be Kiwanis Golden Anniversary Week in Lindsay, Ontario, urging each and every citizen to join me in wishing this organization of our fellow citizens a happy birthday and many more to come in the years that lie ahead.

Witness my hand and seal,

IN LINDSAY, KIWANIANS HAVE GIVEN 43 YEARS OF COMMUNITY SERVICE

Fifty-five hundred Kiwanis Clubs across the land will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the organization in 1965.

The Lindsay Kiwanis Club, founded on March 11, 1922, will observe the Golden Anniversary of Kiwanis International in several different ways during the current year.

Th Kiwanis motto "We Build" has been demonstrated in a number of ways by the Lindsay Club. Members of the local organization have exemplified the motto by building, with generous public support, structures of mortar and brick, as well as helping to build better homes.

From its inception, some 43 years ago, the local club showed special interest in the Ross Memorial Hospital and in 1929 presented the Board of Governors with a $5,000 ambulance which was in operation for many years. In the same year the club donated over $3,500 to the hospital.

Later on the Kiwanis Club spear-headed the drive for the erection of a maternity wing and donated $5,000 for this project. The club followed this with donations to the operating rooms and other departments and pledged $8,000 in the last drive for hospital funds to erect a new addition.

Members, as well as citizens in general, point with pride to the time and year, the club accepted the challenge to build a new hockey and skating arena. The old rink on Lindsay Street South had been levelled to the ground by fire and for five years Lindsay did not have a closed rink. The estimated cost of the new rink was $18,000 but when it was completed the figure was $20,000. The rink bulged at the seams with people when it was officially opened and several times, crowds of 1,500 people crammed the bleacher seats.

Later on the gallery in the south-end was removed and a bowling alley was installed.

For the second time the arena burned and the entire south-end with basement, was gutted.

A new and larger building was erected with two top-floors and recreation programme was launched with a recreational director in charge. Crafts and arts were taught by qualified teachers.

As time passed, the club decided to hand the entire arena and equipment over to the town. The debt at the time had been whittled down to $3,000 but the club auditor and appraiser figured the building and contents were worth $85,000.

The club recently installed a public-address system in the rink at a cost of $8,000 and also invested in a new sign for the front of the modernized structure. This winter the club is sponsoring the juvenile hockey team.

Building better bodies and better boys was exemplified by the club when it donated $800 to the Boys' Training School at Bowmanville and when it subscribed over $5,000 to the flood victims in the Red River district around Winnipeg.

The unusual work of fitting boys and girls with proper glasses, paying the tuition of underprivileged students at the Lindsay Business College, sending boys to camp, assisting Boy Scouts and operating the Kiwanis Music Festival was all part of the programme of "We Build".

In recent months the club pledged $3,000 to the Academy Theatre Foundation.

"PICADILLY CIRCUS"

In mention of the fact that Kiwanis Clubs across Canada, the United States, Hawaii and Jamaica are not allowed to sponsor or hold lotteries or games of chance, it has been pointed out by a local official that a "Picadilly Circus", a summer carnival and the drawing for a car back in the year 1929 raised the staggering amount of over $19,000, and that in the same year the club spent over $18,000 in all kinds of welfare work, including the donation of a $5,000 ambulance to the hospital and a further cheque for $3,500 in the same year.

The "Picadilly Circus" was held in the armoury for four winter nights. It was actually a trade fair with the exhibition of motor-cars, appliances and goods manufacured in Lindsay. Entertainment was provided and dances held. Door prizes were given away. The show included a hobby contest and a contest for bird-cages.

The two-night summer carnival on the park was a big money-maker.

For a few 25-cents pieces, patrons could spin the wheel for a Horn Bros. blanket, kitchenware or groceries. Bingo games were well patronized.

These days have disappeared from the Kiwanis programme and today the club has largely to depend on theatrical productions, the sale of pencils and pens or gas-oramas for funds with which to carry on welfare work.

Following is a list of past-presidents of Lindsay Kiwanis Club: 1922, T. H. Stinson; 1923, T. H. Stinson; 1924, B. L. McLean; 1925, R. W. Groves; 1926, A. T. Claxton; 1927, Dr. J. A. White; 1928, A. Nurse injured as car leaves Minden highway

A late-model car driven by Mrs. Rosely Harrison, 23, of RR2 Minden, sustained $1200 damage when it went out of control on the South Kosnog Lake Road and crashed into three trees at 3:10 p.m Sunday Minden OPP said Mrs. Harrison, a nurse at the Minden Red Cross Hospital who was on her way to work when the mishap occurred, was admitted to Minden hospital with a broken arm and cuts to the head. Police said she was treated by Dr. F. E. A. Griffiths and was released.

Police said the road she had been travelling on had not been ploughed and the vehicle skidded.

Three rinks settled their differences at the Peel street rink Tuesday when they played for the honor of representing Lindsay in the District Cup competition in connection with the O.C.A. Governor General's trophy. Skips Ken Bailey and John McCrae will represent Lindsay at the next round to be played at the Peterboro Golf and Country Club rink on January 20th. Skip Jim Mackey's rink also completed but happened to be eliminated in a "squeeker" with John McCrea's quartet. By arrangement 12 ends were played and the two rinks were tied in the last end. Mackey was lying rock shots the only counter in the rings, when McCrae measured up to to the task and carried the Mackey rock to the hack, the McCrea stone remaining to win the end and the game. Bailey had previously defeated the Mackey rink in a well curled game. The rinks: J. McCrea (skip), Jim Brown, J. Jamieson, Ron Gatward: Ken Bailey (skip), Murray Wood, Jim Waddell, Frank Weldon; Jim Mackey (skip), Murray Davis, Dr. Wood and I. Pepper.

Two new names arose to the top in the annual Patron-President event this season. Rinks skipped by Tom Tozios and Vern Hunt will be awarded the Patron's prizes by Col. R. I. Moore and the President's prizes by Don Ferguson. Competition was keen in every game. Tozios eliminated Gordon Cook the semi-finals and Hurit defeated Lloyd Eberts.

The battle for supremacy in the consolation event proved to be equally exciting. Skips Jack Beal and Stan Pitts emerged as victors.

Lindsay was represented at the Uxbridge bonspiel by a rink skipped by T. Tozios, which managed to win three games but lost out on the point count.

A mixed bonspiel at Owen Sound was attended by John and Eleanor McCrae James and Jan. Brown, who were successful in landing in among the prize winners.

Mrs. Kay Cook's rink emerged as the winner in the playdowns of the first schedule of the lady curlers, the competition being very close.

The Ladies Club has another the local bonspiel for rinks made up of skips and vice-skips as well as a 'spiel for seconds and leads. In this event curlers of all ranks have the opportunity of playing in higher positions.

Skip Evelyn Hickson is being congratulated on winning top honours at the annual Lakefield bonspiel and bringing home the cup and individual prizes. The rink: Evelyn Hickson (skip), Peggy Woodrow, Ethel Rodman and Ruth Langdon.

A local rink skipped by Gladys Jordan did well at Cannington. This rink finished in the money. Glad Jordan (skip) Marg Walker, M. Wetmore and Jean Ferguson.

$1,150 damage in two-car crash

Total damage of $1,150 resulted when two cars collided at the intersection of Queen and Church Streets in Woodville at 7:50 p.m. Saturday. Lindsay OPP said a car driven by Gordon Webster of Uxbridge sustained $1,000 damage and a vehicle driven by Jack Yule, 21, of RR2, Woodville sustained $150.

A passenger in the Yule car Shirley Dowell of Woodville, was treated and released from Lindsay hospital for minor injuries police said.

Lindsay OPP Constable Donald Reeds investigated.

Warden's Address Forecasts County Assessments, Health Unit, New Jail

Guy Mills who recently retired as assistant postmaster in Lindsay is congratulated by postmaster Tom Tyrer on his many years of service. A party in his honour was held at the Lindsay Armoury recently. —"Post" staff photo.

The debenture debt of the County of Victoria will be reduced during the year by the maturing of $184,300 in debentures, 1965 Warden Robert Cammack, reeve of Laxton, Digby and Longford Townships, said in his Warden's address. Warden Cammack added, "As far as can be seen at the present time, there will not be any new debentures issued this year".

Reeve Cammack was elected Warden of Victoria County on the first ballot, receiving 14 votes. Reeve George Finney of Lindsay received seven and Reeve Morrison of Mariposa, six votes. Victoria County Warden for 1964 was Max Kennedy of Verulam Township.

The new warden said there were many things to be discussed this session and indicated the most outstanding would be the erection of an area jail, the establishing of a County Assessment Commissioners system of assessment and the establishment, in cooperation with other municipalities of a County Health Unit.

When accepting the office Warden Cammack assured the council that his first interest during the year would be for the benefit of the county at all times. "I realize that this is a great responsibility that I have undertaken", he said.

Immediate past warden Maxwell Kennedy was elected chairman for proceedings which followed and called on several former wardens of Victoria County and County officials for their comments.

Included in the ten or more persons who spoke were John Alton, Charles Hodgson, Claude Bottum, E. J. Murphy, Raymond Gostlin, Vincent Fee, Clifford Benson, Grant Benson, Wilbert Worsley, Hilliard Murphy and Monty Robson. All speakers congratulated the warden and members of council on their election and wished the best for the council in 1965.

1961 warden, Charles Hodgson noted that Robert Cammack is the fourth warden to be elected representing Laxton, Digby and Longford. He said there were many new faces on council since 1961, and added he was glad an area jail was being considered, describing the present county lock-up as an eyesore, with its huge brick walls.

The 1961 warden also stressed a problem that might well deserve the careful consideration of council, when he stated that a big present day problem is lack of water. "We need water control" he stated, noting that many farmers are yearly required to draw water. "Many dams have deteriorated or have been burned out and never replaced with the result that Victoria County water levels are becoming too low. He suggested a possible solution by re-routing water from the Georgian Bay watershed.

Clifford Benson, during remarks, asked if it was reasonable to have so many representatives on county council. "I am not persuaded we need so many" he said:. "I think it is time for a re-valuation of county and municipal government.

Wilbert Worsley sounded a note for stringent economy re-

Ontario Will Introduce Medicare Plan Shortly

Toronto (UPI) — The Ontario Government announced today it will introduce a medicare plan within the next few months and also declare its position on the Canada pension plan.

Those were two highlights in the speech from the throne — a synopsis of the government's legislative plans — read by Lt. Gov. W. Earl Rowe, to open the third session of the 27th provincial legislature.

Noticeably missing was any reference to changing Ontario's strict Sunday liquor laws. Premier John Robarts had been reported planning to permit Sunday sale of liquor in dining rooms. Several church groups took the report so seriously they formally protested against it last month.

Three contested Warden election

The Inaugural meeting of the Victoria County Council was held in the Victoria County Council Chambers Tuesday afternoon. Clerk-treasurer Frank Weldon outlined procedures for election of a warden and read the certificates of election of the 25 county members as certified by their municipal clerks. He explained that while 25 members had a vote, the two members representing Lindsay each had two votes giving council a total of 27 votes. He said balloting would continue until one of the candidates received at least 14 votes.

Reeves Robert Cammock of Laxton, Digby and Longford, Roy Marrison of Mariposa and George Finney of Lindsay contested the election. When the county clerk completed polling the members on the first ballot, reeve Robert Cammack received the necssary 14 votes and was declared Victoria County Warden for 1965. Of the remaining 13 votes, seven went to George Finney and six votes for Roy Morrison.

Col. R. I. Moore administered the oath of office which Warden Cammack read and signed. Rev. David Lemon read the scripture and lead in prayer to open the 1965 sessions.

County committee chairman appointed

A special county council committee to appoint standing committees was appointed consisting of Warden Robert Cammack, Edward Lowes (chairman) Arthur Smitheram, H. J. Murphy, E. J. Murphy and Roy Morrison. The special committee reported that council will meet at a committee of the whole under the appropriate chairmen in 1965. The following committee chairmen were then appointed. Finance and Assessment, Reeve H. J. Murphy; Roads and Bridges, reeve Edward Lowes; County Property, reeve Edward J. Murphy; Education, reeve Arthur Smitheram; Printing, reeve Everett Cameron; Appointments to office, reeve Roy Morrison.

Charles Lamb, M.P., hospitalized

Charles Lamb, M.P., for Victoria-Haliburton is at present in hospital in Toronto undergoing surgery. It is reported that he is progressing favourably. Mr. Lamb has been in hospital for about a week and it is expected he will be there for a few more days.

Weather Outlook

Snow this morning, generally light but locally heavy near Lake Ontario. Cloudy this afternoon, clearing gradually and turning colder tonight. Thursday, sunny with a few cloudy periods and seasonable temperatures. Winds southwest 20, becoming northwest 15 this afternoon. Light to night and Thursday. High today and low tonight 25 and 10.

Warden Robert Cammack of Laxton, Digby and Longford townships sits in the Warden's chair following the gowning ceremony and swearing of the oaths of office. He is the fourth Warden from the northern townships of Laxton, Digby and Longford. "Post" staff photo.

For a Centennial Wing

If the old home town wants a project for the centennial celebration of Canada as a self-governing country, the local people might think about Dr. William Douglas. And his contribution to the area in which he was born.

Dr. Douglas started to practise medicine when he was 21 years old, on July 1, 1867, his birthday. History is a little obscure as to how he became a medical doctor, but it may be assumed that he had been an apprentice to an older practitioner. Dr. Douglas in the early days went about his rounds on horseback, carrying the then known tools of his profession. Probably these were only a stethoscope and a forceps in a saddle bag.

Although he lived well into the era of the motor car, he was wont to expound on the superiority of the horse. Only one thing could be better than a horse and that would be a pair of horses pulling a smart buggy or cutter. Horses in snow could break trail better than an automobile.

Even by today's standards he undoubtedly was a good doctor. There was no hospital in the community and many an operation was performed on the kitchen table in the home of the patient. Any doctor of today is likely to express admiration of the old timers who, with limited facilities and a knowledge gained outside a medical school, often seemed to work miracles.

Dr. Douglas became a wealthy man, but not by charging or collecting from his patients. A good part of the village was the Douglas farm which gradually was cut up into lots and sold piecemeal. He also was a shareholder in the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in the early days. In that small community he did not and probably could not spend his income.

Not very often was a patient confronted with a bill. He liked everybody and didn't believe in charging his friends anything. He was medical officer of health for a fee of $25 per year and that seemed to include the care of everybody, old and young, men and women. A few independent souls insisted on paying the doctor. A man who was on a first-name basis with him visited his office one evening and said that he would not go until he had a bill. It seems that in twenty years the family of six had been taken care of. Dr. Douglas thumbed over an old scribbler in which he had made some notes and finally gave up in despair. He said, "Well, Billy, give me $6 and I will give you a receipt in full."

The local hospital which was built from his estate is in need of an enlargement (what hospital isn't?). The community has grown. More people go to hospital in these times and for more things. Nowadays people are likely to recover from illness in hospital. Not many generations ago, anyone who went to a hospital were deemed to have reached the end.

If the community really wishes to do something outstanding in the way of a centennial, it could do no better than to enlarge and rededicate the hospital for the care of ills and the ease of suffering.

Food Myths are Exposed

Fish and celery are not brain foods. Beets do not build blood, and yogurt will not keep one young. So states an article in the January Reader's Digest which also explodes these and many other long-accepted theories about the food we eat.

The writer, Frederick J. Stare, a professor of nutrition, says he has been asked a thousand such questions by readers of his syndicated column. And there is little difference between queries from people of modest schooling and those from college graduates. Indeed," says Stare, "I am beginning to think the better educated a man is, the greater his skill in summoning up pseudo-science to support the latest food fad."

In a few instances, the seemingly uncanny powers of certain foods have been scientifically explained. We now know, for example, that limes or lemons cured scurvy because of their vitamin C content. Rice polishings prevented beriberi by reason of the vitamin B1, or thiamine, they provided. An ancient treatment for goiter was dried or burned sponge, a rich source of iodine.

However, according to the article, a half-truth or a distorted scientific fact sometimes will give rise to a food myth. For instance, many believe that rare steak will make you strong. Certainly it is rich in good-quality protein. But so are fish, eggs, milk — and overcooked steak.

Contrary to popular myth, there is no reason to increase your consumption of vitamins as you grow older. They serve primarily to help metabolize food and thus to produce energy and build and repair body tissues. Since total food intake diminishes (or should diminish) with the years, the elderly in general have less need for vitamins than younger folk. At any age, whether or not a given individual needs extra vitamins is a decision for his doctor to make.

In matters of nutrition, however, all too many prefer to take their counsel from TV commercials, an oracular voice on the radio or a newspaper report on the latest diet or fad. At best most of these fads are worthless.

Woman at EXPO

You will discover the world at Expo 67. You will learn. You will have fun.

The world will be at your doorstep. The Orient, lands of today and tomorrow; Israel, with her doors open to the future; the Americans, living in the heart of today. Each of these, together with the elegance of modern Europe, will be there with their costumes, customs, their dreams and their realities will be at Expo.

The theme pavilions will give visitors the history of Man. Within Expo's overall theme o Man and his World will be: Man the Creator, Man the Explorer, Man the producer and Man in the City.

Within the Man the Explorer them, the sub-theme Man and the Oceans, will present a shell-shaped pavilion situated in a specially built lake at one end of St. Helen's Island.

Inside the pavilion a variety of themes will illustrate the importance of the ocean to man as a source of food energy, and minerals. These resources are in the forefront of modern research. They will be in the spotlight at Expo 67.

For fun there will be concerts, spectacles, sports events, diversions of all kinds all day and into the small hours of the night.

For gourmets, there will be fine foods served in fine restaurants in all price-classes from all corners of the world.

Service, junior grade

Demand for services does not seem at the moment to be diminishing: employment in service industries, where people work for pay, is on the increase according to labor statistics, and it is suspected that there are always jobs left unfilled in those areas where people work for love.

Strangely, in spite of the great community efforts of the men's service clubs, in the youth field girls are far more apt than boys to be engaged in good works. Why should service at that age seem all too often to be a feminine prerogative?

In a hospital in a small city young volunteers (female), dressed in pink and white and known as candy-stripers, are developing a sense of community responsibility and making a contribution of time and effort. There is no comparable boys' group, although in that hospital the snack bar, for instance, depends on volunteer help and there is no reason why boys could not take their turn in its staffing.

Some months back it was reported that boys in one neighbourhood had become a "troublesome element." There was a meeting with municipal authorities at which the boys were invited to voice their complaints. And their complaints were distilled into the age-old cry of youth: "There's nothing for us to do."

It is not likely that the solution will be to build million-dollar recreation centres on all the corners where the pool halls used to be, although this is not to imply that such centres are not beneficial. There is nothing wrong in recreation, of which everyone needs a certain amount.

A long time ago, however, civilized societies discovered that there is greater merit in doing things for others. Humanity will be the loser if the world ever reaches that point of over-organization where everything is paid for and where even the charitable impulse is satisfied by making a cash donation. There should be left a place for service.

The boys should have a part in it. They don't need to wait until they are old enough to be Rotarians or to join the Kiwanis Club.

War raises county taxes

As its contribution towards the successful prosecution of the present war, Victoria County Council yesterday voted the addition of one mill to the present tax rate. The sum of money raised in this manner for patriotic purposes will be roughly $19,000.

In making the motion to levy the one mill, Reeve Charles Logan of Verulam said:

"Let's not compromise. Let the rest of the country know that Victoria County is solidly behind the prosecution of this war. The boys who enlisted didn't compromise."

Want OPP at Coboconk

County Council concurred in a resolution sponsored by two Reeves from the northern part of the county that the Attorney-General's Department be petitioned to have one of the two provincial Constables now stationed at Lindsay, stationed at Coboconk.

"There are many accidents which occur in the north country, which are never even reported," Reeve Percy Corson of Bexley stated.

Finn battalion wiped out—Reds claim

The Leningrad military headquarters of the Russian Army reported early today a Finnish battalion was "annihilated" at Kitela, on the northern shores of Lake Ladoga.

CANDLE-LIGHT SHRIMP WITH CHEESE MOLD

Place a coloured candle atop a colorful molded cheese and shrimp spread, surround with appropriate crackers and you have a delightful and certainly different welcome dish. Enough for 100 or more crackers.

3 cans (4½ ounces each) shrimp, ½ pound mild cheddar cheese, ¼ pound Roquefort or Blue cheese, 1 8-ounce package Philadelphia cream cheese, 1 garlic clove, chopped fine, 1½ teaspoon Worcestershire, 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish, ¼ teaspoon cayenne, ⅓ cup minced fresh parsley.

Drain, rinse shrimp. Reserve 18 shrimp for garnish; chop the remainder. Combine chopped shrimp with cheese and all remaining ingredients except parsley. Blend thoroughly. Press mixture firmly into 1-quart mixing bowl; chill in refrigerator overnight or longer. When ready to serve, unmold it on base of cake stand of other suitable footed dish and press minced parsley over the surface. Garnish with whole shrimp, using toothpicks to hold them in place. Cut a 1½-2-inch circle of aluminum foil and fit it on top. Place the candle on foil and mold until it stands securely. Flatten foil edges to protect against dripping. Garnish candle base with lemon leaves or other decoration. Fill area at base with assorted crackers.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

Bridge Table

Has the top of your bridge table become worn and shabby looking? A simple renovation job can be done with a piece of leftover floor linoleum. Cut it to fit the top of your table, right to the edges, then secure the linoleum with linoleum cement. You will then have given your table renewed life, an unusual appearance, and an easy-to-clean surface.

Tenderized Chicken

To tenderize chicken and other fowl, rub the inside and outside with lemon juice after cleaning and before dressing. A teaspoonful of lemon juice or vinegar added to the water before boiling also helps to tenderize the meat.

NO STICK!

Glass decanter stoppers will never stick if you rub a little soap over the glass that goes into the neck of the decanter.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

Q. How can I, when mixing plaster-of-paris, prevent it from hardening too quickly while I am working with it?

A. If you'll use glycerin or vingear as your mixing agent, instead of water, your plaster-of-paris will delay its hardening for 20 to 30 minutes. Use more or less of the liquid, according to the time schedule you're contemplating.

Q. What can I do when a bottle cap does not seal tightly because the cork or paper insert has been lost?

A. Wrap a piece of string about the neck of the bottle at the bottom of the screw threads. The cap will then seat on the string to form a good seal.

Q. How can I encourage more smoothness and glossiness when ironing starched pieces?

A. By stirring the starch three or four times while boiling with a paraffin candle.

SIR WINSTON FIGHTS ON

London (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill fought death today with the same bulldog will that brought him victory in many a battle in his long and brilliant life.

But his stubborn effort to survive the stroke he suffered six days ago seemed in vain, for none expected him to recover.

A medical bulletin issued shortly before noon (7 a.m. Est) by Lord Moran, his physician, indicated the 90-year-old statesman still was comatose.

"There is little to record," the announcement said. "The restlessness has gone and Sir Winston has slept peacefully through the night and morning. There will be another bulletin this evening."

His struggle started the admiration of the British public and astonished doctors, but Britons and the world were braced for the inevitable end.

While reporters and a few curious onlookers huddled in the soft snow and biting wind that hit London today, members of Sir Winston's family came and went on visits of farewell.

UNION CREEK COLLISION

Two cars sideswiped, causing a total of $350 damages on a snow packed, icy surface on Highway 121 near Union Creek Tuesday at 1:20 p.m.

A car driven by Emil Hirsch and a car driven by William Edward Lyles of Kinmount were involved. OPP constable Allan Brooks of Minden detachment investigated.

Association of Churches on local level planned

On Sunday evening a meeting was held to discuss ways and means of forming an Association of Churches at the local level. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the Queen Street United Church with Rev. David Lemon as chairman.

The meeting opened with a litany and the Lord's Prayer. Lively discussion followed in order to discover common grounds of understanding to adopt a constitution under which the organization could work. Members present included the pastor and two laymen from each of the following churches: St. Paul's Anglican Church, Cambridge Street Baptist Church, William Street Baptist Church, St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, the Dutch Reformed Church, Queen Street United Church and Cambridge Street United Church.

After luncheon served by the Queen Street Young People, the meeting was adjourned, until all present had the opportunity of studying the proposed constitution which would then be destributed.

Benediction was offered by Rev. O. Locke.

Meters legal court rules

Toronto (UPI) — Parking meters are legal according to the Ontario Supreme Court.

R. Alan Harris, a city lawyer who challenged the validity of the meters in Supreme Court yesterday, lost his case. He may carry his battle to the Court of Appeal.

Harris contended meters can become frozen or their springs can become unwound and show such a violation when one has not occurred.

Mr. Justice P. E. F. F. Smily ruled three was sufficient evidence to convict Harris' client, Ross Kimmis, who received a $2 ticket last June.

The Judge also found the Federal Weights and Measures Act was not intended to set standards for parking meters, as argued by Harris.

Joint services for Week of Prayer

The annual Week of Prayer services in Lindsay culminated in a great united service of witness and worship in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening.

Dr. Willyiam Fennell, of Emmanuel College, Toronto in addressing the large assembly spoke greatly in favour of the Ecumenical movement that is currently spreading throughout many areas of the world. His theme was taken from St. Paul's letter to the Ephesians chanter 2 in which the great apostle urged his followers at Ephesus to break down the barriers that separated them.

Dr. Fennel was introduced by Rev. David Lemon, rector of St. Paul's Anglican Church and President of the Ministerial Association in Lindsay.

Rev. O. Locke, pastor of the host church presided. The massed choir under the direction of William Perry were heard in two delightful anthems and the Salvation Army Band conducted by Capt. Bowes provided lovely harmonious numbers.

FIRE CALL

Lindsay firemen answered an alarm from the residence of Cecil Thomas of 218 Princess Elizabeth Crescent at 9:45 a.m. today and found a spacecheater over-heated. Lindsay Fire Chief Arnold Watson said no damage resulted from the flooded stove.

minding council members that the debenture debt of Victoria County was 36 times greater now than in 1950 when he was warden.

Reeve Hilliard Murphy, a member of county council for 25 years, told the assembly that he considered sixty-three-surer Frank Weldon a tower of strength to council. "We are very fortunate to have a man of his outstanding ability in our office" said the 1946 warden.

HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, (UPI) — Robert Stack, who has been shooting at gangsters on television for years, finally hit something in real life — a lion.

Fortunately for him he didn't miss. Lion's fight back when shot. Actors don't.

Stack's Lion hunt took place in "The deepest heart of Africa," as they say in old movies.

The hunt took place last year, and now that Stack is back "in the deepest heart" of Hollywood, film of his gunning down a big cat will be on ABC-TV's Jan. 31 show, "The American Sportsman."

Stack is familiar with weapons on two counts. Professionally, he was a crack shot on the "Untouchables," personally he's an award winning skeet shooter.

"The stuff we shot were rogue animals who would have been shot anyway," Stack said. "We had the head game warden in Kenya with us.

"Joe's elephant had only one trunk and had been killing the cattle and scaring natives away from the water hole. The lion I shot had killed six of the cattle."

Bob said the film is realistic, not a cut and dried travelogue with a narrator pointing out items of interest. The only thing Bob wanted pointed out was the lion.

Besides Foss, Stack was accompanied by a hunter, tracker and cameraman.

The latter's hand-held camera gives viewers "the feeling you're there," said Stack.

"It's not an immediacy to it," he continued. "It's not so much how good the film is or how dangerous the Lion is."

Bob spent four weeks on the trip, an adventure he hopes to repeat some day.

"It was the greatest country I ever went to," he said. "I can't wait to get back. That sounds heroic. It's not. You get out on those plains which are still like God made 'em. You come back standing a foot higher, and it isn't the killing either. If you never killed anything. It wouldn't make any difference."

Although he shot the Lion, Stack said he had help from resident hunters who pointed out the game.

With Candour uncommon for a star, Bob said, "This is the story of an actor not knowing what he's doing much of the time."

You couldn't prove that remark after seeing the dead lion.

Slides shown at Kiwanis anniversary

Members of the Lindsay Kiwanis Club watched film slides depicting the progress of the club since its inception in 1915, and the aims of the club for future years. The film slides were shown at a special luncheon of the Kiwanis Club to mark its Golden Anniversary. The commentator and projectionist was Kiwanian Bill Capell.

Club members also listened attentively to a recorded address by the National President of Kiwanis International.

NOT PICKETS-

Casper, Wyo. (UPI) — Casper Attorney Ray Whittaker denied that men carrying signs in front of a Rawlins, Wyo., construction site yesterday were picketing.

They were "informational placard bearers and not pickets," said Whittaker. The signs accused the construction firm of refusing to hire qualified men from Wyoming.

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York (UPI) — Drivers in the 15 to 24 age bracket need to heed the preachments about safety on the road.

Motor vehicle accidents take a greater number of lives in that age group than at any other decade of life — and the toll is expected to reach new high levels as the population of adolescents and young adults in the United tates continues to expand.

The auto crashes account for nearly two-fifths of the mortality among those 15 to 24, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. notes in its current statistical bulletin.

In 1963, for example, auto accidents accounted for about 11,200 deaths of the 15 to 24 year olds.

That is equivalent to a rate of 40.4 per 100,000. For males alone, the rate is about 60 deaths per 100,000 population in that age group.

Increases in motor vehicle deaths are expected to occur in the entire range of ages from 15 to 24, but because of fluctuations in the annual number of births during and after World War II, statistical projections, the number fatally injured at ages 15 to 19 will rise from about 5,500 to 6,700 — or a little over one-fifth in seven years.

At ages 20 to 24, the increase in deaths is expected to be from 5,700 to 7,750, or more than a third.

The sharper uptrend among young adults reflects mainly the fact that population at ages 20 to 24 is expected to increase by 4.5 million between 1963 and 1970, compared with a rise of 3.4 million at 15 to 19 years, the statisticians reported.

"These projections may prove to be too conservative," it was noted in the bulletin "with population increase — such as the increase in the proportion of young people being licensed to drive."

With more than 3.5 million boys and girls a year reaching age 18 by 1970, the outlook is for a sharp increase on the highways and byways of inexperienced and immature drivers, a number of them improperly trained.

"There is an urgent need," Metropolitan Life said, "For a long-range, comprehensive program to improve safety education and driver training.

"Such a programme should emphasize correct driving attitudes, retraining and refresher courses, and techniques for coping with emergencies or special conditions on the highway."

Church hostess to Euchre party

Kinmount (PNS) — The Guild of St. James Anglican Church were hostess to a Euchre Party in the township Hall with a good attendance. When the score cards were collected and the score checked, the prizes were awarded to womens' high Mrs. Archie Bowman with 64 points. Men's high to Moss Schell with 73 points and consolations awards to Mrs. Moss Schell with 51 points, Gerry Byrne with 34 points. Mrs. William Stata donate the prizes and was hostess for the evening.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

AGE DOESN'T MELLOW ALL FOR MARRIAGE

Oldsters sometimes get quite a shock when they tell me—and find that I disagree—that teens and young college co-eds are too young to make sensible decisions about marriage. Somehow they resent it when I say that "gray hairs are no guarantee of wisdom".

I suppose they detect that I mean sometimes marriage-foolishness is not the prime possession of the young. Age is no guarantee of maturity. For example, consider this letter:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have become very nervous. I'm sure I need tranquilizers. My problem gives me great concern. I am a widow, middle-aged, and have been keeping company for the past six months with a gentleman in his early 60's.

At first, shall I say, he seemed mad over me. He even went so far as to insist on an early marriage, blood tests were taken, a license procured.

Then I began to hear rumours from friends that he had a mental quirk of some kind. That he had gone with many nice and refined women devoted to them at first, but always ended up with being disagreeable and mean. They were forced to give him up.

DROPS MARRIAGE TALK

Now I too seem to have fallen into that category. The only difference is that I fell in love with him too hard. He doesn't talk marriage anymore, but he still wants to date me. But he is cold and fault-finding. He has a temper and seems to be a loner sitting much of the time without talking.

I happen to know his former wife, to whom he was married for 18 years before they were divorced. She thinks he is mentally disturbed and needs treatment. He can be affable one minute and the next almost violent. His mind changes from day to day.

The week before we were going to be married, we decided to trade in his old car plus a $2,100 check which I gave for a new one. We had a lovely car for a planned long trip. Right after that he decided he wanted his old one back. I discussed it with the salesman who returned his car but only gave me $1,00 check, so I am out $1,000.

I'd like your opinion of this man. Is he mentally disturbed or just mean? My young daughter says he's both. But she's only a youngster and doesn't understand life-Mrs. X.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My daughter is 13. She twists her body and her hands, then kicks her leg out straight or pulls on her foot. She says she must twist or jerk to relieve the feeling.

This has been going on and off for eight years. At times she feels better. She's extremely bright and seems healthy enough. For that reason we haven't had her to a doctor. This constant twitching is extremely nerve-wracking. I can't understand it and can't cope with it. Shall we see a doctor?-Mrs. F.

Comment: Nerve-wracking to you? Imagine how your daughter feels. It's certainly about time to let her have the benefit of a medical inventory.

Don't just lay it at the door of persnickety feelings and let it go at that. She may have St. Vitus dance or one of a half-dozen other cantankerous problems.

Pick up the phone now and give her the break she deserves after all these years of suffering.

Glenarm

Miss May Millier and sister, Mrs. Ernie Fountain of Fenelon Falls were recent visitors at the home of the latter's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. James Hartle and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Webster and boys visited at the homes of sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hetherington and brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Webster all of Fenelon Falls.

Miss Lena Elford and brother Charlie Elford were entertained as dinner guests at the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hartle and which just happened to be Miss Elford's birthday on that date which made it a happy occasion. Miss Olive Geach of Lindsay was a recent visitor at the Elford home.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nicholson, Jack and Miss Catherine motored to Scarboro where they were guests of son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Nicholson and family of Scarboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McInnis were hosts and hostess for a family dinner for the McInnis family and at which time, Mrs. McInnis' sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Duscombe and two children of Barrie were overnight guests and also included at the dinner party was friend, Mrs. Stuart Morrison of Lindsay.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. Angus Thornbury on the very sudden passing of her mother (the late Mrs. John Smith) who passed away at the Ross Memorial Hospital while visiting her husband (who is a patient at the hospital). Mrs. Smith was well known in the community from visiting at her daughter's home before taking up residence in Cambray.

Mr. and Mrs. Eustace Mattinson of Toronto spent a short time at their home at Glenarm during the past week and friends are glad to hear that Mrs. Mattinson is much improved after spending a time in a hospital in Toronto. Daughter Mrs. Albert Boston and husband were recent visitors at Glenarm also.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamer of Brooklin were recent dinner guests of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Nesbitt and family.

ELECTROCUTED

Asten, Holland (UPI) — Fifteen milk cows worth $4,200 were electrocted here yesterday because of a faulty current regulator. The cows, owned by farmers A. Heyligers, were chained to an iron bar.

WON BET, LOST LIFE

Woodford, Bridge, England (UPI) — Peter Turnbridge, 28, won his bet but lost his life in the process. Twenty minutes before a pub closed, he bet a friend he could drink another six strong ales. He accomplished the feat, but started coughing and choked to death.

World news today

United Nations — Britain called on the Soviet Union to take the first step in solving the United Nation's financial deadlock. It was called the gravest crisis in the organization's history. Russia's refusal to pay peace-keeping costs in the Congo created the financial crisis.

Saigon — A disturbing note was sounded in the newly organized government of Premier Tran Van Huong. Four generals named to key posts in a move to placate the military boycotted the government's first official ceremony. They said they were too busy with the war effort against the Viet Cong rebels.

Rambouillet, France — President Charles De Gaulle and West German chancellor Ludwig Erhard held private talks in an attempt to improve Franco-German relations. The two leaders conferred in the seclusion of the medieval Chateau of Rambouillet, about 30 miles southwest of Paris. Officials said the meeting could be the most critical since the French-German treaty of Alliance and co-operation was signed two years ago.

Jakarta — A communist-backed demonstration was staged in Jakarta. Some 3,000 persons paraded through the streets to protest rising food costs. No incident was reported. The demonstration was held on the eve of foreign minister Subandrio's reported departure for Peking.

Warsaw — An Eastern Europe communist summit meeting got underway in Warsaw, Poland. Heading the roster of the Red Summit talks were the New Soviet leaders, premier Alexei N. Kosygin and soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev. The meeting was held amid Polish press attacks on the U.S. proposed multilateral nuclear force.

Toronto — The National President of the Progressive Conservative Association yesterday advised party members to keep silent on its leadership controversy.

Dalton Camp, a Toronto advertising executive, refused to reveal if party members are being polled on John Diefenbaker's possible replacement as party leader.

"As far as I am concerned, I have nothing to say at this time. I'd recommend the same to anyone who asks," Camp said.

Gordon Aiken, Conservative member of parliament for Parry Sound-Muskoka said last weekend that he and at least three other English-speaking Conservative MP's were in favour of replacing Diefenbaker.

Quebec City — The Quebec government is sending an eleven-man team to Europe for a two-week tour to study the furniture industries of France, Belgium and England.

The eleven-man team, accompanied by two federal government experts will leave today by air from Montreal.

Toronto — A Toronto Amateur radio operator came to the aid of a small South American village ravaged by fire.

Miriam Gillier picked up a call from the island village of San Andres, off the Coast of Columbia yesterday and learned the government, communications and customs buildings had been destroyed by fire.

Local weather conditions prevented the village from contacting Bogata. But Mrs. Gillier radioed a ham operator there and staved on the air to maintain contact between San Andres and Bogata.

Toronto — The Ontario Pharmacists' Association is taking steps to do away with the 11 per cent Federal Sales Tax on prescription drugs.

Ontario druggists have been sending out forms for the public to sign. The Association hopes to have 500,000 to 600,000 signatures by February. They have 9,000 thus far.

The petitions and a submission from the Association then will be delivered to Federal Finance Minister Walter Gordon.

Abolition of the tax would reduce the price of prescription drugs by as much as one-fifth, according to the parmacists.

Toronto — The Federal Government has decided to transfer Sunnybrook Hospital, one of Canada's largest veteran hospitals, to the University of Toronto.

Veteran affairs minister Roger Teillet and Premier John Robarts, speaking at a joint press conference yesterday, said details of the agreement have yet to be worked out.

The agreement would provide for priority use by DVA of up to 1,200 beds with about another 500 beds set aside for the public.

Robarts said a board will be set up to administer the hospital.

The decision means Sunnybrook will become Ontario's first university hospital and greatly enlarge clinical facilities for teaching medicine.

Toronto — The production standards clause, governing the speed at which employees must work is still the main stumbling block in the five-day-old strike of 10,000 Ford Motor Co. workers at four Ontario plants.

Company and United Auto Workers representatives spent yesterday discussing the production standards issue a union spokesman said.

He said there was no indication when the strike would be settled.

Some 5,200 workers staged a wildcat strike at the Oakville plant last Wednesday, claiming the company was speeding up production to build stockpiles.

Friday, 4,500 employees at the Windsor plant, 180 in the glass factory near Welland and 285 at the Bramalea parts depot struck.

Merchants tame Tigers 8-5 Tie Ti-Cats for first place

Lindsay Merchants are currently tied for first place in the Central Ontario Junior Hockey League as a result of their four point win at Aurora while Stouffville Clippers upset Bobcaygeon 4 - 3 last night.

The Merchants made a slow start in building up their four point win as the Tigers led 4 - 2 at the end of the first period. Doug Broad all but shut the door in the final two periods, allowing one goal in the third period.

First period goals by Rick Purdy and Gord Frocking for the Merchants, and Tiger goals by Waine Hill, Bruce Graham, Jack Wray, and Jack Foran came from sustained ranging attacks at both ends. Only one penalty was called in the period twelve seconds before the end to George Graham for boarding. The first Lindsay goal gave Goodmakers no chance when a Tiger skate deflected the slider to the opposite side of the net. Wayne Hill tied the score for Aurora four minutes later when he flipped Jack Foran's rebound into the mesh at 5:55.

A Lindsay goal was disallowed at 7:10 when it was batted in with a high stick.

Aurora took a one goal lead at 7:42 when Bruce Graham and Wayne Hill skated unmolested right to the Lindsay goal mouth. Gord Frocking matched that goal after Taylor and Yearwood had tested Goodmakers from close range, but the Tigers came back with two unanswered goals, Jack Wray scoring a drive through Doug Broad's pads at 15:48, and Jack Foran scored on a deflected shot from a corner face-off four seconds after Graham's penalty.

Three unassisted goals foretold the pattern of the game when the Merchants bounced back with four goals in the middle frame. Tying the Tigers helplessly in their own end of the ice for minutes at a time, the Merchant snipers were stealing the puck off defending sticks and firing at point blank range. Bob Taylor unassisted at 5:30, and Gord Frocking's second from Yearwood and Morasse at 10:23 tied the score. With Pat Flanagan serving the Tigers' only penalty of the game, Ray McCabe got the first of his pair at 17:59. Horton was chased for crosschecking at 18:23 and the Merchants scored their sixth goal while short-handed. Bob Taylor tossed in his second goal of the period on Frocking's pass out at 19:33 to end the period with a 6 - 4 lead.

The third period saw the Merchants add two goals to one by the Tigers. Gary Heffernan surprised Goodmakers with a short stab at 9:21. The Tigers scored their final goal at 16:16. Hill scoring from Graham and Foran. This goal was nullified sixteen seconds later when Horton cleared to Babcock who put Ray McCabe in the clear at the Aurora blueline. Ray skated to the crease before flipping the puck high in the rigging. The Merchants finished the period two men short but still kept the play in the Aurora end of the ice.

1st Period

1. Lindsay, Purdy from Yearwood, 1:43; 2. Aurora, Hill from Foran 5:55; 3. Aurora, Graham from Hill 7:42; 4. Lindsay, Frocking from Taylor and Yearwood 11:01; 5. Aurora, Wray from Flannagan 15:48; 6. Aurora, Foran from Flannagan 19:32. Penalty: G. Graham (boarding) 19:48.

2nd Period

7. Lindsay, Taylor unassisted 5:30; 8. Lindsay, Frocking from Yearwood and Morasse 10:23; 9. Lindsay, R. McCabe unassisted 17:59; 10. Lindsay, Taylor from Frocking 19:35. Penalties: R. McCabe (trip) 3:13; Flannagan (high stick) 16:05; Horton (crosscheck) 18:23.

3rd Period

11. Lindsay, Heffernan, unassisted 9:21; 12. Aurora, Hill from Graham and Foran 16:16; 13. Lindsay, R. McCabe from Babcock and Horton 16:32. Penalties: Babcock (charge) 11:20; Horton (cross check) 19:00; Yearwood (trip) 19:50.

Referee: H. Magnus of Toronto; linesman Roy Heard or Aurora.

Cars sideswipe

Total damage of $450 resulted when two cars sideswiped each other on Highway 7 at the Emily Cemetery at 5:30 p.m. yesterday. Lindsay OPP said a vehicle driven by Marian Duke of 74 Cambridge Street was westbound on Highway 7 when it came into contact with an eastbound 1964 model stake-truck driven by Martin Stegeman of 42 Lansdown Street, Peterboro. Lindsay OPP said no injuries resulted.

MINOR DAMAGE

Minor damage resulted when a car driven by Cragg Carter of Cannington skidded and went out of control at the junction of highways 7 and 7B at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday and crashed into a post. Lindsay OPP said minor damage resulted and no one was injured.

When your income tax form arrives in the mail, try to smile.

It's a numbered tax form that means faster handling, more economical processing. It's Personalized. So smile.

This year about 6,500,000 income tax returns will be processed in Ottawa.

Each year the returns of thousands of new taxpayers add to the time and cost of processing.

But now we've got a new system of processing tax returns faster and more economically.

This is how it works.

You will receive a Personalized income tax form, sent direct to you instead of through your employer. (Makes it more convenient for you, faster for us.) This new tax form will have your own identification code number on it. Numbers mean quicker and more positive identification than names. Think of the 41,000 Smiths in Canada.

There's a way you can make this new system even better.

Get your income tax form completed and in the mail early. You'll give us something to smile about.

SEEK PROFESSIONAL HELP IN ROOM PLANNING, ARCHITECT TELLS GUILD

"If you have 300.00 with which to furnish a room, spend it all on one piece and sit on orange crates". Such was the advice of Lindsay's well-known architect, speaking to the Art Guild at the first 1985 meeting. His subject, Furnishing and Decorating a House in these Modern Times, gave his audience an understanding of the importance of quality and good interior design.

When a woman wants to decorate a house, the speaker said, she usually seeks the advice of a salesman in home furnishings, whose aim is to sell merchandise for the store in which he works. But wherever possible the professional help of an interior designer should be sought, as an amateur is not qualified to make a planned lay-out by which to work and toward which to aim the claimed.

In a brief study of the people who have most influenced the history of decorating, Mr. Ridpath mentioned Thomas Chippindale, an 18th century gentleman concerned with making five individual pieces of furniture. This was also true of Sheraton, his contemporary. The works of both are still the most copied of all domestic furnishings. Sir William Kent was an 18th century English architect who brought about a unified style relating the outside and the inside of the houses he was commissioned to design.

In furnishing the modern home, the speaker suggested one should begin with an empty room, then develop an overall plan of groupings and accessories. These should be carefully chosen, and might include pottery, fabric, paintings or tapestry. These are the ingredients of decorating and are the items which complement or complete a room. They do not serve any useful purpose, as a rule. It is with these that a decorator is concerned with contrasts that add such dramatic effect to a scheme, he said.

During the talk many planned lay-outs were handed around and coloured slides of interiors showed the realization of the plans. A fine display of accessories included paintings by Franklin Arbuckle and Johnston, Lake Repon, Barbara Mercer and a jewel-like enamel-on-copper plaque by the Pickles of Peterborough.

President Nellie King introduced the speaker. She announced the coming of Paul Bennett, head of the Ontario Art Institute, on February 17, with an exhibit of paintings from private collections.

Mrs. McDuffee and her committee served refreshments after the lecture.

CLOSE SHAVE

Aurora, Colo. (UPI) — Three junior high school students, who had been under pressure from school authorities to get their Beatle-like hair trimmed, came to school yesterday with scalps shaved like Yul Brynner.

"We have had a campaign on recently to get the boys to keep their hair neater and closer cut", said assistant principal M C Thompson. "We didn't think that things would go this far."

BOWLING

MEN'S MAJOR BOWLING LEAGUE

Olympia Tea Room pulled out of their slump with a 7 pt. night over Burnett Auto Body.

Houzers Men's Wear struck for 7 pts. over Mollon's Upholstery. F. Dowell 727 (295) and M. Graham 696 (259) led Houzers.

McCalder Smoke Shop took a big 5 pts. from the league leaders Kent Hotel. L. Moyan 742 (291) and N. Hargrove 668 (276) were high for McCalder. M. Hawery 769 (321) and N. Martin 735 (305) topped Kent.

Tom's Barber Shop were 5-2 over Waterhouse Sunoco. A. Bushey 764 (289) led Toms.

Dominion Brake Shoe also took 5 pts. over C.N.R. F. Musson led C.N.R. with 709 (323).

Minaker Plumbers were on the top end of a 4-3 split with Rhys Williams Men's Wear. F. Hannivan 662 (229) topped Minakers. Joe Berke 744 (337) and R. Hladki 685 (242) led Rhys.

Overwyk Landscaping came up with a 4-3 win over United Steel workers. J. Storey 743 (259) led United.

Canadian Legion topped Lincraft Fitters 4-3 on Cotter (242) and T. Cory 677 (323) led Legion. C. Brooks 706 (261) was high for Lincraft.

Cabinet studies OFU request for probe into FAME

The Ontario government is studying a request for a judicial inquiry into FAME, (Farmers' Allied Meat Enterprises Co-operative Ltd.), Agriculture Minister William Stewart said Monday.

The request from the Ontario Farmers' Union was passed to the cabinet last week, said Mr. Stewart.

The co-operative agreed last year to buy the F. W. Fearman Co. Ltd. meat-packing plant at Burlington for $3,500,000 with a $1,500,000 down payment in August. Another $2,000,000 was due in November but the co-operative could not raise the money despite an extension in time.

CAN'T AFFORD COOK

London (UPI) — Lord Mowbray, 69, Premier Baron of England and descendant of what was once the richest, most powerful family in the country, is converting his Yorkshire mansion into luxury apartments "for sheer economic necessity."

He said he is so broke that he now does his own cooking "because I can't afford a cook".

NEWS FROM THE LCVI

by "The Post" Collegiate reporter Richard Bruce

WIN 1, LOSE 2 IN BASKETBALL

On Friday evening, January 15, the bantam, junior and senior basketball teams from East Cobourg travelled to Lindsay for a three-game evening. In the first game, the bantams defeated Cobourg 63 to 22. The Cobourg junior team rallied to defeat the Lindsay Juniors by a score of 54 to 21. The seniors had similar luck to that of the juniors, losing 63 to 27.

In the bantam game, Lindsay led 13 to 1 at the end of the first quarter, 24 to 11 at the end of the first half. The third quarter was the big one for the Lindsay team as they outscored East Cobourg 27 to 3 and led 51 to 14 at the end of the third quarter. This onslaught by the Lindsay snipers seemed to break the spirit of the Cobourg team. The Lindsay lads continued to out-score the Cobourg team as they scored 12 points to the 8 points scored by the Cobourg crew in the fourth quarter. High scorers for Lindsay were Morasse with 22, Campbell with 18 and Georgas with 12. High scorers for East Cobourg were Gagne with 6, Clausen with 5. This was a very well deserved win for the bantams and we wish them continued success.

In the junior game, Cobourg East led all the way but the game was very close until the fourth quarter. Cobourg led 30 to 17 at the end of three quarters but the powerful and accurate East Cobourg team completely dominated the fourth quarter outscoring the local boys, 24 to 4. High scorer for Lindsay was Lee with 13. High scorers for Cobourg were Harrison with 18, Harris with 10 and Plamondon with 9.

In the senior game, Cobourg East led all the way once again. At the end of the half they led 32 to 16. The two big quarters for Cobourg were the second and third when they outscored Lindsay 21 to 11 and 16 to 4 respectively. High scorers for Lindsay were Wylie with 9, Johnston with 6 and Glasbergen with 5. High scorers for East Cobourg were A. Davis with 16, Shivas with 13 and B. Davis and Plamondon with 10 each. Officials for the games were G. Burns, P. Parson and S. Kennedy.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council of the L.C.V.I. has been organized for approximately four months. They have been striving to make every venture a success and to this daate have succeeded in doing so. They sponsored the special Christmas Dance "Country Christmas", and for the first time in several years made a profit on the venture. Other years the Student Council have lost up to $100, but this year, under the supervision of the hard-working, dedicated President, the Student Council managed to make $50 on the dance.

The council also made approximately $30 on the Christmas Card programme. As of now, the balance shown in the treasurer's book is $622.57. Fine work Shirley, and hard working associates.

The Student Council have also started a school paper. Their has been one editor to date and others are planned for the future. The editor of the first edition was Steve Blasco. We look forward to seeing another edition very soon.

In the past the Student Council have also chosen a revenue making project for the students. Other years enough has been raised to buy a basketball score board and curtains for the new auditorium. I have been informed by some members of the council that they are discussing the programme now. The principle idea is the selling of chocolate bars. The Council believes this will accumulate a good profit. The Student Council needs and expects the support of every student.

The Council has not yet finalized the "Big Fun Week" that has been suggested. This is to be self sufficient if carried through although the council is prepared to lose $50 on the venture. The members feel such a week will be a boost to the "school spirit".

The next big dance being planned by the Student Council is the "Spring Formal". A committee is to be formed and the council feel this will also be a financial success. They pointed out that the council lost $150 on the formal last year, but on this occasion a strict budget will be maintained. A final date has yet to be selected but it will probably be before the Easter holidays.

The Student Council does have its problems, as do all organizations. Some members at the last meeting were not pleased by the request for payment for boys prefect bars and suggested someone from the Prefect Society present the facts of the matter to Student Council Another problem was the question of assemblies. Members of Council noted the Constitution calls for an assembly once a month. Several members said that there has been only two assemblies this year. The Student Council is trying to promote these assemblies and they deserve the support of the various clubs and associations of the school.

Suggestion boxes have been used by students but could be used more. The Student Council is there for you, the student to carry out your ideas. For instance the council is trying to obtain music in the halls before 9:00. If you have any ideas tell your Student Council representatives or place them in the suggestion boxes in the library.

Miss Rody and Mr. Barkey are the main tetchers to officiate at meetings. They are well liked by the Student Council and doing a fine job.

Barn destroyed by fire in Eldon

A barn owned by Wilfred Dowdall of Eldon Township was destroyed by fire yesterday one and a half miles northeast of Woodville. Fire fighting units from Lindsay, Woodville and Kirkfield responded to the alarm, which was turned in just before 1 p.m., and battled the blaze for four hours during a snow-storm. The cause of the fire has not yet been determined, and no estimate of the damage is available.

Deputy Fire Chief John McLean of Kirkfield said the weather was cold, it was snowing and there was a strong wind. He said there was another cement block structure near the blazing barn but the wind was blowing away from it. He said the house was some distance from the barn.

The owner of the property, Mr. Dowdall, said the barn was completely destroyed but could not estimate the value in dollars. He said there was nothing in the barn when the fire broke out. Mr. Dowdall was working in Peterborough when the alarm was turned in. He said the barn was insured.

Lindsay Fire Chief Arnold Watson told 'The Post' the fire occurred outside the Lindsay fire area but a 24-hour arrangement had been made with the Eldon Fire Department, which is located in Kirkfield, to cover their fire area because of a break-down in their equipment. Fire Chief Watson said their equipment was repaired in time and Eldon Fire Department answered the call, along with the other two department units.

Girl wins crown at hockey tourney

Cannington (PNS) — The Cannington Legionettes walked away with three awards when they entered the Newmarket Girls Hockey Tournament held there recently. The legionettes came home with the championship of the day defeating Ajax to take the prize. Consolation award went to West Hill, who upset Newmarket for their victory.

In a beauty contest held in conjunction with the tournament, Elizabeth Wilson of the local club took the crown, judged the most valuable player of the day-long event was also a Legionette Sharon McNabb.

Best goalie of the day was a West Hill girl. Eight teams were entered coming from Ban Dom Mills, Humberside, Ajax, West Hill, Guelph, Cannington, Uxbridge and Newmarket.

Lindsay residents enjoy Florida tour

While Lindsay residents have been experiencing the rigours of winter with severe blasts of wind and the occasional fall of snow in sub-zero weather, a bus load of fellow Lindsay citizens has been travelling the highways of sunny Florida. Several stopovers were made in many parts of the state.

One of the stop-overs was at Daytona Beach where there happens to be a small colony of Lindsay and district people. The travelling visitors called on different friends and a postcard from Mrs. Sid Elsden expresses their delight at renewing acquaintnces with the hometown folk and hearing the news.

Some members of the travelling Lindsay residents included in their plans a visit to Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Quinn at Fort Myers and a visit to other residents at St. Petersburg.

Toronto rector to celebrate modern "Folk Mass" at local Anglican Church, January 31

The Eucharistic service at St. Paul's Anglican Church will take on a new, modern appearance with the introduction of modern music provided by an orchestra on January 31. "The 20th Century Folk Mass" will be celebrated by Dr. Roland Hill, rector of St. George's Anglican Church in Islington, accompanied by the orchestra and members of St. George's Young People's Choir. The Mass is being brought to Lindsay by the Lindsay branch of the Anglican Young People's Association.

This Mass was composed as the request of an East London Vicar who was concerned that nothing had been written since Elizabethan times which could properly be called a Church Mass.

It is a Eucharistic service with a modern theme set to modern music. The choir consists of between 45 and 60 young people accompanied by their own orchestra. The presentation will be different from any Eucharistic service previously witnessed in St. Paul's Lindsay.

Admission will be by ticket only; there is no charge for the tickets, which may be obtained from AYPA members, church wardens or Rev. D. E. Lemon. A collection will be taken up following the service to defray the transportation costs of about $90 to bring the choir and orchestra from Toronto.

The local AYPA have undertaken to find billets for the evening meal for the visitors following the service which begins at 4 p.m.

Teacher honoured during first year

Nestleton (PNS) — R. Douglas Davison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davison, Nestleton, in his first year of teaching in the Chatham school system, has been named by the Board of Education to be acting head of the Geography department of the John McGregor Secondary School.

J.G. Griffith, Director of Education said the appointment became effective January 4, 1965, the day school resumed in the new year.

Mr. Davison who intends to make his career in secondary school teaching, last year completed a post graduate course in Geography at the University of Western Ontario.

He graduated from Waterloo University College in June of 1961 and during the next school year of 1961-62 he taught at Cartwright High School in Blackstock, Ontario. It was from this High School he had graduated for university entrance. In 1962-63 he taught at Timmons Secondary School.

Mr. Davison lives on a farm near Blenheim. His wife Janet, teaches Geography at Blenheim District High School.

Mr. Davison is recording secretary of the organization of Chatham geography teachers which meets at intervals throughout the year.

PROSPECT OF TWO NEW INDUSTRIES FOR LINDSAY THIS YEAR - PITTS

Did not tell UIC of earnings Lindsay man fined $140, costs

Roger Walker, 25, of 47 William Street North was fined $140 and $5.00 costs in Lindsay Police Court Thursday or two months and 10 days in default when he was convicted by Magistrate Ian Munro on seven offences of making false statements in unemployment claims.

UIC Inspector R. Caldwell testified that Mr. Walker failed to report earnings in February, March and April of 1963, while in receipt of unemployment benefits. Documents put into evidence showed that six times the man had reported no earnings during the payment period and the other time he reported a reduced earning. The man had received $317.71 which he had collecting unemployment insurance and was overpaid a total of $117 by the UIC, said the inspector.

Magistrate Munro told the accused the unemployment insurance fund "has difficulty enough without people like you who try to defraud the fund." The magistrate said it was "stealing" and said it was the "cheapest offence" that could be committed.

"Mr. Caldwell said the matter was brought to light by a continuous post-audit procedure within the Commission.

George Inrig heads Public School Board

George Inrig was appointed chairman of the Lindsay Public School Board for 1965 at an inaugural meeting held at the King Albert School Tuesday. Appointed vice-chairman for this year was R. W. Price.

Appointed to the various committees, the first-named receiving the committee chairmanship, were: Finance — T. R. Hill and R. H. Dignam; Building and Management — P. Tavaszi, R. W. Price, T. R. Hill and D. Dignam; Teachers Advisory — Dr. W. B. Arnup, C. Stoddart, G. Inrig and Mrs. B. Truax.

Supplied to minor, fined $25 and costs

Harry Burgess of Omemee was fined $25 and costs or 10 days when he was convicted in Lindsay Police Court Thursday of unlawfully supplying liquor to a minor and a 17-year-old youth, James Robert Johnson of Omemee was fined $10 and costs or five days for obtaining liquor while under the age of 21.

Lindsay OPP Corporal Thomas H. Fitzpatrick told the court Lindsay OPP investigated after the boy's mother phoned Lindsay OPP and complained her son had been drinking alcohol. He said the accused said he got the liquor from Harry Burgess.

Over 2,000 inquiries at Lindsay C of C

"Just over 2,000 enquiries were received at the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce this past year" comment Chamber of Commerce secretary Harry McDonald during his appeal on behalf of the Chamber for a grant from County Council Thursday. "Lindsay" he continued, "does not have a great deal to offer to tourists, but acts as a feeder station to the Victoria County Area". He said enquiries are processed every working day of the year.

Mr. McDonald pointed out that no money from membership dues will be spent in the erection of their new office, and said that a considerable sum is earned by staff members in providing gestetner and similar services to its members. He said each year the Chamber has been able to meet its objective and hoped the County would be able to continue their $1,000 grant to the organization.

CLOSE RELATIVES

Bissau, Portuguese Guinea, (UPI) — Cadi Sire said she can't remember how many years ago she celebrated her 100th birthday — and neither can her 13 children who range from 90 to 75. But she does know the size of her family — "Everyone in the village — I populated the entire place," she said.

Industrial Commissioner Pitts reviews year in annual report

"At the moment we have prospect of two new industries, one of which has an option on five acres of land, and the other is completing negotiations with the CNR and is reported to be ready to build 20,000 feet in March" reported Industrial Commissioner S. R. Pitts in his annual report presented to the Lindsay Industrial Commission last night.

Mr. Pitts said, in addition, three other companies have made enquiries and secured information from the Commission earlier in the year, but have not as yet completed their fact finding programmes. "It may be assumed that Lindsay is still under consideration by Turner-Seymour Limited and a further site sold to the Bell Telephone Company. He reviewed the establishment of a sufferance warehouse in the Arsenals property, Mr. McAnsh's proposal for a Freightways building and the Port of Entry status granted Lindsay Airport.

Mr. Pitts spoke of the "Dominion Rubber Day" sod-turning ceremonies in the time record plant and the later announcement of the high pile fabric plant. He mentioned the Brinton Carpet plant opening and thanked Consumers' Gas company for their assistance during the year with the providing of refreshments at official openings, which cost the company $600 during the year.

Mr. Pitts reviewed the addition to Dominion Brake Shoe and additions to Reichold Chemical and Canadian Pojama and Shirt, in his annual report.

increased next year as new plants are built have not yet been assessed."

Industrial Commissioner Pitts said the outlook for growth factor in 1965 appears favourable, "both", he said, "from a standpoint of new industry and contemplated local industrial expansion. This office is ready and anxious to persue a vigorous industrial expansion programme and welcomes any or all suggestions toward this end".

REVIEWS YEAR

In his report the Industrial Commissioner reviewed the year's progress and mentioned the sale of the Sule plant site to Turner-Seymour Limited and a further site sold to the Bell Telephone Company. He reviewed the establishment of a sufferance warehouse in the Arsenals property, Freightways building and the Port of Entry status granted Lindsay Airport.

Mr. Pitts spoke of the "Dominion Rubber Day" sod-turning ceremonies in the time record plant and the later announcement of the high pile fabric plant. He mentioned the Brinton Carpet plant opening and thanked Consumers' Gas company for their assistance during the year with the providing of refreshments at official openings, which cost the company $600 during the year.

Mr. Pitts reviewed the addition to Dominion Brake Shoe and additions to Reichold Chemical and Canadian Pojama and Shirt, in his annual report.

Farmers want co-operation not competition — John Alton

"We need co-operation from all levels of government, not competition against the family farmer" stressed John Alton to members of Victoria County Council Thursday morning. Mr. Alton and Stanley Smith, secretary of the Victoria County District of the Ontario Farmers' Union addressed council seeking a grant to assist a proposed amendment to the Dominion Government.

"We are going to "March to Ottawa" to enter a plea for the enforcement of the Agricultural Stabilization Act and wood like financial assistance by paying for transportation" concluded Mr. Alton.

"In 1958, secretary Stan Smith told council members, "the farm unions were successful in having the principle of deficiency payments accepted with the passing of the Agricultural Stabilization Act and while this has failed to provide parity prices for our farmers, it is simply because the Act has not been fully enforced. This past fall Ontario farmers found the markets flooded with western stockers, shipped into Ontario with a large portion of the freight paid by the Government. When Ontario farmers went to sell their grain they find grain elevators full of western grain subsidized by the government by $6.00 per ton". "To correct these unfair conditions the Farm Unions are planning a march on Ottawa" he explained.

Senior Citizen's Club to be formed

Two members of council, Reeve George Finney and Councillor Dr. James Fawcett, who are members of the Recreation Commission, and Recreation Director Harry Johnson met with the temporary committee of the Senior Citizen's Club to discuss the possibility of providing the club with suitable accommodation and facilities in town.

Acting chairman E. O. Elliston said today the councillors and Recreation Commission manager had offered every co-operation to the club in the formation of an organization for men and women senior citizens.

The temporary senior citizens committee together with the Lindsay Recreation Commission officers will be visiting Peterboro, Port Hope and Cobourg where Senior Citizen's Clubs are already in operation.

Fight goes on for Churchill

London (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill's vitality was ebbing by the hour today, but he continued his stout fight to survive.

No physician would predict how long his heart would keep beating, but some of them thought it might go on for days.

Lady Churchill left the house in mid afternoon for a short automobile drive.

The White Ensign

A good deal of derisive comment has been aroused by the reluctance of the Canadian navy, as expressed by a number of officers, serving and retired, to give up the navy's white ensign for the country's new maple leaf. It is all too easy to dismiss such naval traditionalists as hide-bound old fogeys or even, as the Toronto Globe and Mail did, to sneer at them as Anglicised snobs seeking to retain an out-dated bit of British swank.

Actually there is a good deal more to it than that. It is difficult for any member of a force with a highly-specialized tradition and esprit de corps to explain the importance of some seeming trifle to a civilian, but there are today in Canada many thousands of brokers and bankers, painters and plumbers, salesmen and tradesmen who served with the RCN in World War Two, and who know very well just why the white ensign is a precious part of Canada's navy. For the ensign is the ceremonial heart of the navy, the heraldic symbol of a history crammed with the sort of legends which impart pride and character to a great fighting force. To the saltiest matelot or the greenest new entry, the white ensign IS the navy, and its austere beauty recalls associations and incidents which quicken the blood of the most decrepit veteran.

For the white ensign is the badge of the greatest fighting fraternity of the sea; the fraternity of ships, great and small, which share age-old traditions and a record of proud supremacy unmatched in the annals of war. Not only ships of Britain's Royal Navy, but those of our sister Dominions flew the white ensign during World War Two. Each nation formed a separate lodge within the wartime brotherhood, distinguished by its own funnel markings and national "jack" at the bow-staff, and of all these none were prouder than Canada's, whose maple-leaf funnels belonged to the free world's third largest navy. To wear the white ensign was to "belong", the tiniest Canadian motorlaunch or the saltiest RCN corvette was brother to the mighty battlesquadrons which ruled the trackless oceans. What middleaged businessman today will forget the thrill years ago, when his Canadian escort group caught sight of the battlefleet that had just driven Bismark to her doom, forging relentlessly on to Iceland beneath a lowering Arctic sky, their white ensigns whipping in the wind? What Canadian sailor will forget the surging forays of the Canadian Tribals along the coasts of France, or the Canadian MTB flotillas in the Channel, the Canadian Bangors that led the way on D-Day; above all, the tireless Canadian frigates, corvettes and destroyers that bore the brunt of the Battle of the Atlantic? To wear the white ensign was not only to be part of a tremendous past but also to be adding new, Canadian chapters to a proud and ancient history.

Today, that is all to be written off with the flick of a politician's pen. Canada's navy is to leave the white ensign club, the proudest brotherhood of the sea, and is to fly instead a little flag of its own, like the nupot navies of the banana republics.

It's a flag to gladden a politician's heart and swell with patriotism the landlubber's bosom, but don't expect any sailor to lead the cheers. Not an old corvette type, anyway.

—The Daily Packet and Times, Orillia.

Foreign News Commentary

(UPI)—The ill winds that blow across South Viet Nam may help spur what already is an economic boomlet for South Korea.

Scarcely more than a year ago it was believed virtually impossible that the South Korean economy could exist without continued United States aid. Traditionally, most of Korea's industry was located in the north, above the 38th parallel which divides Korea between the Communists and the non-Communist south.

Most of the natural resources also were in the north. The south existed on agriculture.

But now both the U.S. advisers and the Koreans themselves believe that South Korea is on the way to self-sufficiency.

The prospect of big new business with South Viet Nam gives the South Koreans hope that the advance will be quickened.

South Korea is dispatching 2,000 non-combat troops to South Viet Nam in response to U. S. urging and in return hope to sell the South Vietnamese up to $86 million worth of steel products, cotton textiles, cement and wheat flour. The $86 million would compare to only about $6 million in 1964.

Even without the expected sales to South Viet Nam, the South Korean economy has shown encouraging gains.

Total exports last year amounted to $120 million as compared to only $20 million five years ago.

The rice harvest for 1964 set a new record.

Two fertilizer plants and two more under construction soon will fill the country's total needs. A new power plant in Pusan gives South Korea more electricity than it needs. During the years of Japanese occupation and after, power plants in Manchuria supplied most of the power for all Korea. The Korean war left the South with a chronic power shortage.

The pace of South Korean construction has given it sufficient cement production capacity that it now can export.

Skilled low-cost labour gives South Korea an opportunity to move into the cheap market being abandoned by Japan. For example, the Koreans turn out a sewing machine that can be sold for $15.50.

Chronic problems remain. One of them is unemployment. Seoul, the capital, alone is said to have 300,000 unemployed.

Imports still far outdistance exports.

Nonetheless a new air of well-being has come to Seoul and the government appears to have confidence that it can preserve political stability necessary if President Park Chung Hee is to carry out his announced goals of increased production, exports and construction.

Park is further confident that this year will see the normalization of diplomatic relations with Japan, an urgent goal of the United States.

Such an accord would start approximately $600 million in economic benefits flowing into South Korea, including $30 million a year for 10 years in compensation for damages suffered during 35 years of Japanese occupation.

The two nations were close to agreement last April when rioting by South Korean students forced suspension of the talks.

Monkeying around the farm

Balmoral, Australia (UPI) — Little Johnnie Schmidt is only 9 years old but he can drive a tractor, open and shut gates and deliver hay to the stock on the ranch where he works six days a week.

Nothing so unusual about that except for the fact that Johnnie is a monkey.

Johnnie works six days a week, 12 hours a day for his owner, farmer Lindsay Schmidt, who has reared him from the time he was three weeks old.

Johnnie is right at home on Schmidt's back-country ranch at Engelfield, near Balmoral, and lives like a human, right down to taking baths, wearing cardigans and getting his teeth cleaned daily. And since Schmidt supports him, the taxation department allows his owner an annual 40-pound ($86.60) deduction.

"He's only ever mixed with people and farm animals," Schmidt says. "A showman gave him to me when he was a baby, for helping to put out a fire in his truck.

"When we've taken him to zoos he has just sat outside the monkey cages and looked very uninterested. I took him to a sideshow where they had monkeys chained in a circle.

"Johnnie sat down, crossed his legs, placed his hands in his lap, and didn't take a scrap of notice of the monkeys. Like the other men there, he concentrated on the dancing girl."

Schmidt keeps Johnnie on a chain most of the time because when he gets loose he tends to forget he isn't supposed to act like a monkey and does, in fact, sometimes act like one.

He'll drag clothes off the clothes line and chew them, pick tomatoes and eat them or climb up a high tree and refuse to come down.

It's on the tractor that Johnnie is at his best. He's been driving the tractor, a 55-horsepower machine, for three years and his record behind the wheel so far is perfect. . Schmidt turns the ignition key on or off and Johnnie does the rest.

"I trust him with my life driving the tractor," Schmidt says. He can hold it on a hill and keep it from slowing round. You should see him holding that wheel as he skirts the hill and I work behind.

"We take it in turns to drive and toss off the hay to the sheep and cattle."

But Johnnie is just starting to be clever, a zoo official once told Schmidt.

By the time he is 15, he should be good at most anything.

Injured woodsman dies

James Orr, a highly respected resident of Harburn, who was injured about five weeks ago while working in the bush in the Haliburton area passed peacefully away at the Red Cross Outpost hospital yesterday, in his 65th year. He was the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Orr, pioneer settlers of Harburn.

The late Mr. Orr was struck by a falling tree badly crushing and bruising his body besides several bones being broken and a severe hip and shoulder fracture and during the weks that have passed by, he put up a brilliant fight for life.

Business section escapes blaze

The whole business section of Kinmount was threatened this morning when fire broke out in the Cunningham building. Frozen water pipes were being thawed out with a blowtorch, and fire started between the floors in Mr. Lee Cunningham's apartment above C. P. Doherty's store. Fire spread between the floors and into the north partition. A bucket brigade was formed from the river. Floors were torn up and walls cut and water was poured down the openings. A section of the roof was also cut.

The damage to the interior of the apartment was very extensive but the building is covered with insurance.

Fine strike back

The Finnish air force was reported to have struck at Soviet air bases to relieve Finland somewhat of the far-flung bombardments she has been undergoing.

A contingent of the soldiers are going to Cambray on Friday to assist at a Patriotic Concert. The committee in charge is sending in sleighs for the boys. Mr. Joseph Spratt will accompany them as pianist.

The following is a list of the soldiers who will assist at the concert: Sergt. Branagh; Corps. Lloyd and Beaumont; Bugler, Hemming; Ptes. Young, Crawley, Menson, Fitzpatrick, Miller, Gunn, Masterson, Pagett, Grant, Watson, Crawford, Woods, Highland, Harper, Pember and Hargan.

Loses valuable horse

J. A. Isaac, liveryman, lost a valuable horse last evening from an attack of acute indigestion. Mr. William Warren was returning home through South Ops with the animal when it was suddenly stricken. He at once endeavoured to get it into Mr. J. J. Rogue's stable, in order to telephone for a veterinary, but the animal died before assistance arrived. It was one of the best horses in Mr. Isaac's livery and was valued at $150.00.

Appoint examiner

Capt. E. W. Jones, 21st Battalion, has been appointed a member of the board of officers ordered to assemble at the drill hall at Lindsay on the 21st inst. for the purpose of conducting examinations in connection with the provisional school of infantry, 45th regiment.

Six recruits

Six more recruits joined at the armoury Wednesday. They were all good men.

CRANBERRY FLUFF

Milk, often called nature's most perfect food, is truly one of our best foods for good nutrition and good eating remind nutritionists at Macdonald Institute, Guelph. Milk provided generous quantities of high quality protein, calcium and riboflavin, and important B-vitamin, needed by everyone, every day. Dieters too welcome milk, particularly skim milk and buttermilk. An 8-ounce glass of skim milk or buttermilk has only 85 calories and supplies all of the nutirents of whole milk, except fat and vitamin A.

Cooking with skim milk powder is an economical and delightful way to make certain that your family is obtaining all of the milk necessary for growth and good health. Canada's Food Guide states that adults and children under eleven need 1½ cups daily. Teenagers and pregnant and nursing mothers should drink 4 cups each day.

Cranberry Fluff, a frothy concoction of whipped skim milk powder, ground cranberries and miniature marshmallows makes a nutritious, appetizing dessert.

CRANBERRY FLUFF

2 cups raw cranberries, ¾ cup sugar; 1 cup miniature marshmallows, ½ to ⅔ cup skim milk powder; ½ cup cold water; 2 tablespoons lemon juice, few grains salt.

Wash and sort cranberries. Put through food chopped using medium blade. Stir in sugar and let stand for a couple of hours until sugar dissolves and syrup begins to form. Fold in marshmallows and cover. Let stand overnight or until marshmallows begin to soften and absorb the cranberry flavor.

About a half hour before serving add skim milk powder and salt to very cold water. Beat until mixture stands in soft peaks, about 3 minutes. Add lemon juice and beat until stiff peaks form about 2 to 3 minutes. Gently fold in cranberry mixture. Chill well. Makes six servings.

Clogged Drains

Good stuff to use for unclogging a kitchen drain is caustic potash, technically known as potassium hydroxide. This generates heat and and eats its way right through most ordinary congestion by forming a kind of soap when it comes in contact with grease. Be sure to protect your hands and eyes with gloves and glasses respectively, and mix in an old bucket. Use about a pound of it with three quarts of hot water. Get as much water out of the drain trap as you can with a plunger, then pour the potash solution down the drain and leave overnight until the morning, when you flush the drain out with boiling water.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I make a good fish chowder?

A. Combine one can of cream of celery soup with a seven-ounce can of drained flaked tuna, a five-ounce can of drained chopped shrimp, and ½-cup of clam juice. Stir in one cup of milk, and ¼-cup or more of finely chopped cooked potato. Simmer until ready to serve, then top each bowl with a bit of butter and a sprinkle of paprika.

Q. How can I remove perfume stains from my dressing table?

A. Apply cold cream as soon as the perfume is spilled, then wipe clean with some facial tissue.

Q. What can I do about shoes and work boots that have become hardened by water?

A. Kerosene will soften these shoes and make them pliable again.

Salvation Army speaker addresses county council

"We minister to the needs of 175 unwed mothers per year at the Bethel Home" Col. Hill of the Salvation Army told members of the Victoria County Council when he thanked them for their donation to the cause last year, and suggested the council consider an increase of $100 to their $500 grant of last year.

Col. Hill explained that each case usually have an average stay of 50 days at an average cost of $240.00 per case. He said that rehabilitation has been almost 100% as only two of the 175 cases last year had received previous assistance. He said a Women's Auxiliary had been formed at the home and classes in domestic arts are available to the patients. He acknowledged the very fine contribution of the medical profession stressing that no accounts are ever rendered and no barriers, financially, or racially, exist. He said an extension to the home is badly needed noting that this was the 100th year of the work of the Salvation Army.

In pointing out the need for an additional grant this year, Col Hill stated that seven cases were received from the county last year, and the $500 grant met approximately one third of the cost.

Nutria farmer fraud charge

Toronto (UPI) — Provincial Police yesterday arrested a fur rancher and charged him with defrauding the public.

Ferdinant Zinner, 43, farms nutria, the fur of the coypu, South American rodent. Coypus have been offered to the public for $1,500 a pair. News paper advertisements promised the pair would breed 600 animals in three and one half years. According to the advertisements, which appeared in ethnic language newspapers, buyers would divide the proceeds from such animals with the person from whom they bought them.

Magistrate F.C. Hayes remanded Zinner for a week. Bail was set at $5,000.

FORBIDS COURTING

Chelmsford, England (UPI) All Philip Cheverall did was spend the night with his girl friend. But his mother got upset and launched a full-scale police hunt.

By midnight, with the temperature below freezing, there was still no sign of him. Neighbours joined the hunt; police called in the dogs. Mrs. Irene Cheverall wept for her son.

At 7 a.m. yesterday Philip came home to explain he spent the night with his girl friend, Patricia Pack, a few blocks away. He slept in a corner, wrapped in a blanket she gave him, unaware of the search.

Said Mrs. Cheverall today as she hugged her six-yea-old son: "Now I have forbidden him to go courting after school . . . at least, until he gets a little older."

For a variety of timely topics visit one of the coffee shops any morning. On Tuesday the County Councils inaugural for 1965 was held and one of the topics touched on at a local coffee bar was the prognostication of one coffee sippcr that the proposed area jail would definitely be located at Millbrook, in proximity to the Ontario Reform School there. Why not at Fowler's Corners as advocated by Victoria County Council? Because by building at Millbrook, the cost of the new area jail could be reduced by $150,000 chiefly because of the fact that it would be easier to cut in on the source of the water supply. The location at Fowler's Corners would be ideal for the town of Lindsay and Victoria and Haliburton Counties but stiff opposition is expected from the Counties of Durham anad Northumberland, the County jail for these counties being at Cobourg. Peterboro City and Peterboro County are in between and may support the location at Fowler's Corners.

It was stated that by settling on the Millbrook site the cost per person from Victoria County might be increased by six dollars. However said one debater, the cost of maintaining a jail in Lindsay is out of all proportions to the total cost figured at the Millbrook jail. Another man stated that the number of prisoners from the Port Hope, Cobourg district is greatly in excess of the number at the Lindsay jail. Information is to the effect that the matter will be discussed at County Council on Thursday of this week.

COLLAGEN DISEASES MYSTERIES OF MEDICINE

Dear Dr. Steinrohn: I have a good doctor but he doesn't go into details. For example, he took special tests because I have a redness across my nose and cheeks, and came up with the diagnosis of lupus erythematosus.

All he can say is that it is just a collagen disease, is likely to be chronic and that there's just so much you can do for it-and no more. All he has prescribed is a salve, which hasn't helped. Can you elaborate?--Mrs. O.

Comment: Elaborate, yes. But, unfortunately, I doubt that I can offer an understandable explanation. We doctors don't know (oo much about these diseases ourselves.

The actual cause in many cases is a question mark. We group them together under the name collagen diseases because the underlying trouble seems to be in the supporting tissues of the body (around joints, arteries, etc.). Common diseases in this category are scleroderma, periarteritis nodosa, dermatomyositis lupus erythematosus.

MANY CONDITIONS

Symptoms vary. Some patients complain only of low grade fever for months before the condition is diagnosed. Others have fatigue, muscle pains, shortness of breath and skin trouble. In fact, almost any organ of the body may be affected. The symptoms and signs depend upon what is involved: arteries, joints, skin, muscles or major organs.

Take lupus for example. One patient may have only an involvement (thickening, discoloration, tenderness) of the skin. Another may have this in addition to a systemic involvement (blood vessels, joints, etc).

Getting more complicated? You can't say I didn't warn you. These collagen diseases have had us doctors scratching our heads in bewilderment for many years.

What's most important is that we be eternally suspicious of the possibility of its presence. Collagen disease comes masked quite often. Any patient who comes to us with vague complaints which don't seem to fit into any easily recognized diagnostic pattern, should be under suspicion. We have special tests (and actual skin and muscle biopsies are made-cutting out bits of tissue for examination under the microscope) for finding the culprit.

Once we make the diagnosis another problem faces us: treatment. Notoriously, collagen disease can be stubborn and chronic and resistant.

Primarily, the most effective weapons we have in our armamentarium these days are the cortisone drugs and their derivatives. Once started, they have to be given for months and years to be of value.

Is your doctor considering the use of steroids, Mrs. O.? This is one detail I'm sure he'll be glad to take up with you.

IMAGINARY PLAYMATE VANISHES

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I've just lost a mutual friend of my son's and mine. My little boy was always telling me of his little friend Bob who he thought existed but who is an imaginary fellow. It was almost heartbreaking to listen to him, in all his innocence, tell of his companion. He actually thought he existed and it had me worried for a while.

Then another little boy moved next door who has become a constant playmate. It was not long before my boy's friend Bob disappeared forever. It made me feel sad. But that's the way it is in real life, too.--Mrs. K.

● Comment: I can't remember back so far, but chances are I had a little imaginary playmate, too. So did you. I wonder where they go. I tell parents never to make fun of these imaginary playmates.

CO-OP* introduces a new Farm Gasoline!

Because the gasoline requirements of the farmer are unique, your Co-operative brings you a new regular gasoline specially developed for farm use.

Oxidation during storage is a problem unique to the farmer, so is constant slow speed tractor operation and the need for seasonal power changes. Ordinary regular gasolines developed for automobiles, do not offer the special qualities needed to meet these farm driving conditions. New CO-OP Farm Gasoline does! This specially-formulated fuel meets these needs in five essential areas:

1 Minimum oxidation preserves fuel quality in storage.

CO-OP Farm Gasoline can be stored longer without fuel deterioration. That's because it has been developed to specifications that are double the minimum storage stability standards of most other gasolines. You get more power, more performance from every gallon of CO-OP Farm Gasoline.

2 Volatility controlled for increased power as you need it.

May through September is the time you require peak power performance from your fuel. CO-OP Farm Gasoline is adjusted month by month to meet this need. During spring and summer you get more vital power-producing ingredients at no extra cost!

3 Carburetor detergent cleans out harmful deposits.

The slow operating speeds and frequent idling of tractor engines cause excessive carbon deposits in the carburetor resulting in costly over-rich fuel mixtures. CO-OP Farm Gasoline includes a special carburetor detergent that eliminates these deposits, keeps the throttle clean, and prevents too-rich mixtures. You get smoother performance plus a saving in gasoline.

4 Built-in rust inhibitor protects vital parts.

Moisture in gasoline will corrode fuel tanks, lines and pumps. CO-OP Farm Gasoline contains a surface-active material that forms a protective coating on all contacted surfaces. Downtime is reduced during these critical farming periods.

5 Anti-icing additive combats cold weather stalls.

Ice will form in a carburetor as gasoline changes to vapour . . . this may build up on throttle blade and stall engines. CO-OP Farm Gasoline contains a de-icing additive that prevents ice from adhering to carburetor walls, passes it out through the engine, keeps you from being "stopped cold".

Your CO-OP Farm Gasoline Salesman will be calling soon.

*Registered Trade Mark

Try a tankful of top performance . . .

Group arranges uniform "exchange" for Boy Scouts

St. Mary's scout group, 2nd Lindsay, is starting a uniform exchange designed to put existing, unused uniforms into use. The main depot is St. Mary's school although it is understood, Mrs. Al. Wintemute, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary for the group is handling the exchange.

The group is buying unused uniforms and reselling them to boys in the scouting movement who do not have one. Since a scout uniform doesn't get a great deal of use and some boys will only be in scouts for one or two more years, some consider it not worthwhile to invest in a complete new uniform.

This system, if it proves successful, may be introduced on the district level. It is understood no profit is being made by the group for handling the "exchange", which makes it less expensive to be a uniformed scout.

Dalrymple

Sympathy is expressed to members of the Black family who suffered a loss in the death of Mr. George Black. Mr. Black died after a short illness on New Years Day and was buried at Dalrymple cemetery. Mr. Black made his home with his brother Mr. Richard Black and later his family and assisted with the work of the farm. He is survived by his brother, Mr. Richard Black Sr. and several neices an nephews and their families in this district who attended the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Radway and Mrs. Crouse spent the Nev Year holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harrington and Michael of Weston.

World news today

Tehran — The Iranian Premier was seriously wounded when hit by 2 bullets fired by a man believed to be a member of an Extremist Moslem religious sect.

Premier Ali Mansur was attacked in front of the parliament building in Tehran this morning. He was rushed to a hospital and given a blood transfusion. Doctors said he was out of danger.

The would-be assassin was captured not to far from the parliament building. The 41-year-old Mansur was enroute to the building to present new agreements between the National Iranian Oil Company and overseas oil firms.

Mansur assumed office 10 months ago to become the youngest Premier in Iran's history. Oil contracts between the nation's Nationalized Oil Industry and foreign firms have stirred past disturbances in Iran.

Ottawa — Conservative front bencher Alvin Hamilton last night called on members of the Tory party to stop "Public Soul Searching" about the leadership of John Diefenbaker and let the people support his policies.

In a ringing defence of Diefenbaker of the CBC's TV show "The Nation's Business", Hamilton said there never has been such a large number of independently minded Liberals who want to leave that party.

He said some are reluctant to support the Conservatives because of "Public Soul Searching" in the party.

Moscow — The Soviet Union has supplied fresh evidence it has not forgiven Sir Winston Churchill for coining the phrase "Iron Curtain" in 1945.

The military newspaper Red Star termed Churchill the "Godfather of the Cold War", charging he forged the Anglo-American defense alliance for the struggle against Communism in Eastern Europe. Its comment marked the first time since Churchill's illness that the Soviet press has done more than supply brief comment on his condition.

Its ire was aimed at Churchill's use of the "Iron Curtain" phrase to describe those nations held under Russian control after World War Two.

Montreal (UPI) — The admitted middle-man between government officials and friends of accused narcotics smuggler Lucien Rivard returns to the stand today at the Doricn Judicial inquiry.

Guy Masson yesterday said Royal Canadian Mounted Police accounts of what he told them earlier were accurate in parts. He was the fourth witness to make this charge.

The comment came when he admitted not telling RCMP about an alleged 60-thousand-dollar offer to Liberal party funds if Rivard was not extradited to the United States.

He said he deliberately concealed the incident, because in his words, "You never know how far these reporters can go". He did not elaborate.

Washington — The solemnity and festivity that marked President Lyndon Johnson's Inauguration have passed into history.

The President and Mrs. Johnson closed out the long Inaugural day early this morning after attending a series of five dances . . . each billed as "The" Inaugural Ball.

Laos — Military sources in Laos report that Communist Pathet Lao troops have launched a massive winter offensive.

Informed sources say the attacks have been started in connection with last week's U-S Air Force attacks against Red supply lines in Laos leading to South Viet Nam.

London — A little wine cost a London restaurant 180 dollars.

Mrs. Harold Shaw was awarded 180 dollars in damages because a waiter spilled red wine on her 224-dollar evening gown.

Redmen here to scalp Merchants Friday at nine

Lindsay Merchants will be gunning for four more points in the league standing Friday night when they meet Newmarket Redmen here. The Redskins tangle with the Aurora Tigers to-night at Newmarket in the first of their four pointers.

The game at the Kiwanis Arena Friday night winds up the schedule for the Junior "C" clubs who commence their play-offs next week. The first game of a double round robin series is slated for Tigertown on Younge street next Tuesday. The two top teams in the round robin series will meet in a best of seven set for the right to enter provincial play-downs.

Bob Taylor scored his 31st and 32nd goals of the season at Aurora Tuesday. George Babcock got his 18th assist, and Ray McCabe scored goals number 19 and 20 as the threesome continue to set the pace in Merchant scoring. Paul Yearwood added three assists to bring his total to 30 points. Rick Purdy scored his 13th goal to complete 33 points. Gord Frockking's two goals and one assist gives him 20 points, and Gary Heffernan scored his tenth goal.

Delegation from county council to oppose private bill for town

During Tuesday's meeting of the Victoria County Council Clerk-treasurer Frank Weldon read certain documents for later consideration by council. These included resolution from Prince Edward County concerning qualification of county council candidates in regard to unpaid taxes. The resolution for complete payment of taxes on all properties owned by the candidate be necessary for qualification. Another document named the finance committee along with the warden and county solicitor as a delegation to oppose the passing of a private bill to grant the town of Lindsay added votes on county business. A letter from Sommerville township opposing county assessment and a request for increase in salary by the county weed inspector were also noted. Letters from the townships of Carden, Fenelon, Laxton, Digby, and Longford opposing the formation of a County Health Unit were also included. Another resolution to have mileage paid council members declared tax free will come up for consideration of council.

Men's softball hold successful meeting

Fifteen names were submitted as possible executive material for the Lindsay Men's Softball at a well attended meeting last night. The meeting, held at the Recreation Centre, was one of the most enthusiastic meetings in recent years, and it is hoped to form an executive entirely separate from teams, players, or sponsors.

Those suggested for executive duty are to be contacted by the week end, and 1964 president Walter Stewart will convene the group at a later date.

A delegation was also appointed to meet the Lindsay recreation commission at their next meeting along with representatives from minor baseball and possibly soccer in the hope of obtaining lights for the George Street park.

WI presents 'programme for the New Year

Nestleton (PNS) — Nestleton Women's Institute held their first meeting of the new year at the home of Mrs. Grant Thompson with Mrs. Bruce Heaslip as co-hostess. Mrs. Arthur Hyland, President read a New Year's poem and the meeting opened in the usual manner.

The Roll Call was answered with an easy supper dish recipe. Many thank-you notes were read from former members and sick folks remembered with cards, flowers and gift parcels over the Christmas season. Several cards were signed by all present to folks in hospital. A New Year's card was received from Grove W.I. in England and cash donations from Mrs. Herman Samells and Mrs. G. Willett. A letter was read from the Goldcn Plough Lodge with thanks for Christmas gifts sent by the Institute and delivered in person by Mr. and Mrs. R. Davison.

The 4-H Homemaking Club project, Sod and Crop Improvement Meeting and Summary Day, "New Lamps for Old", in Solina Community Hall, January 27th was brought to the attention of the members. Since quilts are on order and some are unfinished it was thought impossible to quilt other pieced tops. Patches received from Unitarian services will be utilized to complete those on hand. All were requested to bring thir Christmas cards to the next meeting to send to Miss Doreen Van Camp, a teacher in India.

Mrs. George Johns very ably enlarged on the days motto "A stitch in time saves nine". She closed with a familiar poem from an early school reader.

Mrs. George Heaslip, convener of Home Economics and Health, though unable to be present had prepared a fine program: Mrs. Charles Graham, Mrs. Malcolm Emerson, Miss Ruth Proutt, Mrs. Bruce Heaslip, Mrs. A. Beacock, Mrs. George Bowers and Mrs. Adelbert Beacock each gave a reading.

Mrs. Wilford Jackson's group served lunch and Mrs. Lawrence Malcolm voiced the thanks of the meeting for the pleasant afternoon.

New flag raised on February 15

(UPI) — Canada's new flag — a single, red maple leaf on a white background with red bars at each end — will be raised simultaneously across Canada and in many parts of the world February 15th.

Prime Minister Lester Pearson told newsmen in Ottawa today, February 15th was picked because it is the day before parliament reconvenes following its winter recess and he hopes most members will be back in the capital for the ceremony.

The Prime Minister said he will announce details of the flag raising ceremony next week. Peason said he will write provincial premiers about the plans and hopes they will take part.

"This will be our tribute to the past and our tribute to the future," he said. The red ensign will play a part in the ceremony but Canada's second flag, the Union Jack, will not be involved.

Said the Prime Minister, "This is not a Commonwealth occasion, it is a Canadian occasion."

UCW install new officers

Blackstock (PNS) — The annual meeting of the U.C.W. was held in the Christian Education room on January 5th, 1965. The retiring president, Mrs. Niel Malcolm opened the meeting with "Ten Commandments for the New Year" followed with prayer.

Mrs. Walter Wright and Mrs. Lloyd Wright of the Dorcas Unit conducted a fine devotional period with the theme "Real happiness lies in the joys of achievement".

In calling the roll the secretary reported the number of meetings each member had attended.

Several notes of appreciation for remembrances at Christmas were received. Reports of all departments were given. Following the report of the Nominating Committee by Mrs. Glenn Larmer, Mrs. Malcolm expressed appreciation for co-operation during her term of office and hopes for continued success in the future and turned the meeting over to Rev. P. Romeril who gave an inaugural address and installed the following officers: Past President - Mrs. Neil Malcolm; President - Mrs. Harold Kyte; 1st Vice-President - Mrs. Glenn Larmer; 2nd Vice-President - Mrs. Roy McLaughlin; Secretary - Mrs. Ralph Larmer; Treasurer - Mrs. Gordon Paisley; Conveners - Mrs. Roy McLaughlin, Mrs. Kenneth Lee, Mrs. Stanford Van Camp and Mrs. Harold McLaughlin; Literature - Mrs. Russell Mountjoy; Manse - Mrs. Ivan Thompson and Mrs. Harold Martyn; Membership - Mrs. Harvey Graham; Nomination - Mrs. W. Press and Archives Mrs. Cecil Hill; Pianist - Mrs. Gordon Strong; Unit leaders - Mrs. Kenneth Samells, Mrs. P. Romeril, Mrs. Walter Wright and Mrs. B. Mountjoy.

The new President Mrs. Kyte conducted a few items of business. Mrs. Caraghan expressed thanks to the retiring President. (Rev. Romeril closed the meeting with prayer and lunch was served.

Inaugural meet Township Council

Blackstock (PNS) — The Township of Cartwright held their Inaugural meeting on January 5, 1965 with Cartwright Council, Reeve Merrill Van Camp; Deputy Reeve, John Hamilton; Councillors Bill Ferguson, Ernie Swain, and Gordon Gunter. Appointments to Board of Education, Dalton Dorrell, Walter Wright, Dave Wilson Harvey Graham, Neil Malcolm; and Rev. Canon Ashmore. After the declaration of office Canon Ashmore reviewed the interesting history of Cartwright, early members of council and their descendants. Reeve Merril Van Camp thanked the Canon for his interesting address. Dalton Dorrell chairman of the Board of Education expressed appreciation of the close relations between the council and the Board of Education and all attended a chicken dinner at the Bonfire Bar B. Q. as guests of the township. All returned to the council chambers for a short session.

Many items of business were dealt with including application for winter employment and report of the fire department.

Councillors Swain and Gettins were appointed to the cemetery committee; John Hamilton and Bill Ferguson to the Construction Advisory Committee; Reeve Van Camp to the Port Perry Hospital Board; Councillor Ferguson accepted appointment to the Federation of Agriculture; and John Hamilton was re-elected Law enforcement officer. Correspondence was dealt with. Requests from the Blackstock Brownies to erect a bulletin board; Regarding safety of public buildings; Ken Symons, as clerk of United Counties; from the Department of Highways; Regarding medical services; the Workman's Compensation Board; Lake Scugog Regatta Association; Regarding Clarence Savinac; O.M.E.R.S.; Minimum wage scale; Regarding rink annex; Publishers of Law and Tax Tables; and the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities. Several were dealt with and the remainder filed for another meeting at an early date.

A special meeting was held at the Township garage on Jan. 11th to finalize business and discuss the road program. The meeting adjourned and all inspected the new annex at the skating rink.

Oakwood Minor Hockey Teams win two out of three games

Oakwood Minor Hockey teams in Pee Wee, Bantam and Midget categories have started their 1965 operations with marked success. Commission member Lloyd Graham reported a very successful evening on Friday when Oakwood Pee Wee and Bantam teams were hosts to corresponding teams from Beaverton.

In the opening game Monday night, pee-wee goalie Leslie Davidson registered his first shut-out of the season as his mates gained a 4 - 0 win in a hard-fought battle. Bob West scored twice with single goals by Darryl Graham and Larry McMillan clinching the verdict.

In the Bantam game, star defenceman for the Oakwood Bantams, George Davidson gave his team a 1 - 0 lead in the first period, within two minutes of the start of the game. In the second period a goal by Paul Lees, assisted by Paul Graham was equalled by a Beaverton goal to give the home team a 2 - 1 edge. Beaverton tied the score in the third period, but a hard drive by Paul Graham proved to be the winning goal for the 3 - 2 victory.

The Oakwood Midgets had a two to nothing lead early in their game with Little Britain Midgets but fell behind losing the contest 4 - 2. The Oakwood lads looked sharp in their new green and white sweaters. Cannington, Sunderland, and Woodville also have teams in this O.M.H.A. league

Academy Theatre officers tell county council of progress

"The operating account of the Academy Theatre Foundation showed its initial year with a surplus of $500" Foundation secretary A. B. Patterson told members of Victoria County Council Wednesday morning. Mr. Patterson and Foundation president Dr. C.W. Service appeared before council as a delegation representing the Academy Theatre Foundation in support of a conditional grant from the county.

Relating the history of the project, Mr. Patterson said the foundation was formed in October 1963, and since that time the property had been purchased and extensive renovations carried out. He said their objective was to renovate and hold the theatre for the use of all people in the area. He said last year's objective of $65,000 had been exceeded by $1,000. part of which came from the Victoria County Council. Renovations had cost more than anticipated partly due to extensive alterations were required in a public building he said and the budget had been overspent.

Further renovation will be discontinued until the needed $23,000 is available to pay off indebtedness the secretary reported, and expressed hope in receiving part of the Centennial grant to assist in the renovation programme. Since September 1964, $8,500 has been raised in cash and pledges and a membership of over 800 has now been recorded.

In closing Mr. Patterson expressed the gratitude of the Foundation for the assistance of the 1964 County Council, and thanked the new council for their consideration of the request. "The money will be put to good use" he assured the council.

Victoria Road 9, Kirkkfield 4 In an exhibition hockey game held in the Eldon Township Arena, Kirkfield, on Saturday night, January 16, 1965, Victoria Road beat Kirkfield by the score of Nine to four (9 - 4).

Sunderland

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Vesthy and family attended a family dinner party at the home of her sister, Mrs. Vyse Wescott of Beaverton in honour of their father, Marshall Garbatt who was celebrating his 84th birthday.

Members of the United Church High C and their friends had an evening skating party with the light from a bonfire on the pond of Keith Rynard farm. Refreshments were served afterwards at the Rynard home. About 40 attended and report having had a good time.

Sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Young in their bereavement

More requests for assistance as years go by—Clerk Weldon

"There seems to be more requests for financial assistance as the years go by" said county clerk Frank Weldon at the Wednesday morning session of county council. Mr. Weldon made this comment as he prepared council for the presentation of delegations, suggesting that they be heard in order of their application for a hearing.

The first delegation heard by council was John Lawson representing the Lake Ontario Development Association. Mr. Lawson in describing the spreading of regional development beyond Ontario into Quebec, the U.S.A. and the western provinces, explained that the Lake Ontario Development Association is financed by voluntary memberships, such as is contributed to by Victoria County, and this is matched by a like amount by the provincial government, as the Association represents the whole area.

The main purpose of L.O.D.A. is promotional not only in the tourist field, but also in agriculture, Industry, parks, and highways he said.

"We (the L.O.D.A.) carry data sheets on any given area in response to enquiries, do industrial statistics and assist municipalities in securing industry, as well as attending major sports shows in the U.S.A. in the interest of tourism" he said. "We also sponsor delegates from each county in soil and crop study tours and assist in agricultural promotion".

In closing John Lawson suggested council consider continuing their help in 1965. In reply to a query by county clerk Frank Weldon. Mr. Lawson suggested the council appoint two delegates to attend L.O.D.A. meetings.

School teachers should be Civil Servants Mayor tells Kiwanians

Objective Reporting

One essential requirement in making democracy work is a well informed public, commented Mayor Joseph Holtom at a speech given at the Peterboro Kiwanis Club this week. Mr. Holtom also said "It is a continual source of amazement to me that upon reading the account of a Council meeting in the three different newspapers, that cover our Council in Lindsay, it would appear that each one has covered an entirely different meeting."

Mr. Holtom also had in his prepared speech (although the comment was deleted before he gave it, the comment, "There is a great deal of room for objective and conscientious news reporting in this country".

We resent this statement of Mayor Holtom's although we acknowledge the fact he thought twice and didn't use it in public. We are fortunate, in Canada to have a responsible press, undoubtedly one of the most responsible in the world. We have worked on newspapers in two different countries and have been closely associated with newspaper reporting in a third. In addition, because of our occupation, we have studied the news reporting on papers in many parts of the world we have visited and/or lived in—Britain, France, Austria, Germany, Switzerland, Spain, Canada and the United States and are familiar with their newspapers.

Not objective! The first thing a reporter has drummed into him by a hard-headed news editor is to remain detached from the story and stay objective. At a council meeting, councillors express many different views on a subject. In a similar way the newspaper reporter sees the importance of the councillors statements in different ways. Are you suggesting, Mr. Holtom, that the Lindsay newspapers are conscientious when they follow your views, and reporting badly when they give prominence to the views of a councillor who is opposed to your thinking?

This newspaper (and we are sure most Canadian newspapers) is concerned with what is good for the community as a whole. Reporting the news, even hot news, is a coldly impersonal job. Effective news writing must be objective and factual, and opinions are expressed in editorial columns and not in news columns.

Another reason for "different" approaches to news stories is that the style of news writing is determined by the character of the paper's readers. Style varies between papers because of the area of circulation the papers have. A newspaper that circulates among the better educated can successfully employ a more sophisticated style of writing than that circulating among the less well educated.

In this country, Mr. Holtom, the journalistic rule of "Fair play" is carefully followed. We, like most papers insist that the reporter gathering and writing the story tells both sides of a story and avoid colouring his account with his opinions. Only through editorials and columns do we permit opinion to be used.

Reader-interest is the touchstone of news value and we will continue to present the news of this community objectively and conscientiously.

"We are constantly hearing about the rapidly increasing costs of education, and, of course, our Association of Mayors and Reeves of Ontario has asked the province to assume 80% of these costs, as we feel that education is properly a provincial matter, rather than as it is now, a heavy burden on the home owner", said Mayor Joseph Holtom in his address to the Peterboro Kiwanis Club on Thursday on the occasion of the 50th Anniversary of Kiwanis International.

"In other words, property should only be taxed for the services it receives, such as roads, sidewalks, sewers, police and fire protection, etc. — and since education is a basic requirement for the development of human resources of our people — its cost should be assumed on a broader basis, by the province", claimed Mayor Holtom. "To develop the argument a little further", he said, "all school teachers who are paid out of the public purse should be placed in the category of Civil Servants. This then, would relieve you as ous school boards from the exasperating and futile task of outbidding each other for teacher services — when they are all getting their money from the same source — the taxpayer".

Mayor Holtom said in asking the Provincial Government to assume this major cost, there would be an outcry of "loss of autonomy", but, he said, this was an "illusion of our time", because the Board of Education can, he said, "hardly buy a bottle of ink to balance the budget without approval from the Department of Education, if they want to receive the required grants so magnanimously doled out by the Provincial Government".

He said a few years ago in the Association a great controversy arose over the matter of asking the provincial government to pay 80% of the costs of education, rather than all the cost, and the mayor said he thought the representatives of the Association had been instrumental in obtaining increased grants over the years.

DEBENTURE DEBTS

Mayor Holtom remarked on the old timers are dismayed at the large amounts of debenture debts carried by some municipalities today. He pointed out however that these long-term debts are backed by the assets and resources of the municipality, in the form of reality and business assessment. "These long-term debts reflect the confidence of your citizenry in investing in the future growth, improvement and prosperity of your city and its people".

Mayor Holtom told the Peterborough Kiwanis that there was a trend in the organization of local government in Ontario to the Council-Manager system where all administrative functions are co-ordinated and directed by an appointed manager. This method, widely used in the United States and some western provinces was recommended by the mayor for cities over 25,000.

PARTY SYSTEM

Mayor Holtom said he did not agree with the introduction of the party system into local governments. "I do not agree with this", said Mr. Holtom, "In my opinion this would be a great disservice to the democratic principle". In the past 5 - 6 years, we have seen the spectacle of our democratic parliamentary system fail to function in Ottawa, due to subversion of national interests to that of party politics. We certainly do not need this paralyzing malfuction occurring also at the local level."

"In my nine years as an elected representative", he added, "it has been my experience that municipal governments most effectively when members of council worked as a team — both in council and with the heads of departments."

"The resultant teamwork does not preclude debate, differences of opinion and constructive criticism of any particular project. These are very necessary measures of arriving at the proper answers to problems that may arise, but these discussions should be carried out on a high level that eliminates personalities and headline seeking", said the mayor.

"Unfortunately", claimed the mayor, "many council meetings are very dull and long, and the slightest flare-up or argument during a meeting can bring headlines which can completely distort proceedings of the whole Council meeting, as reported in the local press. However, if I were selling newspapers, I too would want to have some interesting headlines for the readers of city affairs."

Two-cars collide, $450 damage

Damage estimated at $450 resulted when two cars collided at the intersection of Riddout and Simcoe Streets at 7:35 p.m. Thursday. Lindsay Police said a car driven by Earl Robert Mohr, 27, of 35 Maynard Road sustained $300 damage when it was in collision with a vehicle driven by Kenneth Deck, 33, of 27 St. Paul Street, which sustained $150 damage. Police said a passenger in the Mohr vehicle, Mrs. Elizabeth Mohr of 3 Georgian Street, who is Robert Mohr's mother, received a slight knee injury.

Lindsay Police said the Deck vehicle was proceeding north on Simcoe when it came into collision with the Mohr car which was travelling west on Ridout Street.

Lindsay Police Sergeant Gordon Eberts, who investigated the accident, said the roads were very slippery at the time.

Cars crash noon today

Damage or $110 resulted when two cars crashed in the middle of the intersection at William and Wellington Street at noon today. Lindsay Police said a vehicle driven by Donald M. Morrison, 35, of 30 St. James Street, owned by Charles Ford of Kawartha Electric service, was proceeding east on Wellington Street and the second vehicle driven by Eric Peter Quibell, 23 or 27 Howard Avenue, was southbound on William Street when the accident occurred. Damage to the vehicle driven by Morrison was estimated at $50 and the Quibell vehicle sustained $60 damage.

Lindsay Police Constable William March, who investigated, said no injuries resulted.

Honest Spoofs

Programmes that are notably successful in the ratings on television have an unfortunate habit of disappearing overnight. With the competition of TV, movies have improved greatly in recent years and undoubtedly movie goers of today are more discriminating than the average TV viewer.

While such TV programmes as the Bell Hour, Jack Paar and UNCLE receive acclaim, they do not hold the mass of viewers and will, no doubt fall victim of the rating system. The current UNCLE series is critized by many who "cannot understand such stuff", and say, "who would believe it." Don't try and explain to them the show is a great big spoof, and that's the point of these shows, they won't understand you... In the same way, as many intelligent people are turning to the shenanigans of 007-James Bond for enjoyable light relief, so are discriminating TV viewers enjoying UNCLE, Dangerman and similar shows.

Please, don't take them for real. But please, don't take them off our TV screens either.

Poet's Corner

Home Economics

Cleany homes are most essential,
To health and happiness complete;
Where clothes are laundered well—and pressed
—Then stored, or hung on hangers neat.

Fresh air to breathe; while fast asleep
Fresh air, while on the morning round
Some sunshine ray to light the day —
—And keep the mind and body sound.

Good food well cooked and nicely served,
Vegetables, both ripe and green,
Fresh fruits to satisfy the taste;
—Then family, keep the platter clean.

The house-wife should have time to rest,
Each afternoon and eventide;
Or do some mending and perchance—
To read a book or business guide.

To keep the budget balanced well—
Nor scorning the installment plan —
To always live within the bounds,
—Of salary earned, by honest man.

Like Mother used to make

A pharmacy professor who is one of the two men on the new advisory council of consumers says he will not specialize. Accordingly it was no surprise to find him speaking in one intervew about drug products and strawberry jam.

When he goes into a supermarket, he says, and sees jars on the shelf for 43 cents and 53 cents, he scratches his head and wonders what is up. He wants more information on the label.

The professor has probably never made a pot of strawberry jam. Those who have known what a difference the ingredients make, all other things being equal, would likely accept the ten-cent difference in price as sufficient explanation. In jam as in most other things you usually get the quality you are willing to pay for.

A discriminating jam consumer hopes the labels won't get to technical. "Like mother used to make" is suggested for the 53-cent jar.

Justice, though late haunts "Desk Killers"

Frankfurt, Germany (UPI) — Time and the law have finally caught up with Hitlers "desk killers"—the men who gave orders but never dipped their hands in the blood of Nazism's Jewish victims.

Twenty years after Nazi hangman Adolf Eichmann all but wiped out European Jewry's last refuge in Hungary, his two closest henchmen now face the verdict of a war crimes court.

Otto Hunsche, 53, and Hermann Krumey 59, have been on trial for eight months, charged with helping Eichmann ship 437,000 of Hungary's million Jews to the Auschwitz gas chambers. Now the trail has ended and a verdict is expected in about three weeks.

The two former SS officers have maintained from the start they killed no one, that they were functionaries obeying orders and signing papers — some of which sent Jews to Auschwitz in sealed cattle cars.

They have claimed repeatedly they knew nothing of gassings and mass murder. They thought, they swore, they were deporting the thousands of refugees to a "work camp."

"The acts of Krumey and Hunsche clearly qualify as murder," prosecuting attorney Hans Grossman said in demanding life imprisonment, Germany's maximum sentence, for the defendants.

The prosecution insisted both accused knew precisely what they were doing and shared responsibility with Eichmann for the mass killings.

Eichmann, his deputy Krumey, and legal advisor Hunsche were sent to Hungary in 1944 with a small staff of SS experts on "Jewish affairs" to organize the biggest pogrom in history, the charges said.

Once in Budapest, according to the War Crimes Court, Eichmann and staff forced councils of prominent Jewish citizens to help them register and round up in Ghettos nearly all of Hungary's Jews.

After that, Lt. Col. Krumey and Capt. Hunsche took an active — even conscientious—part in procuring trains to take the Jews from the Ghettos on the one-way ride to Auschwitz, the prosecution charged.

"No, no ... that's not true at all" a red faced Krumey exclaimed on one occasion. "When I came to Budapest I just hung around the Astoria Hotel and went window-shopping — I had nothing to do."

Hunsche, a former judge, claimed he was too busy with the legal complexities of converting Jewish property to SS bank accounts to have anything to do with deportations to Auschwitz.

Prosecutor Grossman termed Hunsche and Krumey "desk killers who did not kill with their hands — they were perhaps worse. On their desks converged the threads of the schemes for the annihilation of Hungarian Jewry."

The late Joel Brand, whose testimony helped send Eichmann to the Israeli gallows, told the court shorty before his fourth and fatal heart attack that Hungarian Jews bargained vainly with Krumey to prevent that annihilation.

He said prominent Jews offered $2 million payment to save the lives of their people from the gas chambers only to be betrayed when Eichmann's killer squads began their roundup in spring, 1944.

Krumey's demands for more money, Brand said, led to the ill-fated "Truck Bargain", in which Eichmann promised the lives of one million Jews if Brand could get the Nazis 10,000 trucks from the Allies.

"The "bargain" was rejected by the British, Brand said, and 437,000 Hungarian Jews went to their deaths.

Testimony revealed how Hunsche and Krumey were brought to trial so long after the "Thousand Year Reich" collapsed in the rubble of the Fuehrer's Berlin Bunker.

Hunsche had melted into the semi-obscurity of his small-town law practice in Westphalia. Krumey fathered four children and ran a family drugstore in the Black Forest Village of Morbach. Both men enjoyed local respectability—until 1962 and the Eichmann trial.

Eichmann, himself snatched from carefully woven obscurity in South America by Israeli agents, shattered the cozy world of lawyer Hunsche and druggist Krumey when he stood in the defendant's box in a Jerusalem courtroom and named as his closest henchmen in the Hungarian pogrom—Hunsche and Krumey.Then the two men found themselves confronted with a past they thought had been safely buried.

A SPLIT SECOND .....
"It can't happen here!"
Oh, can't it?
Driving to work, cast a solid thought at what would happen to you if that bus over on your right suddenly snapped a steering connection, or that motorist ahead suddenly fainted. Walking on the road side, take a good look at the thousands of tons of motorized steel and glass hurtling along within inches of your ribs. It would take only one of them a split second to turn you into a mangled corpse.

There's a lot you can do to prevent something like this. All you have to do is to be certain that the way you are driving or walking is the safe way. You'll know; no need to list the qualifications.

Local boy for NHL

Jack Cain, 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cain, Glenelg Street East, signed a professional hockey contract with Montreal Canadiens on Saturday last, the Post was informed by his father today. Details as to the sums mentioned in the contract have not been made known. The signing of this contract, which gives Lindsay its first son in the ranks of the major league hockey since Joe Primeau retired from the Maple Leaf Club, climaxes years of intensive training by the young man who has starred consistently in the Quebec senior league, playing with Montreal Concordias.

Five Beaverton boys overseas

At this early stage of the war Beaverton has five of her boys already in England, this being a very good percentage for the size of the place. They are: Mac. King who for some months worked in Bragg's meat market in Lindsay this summer; E. J. Norris, Jack Rennie, Fred Burgess and Ray Watson. The balance who enlisted from Beaverton will also be leaving shortly. They are: E. Howe, E. McMillan, James MacHattie, Stan Ball, H. Soanes, H. Reid, Wes. Woodward, H. Goudis, E. Bowin, H. Mace, Frank Devine, Art Smith, Charles Shier and Frank Shier (brothers), Edwin Phillips, Don Smith and George Hartwick.

Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Webster, pioneer residents of Fenelon Township and for the past 26 years of Fenelon Falls, will mark the 64th anniversary of their wedding on February 2.

Leave it to us—Hughes

Addressing three thousand people at Calgary last night, Major-General Hughes referred briefly to the boots furnished the men of the First Contingent. "I am sorry to say some of the issue of boots were not as good as they should be. Leave it to us that we will get after the fellows who did not do their duty." The Minister spent a busy afternoon here inspecting the troops and addressing the Canadian Club.

Tonight at the Academy

Last night was hockey club night at the Academy and a large audience was there to witness one of the best performances yet given by Feldman and Christie's Imperial Musical Comedy Company. "The Elopers" was the attraction, and every moment from the rise of the curtain until its fall was crowded full of enjoyment. Mr. Christie as "Clancy" was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Feldman as "Dippy," an eccentric character, was also seen to great advantage. His song and walk imitations were one of the evening's hits.

The girls wearing sweaters and carrying hockey sticks for the opening of the first act made a pretty picture.

The offering for this evening will be "The Girl from Broadway," and no doubt another big crowd will be out.

SAUERBRAUTEN — AN INEXPENSIVE GOURMET DELIGHT

Less tender cuts of beef such as round steak roasts, chuck roasts or rump roasts are wise buys if they are cooked properly to make them tender and juicy. Long, slow cooking in simmering liquid is an excellent way to tenderize meat. But for a special treat, try sauerbrauten or sour beef, a German dish with a tangy flavor. In this recipe, marinating the beef in vinegar helps to tenderize it.

SAUERBRAUTEN

4 pounds beef pot roast; 2 cups vinegar; white or cider; 6 cups water; ¾ cup brown sugar; 2 tablespoons whole pickling spice; ¼ teaspoon garlic powder or 1 garlic clove. 1¼ cups chopped onion; ½ cup chopped celery leaves and stalks; ½ cup chopped carrots; sour cream.

Meat should be in one or more pieces suitable for slicing. Mix vinegar, water, brown sugar and spices. Pour over meat and let stand 4 days to one week, depending on the desired flavor.

Simmer in a covered pot until tender, about 4 hours.

Remove meat and slice. Strain liquid and thicken for gravy.

Add ½ cup sour cream per 4 cups of stock to the gravy.

Serves 8 to 10.

For a buffet meal, place sliced meat in chaffing dish and pour gravy over it.

Storing Paint

On way to prevent that annoying crust or skin from forming on the top of leftover oil-base paint is to pour an inch of water on top of the paint before closing the can. When the paint is to be used again, simply pour off the water and skim off the last of it with a teaspoon if necessary.

Silver Hairbrushes

Do not put silver-backed hairbrushes into water to clean. Instead, rub the bristles well in flour until they are clean, then remove the flour with tissues.

White Enamel

To prevent white enamel from yellowing, try adding one teaspoonful of black enamel to each quart of white enamel used.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I get more "milesge" from my sandpaper?

A. Brush it with a stiff, dry scrubbing brush when the surface of the paper becomes clogged with powdered wood or paint. After a good brushing, you'll generally find that your sandpaper will "cut" again.

Q. How can I remove medicine stains from sheets or linens?

A. Apply a paste of fuller's earth and ammonia to the stains, leave on until dry, then wash the stains out with cold water. After the cold-water treatment, launder in the usual manner.

Q. How can I do a good job of mending a torn lace curtain?

A. Try ironing a piece of Starched net over the hole, which is usually a better and easier method of repair than stitching or darning over the hole.

Three Minden youths fined on Common Assault charge

The police and the Crown were placed in an "embarrassing position" when a 17-year-old girl, Sharon McKelvey of Minden refused to give evidence in Lindsay Police Court Thursday against three Minden youths who allegedly assaulted her near Minden on January 7, said Magistrate Jan Munro.

The three, Ronald Rivers, 19, Dennis Moore, 17, and Leslie McCracken, 18, were each fined $50 and costs or 30 days for common assault, with the exception the Rivers youth was given an option of 15 days since he had spent 12 days in custody, awaiting the trial. The charge was reduced from one of indecent assault because the girl would not co-operate after the charge was laid.

Defence Counsel Terrance Kelly of Oshawa, pointed out to the court that the boys, pleaded guilty to the common assault charge, co-operated with the police in every way. He called to the stand Charles Brandon, the reeve of Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships and William Coneybeare, a Minden businessman who gave character evidence for Moore and McCracken, respectively.

Minden OPP Constable Earl Bush said the girl, accompanied by her father, went to the Minden OPP office on January 6 and said the girl had been in a local restaurant on the previous evening when she was invited out to a car. Evidence showed the girl went for a ride in the car with the three boys. McCracken, who was the driver, drove about seven miles out of Minden and stopped the car. The girl told police she had been mauled. Constable Bush said, as a result of her screaming, the boys became scared and took the girl home.

When the complainant was called to the stand she said, "I will not testify against these boys. I feel I'm as much to blame as they are". She said she joked and fooled around with them.

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan said, "The attitude of the complainant puts the police and myself in a rather embarrassing position".

Magistrate Jan Munro said the police were justified in laying the charge and the plaintiff could have laid herself open to a charge of public mischief by refusing to testify.

Speaking to the boys Magistrate Munro said they had nothing to be proud of-"three great husky men attacking a small girl".

New officers installed at Omemee Legion

Omemee (PNS) — Omemee Branch No. 497 of the Royal Canadian Legion elected the following officers for 1965: President, Jerry Blake; 1st Vice-President, Garnet Mitchell; 2nd Vice-President, Wm. Hindon; Recording Secretary Gordon Bocock; Treasurer John Bent; Sergeant-at-Arms, Cecil McGill and Executive of Reuben Reeds, Wm. Acreman, Clarence Clifford, Robert Skuce, Clinton Endicott. Yet to be appointed are a Padre and a local service officer.

The local branch are to be congratulated for their efforts during the past few years. They have renovated a historic old brick building into a fine headquarters. They have been helped greatly by a loyal band of Ladies Auxiliary members.

85 point man heads Dave Lucas' Jets

Playing coach Dave Lucas has his Johnstown Jets flying lately with eight wins in the last ten games. Team captain Dick Roberge is blasting the way for the Jets with 35 goals and 50 assists in 48 games.

The Jets with three home games this week, hope to overtake the Long Island Ducks and move into second place in the league standings. Clinton in first place with 70 points appear to have the pennant well in hand, but the rampaging Jets should be nudging them before the season ends.

Dave Lucas besides piloting his team from behind the blueline has already picked up 28 assists to go along with his five goals to date.

Bible Society receives donation

Haliburton (PNS) — The County Ministerial Association are holding their week of prayer. The first meeting was held in the United Church in Lochlin on January 4th, Tuesday at the Salvation Army in Haliburton and Wednesday in the West Guilford Gospel Hall. Thursday evening the service was in the Eagle Lake Church and then back to Haliburton where a service was held in St. George's Anglican Church.

The offerings at these services were forwarded to the work of the Bible Society.

Truck crashes into ditch

A truck owned by Trent Valley Bakeries and driven by Joseph C. Peters of 104 Durham Street West sustained extensive damage when it crashed into a ditch on Lindsay Street South, opposite St. Mary's Cemetery at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Lindsay police said the vehicle had been proceeding south and went off the road onto the west shoulder. Police said the vehicle went out of control, crossed the road and crashed into the east ditch.

The vehicle was extensively damaged police said, and added, the driver was shaken up but not injured.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steinrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

TOILET TRAINING SOMETIMES A PROBLEM

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Please help me. I have a 5-year-old boy that I am unable to toilet train. This child, in my opinion, is normal physically and mentally. He entered kindergarten at a private school about six months ago. On his report card his teacher wrote: 'Beautifully adjusted child'. It is a pleasure to have him in my class".

This child has been trained for dryness since he was 2 years of age. But he has never had a bowel movement on the toilet. His usual spot to hid is in a clothes closet. I have discussed this with him and he looks seriously right at me but refuses to say anything.

We have tried spanking, putting him to bed early, bribery and leaving him dirty. We have bought toys that he has you have twice designated to him as "this child"; as if he were a stranger in your house giving you trouble.

I can only guess at the cause of the turmoil. How much self-examination have you made? It's possible, you know, that the fault lies in you. You have not mentioned seeking medical advice. Have you consult-

Vacation have become miserable with us because of him. Being away from home and the familiar closets, he doesn't move his bowels at all. The whole situation has become unbearable and embarrassing.

I am not a new mother. I am 35 and have three other children-girls 11, 15 and 17 years of age-Mrs. X.

IS LACK OF LOVE TO BLAME?

Comment: Anyone reading your letter will agree that you are faced with a stubborn problem. The question is: What to do about it?

First, let me ask you a personal question. Do you really love your boy or does he feel you have, for some reason, rejected him? In your entire letter you have not once referred to him as "our son", or "my boy." However, I note that you have twice designated to him as "this child"; as if he were a stranger in your house giving you trouble.

I can only guess at the cause of the turmoil. How much self-examination have you made? It's possible, you know, that the fault lies in you. You have not mentioned seeking medical advice. Have you consulted your pediatrician, family doctor or a psychiatrist?

ANOTHER CASE

On the day I received your letter I opened the pages of the Journal of the American Medical Association. In the Question and Answer department one physician asked another to try to solve a toilet training problem in a child. (You see, it is more common than you realize). Let me quote partially from the reply by William P. Barba, II, M.D., of Newark, N.J., with whom I agree:

"The basic advice to de-emphasize parental efforts to toilet train a child is still good. Many parents are unable to accept this advice, and while verbally condoning that they are not and have not pressured the child, find many subtle ways of which they are unconsciously aware.

"The 4 to 6-year-old child is particularly prone to develop phobias-one of which is to have a bowel movement on the toilet. Phobias are usually expressions of anxiety not necessarily related to the phobia subject.

"The basic management requires the development of complete acceptance on the part of the parents, most particularly the mother, of the need to de-emphasize elimination as a problem.

"While time may resolve the problem, the potential complications make active therapy mandatory".

As I said previously, Mrs. X., it's time for immediate medical consultation to get at the solution.

TRAINING A DOG TO TRAIL

ONE WAY TO TRAIN A PUP IS TO FIND A "FORM" IN GRASS WHERE THE GAME YOU SEEK HAS RECENTLY BEEN SITTING. WAGGLE YOUR HAND OVER AND POINTING TO IT, ENCOURAGE PUP TO INVESTIGATE. SMELL AND FOLLOW THAT ODOR FROM "F." IF HE SEES GAME, FINE! HELP HIM PICK UP ITS TRAIL.

ANOTHER WAY IS LET HIM PLAY WITH A DEAD RABBIT, COON, OR OTHER DESIRED GAME, OR ITS UNTANNED SKIN. WHEN TRAIL IS AROUND AND LEFT PUP FIND IT.

HOLLYWOOD

(By United Press International)

Hollywood (UPI) — Sitting in his dressing room alongside the warehouse size studio in which he works, comedian Red Skelton thought for a moment and said, "nobody can make an audience laugh.

"You can only try," continued the funny redhead as he bit the end off an unlit cigar.

Red was discussing comedy, its forms, its methods and its frustrations, the latter being the most devastating element in a clown's life.

"I've got a long way to go," said the veteran of more than 40 years in show business. "I'm just as surprised as anybody when I go out on stage and the audience laughs."

Unlike many performers who are loathe to admit their work has foundations in the work of others, Skelton traces his comedy back to what he calls "The Italian School of Slapstick."

Red spoke of Pantomime, that silent school of clowning with which he has long been associated. It is a comedy form that he will graphically depict on his Feb. 5 CBS-TV show which features the great french pantomimist Marcel Marceau.

Speaking of Pantomime, Skelton said it is an expressive method of getting laughs, one ideally suited for television.

"I'll tell you why," he said. "At any age, you don't have to explain the jokes to the audience. If it's funny, it's there.

"Television is something you look at. On radio you had to tell jokes, paint your own picture. On television, the less words, the better. The audience has to watch you to get the jokes."

Skelton analyzed different forms of comedy, from the totally silent actor who works without words to the joke telling comedian.

"Pantomime is the hardest form of comedy" he claimed. "It's just you go on a bare stage. You have to make an audience like you and you didn't even say hello."

Skelton compares his interest in comedy analysis to that of a doctor who studies anatomy.

You can't get people to laugh if you don't know the subject at which you are poking fun said Red who cited an example.

"For instance," he said, "I can't get laughs with baseball jokes. I'm not much of a baseball fan and I'm not much on any sports.

"I live on a golf course in Palm Springs and I don't play golf. There's a sand trap in front of my house. I was going to put a skeleton in that trap and also leave a small tape recorder to tape what the golfers said when they found the skeleton.

"I'll bet they would look at the skeleton and say, 'mind if I play through?'"

County Council Comments

Victoria County Council got away to a good start and as usual the January session proved to be a very busy one. Robert Cammack was elected Warden on the first ballot and that was a surprise to many of the councillors. With seven years municipal service under his belt, he will no doubt guide the "ship of state" successfully through troubled waters.

Next January when the inaugural ceremony takes place plans should include the installation of an amplifier in the main corridor. There were almost as many standing up in the hall as were seated in the council chamber, but they could not hear a thing, and when they found they couldn't hear what was going on, then they talked out loud. Too bad the chamber could not be enlarged by punching a hole in the west wall. Today with the enlarged membership the council it is difficult to accodate the members within the walled area. However the stately old council chamber is one of the most dignified in officials. He has been at inaugurals for over thirty-seven years. He "knows the ropes" and can always be counted on to have details well in hand in handling a dignified inaugural.

At every January session the council appears to waste a lot of time when Standing Committees for the year are appointed. Last Wednesday afternoon's session was an example. There appears to be a keen interest in making appointments to the most important committees and a countless number of ballots were taken before some of the committees were adopted. The procedure, which one councillor referred to as "silly and obsolete", follows the procedure of electing one councillor at a time instead of the low man in the race dropping out with each ballot, it at times takes four and five ballots to fill a committee of four members. Over three and a half hours were taken to settle some nine-teen committees.

Col. Ivan Moore, Q.C., has administered the oath on hundreds of occasions, but Tuesday was the first time he was called on to swear in a county warden.

County clerk and treasurer Frank Welden in all probability, has a record among such officials. He has been at in-

Burnt River

The many friends of Mr. Arnold Watson are sorry to learn that he underwent surgery in the Kos Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Whiting and children of Newmarket were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Palmer.

Misses Mary Ellen Armstrong and Audrey Dudman were at their parents home over the weekend.

Mr. C. O. Hodgson and Ralph Sheehey, attended the Inaugural meeting of the Victoria County Council on Tuesday p.m.

Mr. Greg Sheehey has returned home after an appendic operation at the R.M.H. Lindsay.

Zion Fenelon

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Moynes, Mr. and Mrs. Morley Moynes were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moynes.

Several people from this community paid their respects to the family of the late Mrs. Carl Moynes who passed away last week in Ross Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Parkin of Cameron were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brown and Lorna, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sims.

Lee Webster of Toronto visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Webster on the weekend.

Mr. Wm. Brokenshire, Mr. Wm. Pearn and Mr. Wesley Webster motored to Toronto to attend a dinner at the Royal York Hotel, as guests and former patients of the Shouldice Clinic.

Blackstock

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Marlow are in Lively with Dr. Jack Marlow and family while Mrs. Jack Marlow is in hospital for surgery.

Sunday morning about 2.30 a.m. the family of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jenkins were awakened by a loud pounding and blast. Thinking the furnace had exploded, they investigated, but could find no damage. In the morning they found a crack in the ground from the wood shed to the gas tank and the ice in the pond where the boys skated was all cracked. The Jenkins family live on the boundary between Manvers and Cartwright, about 6 miles east of Blackstock.

The severe weather and heavy frost put ice in the arena, which is a very busy place with a schedule arranged for every day of the week. Visitors are asked to come and view the activities and new dressing rooms. Mr. Bruce Mountjoy and boys are in charge.

The high school enjoyed a skating party at the Arena Friday night, and Saturday night grade 13 drove to Ennismillen and surprised their teacher, Mr. R. Ashton. The occasion being his birthday. All enjoyed a pleasant evening.

Mrs. Hamilton and Michael are spending a few days in Port Perry with Mrs. A. Taylor while Harold is in Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wellowlees and family, Solina were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Larmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Larmer and boys were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Barnes, Newcastle.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Samells were Saturday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Samells, Bowmanville.

ON THIN ICE?

WATCH OUT BELOW!

"NO ONE can be more interesting than a fellow who isn't hampered by facts," said a humorist, and the sketch at right is a case in point. To be sure, there are some "interesting" aspects to this picture, things that an eye-witness would not be likely to see unless he were suffering from hallucinations. Of course, the picture was drawn this way purposely as a test of wits and powers of observation. You are asked to study the scene carefully and compile a list of at least 10 errors below.

1. .....
2. .....
3. .....
4. .....
5. .....
6. .....
7. .....
8. .....
9. .....
10. .....

No fair peeking at answers.

Some Stunts With Figures

A—Write four nines so they will equal 100.

B—Make a cross consisting of the figures 1 to 9 so that the vertical column and the horizontal line will both total the same amount.

C—Write an even number, using only odd digits.

D—Express 24 with three equal figures other than 8.

Hey There, Rover, Who's at the Door?

NOW, here's a courageous soul for you. There's no telling what kind of a ferocious beast is inside the doghouse above, yet the subject of this dotograph is standing boldly at the door. But then, being invisible, what has the visitor to fear? To complete the scene simply start at dot A and draw to B, C, D, and so on, letter by letter, through alphabet. After you've completed the picture, you may wish to add appropriate colors to it.

Cryptarithmetic Brain Tester

FIND the missing digits in this problem in multiplication:

  x x x x 7 5
  -----
  4 9 x 0
  x x x 8
 5 x 0 x
 -------
 x x 4 x x x

Clue: The units digit in multiplication will be the only even number that when multiplied by 7 will give a number ending in 8.

This Magic Square Is Different

THIS is a magic square with a difference—the four corner boxes are omitted. The problem is to arrange the numbers 1 to 13, inclusive, in the form of a cross so as to make totals of 26 in seven different ways, i. e., the two horizontal and the two vertical rows, the group of squares marked a a a, the group marked b b b b and the group marked c c c c, each making the above-mentioned total.

Remember, you are to make a total of 26 seven different ways.

RIGHTLY SO?

AFTER casting your eyes over the following once, get out pencil and paper, then ask someone to read the lines to you. It's a test of whether you can write all the right-sounding words.

Write, you know, is written right
Whenever you see it written write.
But when write is written wright,
Then you know it is not written right.
For write, when it is written right,
Must not be written right or wright.
Neither can it be written rite,
But write, for only then is it written right.

There are those with photographic minds, of course, who cannot fail in the test. How about you?

Watered Stock

SOME folks like to water their wine; they say a little of it improves the flavor of certain vintages a bit, and the dilution of some other vintages is desirable.

When the contents (of water and wine) of three glasses of equal size were poured into an empty water pitcher by a waiter clearing a table, the ratio of wine to water was 1 to 5. If the ratios of two of the glasses were respectively 1 to 2 and 1 to 5, what was the contents of the third glass?

You can figure this out without paper and pencil.

Answer: Water alone. The country fellow's wife had watered the milk.

PARTY PERKER

SUPPLY rumpus-room guests with a small rubber ball and a funnel. Ask them to bounce the ball on the floor, against the wall, and catch the rebound in the funnel. It's not easy.

Puzzles & Pastimes

BREATH TAKER

A man walked into a bar and asked for a glass of water. Instead of giving him the water, the bartender pulled a gun from under the counter and pointed it at him. Startled, the man paused breathlessly. Then he smiled and left the barroom.

Now—what circumstances or set of circumstances might logically cause such a sequence of events?

Here are a few clues: The men were unknown to each other; there was nothing unusual in dress or physical make-up about either of them; the incident occurred during the regular hours the bar was open.

Answer: The man hiccuped. The bartender thought the best way to cure the hiccups was to scare the man.

It's Your Turn to Win

If you miss the key move in this checker game, Black escapes with a draw. White checkers, moving up the board, to move and win in eight moves is the challenge.

Do you see the winning moves?

Listen, World!

PHRASES now in common speech testify how widely persons have listened and perhaps been influenced by certain men and women. Can you supply what's omitted here in a quotation from the past?

"The sense of ..... has other things to do than to make itself conspicuous to the rest of laughter."
—Alice Meynell.

The swizzing ..... word has five letters.

Answer: A gin and bitters.

Egghead?

IF a peacock lays an egg in the sidecar of a policeman's motorcycle, does the egg belong to the policeman, the town or the owner of the bird?

Answer: Water alone. The country fellow's wife had watered the milk.

PARTY PERKER

SUPPLY rumpus-room guests with a small rubber ball and a funnel. Ask them to bounce the ball on the floor, against the wall, and catch the rebound in the funnel. It's not easy.

Answer: The fellow said it was a fresh egg.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE SOLUTION

SMART GALLERY

USE YOUR WITS and eyes to find a single error of factual circumstance in both drawings above, and then look for six differences in detail between Exhibit A and Exhibit B. Solution at right.

Who's it?

HE was born in St. Malo, France, in 1494. In his youth, he accompanied fishermen to the Grand Banks of what is now Labrador. He was later to lead three expeditions to the new lands to the west and is called the "Founder of Canada." For his deeds, he was made a noble by the French king. He died in 1555, unsuccessful in his quest for a Northwest Passage. Who?

Answer: Jacques Cartier.

COLOR-BY-NUMBER FUN POSER

A BIRD in the hand is worth two in the bush, says the elephant in the diagram above. And that's because he knows something about this scene that you don't know. If you're curious as to what it is, simply add colors according to the following indicators: 1—Yellow. 2—Red. 3—Blue. 4—Orange. 5—Green. 6—Violet. Oh, yes, begin the upper left hand corner and add designated colors in consecutive order.

If others wish to participate and tracing paper is handy, cover diagram for each one's turn. Apply colors neatly, of course.

Color-by-Number Fun Land diagrams make attractive wall decorations when backed with construction paper and placed in a small frame. They can be made particularly striking by use of new, phosphorescent colors now available at art supply houses and department stores.

STORM SEWERS AND WASTE FROM INDUSTRIES CAUSE SCUGOG RIVER POLLUTION AT LINDSAY

Although Lindsay has acquired a waste stabilization pond for the treatment of sewage flows, it is obvious that a considerable quantity of sewage is discharged through municipal storm sewer outlets to the Scugog River and therefore, does not receive treatment. Also, there are objectionable flows from some industrial plants.

This is the view expressed in a report of a water pollution survey of the Victoria County town carried out by the Ontario Water Resources Commission during the summer of 1964. The report has just been released publicly by the OWRC.

The report added "it is gratifying to report that the local officials are aware of the conditions and are pursing a programme to rectify these problems."

It was reported that there was an intermittent discharge of sewage from the "big ditch" which terminates at the river upstream from the municipal water pollution plant intakes during periods of surface run off. Effective control of this localized problem must be exerted if the conscientious programme pursued by the Lindsay Board of Water Commissioners to protect the quality of the municipal water supply was to be successful.

The river received objectionable flows from some industrial plants. Some had attempted industrial waste treatment but it was evident that additional effort would be necessary to control the quality of industrial waste discharges.

The report recommended Lindsay should continue its comprehensive programme to direct all sanitary wastes and most industrial waste flows to the municipal waste stabilization pond. This would include the exclusion of untreated or inadequately treated wastes from storm sewers and surface drainage systems which discharge to watercourses.

Where manufacturing firms, discharged industrial wastes directly to watercourses, adequate treatment of these wastes should be provided in order to minimize the occurrence of severe effects in the receiving waters.

Social work by Mission Circle

Mrs. Torrance Robertson chose "Tamar" of the Old Testament as her topic in the "Women of the Bible" series at the January meeting of the Scotch Line Mission Circle held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Kennedy on Wednesday, January 6th at 2:30 p.m. with 11 members present. According to the standards of today Tamar was a wicked woman, but in the times of the Old Testament those same deeds and acts were acknowledged as good and righteous according to their laws.

The Scripture was taken from Psalm 139.

Letters were read from Clair English and Edith Milloy and Joy Searle. "Thank-yous" were read by the Cheer Convener from people receiving Christmas cards. During the business period it was decided to make another layette as last year for the Children's Aid Society. A box of used children's clothing will be sent in the spring for Murray Herron's work in Quebec also another dozen pillow cases from cotton bags for the youth camp. Adult used clothing will be collected for the Scotch Mission in Toronto. The meeting closed with a hymn and prayer by Mrs. Arthur Kennedy followed by a social time and lunch.

William Perry on CBC Sunday

This coming Sunday, January 24th, at 3:00 p.m., William Perry, Lindsay singer and organist will be the baritone soloist in a concert to be broadcast by the C.B.C. from the National Gallery of Canada, Ottawa. The work to be performed will be 'The Jolly Beggars", a musical setting of the Robert Burns poem, scored for four solo voices, string quartet and piano.

This concert is being presented by the C.B.C. to commemorate the birthday of the great Scottish poet, which falls on the 25th.

Mr. Perry will return to Lindsay to be in charge of the musical programme for the annual Bunns, supper at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Monday evening.

USELESS FACTS

London (UPI) — Did you know that Napoleon liked to promote generals with long names? This is just one fact from "Useless Facts of History", a booklet just published here.

It will tell you that French President Charles De Gaulle was called "The Long Asparagus" at school, Marie Antoinette had a bigger bust than Jayne Mansfield and that Admiral Nelson was seasick at the battle of Trafalgar.

TO GET TOUGH

Norwich, England, (UPI) — A man who was evicted from a council (city owned) house for owing $109 in rent drove away in his jaguar. Now the city council plans to get tough with tenants who run cars but don't pay the rent.

WOMAN'S VIEW

By Gay Pauley

New York (UPI) — There stands at Shin Ai, four miles from Seoul, an unusual housing development born of the war and supported by a group of women who mostly know Korea as a small area on the world map.

The village is home for 48 Korean widows, whose husbands were killed fighting the North Korean Communists 1950-53, and their 138 dependent children and parents.

It's a project unique in Korea, said Mrs. William Hasebroock, the West Point Nebraska woman who is president of the 11-million member General Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWC).

Mrs. Hasebroock knows the village, for the federation is providing the money for the construction of its earth block houses, built by the families with technical advice from the American-Korean Foundation.

As a house is finished, a family moves in and the place is theirs "with no strings attached", she said.

Mrs. Hasebrooch has just returned from an Asian trip which included stops in Formosa, Japan, The Philippines, Hong Kong and Korea.

At Shin Ai, she snipped ribbons opening several of the houses, the first homes other than makeshift shelters the families have had since the North Koreans moved south.

The American-Korean Foundation estimates the cost of one of the earth block houses—including cement, windows and doors, lumber, nails and roof tiles—at $149.35. Mrs. Hasebroock said that certainly furnishing them was inexpensive—by the Koreans, low tables and mats are about all that are needed.

"A decorator would have an awful time", she said.

The Korean homes are one of four projects the federation is taking on during Mrs. Hasebroock's administration. The others are a technical school training programme in the Mediterranean area, operated through CARE; a continuing research programme with the Arthritis Foundation; and a plan to set aside space at Valley Forge so that every Medal of Honour holder and his state would be recognized.

For the Korean village, the federation also plans a community centre and eventually a clinic. The children go to school in Seoul.

The centre would teach women assorted skills to help them earn a living. For, Mrs. Hasebroock said, to marry a wage earner is not in the widows' future.

"Remarriage just isn't done" Mrs. Hasebroock said, "and few men want to assume the responsibility of a ready-made family anyway".

The federation president, blue-eyed, dark-haired and grandmother of two, is the wife of a Nebraska State senator. She's held a number of club offices, is a past president of the Nebraska Federation and is active in a long string of community and national organizations.

I asked her reaction to the picture that the late Helen Hokinson, the cartoonist, had helped to create of the clubwoman as pouter pigeon plump, busy with teas, but accomplishing little.

"Well", Mrs. Hasebroock replied with a laugh, "Miss Hokinson certainly didn't help our image. In the federation, we've been trying to overcome it. But she didn't do us irreparable harm either. She put us on the beam, on our toes to get out and do.

"We may have our teas, but we simply don't dawdle".

Bethany

James McKinnon, who has been in Lakefield Private Hospital is now staying with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Staples at Lakefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank White, Trenton, were guests with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ryley for the weekend.

The Board of Trustees for Manvers Township Public Schools met at Bethany on Saturday to review applications for a secretary treasurer. Mrs. Dorothy Bristow, Yelverton was hired for this position.

Mrs. Marjorie Edmunds and her children Bob, Joanne and Murray of Oshawa, were Sunday guests with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Carr.

Lorneville

World news today

London — Sir Winston Churchill's continued survival following a massive stroke he suffered one week ago today continues to amaze the world.

For a 90-year-old man, such an attack usually is fatal, and fairly quickly. But Churchill's doctor reported last night that Sir Winston's condition was unchanged.

One doctor, a specialist in ailments of the aged, put it this way: "Sir Winston is not so much fighting for life as he is resisting death. He would not have lived this long if his body gave up easily."

All physicians agree that the clue to Churchill's stout survival is his amazing medical history. Since his early years, they recalled, Churchill has survived things that would have killed a normal man twice over.

This despite the fact that Churchill drank considerable Brandy, smoked strong cigars and stayed up frequently until 3 a.m.

London — A fire broke out today in an apartment on the fourth floor of a big red brick apartment house at the rear of the house where Sir Winston Churchill lay dying.

Five fire engines rushed to the scene and got the blaze quickly under control. The apartment was unoccupied at the time.

Smoke drifted from the fire over toward the heavily curtained room occupied by Churchill.

Firemen said there was never any danger of the blaze reaching Churchill's home at No. 28 Hyde parke gate because it was 75 to 100 yards away.

No one was injured in the blaze.

Viet Nam — Buddhists marched in Saigon again today in demonstrations protesting the South Vietnamese government.

Today's demonstration between the police and about 1,500 Buddhists at least six U-S army helicopter crewmen were wounded yesterday in two separate clashes with Communist Guerrillas, and a U-S military spokesman said there as an unconfirmed report of a seventh casualty.

Quebec Farmers got a short in the arm as the Quebec legislature directed a blitz aimed at raising their standard of living.

This was one of the major items in the throne speech yesterday, read by lieutenant, governor Paul Comtois as he opened the fourth session of the 27th Quebec legislature.

This appeared to be the first time any Quebec government had placed so much emphasis in its proposed Agenda on the rural economy.

The Quebec farmers at present average a yearly earnine on $1,950. Premier Lesage said Quebec would also pronose its own pension plan "so all citizens of Quebec may henceforth enjoy an adequate pension upon their retirement.

British Columbia — And in British Columbia Medicare appeared to be an item of major importance in the speech from the throne in Victoria as the legislature opened on Thursday.

The speech said the administration for years advocated introduction of a national health plan, but "it now appears the federal government is not prepared to put such a plan into effect at the present time.

Premier Bennett's Social Credit administration has announced plans for a partial medical care programme aimed at low income groups. The onposition calls it "Tin-Cup Medicare but the B.C. Medical Association feels it is "a step in the right direction."

Montreal — A heavy police escort is expected to escort the central figure of the Dorion inquiry tomorrow into the courtroom.

Forty-seven-year old Lucien Rivard is scheduled to testify in the investigation of alleged bribery, coercion and influence peddling in Quebec liquor. He will be brought into the old courthouse from the Montreal jail where he has been detained since June pending a court decision on his extradition to the United States.

Rivard is being sought in the U.S. for allegedly smuggling a large cache of heroin across the Mexico border. The indictment names him as a leading figure in a mafia oriented narcotics ring.

Britain — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Young Labour Government, elected only last October, has been rocked by the impact of a stunning by-election defeat. Many observers feel it might force a new general election.

Three days short of completion of Wilson's heralded "first 100 days" of a Labour government his foreign minister, Patrick Gordon Walker, was beaten by the Conservative candidate yesterday in Britain's most sensational by election upset since World War II.

Labour also lost ground in a second by-election although it held the seat.

MERCHANTS AIM FOR FIRST IN LAST SCHEDULED GAME

Lindsay Merchants can take over first place in the league standings tonight by defeating Newmarket Redmen in their four point game at the Arena. Currently tied with Bobcaygeon Tri-Cats, who meet Cannington-Sutton Twins in a two point game tonight. The Merchants have the opportunity of a brief shift in the front seat. The Tri-Cats however with two games next week may be able to move in front again.

Newmarket Redmen will be looking for a second win over the Merchants tonight after dropping four to the Merchants previously this season. In this final game of the schedule, Gus Bodnar's boys must produce in this game as it is their last chance to fatten their scoring records. Bob Taylor may be able to move into second place in the league standings as two points separate him and Barry McLean of Stouffville who is at present reported to be on the injured last. Ray McCabe and George Babcock with 45 and 44 points respectively will both be aiming for the fifty point zone.

Next home game for the Merchants will be a play-off tilt with Aurora Tigers one week hence. A few subscriber tickets are still available between 2:00 and 5:00 p.m. this afternoon at the Arena. These tickets will assure the holder of a seat for the play-offs starting next week.

CHICKS PICK OVER TIME FOR 7-6 WIN OVER ACES

Little Britain Aces, after a terrific four goal come-back in the third period tied Uxbridge Chicks 6 - 6 but lost out in overtime, 7 - 6 before a good crowd at Little Britain Arena last night.

Uxbridge goals by Barry Oke and Ron May in the first period were matched by Ron Jenkins and Paul Davidson to end the first twenty minutes all even. In the second period the chicks fluttered to a 6 - 2 lead on three goals by Bill Waller and the fourth by Bill Smith. Coach Al Burns had his Aces fired up for the third period as they battled the Chicks to stand-still while Paul Davidson, Mike and Jim Herr, and Ron Rich equalled the score. The tying goal by Ron Rich came with 36 seconds left in the period.

The ten minute overtime session commenced after the teams changed ends, and at 1:10 of the brief period the Chicks scored when Bob McLean fired from a scramble in front of the Little Britain cage. The Chicks were hard pressed during the remainder of the overtime, having to defend a minor penalty and face six attackers when coach Burns pulled his goalie with 70 seconds left, but to no avail.

Last night's win clinched a berth in the play-offs for the Chicks but the Aces have only two games left and need seven points to tie the Chicks.

TAX PROBLEM

Redlands, Calif. (UPI) — County officials today are trying to straighten out the tax problem of Howard O. Bristow, who paid more property tax than he owed but now owes more.

Last November, Bristow mailed the county tax collector a check for $353 one month before the deadline. The county wrote back that his tax was only $343 and that it could not cash his incorrect check.

He overlooked the county's letter. The next letter informed him his taxes were delinquent and he now owed $363 — the taxes plus a $20 penalty for being late.

LCVI Drama Group to Present Four Plays at the Academy

The annual drama night of the Lindsay Collegiate and Vocational Institute will be held at the Academy Theatre this year, February 18 and 19, rather than at the LCVI gymnasium where it has been in the past. John Murphy, publicity manager of the LCVI Drama Club and director of one of the plays to be presented, said the primary reasons for having the performances at the Academy are that there is an acoustical problem at the LCVI, and it will be a new experience for the actors to perform in a real theatre.

Mr. Murphy said four one-act plays will be presented with a 10-minute intermission between each play. The plays to be performed are "The House With the Twisty Windows", "The Mask", "A Date for Bobby Socks" and "The Door". Included in the entertainment for the intermissions is a brass quartette under the direction of Donald McArthur. The production will be about two hours in duration.

"It is bound to surpass any drama adventure ever undertaken by the college Drama Club", Mr. Murphy told "The Post". He said it promises to be a very entertaining evening, and added, "We have relatively experienced actors and directors working on the plays".

The plays, of which two are dramas and two are comedies, will be adjudicated on Friday night only. It is not yet known who the adjudicator will be.

County Council Notes

An interesting point arose when Reeve Roy Morrison of Mariposa was appointed as county representative on the Children's Aid Society, a position he has filled well for a number of years. Reeve Morrison said he did not mind attending the meetings but intimated it was too far to drive to Peterboro, for instance, to attend a joint meeting of the two counties to discuss a Central Board for the two counties. He thought there might be a number of such meetings this year. When questioned, he said that he was not allowed mileage, and reiterated he did not wish mileage.

Deputy-reeve Coad of Eldon thought that no member of council should have to attend meetings for the county without receiving mileage.

"Let's forget it", observed Reeve Morrison. "I didnot raise the point for that purpose. Perhaps some councillor living nearer to Peterboro could serve on this committee."

Reeve Campbell of Woodville said it was a dangerous idea. He further stated that as chairman of the County Parks Committee he had made twelve or fifteen trips to the park at his own expense.

"Just forget it", said Reeve Morrison, "I will continue to act."

Warden Cammack said that he had often driven from his home to Lindsay to attend meetings of the Lindsay Central Exhibition without remuneration. He added, I do not look for it, but as a member of council, if one committeeman is to be paid mileage, then every member of a committee or organization should receive the same consideration.

• • •

Reeve Campbell of Woodville warned members not to enlarge committees. He especially warned new members on council, "Remember", he said, "it is the poor taxpayer who pays."

Cannington

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wakelin attended the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wakelin of Coboconk.

On Sunday January 10. Rev. Ron. Davidson, rector of the All Saints Anglican Church was guest preacher at St. Paul's, Lorne Park, the occasion being the church's 50th anniversary. Following the service, Rev. Davidson and family were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cudmore of Lorne Park.

Mr. Roy Switzer spent Christmas vacation visiting in Vancouver and skiing in the Rockies at Mt. Baker, Washington. Due to unusually heavy snowfall there was 2 to 3 ft. of snow at Vancouver and 8 to 12 ft. at Mount Baker.

Mrs. Annie Brooks of Sutton and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taylor of Jackson's Point were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Taylor.

Dr. Nancekievill opened his new office on Tuesday of this week on Cameron St., East The new doctors office, next to the former Rothberg Clothing Store, was previously the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reeves. The house has been completely renovated.

Since coming to Cannington in July of 1962, Dr. Nancekievill has had his office on Ann Street South.

Mr. Jack Lippingwell received a certificate of merit from the Little NHL Hockey organization in recognition of his outstanding service in the cause of minor hockey.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Harrison of Oxbow, Sask., spent a few days in town last week and visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delson Shier. They had travelled by train to Ottawa where they spent Christmas and New Year's with their son and daughter-in-law and three grandchildren.

Mr. Harrison was born in Cannington and at an early age moved with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Harrison to Deseronto from where he and his brothers Everett now deceased) and Maynard attended Harrison School which was named after his grandfather on whose farm the school was built. The farm is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Emery Southern. The school is now used as a Masonic Lodge Hall.

It is forty-six years since the Harrison's moved west and took up farming there.

Paul McGuire High School board chairman

Paul McGuire was appointed chairman by acclamation of the Victoria County District High School Board at the inaugural meeting held at the LCVI.

C.E. Fielder was declared vice-chairman by acclamation.

The chairman appointed Trustees Benson, Shields, Rowan, Webster, Day, Henderson and Robertson to act as a Nominating Committee for the Standing Committees.

A committee was appointed to make a further study of the administration of the Weldon bequest and investigate the board's legal position in the matter.

The board renewed membership in the Ontario Urban and Rural School Trustees Association at a cost of $50.

Seagrave

The Board of Stewards of the Seagrave Church met at the home of Rev. E. and Mrs. McNeil on Wednesday evening to transact the usual year-end business. A goodly number were present and they also enjoyed a tour of the new home and had refreshments.

The Sunday morning service took the form of a carol service and combined church and Sunday School with a good congregation present.

News of the passing of the Rev. J. MacLachlan a former minister on this charge was received with regret.

Travelogue given at UCW meeting

Fingerboard (PNS) — Pleasant Point U.C.W. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Hill on Wednesday afternoon with fifteen members joining for the New York.

The President Mrs. Andrew Nicholls opened the meeting with a poem and a few remarks for the coming year. A hymn and prayer by Rev. E. McNeil concluded the opening.

Mrs. Douglas Fish and Mrs. Arthur Hill, convenors for this months devotional called on Mrs. Ellis Hill for the Bible reading after which Mrs. Fish gave the topic on "The eyes of the Lord are Upon You". Readings were given by Mrs. Venner and Mrs. Owen Sweetman. Mrs. Arthur Hill then gave a very interesting talk on their trip to the western provinces.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Hill and two verses of a hymn closed the devotional.

Roll was called by the secretary Mrs. Ray Brokenshire and the members responded by paying their dues for 1965.

Business included such items as Reading letters from the Presbytery, Rev. D. P. Morris and the minutes of the joint church meeting in Little Britain on Monday night. Buying of material for quilts and the bale. Having a cosmetic sale at Mrs. Mortimer's. Coupons collected and other loose ends of unfinished business.

The meeting closed with a though for the day by the president and the Mizpah benediction.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Arthur Hill, Mrs. Douglas Fish assisted by Mrs. Ellis Hill.

County councillors criticize road system

"My conscience would trouble me with a 6-mill rate", Reeve Roy Morrison of Mariposa township, a veteran member of the roads board said when discussing the mill rate for the county roads system. Earlier Department of Highways representative Bud Callaghan had said the existing 8-mill rate was already way above the average of other municipalities in the province.

Reeve Hilarod Murphy of Bobcaygeon asked if the engineer could submit a report on the 6-mill rate suggested by the Dept. of Highways representative and he was supported by Deputy-Reeve George Finney who said he could see nothing wrong with such a report being presented to show what could be achieved with a 6-mill rate.

Mr. Murphy said he hoped the roads board would consider all angles of the controversial roads system. He said the roads boards should be very careful before sitting down to endorse an 8-mill rate. Mr. Murphy pointed out assessments had skyrocketed in the past few years, as the county had attempted to arrive at an equalized assessment, and on this basis, he said, the roads board have been getting more money each year. "But", he said, "they do not seem to have achieved much more. Eight mills is a lot of money for 235 miles of county road", he said, and suggested the roads board give the matter the utmost consideration and check into the figures very carefully.

Reeve Jack Campbell of Woodville said he would go a long with such a suggestion and said he felt the needs study should be completed before any major construction projects are undertaken by the county. "We should stay close to the line this year," he said

"In order to catch up with the backlog on the system a mill rate of 15 to 20 mills is required", observed George Finney of Lindsay.

Victor Knox of Verulam said that there is criticism all over the county about the roads system and he said he was beginning to wonder if there is some reason for this criticism. He said he had heard many complaints about overheads and expenses being too high. "Too much money is being spent by the board and there is quite a feeling among many who want to get out of the system."

POLITICAL COLOUR LINE IN S. AFRICA?

(UPI) — The South African Government was expected to advance a bill today to draw a colour line across politics.

According to reports, the measure would make it an offense for a party to have mixed racial membership or for a white party to propagate its policies to non-whites.

The legislation, if passed, would be a heavy blow to the multi-racial Liberal and Progressive parties.

The ruling Nationalists and the major Opposition, the United Party do not allow membership to non-whites.

The other issue during the parliamentary session, which may be the most controversial since the Nationalist party took over in 1958, include—Government handling of the cases of British entertainers Dutsy Springfield and Adam Faith, pop singers whose tours here were cut short due to attempts to play before multi-racial audiences. It is considered likely the government will present legislation prohibiting artists appearing before such mixed groups.

— A press control bill.

— The question of skilled labour.

— The threat of inflation.

— And jurisdiction in Southwest Africa, a matter now before The International Court of Justice in The Hague.

KLTA asks county council for grant

The Kawartha Lakes Tourist Association spent $19,000 in the promotion of Tourism for the Kawartha Lakes Area in the year ending March 31st, 1964, said K.L.T.A. president Don Scott when addressing County Council this week. Present plans call for an estimated expenditure of $17,000 by the end of March 1965, he continued, noting that a provincial grant will provide $5,000 and memberships should bring in an additional $4,000.

In explaining the work of the Association, Mr. Scott said that 15,000 guides and 20,000 maps were circulated last year. He said representation at the Canadian National Sportsman's Show, printing of additional guides, live Summer Theatre and possible adjustments of fishing season dates, an extensive advertising promotion, harness racing on ice are among the objectives this year. Expanding on last year's programme, he said K.L.T.A. will sponsor local competitors at the Snowmobile Competitions at the Quebec Winter Carnival, and the Kawartha Cup will again be the major prize at this competition. He said the Competitions will probably be held at Lake Placid, N.Y., in 1966, and present plans will return it to the Kawarthas in 1967. All this is being done without paid help, he stressed, and asked County Council's favourable consideration of a grant in 1965.

OUT OF CONTROL

Lenox, Mass. (UPI) — A car went out of control snapped a utility pole in half and then rammed against a tree.

The operator was Ralph Collins, 67, of Stockbridge, a driver-training instructor.

Miss Wilna Thomas, associate secretary, Board of World Mission will be in Lindsay on Sunday and will speak at 11.00 a.m. in the Cambridge Street United Church. Miss Thomas has just returned from a two-month tour of Asia where she travelled in her capacity as secretary of the "Asia Desk" of the Board of World Mission. Later in the day she will meet the executive of the WCW and some guests. At 7 p.m. an informal question period between Miss Thomas and some lay members of the church will provide an opportunity for the members to learn about the church's work in Asia.

700th anniversary

When Queen Elizabeth made reference in Britain during the recent opening of the present parliament to the 700th anniversary of parliament, many members thought that this anniversary should be celebrated in some way during 1965. But the poser was "When?"

Now the answer is on January 20, as it was on this day in 1265 that Simon de Montfort, one of the nobles of the time, called together the first assembly of people at Lewes. While it was not the first parliament, it was the first time that the burgesses of the towns had been summoned to a national council. And Simon de Montfort thus became known as the "father of the British parliament."

In both the House of Lords and Commons a toast will be drunk to the noblemen who gave the cities and shires a representative place in Britain's parliament. It is also proposed to display documents tracing how this came about, and an effigy of Simon de Montfort, although it might be difficult to find some trace of the likeness of de Montfort.

Incidentally the first surviving record of the British House of Commons appears to be a writ of summons to the first parliament of Edward I, dated December 26, 1274, ordering the Sheriff of Middlesex to send to Westminster "four knights of the shire, and six or four citizens, burgesses, and other honest men from each of the cities, boroughs and trading towns."

Caravan trails...

Rawalpindi, Pakistan, (UPI) — The Pakistan army is cutting an all-weather road through the great Karakoram Mountains north toward Communist China.

The growing friendship between the two countries, already fortified by direct commercial air links, is expected to take another big step forward when the Indus Valley Road project is completed. Pakistan is non-Communist and is allied to the West in the SEATO and CENTO military pacts.

Caravan trade for centuries flourished between Central Asia and the subcontinent. But after World War II most of the Soviet Union's southern borders were sealed in Western Asia.

After the Communists took over in China in 1949, land routes also were shut off all along the Indian-Chinese border and caravan traffic across the Himalayas and Karakorams ceased.

Pakistan's Road, inching north steadily since 1959, promises to reopen land ties with the Interior of Asia. It will clear the way to connect Pakistan and China's Sinkiang Province via a broad ribbon of hard-surface motor road where only treacherous donkey and camel trails existed before.

Already the Pakistani army engineers have begun chipping and blasting through unexplored regions between Peshawar, near the capital at Rawalpindi, and Gilgit, 450 miles north. This section of the road, carved from steep cliffs of solid black granite, will be completed within the year if the schedule is met.

Sixty-five miles of jeep trail beyond Gilgit lies the tiny state of Hunza. Beyond Hunza is China, whose roads come so close to the border that visitors from Hunza have reported sighting trucks moving in the valleys of Sinkiang as they stood on mountains inside Pakistan.

The Pakistan government has never announced officially that the Indus Valley road ultimately will terminate at the Chinese border. But army officers of high rank who are directing construction of the road make no secret about where the road is going.

An army engineers officer in Rawalpindi told UPI that funds already are allocated to take the road beyond Gilgit.

"Once into Hunza," he said, "It doesn't take much imagination to guess where we are going."

According to travellers who have been there, the Chinese have roads only a few miles from the Hunza border and with little effort could establish linking routes with Pakistan.

The area is one where Red China and Pakistan reached accord easily when they demarcated the border in 1963. Hunza received 750 square miles of useful grazing lands in the agreement and foreign office officials repeatedly point to the Hunza region as evidence of China's good intentions.

The road project itself is an ambitious undertaking. The road goes up the Indus River into the untravelled areas of the Karakorams for most of the way, then branches up the Gilgit River for the next leg into Gilgit city.

Beyond Gilgit, into Hunza and up to the Chinese border, the road as proposed will follow other river valleys, thereby keeping the route below snow lines and able to remain open the year around. Although flanked by peaks 16,000 feet high, the Indus valley road never exceeds altitudes of 4,500 feet.

Tungsten steel drills, hundreds of tons of dynamite and nearly 5,000 soldiers work from dawn to dusk to reach Gilgit. Officers, laborers and prisoners are at by the end of this year.

Working on sheer mountainsides of solid rock, progress at times is less than a mile and a half a month. Engineers say entire sides of mountains often must be blasted away down to roadbed level to make a trail wide enough for bulldozers and men to work.

Blasting experts swing from ropes thousands of feet above the valley floor to plant dynamite charges in mountainsides.

About 50 civilians and soldiers have been killed in falls from high cliffs since the project started.

In the next episode...

The number of Pearl White fans must dwindle every year but one or two may still regret that the movie-makers decided for economic reasons to put an end long ago to her particular kind of cliff-hanging entertainment.

In the USA the Des Moines Register and Tribune Syndicate, described as a pioneer distributor of serialized fiction in daily newspapers, recently wrote finis to the art form because fewer than two dozen newspapers were still carrying the stories.

And now in Ontario and Quebec the CBC has decided that "The Craigs" will no longer take up a ten-minute segment of the noon farm broadcast. The Craig family, as early radio publicists used to say, "had been coming into the home" of farm families in those areas for a quarter of a century. Actually their pleasant family adventures were followed by many a city dweller who had or had once had ties with the farming community.

Alas for the simplicity of an earlier age. The programme's announcer ascribed the passing of the Craigs to the fact that farmers today are "aggressive businessmen more interested in such things as the export market than a visit with the Craigs."

Many wolves in Victoria

While Peterborough County, particularly in the Apsley district has been stealing most of the wolf-hunting thunder for Central Ontario, it might be well to call attention to the presence of wolves in large numbers in the northern part of Victoria County and in parts of Haliburton County. The fact that wolves are numerous in these parts, probably more than the average person believes, is vouched for by many prominent hunters of the district.

J. R. O'Neill dies

The death occurred at Kingston this morning, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. A. Cain, of J. R. O'Neill, former Lindsay businessman who has been a resident of Kingston in recent years. Mr. O'Neill passed away after a brief illness at the age of 75.

May cut off Russian wheat supply.

As a result of outspoken protests from many parts of the Dominion, the Canadian government is expected to crack down on export of a million bushels of Canadian wheat to Soviet Russia. If technically it is not trading with an enemy, it is the next thing to it, then the commodity supplied, none is more vital to provide sustenance for Russian troops whether against Finland, Poland or other democracies.

The question was discussed in the Cabinet yesterday, with only that fact stated and an announcement promised some time today.

Red Cross asks for help

It may be today, but cannot be long delayed, when our own patriotic and brave Canadians will be in the breech to defend home, country, and empire. The "Red Glutton" demands blood, blood, and more blood.

The stretcher bearers will be busy, and the "black riderless horse" will be pawing impatiently at hospital doors and at Red Cross camps for its burden.

The death rate will be enormous but the rate of the wounded will be incalculable. Even now the material for care of the sick and wounded is dwindling and the cry for help is heard.

For humanity's sake let us not turn a deaf ear to urgent calls from the Red Cross Societies. This one form of help that cannot be seized by the enemy or exploited by the unpatriotic. Every dollar goes into medical and surgical supplies.

One quarter-grain tablet may ease the suffering of a wounded soldier, one quarter ounce of chloroform may lull him into oblivion, while the sharp pointed knife and searching probe releases the imbedded lead or jagged piece of shell.

He gives twice who gives speedily. Let not our own soldiers lack care when they have fallen, and when they return to us as necessarily some of them must, maimed, scarred and broken in health, let them not sadly reproach us for not having done our best for them, through those most humane, heroic and indiscriminating agencies, the Red Cross Societies of Canada.

MENU OF THE MONTH

* Lamb Marrakech
Rice
Orange and Onion Salad
Fresh Pineapple

(This makes an excellent buffet menu)

This is an ideal dish to make the day before.

If you wish to serve an appetizer, I suggest smoked salmon with a garnish of capers and freshly ground pepper.

The fresh pineapple should be tossed with rum and brown sugar.

LAMB MARRAKECH

3 pounds lean lamb from leg or shoulder cut in 1-½ inch cubes; ½ cup of peanut or olive oil; 2 large onions, finely chopped; 3 cloves garlic, chopped; 2 teaspoons salt; 1 teaspoon crushed red chili pepper; ½ teaspoon Spice Parisienne; 1 teaspoon turmeric; three ripe large tomatoes, peeled seeded and chopped; 1 cup raisins, soaked in sherry; ½ cup each toasted almonds and filberts;; crisp fried onion rings; chopped parsley.

Brown the lamb in the oil. Add the onions and garlic and brown lightly. Add the seasonings, tomatoes and raisins and bring to a boil. Cover, adding a small amount of liquid if necessary, and simmer for 1½ hours or place uncovered in a 350 degree oven and baste well from time to time until the lamb is tender. If you do the latter, you may have to add more liquid or cover the pan for half the time. Add the toasted almonds and filberts, onion rings and parsley and heat through. Serve with rice tossed with chopped parsley, and chopped fresh coriander if available. Drink a robust red wine with this dish. Serves 6

Rubber Cement Stains

Rubber cement stains can be removed by sponging with carbon tetrachloride, gasoline or benzine — or by dipping the stains into one of these liquids. If the cement has had time to dry rub petroleum jelly into it to loosen it, then sponge with the solvent. CAUTION: Work in the open air with these liquids!

In Memoriam

JONES — In loving memory of a dear wife, Tennie, who passed away on January 23, 1964.

I have lost my soul's companion.
A life linked with my own;
And day by day I miss her more
As I walk through life alone.
Lovingly remembered by husband Wallace
(1719)

HAYWOOD — In loving memory of my wife Janie who passed away Jan. 22 1954.

And while she lies in peaceful sleep,
Her memory I shall always keep.
Ever remembered by husband, Ambrose.

In Memoriam

JONES — In memory of a dear mother, Tennie M. Jones, who passed away on January 23, 1964.

If we had all the world to give
We'd give it, yes, and more.
To hear her voice and see her smile,
And greet her at our door.
But all we can do, dear mother
Is go and tend your grave.
And leave behind tokens of love.
To the best mother God ever made.
I like to think, when life is done,
Wherever heaven may be,
That she'll be standing at the door,
Up there to welcome us.
Lovingly remembered by
Betty Ann, Morace and Ila.
(1721)

JONES: — In loving memory of Tennie M. Jones, who passed away on January 23, 1964.

Mother, you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more.
Still in memory you are with us
As you always were before.
Lovingly remembered by
Merle and Jean. (1720)

TEER — In loving memory of a dear dad and grandfather, James Leslie Teer who passed away January 24, 1962.

In our hearts your memory lingers
Always tender, fond and true.
There's not a day, dear dad,
We do not think of you.

Ever remembered by son Leslie, daughter-in-law Marina and grandchildren Jimmy and Lori. (1746)

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I easily patch small nail or screw holes in plastered walls?

A. Sharpen a piece of ordinary chalk into a point, press the point into the hole, and cut it off. Next Sandpaper the chalk flush with the wall, and coat over it with shellac. Match the wall color with a little paint.

Q. What is the best way to iron embroidery?

A. Turn face down on a turkish towel, then press on the wrong side. This brings out the depth, instead of flattening it. Use this same method for braided trimming.

Q. What is a good way to prevent a washed sweater from stretching?

A. Try rinsing it in a colander, squeezing out the excess water gently.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Pogue of RR2 Lindsay celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary on Wednesday, December 23, 1964 at the home of their son Murdy.

Many friends and relatives called during the afternoon and evening to visit with the happy couple who were married in Fenelon Falls on December 23, 1914, by the Rev. D. E. Johnson of the United Church. Mr. Pogue was born in Verulam township, and Mrs. Pogue, the former Sadie Minerva Barber, was born in Warren, Pennsylvania but spent most of her early years in Fenelon Falls.

Four granddaughters, Nancy, Peggy and Sonya Carlaw and Laurel Pogue took turns receiving at the door, looking after the guest book, and taking care of the guest's coats and hats.

The dining room table was centred with a three tier appropriately decorated wedding cake, topped with golden bells and flanked on either side by two candelabras holding golden candles. During the afternoon lunch was served by four neighbours, Mrs. S McIntosh, Mrs. J. Eakins, Mrs. W. Laidlaw and Mrs. A. Sidle and in the evening by four neices, Mrs. M. Bulmer, Mrs. J. Ouellet and Mrs. M. Webster, all of Fenelon Falls and Mrs. N. Lesage of Lindsay.

The bride and groom of fifty years received numerous cards lovely gifts, and flowers. A unique gift was a white sprayed money tree adorned with small golden balls and decorated with bills of various denominations tied on the tree with golden cord. Among those sending messages of congratulations were Hon. J. Robarts, Premier of Ontario, Hon. L. M. Frost, ex-Premier, Chas. Lamb, M.P., Glen Hodgson M.P.P. and Clayton Hodgson ex M.P.

Home for the happy occasion was their daughter Leona and her husband Mr. Arthur Carlaw and their family from Fergus, Ontario.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Pogue enjoy good health and although retired, still reside on the farm where they have lived for the past twenty years and where their son is carrying on the third generation of farming in the same location.

A LOVELIER YOU

By MARY SUE MILLER

SUN-DAMAGED HAIR. The ill effects of swimming without a cap and sunning without a hat begin to show up just about now. By mid-summer even a good head of hair starts to dry and dull when it has been subjected, constantly, to hot sun and salt or chlorinated water. Poor hair simply turns to straw.

And to remedy the condition, you have to do more than cover up. A thorough reconditioning job is necessary and it should be set in motion now, if the hair is to be restored by autumn. These are the steps:

—Use a shampoo formulated for dry or damaged hair, an after-shampoo creme rinse or creme conditioner, and a corrective between-shampoo liquid or ointment for the scalp.

—Massage the scalp daily. And, after working ointment or pomade into the ends, stroke gently with a very soft brush.

—Until the hair improves, avoid permanent waving and coloring. To bolster a flagging wave, use protein setting liquid or gel. It will increase body and bounce. To even up color, try tinted wash-out rinses that contain a built-in setting lotion and protein conditioner.

—Have any brittle ends trimmed. Change your hairstyle, so as to bring undamaged hair to the surface and thus rest ailing strands.

—Avoid tight roller winding and hot dryers.

In other words, treat your hair like a precious fabric. That's what it is!

SHOP PROJECTS
By Rick Whitham

In the Industrial Arts classes, new projects are being selected. These are coffee tables, footstools and gun racks. Most of the pupils have chosen to make gun racks but a few have selected the others. The pupils are required to pay a nominal fee to make the coffee tables because of its size. The grade sevens are almost through their copper work and soon the eights will start stone work.

BOY'S SPORTS

METEORS DOWN PONTIACS

The first basketball game on Monday January 18 was won by the Meteors 25, to 11 over the Pontiacs. Scorers for the Meteors were Doug Kent with eight points. Allen Dyson with six points, Malcolm Taylor and Ron Wicket each getting four points and Roger Kennedy with three points. For the Pontiacs the scorers were Dale Tracy with five points, Gerald Stanles Gord Widdis and Rick Sills with two each.

RAMBLERS CRUSH CELTICS

The second game was won by the Ramblers 5 to 1 over the Celtics. Scoring for the Ramblers were Robbie McLean with four points and Mike Raby with one and for the Celtics, Brian Penny got one point.

MERCS EDGE PISTONS'

The last game favoured the Mercuries 13 to 12 over the Pistons. Scorers for the Mercuries were Larry Kent and Richard Buttler, both with two points, Don Rennie and Ron Short with four-a-piece and Robert Fitsimmons with one. For the Pistons the scorers were Gerry Stier and Rick Whitham both with four Dennis Glenn and Ron Hocking with two each.

In the first minutes of the game it looked like a clean-cut victory for the Mercuries but the Pistons came back strongly in the last quarter of play.

Next Monday the Ramblers meet the Pistons at 12:30 p.m. At 3:40 p.m. the Celtics take on the Meteors and at 4:10 p.m. the Pontiacs will play the Mercuries.

In the standings so far the Meteors, Ramblers and Mercuries have two points each, followed by the Pistons, Celtics and Pontiacs, who have no wins and no points.

ROCKETS WIN 3 - 2

The 4 p.m. hockey game on Tuesday, January 19, saw the Rockets edge out the Bombers 3 to 2. Scorers for the Rockets were Jeff Stuart with two and Norman Staples with one. The Bombers scorers were Paul Heatlie and Kent Gilliam. The Rockets had three minor penalties, the Bombers five.

FLYERS DEFEAT JETS

The second game was won by the Flyers 5 to 4 over the Jets. Scorers for the Flyers were Sandy Plack with two and Clint Parcells, Bruce McIntosh and Gord Ferguson all with one. For the Jets, Wayne Hopkins, Doug Kent, Bill Moore and Bob Mosley each scored one.

Next Tuesday the Flyers will make a bid for first place when they take on the Rockets who are in the number one slot with a two point lead and the Bombers who are a point down from the Flyers will jockey for second position when they take on the Jets who will stay in the cellar for another game or two at least.

STANDINGS

The standing, showing games won, lost and tied respectively, are: Rockets, 3 points, 4-1-0; Flyers, 6 points, 2-1-2; Bombers, 5 points, 1-1-3; Jets, 1 point, 0-4-1.

JR. RED CROSS MEET
By Lea Woodward

On Friday January 18, 1965, the students of Central Senior held their Junior Red Cross Meeting in place of the regular assembly. Many teachers used this period to discuss the sneeches that will be held on February 12. This is a very big event so all the students are working very hard on their speech, to obtain a passing mark. The pupils are all looking forward to RR's assembly.

DOG'S WONDERFUL
By Carol Ellis

Of all the pets in the world, I think dogs are the most wonderful. I've had a great opportunity to learn about dogs as I have had four of them. Dogs are lovenble pets and are very trustworthy.

A man and his dog have ever been the best of friends. No other creature has adapted himself, like the dog, to his master's designs or thrown himself so completely into his manifold activities. His qualities are of the heart as well as of the head. His loyalty and strong sporting instinct appeal to us. Frequently, his canine intelligence is marked by something very like discretion. Hunting or coursing, saving life on the fishing banks of Newfoundland or the high passes of the mountains, pulling a sledge over the frozen snow or guarding his masters property — he is a faithful friend and ally.

IMAGINARY NARRATIVES
By Barbara Johnston

What is your tooth saying to your tongue as you pass a bite of food through the handy pocket familiarly known as your mouth? Is it complaining about the fictional eruption of what truly seems like Old Faithful or a mighty volcano? What is one hair of your head saying to your scalp or a tack to a bulletin board? And a knife and fork conversation, what jokes do they tell or complaints do they make? Although the results of these chats will never be known, some of the pupils put their imaginations to work and created some humorous narratives, two samples of which are printed here. In a world where the dull is rarely lightened by cheerful thoughts as we have here they prove quite refreshing.

FOOLISH MOTHER
By Bill Staples

A small fledgling is at the edge of a nest ready to fly down to the ground where a large cat is looking up at the bird with devouring eyes.

The mother bird does not know that the slinking predator is lurking below the branches so she says to her child, "Get along now, Claudia. It's time you learned to fly for yourself".

The small bird, with a worried look replied, "But Mommy!"

"Mark my word, little one, if you do not fly, you'll die", answered the mother with a stern voice.

"But mother, if I do fly I will surely be killed!"

"How could that happen?"

"There is a huge cat at the bottom of this tree waiting for me to fall to the ground. See for yourself", replied the baby bird.

"So there is!" cried the larger bird. "I should be cooked and eaten for Sunday brunch for being so foolish".

"I know, Mother", said the baby. "I know".

MR. & MRS. SHOE
By Pat Jones

"What terrible days these are", lamented Mrs. R. Shoe.

"Yes", agreed her husband, Mr. Running Shoe "It's awful lying here in this dark dreary locker".

"Only once a week we are used and then we are exercised so roughly that we're lucky it's just the middle of the week so we can recover", grumbled Mrs. Shoe.

"Oh! Those feet of her! wonder if she ever washes them?" questioned the male of the two.

"Oh, my dear, I do believe today is Wednesday, the day of our weekly beating!" cried she.

"Oh dear!" Running moaned. "Another rotten day, another smell and, snap goes another shoelace!"

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

WHERE DO MILLIONS FOR MEDICAL CURES GO?

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Where have the millions gone? Think of how much money we have been spending to find the cause and cure of cancer and atherosclerosis (to mention only two). Not only has it been pouring out of Washington the past few years, but private donations and gifts from funds have swelled the contributions to hospitals, laboratories and investigators to bring down our enemies.

So far what? Nothing but confusion and frustration. What's the answer?—Mr. P.

Comment: To keep fighting until we win. Would you have us throw in the towel and surrender to cancer, artery disease and all the others? Hopeless as the battle seems at times, we have no other sensible choice but keep spending and searching.

I agree it is frustrating. A about 20 years ago at a medical meeting in Chicago some of the brightest minds in diseases of the circulation admitted that the cholesterol problem was still unsolved; but they all held out hope for a breakthrough in a few years.

What have we had? Serious investigation yes. But confirmed results accepted by all? Not yet. The theories about fats in the blood stream continue to pile up.

First cholesterol seemed the only important culprit as an antecedent of coronary disease, strokes, kidney disease and all the rest. Now we are not sure.

There are other fats being considered. Some even say too many sweets are somehow tied up in the problem. Unsaturated fat feedings are not the answer we hoped for.

Lately I have been reading about another theory to keep down excess fats in the blood stream: frequent carbohydrate feedings. As yet who knows? And it is because we admit we don't yet know that there is hope the causes and cures will be found. I subscribe to millions in defence of our lives against disease.

MORE ON LATE BABIES

I continue to receive letters from distraught parents who have been happy with late children. These, in reply to so many who write in wondering if it is all right to have a baby in the late 20's or in the 30's. For example:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I was married at 39 to a gentleman of 40. Both of us have lived normal celibate lives. Our son was born 22 months later when I was 41. This was a natural birth and while I was unsuccessful in breast feeding he developed normally.

He is now a professor in mathematics at one of our leading universities, married to the daughter of a retired professor and has two beautiful children. He received his education through scholarships, at Yale and a doctorate at Harvard.

This young man has brought us nothing but joy. We have received weekly letters from him since his continued absence from home in his late teens. His only expressions are of gratitude that we gave him the best we had, which wasn't much but was liberally sprinkled with love beyond expression.

The love of books was instilled in him early and he was exposed to the best in music and art. My husband was a machine worker and I have never been too bright myself. So you see (I hope your readers do) that any woman up to at least 41 need have no qualms about becoming a mother. We have always been God-fearing people and think that we have been very blessed in our faith that we could safely venture into the wonderful experience of having produced a son to comfort us in our old age of 74 and 75.—Mrs. M.

Comment: You were once-blessed; your son is twice-blessed.

Political Notebook

by Norman MacLeod

Ottawa (UPI) — Perhaps one of the most remarkable features of the current democracy against the political line of "Dief the Chief" is the fact that it has no link with the palace revolution which ultimately toppled the Conservatives from power some two years ago.

Former Defense Minister Douglas Harkness, whose defection brought things to a state of crisis in the Diefenbaker cabinet in 1963, has had no part in triggering the present situation. He is undoubtedly sympathetic with the revolt. But he is not one of its architects.

Neither is former Trade and Commerce Minister George Hees. In the Palace Revolution of 1963, Hees took a walk which led him right out of politics into the presidency of the Montreal Stock Exchange. He is still in that plush post. At no time in the present Conservative drama has he been waiting in the wings for a possible call to return to the political spotlight. The stock exchange may not be any more certain a business than political life. But at least the pay is more certain—and also considerably better.

Since the two Conservative revolutions are thus completely separate and distinct, a conclusion of some importance follows. It is that Mr. Diefenbaker has demonstrated an unhappy inability to get along with his cabinet when in power and with his rank-and-file parliamentary supporters when in opposition.

As impartial Parliament Hill political veterans view the situation, inability of this particular nature and on such a scale is no slight limitation upon party leader's usefulness. The uneasiness among Conservatives which discovery of this defect has aroused is understood and sympathized with.

Mr. Diefenbaker has, of course, an answer to the objection. In his point of view there is a consideration which far transcends ability to get along with a temperamental cabinet or even with rank-and-file parliamentary supporters. And that is ability to get along with the rank-and-file voter at the polls.

"Dief the Chief", whose past political miracles are no less impressive because temporarily there is a tendency for them to be forgotten is convinced that he understands the psychology of the average Canadian voter. It also considers bluntly that no other rival for his office remotely approaches his expertise in this decisive field.

There's a considerable feeling amongst the capital's political veterans that the Diefenbaker view expresses not only a good deal of truth, but even more political realism. The opinion is increasing, even as the situation mounts, that the hard corps of Conservatism is going to think twice about Diefenbaker so long as the present dearth of any successor or even approximately comparable ability persists. No one really discerns him amongst the ranks of the Davie Fultons, Duff Roblins, Robert Stanfields, or Leon Balcers now being mentioned.

Pot Luck Supper prior to concert

Glenarm (PNS) — A very delightful evening was spent at Knox Church Glenarm when teachers and Sabbath school pupils staged their annual pot Luck supper and programme always held after Christmas.

Following words of thanks for the many blessings provided for our use by Rev. McDonald the meal was partaken and after the tables were cleared away, Ivan MacMillan and chairman presided for the concert which consisted of various numbers by the Sabbath School children.

After words of welcome the opening number was a much appreciated number by Bruce McNabb accompanied by his mother Mrs. Sterling McNabb. Duets by Darlene McMillan and Alan Nicholson, Bonnie and John Thomas who all favoured a couple of times and were accompanied on the piano by Mrs Leonard Thomas. Readings with the Christmas theme by Alan Webster; vocal solo by Bobby Nesbitt and piano duet by Janice Nesbitt and John Nesbitt which were interspersed through out the programme and "Rudolph the red nosed reindeer" by Bruce McNabb.

The chaiman called on the teachers who gave the names of each child in the class, namely Mrs. Sherman Nicholson for the Juniors and the number of Sabbaths they had been in attendance. Mrs. James R. Nesbitt for the intemediates, a class she had taught for several months following bereavement in the community and Ivan MacMillan for a class he had been teaching throughout the year.

Rev. McDonald commended the teachers, pupils for the attendance, welcomed any new children as the Sabbath School and church were always ready to welcome anyone wishing to attend and presented a Robert Raikes Diploma to Allan Nicholson for perfect attendance. Rev. McDonald told of the origination of Sabbath chools and the Robert Raikes Diplomas started in England by this man in the city of Gloucester and by 1784 there was also Sabbath Schools in London and all over England. The first in Canada was opened by a man named James Davidson at Picton, Nova Scotia around 1778. Robert Raikes died in 1811 and buried on the Thames embankment at London England and a replica is to be seen also near the Parliament Buildings in Queen's Park, Toronto for the man who through his efforts commenced the first Sunday Schools for children

The programme continued with the mention of Allan Nicholson for the Junior boys receiving a cash donation for attendance of 44 Sabbaths out of 44 that the Sunday School was open while Darlene MacMillan received it for the Junior girls.

Other perfect attendance was highest for senior boys; David MacMillan and Allan Webster were equal while Janice Nesbitt was the high girl.

Seals were presented as well for a number already having the Robert Raikes Diplomas for each year of perfect attendance while special mention was made of the Webster boys with 8 years attendance, one in which they received their Robert Raikes to commence their seals. Not only were the children commended, but their parents, also and the teachers from Sabbath to Sabbath, who teach the children

Gifts from the gaily adorned tree was a suitable finalle to a most enjoyable evening.

Baddow UCW elect new officers

Baddow (PNS) — The Baddow U.C.W. met on Tuesday, January 5th, 1965 at the home of Mrs. Cecil Chambers.

The President, Mrs. H. Hopkins opened the meeting with the reading of a poem, followed with a hymn. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary, Mrs. O. Wells. She also read a letter from Mrs. Florence Beatty which was received by the President. The Roll Call was taken with 10 members present. The Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. C. Watson read all correspondence received. The Visiting Committee, Mrs. R. Hopkins read correspondence received by her and also mentioned all the shut-ins she had visited during the Christmas season.

The Election of Officers was next on the programme with Mrs. Eade Graham in the chair. The officers are as follows: President - Mrs. Pearl Hopkins; Vice-President - Mrs. Mabel Chambers; Recording Secretary - Mrs. Orlee Wells; Corresponding Secretary - Mrs. Edith Watson; Treasurer Mrs. Bessie Wilson; Missionary Convenor - Mrs. Shirley Fountain; Memorial Fund - Mrs. Shirley Fountain; Visiting Committee - Mrs. Phyllis Hopkins; Social Committee - Mrs. Roma Watson.

With no further business to discuss, the meeting came to a close with prayer by the President, Mrs. M. Hopkins. A social half hour was spent with the Hostess and Helpers serving lunch.

DROPPED IN

London (UPI) — The manager of a sportswear store was sitting at his desk last night when a man fell through the roof and landed beside him. Police carted off the slightly injured, unexpected visitor for questioning.

Dalrymple

There was a very small attendance of worshippers at Sunday morning service at Dalrymple United Church. The cold weather was making life difficult in the matter of starting cars, thawing pipes, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Dawson are on their way to California.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Radway and Mrs. Crowse are on their way to the South. Miss Peggy Grant will be joining the party at London, for the trip.

Sympathy is expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fox and Miss Frances Fox of Barrie. Mrs. Fox's mother, Mrs. MacArthur of Woodville passed away during recent weeks. Mrs. Fox is presently spending a few weeks with her sister Miss Christine MacArthur of Ottawa.

Mrs. T. Harrington and Michael of Weston are spending a few weeks at the Radway home.

Miss M. Munro of Midland spent a week visiting her cousin, Mrs. Thrasher recently.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Brown of Norland called at the Stewart home recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie Black have had their little daughter in the hospital with pneumonia.

The Dalrympie Bowling team had the pleasure of bowling a team of spare bowlers from around Dalrymple last week when there was a vacant alley. A good time was had by all.

The Carden Township School Board met at Sylvan Glen School for their first meeting. The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Ross Fox was rehired for the next year. Mr. Bert Newman was present in regard to renewing insurance; improvements in the heating system for Sylvan Glen School were planned.

EMO REPORT

Continuity of Government

by EMO Co-ordinator for Victoria—Haliburton JAMES HALL

Introduction

The first steps in the field of continuity of government were undertaken in June 1957 when the Emergency Measures Organization was created for the specific purpose of developing a plan which would insure the continued operation of the federal government in the event of nuclear war. In the same year, some aspects and principles which are related to the programme known as the continuity of government were introduced into the Civil Defence Planning Courses in Arnprior. However, it was not until the reorganization of civil defence, at the federal level in 1959, that the term came to have special significance to emergency planners, not only at the federal level, but at all levels of government. Today the real meaning of the term in some instances has been lost, some have even used the term in the sense that it meant to imply the protection of selected individuals in government. Nothing could be further from the truth. Possibly our North American habit of trying to shorten our terminology has resulted in having the term sometimes given unintended shades of meaning and emphasis.

Continuity of government would probably have been better understood if it had been more fully emphasized that the new programme was aimed at ensuring the continued operation not only of government authority but also of essential government services during periods of emergency. Looked at in this way the programme does make sense, because it is then related to the preservation of such vital services of government as the maintenance of law and order public health, and so forth. As well, it is related directly to the continuation of such economic activities as production of essential commodities. Therefore, all of the programmes for continuity of government are directed to the one aim — the survival of the population.

Since 1959 continuity of government has been receiving considerable attention by all levels of government — federal, provincial and municipal. Previous to 1959, most of the activities which were involved in emergency planning were those which were related directly to the survival of the people; for example, the organization of rescue services, the development of warning systems, the problems of pre-attack evacuation and reception. During that period, little attention was given to the problems of ensuring the continued operation of government.

The Effect of the 1959 Reorganization

With the reorganization of civil defence in 1959, the Emergency Measures Organization was given the task of coordinating the total civil emergency planning programme of the federal government, as well as providing assistance and guidance to provincial governments. In effect, it was from time on that the federal EMO commenced the direction of what was really to become a two-pronged programme of civil emergency planning. The first was related to the continued operation of essential services of government.

The second was the provision of advice and assistance on programmes which would assist the population in surviving the possible effects of nuclear war. These latter programmes really absorbed what were, and still are, widely known as civil defence programmes.

From the point of view of organization and planning at the federal and provincial levels of government, it is a relatively simple matter to look at these two aspects of civil emergency planning in isolation, but, in fact, and particularly at the local or municipal level of government, these two programmes are so closely interwoven that they really cannot be separated. At the provincial level, of course, survival matters such as evacuation routes and reception areas, need particular emphasis.

Provincial plans:

Most persons readily recognize and agree to the importance of having the federal government make advance preparations for possible war emergencies. However, many forget or neglect to consider that the preparations which are made by the provincial governments are just as important and necessary. In many cases, although federal powers or controls may cover some important task of direction, it is in fact provincial government departments which use many of these powers to implement the national policy. Similarly, although the federal government may be responsible for the creation of controls in such an area as food supplies, most of the staff for such a programme would be drawn from provincial government departments and private industry. Additionally, there are areas, such as in the fields of law and order, health and welfare, in which provinces have complete responsibility, and the federal officers in these related areas of interest will be provided by provincial governments. The plans which are developed by federal and provincial governments are intended to be complementary.

Local Plans:

The whole concept of organizing in peacetime, public services within municipalities is based on the principle that such services are needed and must be provided for the common good. During times of disaster or emergency, it is vitally important that these selfsame services of local government be organized in such a manner as to ensure that elected leadership continues. During this century in Canada, there has been ample evidence arising out of major "natural" disasters to support this contention. In times of stress, the people automatically turn to their respective governments for guidance and assistance. Therefore, it is important, when the scale of devastation which could be brought about by nuclear explosion is so great, that positive steps be taken by local governments to be in position to provide this leadership. Otherwise, the country would dissolve into the morass of chaos.

Burnt River Boys ground Flyers 8-3

Tri-County Hockey Association action Wednesday night at Oakwood saw the visiting Burnt River boys splurge for five goals in the final period to defeat Oakwood 8-3.

Gary Lywood's hat trick led the Burnt River attack while R. Sheehey added two, E. Sheehey, B. Handley and K. Handley scored one each. Doug Brown scored twice for the home team, and George Frain added one to end the second period tied at 3-3. Referee Al Burns kept the game well in hand with nine penalties. Oakwood's John Horton survived a six stitch cut on his face sufficiently to pass around cigars to celebrate the arrival of his new daughter.

Sir Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill
November 30, 1874 — January 24, 1965

Sir Winston is pictured here at his desk in the study at 10, Downing Street, London, during his last term as prime minister.

"We shall not see his like again" — Pearson

Canada mourned with the world today as Sir Winston Churchill stepped into history. For many, it was a time when memory was stirred.

It was a day of eulogy, sadness and gratitude. And it was a day of special pride in the life of a man to whom the country claimed special ties.

From the flag atop the stately Peace Tower on Ottawa's Parliament Hill, to the one atop the post office of the tiny Prince Edward Island community which named itself after Churchill in Boer War days, the nation's emblems dipped to half-staff. Radio stations curtailed programming and slipped into slow-tempo music; some groped for the old Churchill magic by broadcasting excerpts from his speeches.

And as the Sunday hours wore on, the sense of loss deepened across the land.

Prime Minister Lester Pearson learned of Sir Winston's death from an aide, shortly before 7.30 p.m. EST. He immediately cancelled political appointments, and prepared to fly to London for the funeral, at the head of a Canadian delegation. Details will be announced following further word on the funeral arrangements.

Pearson, a longtime admirer of Churchill's added a personal note to his formal expressions of sympathy on behalf of the Canadian people.

In a gentle, poignant note to Lady Churchill, Pearson wrote she was "in our thoughts and prayers. May God sustain you now . . . all Canadians feel and share your sorrow." The note was signed, simply, "Maryon and Lester B. Pearson."

This formal tribute acclaimed Churchill the "greatest leader of our time . . . ." But one who "was no demi-god, aloof on Olympus, but the warmest of human beings . . . .

"We shall not see his like again. May God rest his great heart and soul . . . ."

In the late afternoon, Pearson visited the British High Commissioner's office and signed the book of condolences in a short ceremony. It will be open to the public Monday for those who want to add themselves personally to the formal tributes being paid to Churchill. Similar books of condolence will be opened in British Trade Commissioners' office in major centres across Canada.

Since Churchill was a member of Canada's Privy Council, the flag atop the Peace Tower was lowered in homage as soon as word of his death was confirmed. The External Affairs Protocol Department ruled, however, that "because of Churchill's unique position of international stature", flags on federal buildings were to be flown at half-staff.

Governor General George Vanier expressed "deepest sorrow" at Churchill's death. Recalling the war days when he came to know Churchill, Vanier said without Churchill, "The tide of civilization in Europe might have ebbed for generations . . ."

FINAL HOMAGE

The nation Sir Winston Churchill saved in its most desperate hour, today swept the protocol and precedents of centuries for its final homage to him.

The steps are planned to make sure that Britain pays its last full measure of devotion to the 90-year-old man who died yesterday.

Queen Elizabeth commanded a state funeral and parliament will ratify her decree this afternoon. And then, in an unprecedented move, it was announced the Queen and members of the Royal Family would attend the funeral in St. Paul's Cathedral on Saturday.

Royalty rarely attends funerals except those of other royalty. And Churchill, despite the fact that he was a Knight of the Realm, was a commoner. Doubtless he could have had any degree in the British peerage he desired, but accepted the Knighthood because that enabled him to remain in the House of Commons. The Queen's presence will be an honour that not even was ac-

COUNTY ROADS NEEDS STUDY IS APPROVED IN PRINCIPLE

Victoria County Roads committee approved in principle, subject to certain modifications that are in conformity with the criteria, the Victoria County Roads Needs Study as presented by the Consulting Engineers Totten-Simms and Associates.

Meeting in committee of the whole on roads Friday afternoon, a representative of the consulting firm, Mr. Ted Simms, outlined in detail the recommendations of his firm in connection with existing and proposed road needs in the County. He told council members that rules were applied without bias and local knowledge, except geographic or topographical boundaries. He said consideration was given in regard to the population of given areas, routes of heavy vehicles, parallel road service to topographical barriers such as lakes, routes to summer resorts, and traffic volume. He said no matter how sparsely populated an area, an improved road should be provided within four miles, between 20 to 40 persons per square mile called for an improved road every three miles. Improved roads were indicated to connect urban municipalities and where parallel services were too close or the traffic count too low, certain county roads were recommended for return to the township system. "Area service results in the greatest mileage of county roads and the greatest amount of deletions" said Mr. Simms. "Some roads do not meet any of the rules therefore are recommended for deletion. Some seven or eight sections of county road fall in this category.

Referring to proposed causeways, Mr. Simms pointed out that they were included in the plan in accordance with the twenty year projection of possible needs. He said the suggested locations were not necessarily definite depending on land disturbances, but that the suggested causeways do confirm with the rules by which all other changes were decided. He said he was aware of considerable opposition to each of the three suggestions, and that no immediate action on development was recommended.

$1,400 damage in Minden crash

Total damage of $1,400 resulted from a two-car head-on collision on the Davis Lake Road, on Friday at 9.45 p.m. Minden OPP said cars driven by Robert Wunker, 44, of Miner's Bay and Charles Oliver, 28, of Toronto crashed on the brow of a hill. Mr. Wunker sustained mouth lacerations and bruised ribs and a passenger in the Oliver vehicle, Hazel Oliver, 26, of Toronto received lacerations to her face. Police said both were treated and released from the Minden Red Cross Hospital.

Minden OPP Constable S. D. Elliott investigated.

John Weatherseed to examine for Music Conservatory

The Royal Conservatory of Music, University of Toronto have informed "The Post" that John Weatherseed will be examining in Lindsay on January 25th and 26th. The Conservatory had earlier indicated, in error, that Miss Virginia Knott would be examining.

Mr. Weatherseed is the organist and choirmaster of Deer Park United Church in Toronto. John J. Weatherseed is known across Canada as an ajudicator, lecturer and examiner. A Fellow of the Royal College of Organists, he was formerly instructor in piano and organ at McGill Conservatorium, and lecturer in music appreciation, history and form in music at McGill University.

He also conducted the Mendelssohn Choir in Montreal for some years. A Past President of the Toronto chapter of the Royal Conservatory Alumni Association, the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association, and the Royal College of Organists, Mr. Weatherseed is also known as a composer, his works being published by Boston Music, Western Music and the Frederick Harris Company. Mr. Weatherseed is also on the staff of the University of Toronto as a lecturer in the Extension Department.

Leslie Frost pays tribute to Churchill

Former Ontario Prime Minister Leslie M. Frost paid tribute to the memory of Sir Winston Churchill in Lindsay today. "Sir Winston Churchill's life", he said, "covers an unbelievably long period of modern history. As a young soldier he was with Kitchener, in the Sudan campaign of 1898 and from that time until 1965 he had been a figure in every crisis the Commonwealth has met, including the South African war, the Great War, the second World War, and the great social changes in the United Kingdom parliament, and in many ways too numerous to recall at the present time".

"It is really impossible to appraise the contributions made by a man assessed today as Mr. Freedom himself, all we can say is that a might oak has fallen and we are all awed by the length and might of his contribution made over so many decades" Mr Frost added, "Obviously at ninety years of age his work was done, but the extent of this work will live after him for generations".

Mr. Frost said that he had seen Mr. Churchill on many occasions, first from the visitor's gallery in the British House of Commons during the years 1914 to 1918, and he recalled hearing Mr. Churchill speak on the Dardenelles situation. The former premier of Ontario said he saw Mr. Churchill a number of times afterwards including once when he was introduced to the great leader in Toronto. Mr. Frost

Man of History

Sunday, January 24th, 1965, is a day of sadness for millions. That day will be remembered with a special sadness by the 892,000 Canadians from Britain who have emigrated to Canada since World War II, and the dark days when Sir Winston Churchill inspired that island people to stand alone against the greatest war machine the world had ever known. The sadness of these Canadians from Britain is shared by natural-born Canadians, Canadians from many other countries and by people of all nationalities all over the world.

Sir Winston Churchill was one of the few men in the history of the world who made history while they were still living. Winston Churchill assures himself of a place in history both as a man of action and a man of words. Churchill used the English language as it had rarely been used before, to inject iron into the spirit of the British people during the darkest hours of their history.

Three days after he had been appointed Prime Minister on May 13, 1940, he said "I would say to the House, as I have said to those who have joined this government: 'I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat'. You ask what is our policy? I will say it is to wage war—by sea, land and air, with all our might and with all the strength that God can give us; to wage war against a monstrous tyranny never surpassed in the dark lamentable catalogue of human crimes. That is our policy."

Reporting on Dunkirk on June 4, 1940, Churchill said: "Even though large tracts of Europe and many old and famous states have fallen, or may fall into the grip of the Gestapo and all the odious apparatus of the Nazi rule, we shall not flag or fail. We shall go on to the end. We shall fight in France, we shall fight on the seas and oceans, we shall fight with growing confidence and growing strength in the air. We shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills. We shall never surrender."

And in Ottawa on December 30th, 1941, the strident words of Churchill rang across the floor of the Canadian House of Commons and throughout the nation of Canada. "We have suffered together and we shall conquer together . . . ". The same day Churchill was given the unusual honour of being sworn in as a member of the Canadian Privy Council.

In 1963 he was honoured by the United States by the presentation of an honorary citizenship. President J. F. Kennedy said, in making the presentation to his son Randolph, in his father's absence." He is the most honoured and honourable man to walk the stage of human history in the time in which we live. By adding his name to our rolls, we mean to honour him—but his acceptance honours us far more. For no statement or proclamation can enrich his name now. The name Sir Winston Churchill is already legend."

Those of us who have lived through even a portion of his life in this century of storm and tragedy have seen history made. Winston Churchill has now gone. May he rest in peace.

Highlights in the Life of Sir Winston Churchill

(UPI)—Sir Winston Churchill compressed half a dozen careers into his life, from novelist and painter to soldier and politician. Here are some of the highlight's:

Nov. 30, 1874—Born, prematurely, to Lord Randolph Churchill, son of the seventh Duke of Marlborough, and Brooklyn-born Jenny Jerome, daughter of a New York newspaper owner. Educated at private schools and Sandhurst, Britain's West Point.

—0—

1898—Service as a young army officer in India and Egypt. Took part in the charge of the 21st Lancers in the Sudan, the last full-scale cavalry charge in history, and lived to become its last survivor.

—0—

1898—Wrote his first book on his army experiences, "The story of the Malakand Field Force." It was followed by more than a score of books, including a novel, "Savrola", a six-volume history of World War II, and a four-volume "History of the English Speaking People."

—0—

1899—Left the army to become a war correspondent for the London "Morning Post" in the Boer War. He was captured and made a spectacular escape. News accounts of it made him famous back home and Churchill decided to campaign for parliament.

—0—

1900—Elected to Parliament as a 26-year old Conservative. He was to serve, with two brief breaks, for more than six decades, but not always as a Conservative. He became a Liberal and an Independent before returning to the Tories.

—0—

—0—

1908— Married Clementine Hozier, daughter of a British Colonel and granddaughter of the Seventh Earl of Arlie. "I married and lived happily ever after," he once wrote.

—0—

1911—Became First Lord of the Admiralty, mobilizing the fleet for action before the outbreak of war in 1914. But blamed for the naval disaster in the Dardanelles a year later, he resigned and went to France as an infantry officer.

—0—

1917—Returned to become Minister of Munitions. Held several other government posts, including the Chancellorship of the Exchequer, in the 1920's. In the 1930's however, he split with the government over its attempts to appease Hitler.

—0—

1937—Sided with King Edward VIII in the crisis over his marriage to American divorcee Mrs. Wallis Simpson. When the king was forced to abdicate Churchill helped write his final speech.

—0—

1939—Despite his opposition to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, he agreed to become First Lord of the Admiralty again when war broke out.

—0—

1940—Chamberlain resigned as the Nazi armies swept into France and Churchill became head of a coalition government in May. "I have nothing to offer you but blood, toil, tears and sweat," he told parliament. With the manace of Nazi invasion facing Britain, he pledged to the nation: "We shall fight on the breaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, shall fight on the beaches, we shall never surrender."

—0—

1941—First wartime meeting between Churchill and former President Roosevelt aboard the Royal Navy battleship Prince of Wales and the U.S.S. Augusta.

—0—

1945—While Churchill met with Soviet dictator Joseph Stalin and former President Truman at Potsdam for a German settlement after the defeat of Hitler, his Conservatives were defeated at the polls by the Labour Party. Churchill turned over the premiership to Clement Attlee and called the election outcome "dammed ingratitude".

—0—

1946—Churchill remained active in the opposition in parliament, warning of the Communist danger in Europe. His speech at Fulton, Mo., gave the world the term "iron curtain."

—0—

1951—Won back the premiership in general elections defeating the Labourites, a victory he called "the last prize" of his political career.

—0—

1953 — Queen Elizabeth named Churchill a Knight of the Garter, the nation's oldest and highest order of chivalry. He could have had a Dukedom but preferred to remain a commoner so he could stay in the House of Commons.

—0—

1953—His six-volume history "The Second World War," won the Nobel prize for literature.

—0—

1955 — Retiring as Prime Minister, disclosing he had suffered a paralyzing stroke two years earlier. He devoted his time to writing, painting, and his seat in the House of Commons.

Injured in crash

A. J. Brennan, Lindsay insurance agent, suffered minor injuries in a motor accident at the corner of Queen and St. Peter Streets, just before noon today when the car he was driving was struck by a truck driven by William Henley, Lindsay.

Mr. Brennan's injuries are believed to be slight, consisting of minor cuts and bruises.

Chief of Police R. H. Lawler, who investigated the accident, stated that the car driven by Mr. Brennan was struck broadside by the heavy truck, owned by C. K. Newton. Mr. Brennan was crossing Queen on St. Peter Street police said, and the truck was proceeding east on Queen Street.

Re-elect head of WMS

Mrs. Frank Myers was re-elected president of the Lindsay Presbyterial W.M.S. of the United Church at the 15th annual meeting in Queen Street United Church. Officers of the Presbyterial gave gratifying reports of the activities denoting substantial progress and enthusiasm in all departments.

Show pictures to Yatch Club

The Victoria Yatch Club and Anglers' Association held their second general meeting of the year at their club rooms Wednesday night. After a general business meeting at which several accounts were passed, A. W. Pogue and S. Tucker entertained the meeting with coloured moving pictures. Many interesting "shots" were seen of the annual Regatta sponsored by the club, ski meets taken at Peterboro and Preston Falls and scenes taken in several of the large cities of the United States and Canada including New York City.

Changes hands

One of Lindsay's large and well-known businesses changed hands today when Mr. A. S. Welsman, jeweller, sold out to Arthur O. Felt, who takes charge immediately.

Benefit

F. C. Edmonds, manager of Wonderland, has very generously offered the local Red Cross Society the use of his theatorum gratuitously for a benefit night this week, the date of which will be announced later. Mr. Edmonds will put on a splendid line of pictures.

Thank-you note

Lou Wickett has received a card from a friend who is fighting in the trenches with the Allies, in which the young man thanks him for a pair of socks sent over. He says that the men have a great need of them as they are standing in wet trenches all the time and their feet soon get cold and wet, to say nothing of the supply of socks wearing out rapidly.

RHUBARB PROVIDES A TOUCH OF SPRING

It's rhubarb pie time again. Thanks to Ontario "forced" rhubarb. Our only fresh winter fruit crop, "springtime's first fruit" is making its appearance along with late winter snows.

Juicy, tender, delicately-voured, Ontario "forced" rhubarb provide's a welcome spring tonic for winter jaded appetites.

After the first rhubarb pie has delighted your family, and while winter fresh rhubarb is in good supply, there are any number of other delicious and appetizing desserts to make.

Rhubarb sauce—over Ginger bread or Cottage Pudding, or Baked Custard, a Rhubarb Upside-down Cake, and the ever-so-good Rhubarb Crisp with the crunchy oatmeal, flour, brown sugar topping.

If you wish a recipe for Rhubarb Crisp, send name and address to Ontario Food Council, Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Ontario.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I prevent leather upholstery from drying out and cracking?

A. Rub it occasionally (once or twice a year (with castor oil, neat's-foot oil, or a good commercial leather conditioner. On light-colored leathers, use a white conditioner or white petroleum jelly; since most oils tend to darken leather. After rubbing the oil well in with your fingertips, wipe off every trace with a soft cloth. If using neat's-foot oil, remember that while it is an excellent leather conditioner, it leaves a dull, rather than glossy, finish.

Q. How can I improvise an ink blotter when the real thing is not at hand?

A. Reach into your box of facial cleansing tissues. The loosely-packed fibers of these tissues absorb ink even faster than some blotters.

Q. How can I improvise some coconut when I have run out of the real thing?

A. Grated raw potato makes a good substitute coconut.

Glazed Chintz

When the glaze wears off chintz, as it does after a few washings, it can be restored professionally. However, you can produce a pretty slick glaze yourself by dipping the chintz into a thin solution of clear starch to which a small amount of wax has been added.. Use paraffin or candlewax, and stir it thoroughly into the hot starch solution.

Imitation Leather

To clean imitation leather upholstery, mild soap and lukewarm water are safest and best. To prevent cracking and peeling, follow the washing with a thin coating of petroleum jelly.

Added Flavour

Try brushing French dressing over the meats and vegetables when they are broiled, and this will add extra flavor and help with the browning.

FRACAS AT DANCE HALL IN HARCOURT

Ontario Provincial Police of the Haliburton Detachment said they expect to arrest six persons or more in connection with a fracas at the Harcourt Community Centre in which the interior of the hall was damaged and a number of people were injured Saturday night.

Police said as yet there is no indication as to what started the fight which occurred about midnight. No estimate of the damage was available and police said no one was seriously injured.

This scene is from the hilarious Canadian Players' production "All About Us" a show which is billed as a lively and colourful vaudeville of Canadian history, "All About Us" will be presented on Friday, February 5th at the Academy Theatre in Lindsay and is sponsored by the Lindsay Rotary Club.

OUR THANKS TO THE REGISTERED NURSE

Although she is so very often working in the background, the Registered Nurse fully merits your appreciation. She is a most important and valued member of the health team. Her job at the right hand of the physician calls for a high degree of knowledge and competence.

Just as physicians and pharmacists must study long years to become registered, so must nurses prepare themselves both in the class room and on-the-job in clinics and wards. We feel proud that many Registered Nurses rely on our pharmacy for their pharmacy needs.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

CUB AND SCOUT LEADERS ATTEND SCOUTERS' COURSES

"Each section of the scout organization is a part of the movement, not a movement apart," District Scout Commissioner B. Brown of Peterboro told pack scouters who attended one of the two scouters' courses held in Peterboro on Friday night and Saturday. Twelve cub and scout leaders from Victoria County were among the 60 scouters who attended the two 12-hour courses held in Peterboro.

At a luncheon for cub leaders at the Knox Presbyterian Church Saturday, District Commissioner Brown discussed the role of the group committee in relation to the group and the district council and inter-relations between the sections of the group.

Five cub leaders from Lindsay, Harold James, William Rowntree, James Wilson, Jerry Stevens and Pauline Lormond and two from Omemee, Susan Fowler and Marylin Joyce attended the course at Knox Presbyterian Church and five scout leaders from Lindsay, Garry Curtin, Carl Saville, Ray Sluggett, John Bennett Twelve cub and scout leaders from Victoria County were among the 60 scouters who attended the two 12-hour courses held in Peterboro.

In the troop scouters course the participants had to go to a point south of Peterboro, in the cold blustery weather, and cook the noon meal outside on Saturday. They were permitted to take a small quantity of dry kindling with them and fuel for the fires had to be collected from the snow-covered ground.

Council holds Inaugural meet

Cannington (PNS) — Members of the Cannington Council for 1965 held their Inaugural meeting Monday morning in the Council Chambers with Reeve Wm. Beard in the chair.

Rev. Donald Davidson rector of All Saints Anglican Church, conducted the devotionals of the Inauguration and the members of Council, Arthur Gordon, Lance Patterson and Delson Shier took the oath of office before the Town Clerk, Gavin Brandon. Councillor Allan McPhail was unable to attend.

The following committees were to serve for the coming year with their chairman are: Drains, Roads and Sidewalks, Arthur Gordon; Fire, Police and Street Lighting, Lance Patterson; Waterworks, Delson Shier; Municipal, Property and Welfare, Allan McPhail and Finance, Wm. J. Beard.

The meeting then adjourned to Monday evening when the newly elected town fathers held the first regular meeting of '65.

Lindsay Sergeant returns from France

Sgt. Evan Owen and wife and children, Patty, Tommy and Holly arrived from France by plane at Trenton on January 5. Then they picked up their 1500 Volkswagen (which had been shipped by boat) and arrived in Lindsay to visit with the former's father, Mr. G. S. Owen and sister, Miss Marjorie Owen of 48 Cambridge Street, North.

After spending several days there they went to Mac Tier near Parry Sound to visit with Mrs. Owen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bevan.

Last Sunday they arrived back at Cambridge St. N., when a pleasant family gathering was held with a brother Fred Owen and wife and family and a sister Grace (Mrs. Bruce Edwards) and family of Burlington and Philo and wife and family of RR Lindsay present. A brother, Clyde Owen of Montreal and a sister, Ruth (Mrs. Whiteleggi of New Westminster, B.C., were not home for the reunion.

Sgt. Owen had left on Monday morning for Winnipeg where he will be stationed.

He has been in France on a 4-year rotation.

Sweep!

Skip Marnie Sutton and Louise Ashmore of Lindsay invaded the Omemee rink a few days ago and romped home as winners in the Carling curling event as top winner and runner-up. It was a thrill for the Lindsay ladies to emerge on top in face of keen competition. The ladies report splendid hospitality and good entertainment. Skip Sutton's rink returned with the Carling trophy and prizes. The rink: Marnie Sutton (skip), Laura McGahey, Ann Fuester, Audrey Porter. Louise Ashmore (skip), Ethel Rodman, Beth Jones, Doris Cornell.

Brooms swished and the granites roared in fine style when the ladies Leads and Seconds swing into action at the Peel curling rink. The competition ran high and curling was keen. Shirley Moore's rink won first place with Jean Robinson in second place. Louise Ashmore's rink carried off top honours in the vice-skips 'spiel with Helen Gregory as runner-up.

Weekend scores in the Ladies club were as follows: Reynolds 11, Whyte 2; Heels 8, Hickson 6; Eberts 8, Laidley 6; Gassien 1, Kay 8; Woodbrow 10, Sutton 8; McGahey 11, Brown 5; Rodman 10, Woolard 8.

Eight young ladies from the Lindsay Ladies Club had a wonderful day at Peterboro Charlotte Street rink Wednesday. The competition is open for curlers who have been playing for 7 years and under and the ability of these ladies was quite evident.

Jean Ferguson, wife of President Don, played her first out-of-town game as a skip and was successful in having the high score for one win and as a result the girls returned with a new supply of cosmetics.

Lindsay's second rink was skipped by Glad Jordan and this rink did well in face of stiff opposition. The rinks: Jean Ferguson (skip), Myrtle Kennedy, Helen McLeish, Marg. Walker, Glad Jordan (skip), Jean Gillespie, Diane Davis, Audrey Watson.

Lindsay Ladies Club entry in the Silver D. treks to Scarboro today. The locals will be on hand, Monday and Tuesday to meet some of the top rinks in the province. The overall winners will qualify for the Diamond Event. Good luck, a horseshoe and a wishbone to the Lindsay ladies.

* * *

President Elva Brown of the Ladies Club has received an invitation to take part in a curling event at Beaverton on the afternoon of the 28th. The local rink has been asked to be on hand for the three p.m. draw.

Jr. Farmers hold New Years' party

Kawartha Jr. Farmers sponsored a New Year's Eve party in Oakwood Hall. Balloons and spot light gaily decorated the hall for the occasion. Spot dances, bag busting game, and a hat contest comprised some of the activities for the evening. The results of the hat contest were: Jane Webster being the winner of the most original hat, Bill Laidly the funniest and Ann Roddy and Rick Allan, the largest hats. John Meyers acted very capably as disk jockey. Janet Davidson chairman of committee wishes to express her appreciation to all members who assisted in the planning and execution of the event.

Cambridge St. Baptist Church holds annual business meeting

A unique candlelight devotional was conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. J. Boadway, in which the hymn "Jesus Bids Us Shine" was sung by all present. The pastor suggested that this message be carried out or be enacted in the lives of each one present throughout the coming year.

With Deacon Ben Stevens in the chair the annual business meeting of Cambridge Street Baptist Church got under way.

The annual reports of the various departments previously compiled into booklet form were discussed and formally accepted. These included the pastor's report, the clerk's report by Mrs. R.A. Magahey showing a membership of 180, the deacon's report by Murdy Pogue and the report of the deaconess followed by the Board of Trustees report submitted by W. B. Bates and the report of the assistant treasurer and envelope committee by R. A Magahay. Then E. R. Wright's report of the House Committee and Murdy Pogue's report of the Music Committee and Miss Harriet Bate's report of the Flower Committee were all of interest.

The achievement of the W.A. were displayed in a very interesting and attractive arrangement for all to see. Mrs. Hattie Hardy reported. The two Mission Circle's displays also proved to be of great interest.

Reports of these were given by Miss Hattie Bates and Mrs. Winnie Andrew's.

The chairman of ushers, Mr. Ken Bartle and R. A. Magahay, representative of the Trent Valley Association of Baptist Churches, Mrs. Winnie Andrews, secretary of the Publicity Committee and Mrs. Norma Bates, secretary of Christian Education Committee were all read. Mr. Harvey Wright in his Sunday School report appealed for workers in the Mission field at home.

The Sigma-C boys displayed their activities and this new organization will meet the needs of boys of 12 to 14 years.

Miss Joan Ann Hilton reported for the B.Y.P.U. and D. Keith Morden for the Organ Committees, Pat Ramsay for the Explorers and Mrs. Dorothy Lightbody for the Junior congregation. Mr. Dalton Lindsay the church treasurer and the treasurers of the various organizations viz. - Mrs. Verian Cascadden, Mrs. Margaret Irvine, Mrs. Norma Bates Miss Joan Ann Hilton, etc., revealed total receipts of $15,246.00.

Among the new officers elected into the ruling year are deacons E. Wright and F. A. Reeds, church clerk - Mrs. Betty Puffer, church treasurer Mr. E. C. Hill, assistant Mr. Jack Ward, assistant Supt. of Sunday School Mr. D. Little.

A turkey dinner, served by members of the W.A. preceeded this annual meeting.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

SOME SUGGESTIONS FOR HAPPY, HEALTHY NEW YEAR

Happy New Year wishes come a little late, but there's always a good season for Good Health wishes. Accordingly, I offer them to you in the form of practical tips and observations. Some, you have heard during the year; others may be new to you.

1. Mention one commodity (house, mink stole, diamonds, million-dollar contract, etc.), which is more vital to your happiness than good health? Think hard. Give up?

2. If you asked me your greatest enemy in the fight against disease I'd repeat: procrastination. Illness relies on this trusted lieutenant to keep you away from the doctor until it's too late to save yourself.

3. Rapid reduction cures (which sprout up every few years and sweep the country) are for the birds. Whether they come out of a can, a stalk of celery, a head of lettuce—most of them are ridiculous methods of self-immolation. Lose eight pounds and 12 pile on when you come back to conventional eating again.

4. Aspirin may be a wonder drug, but it shouldn't be used helter-skelter in the treatment of rheumatism. What's important is to determine just what kind of arthritis (if any) you have. For example, aspirin is great for many aches and pains, but it doesn't help much if you are suffering from undiagnosed arthritis.

5. The cholesterol bit may may have been overdose. Medical enthusiasm often runs a muck, until a few doctors here and there reach for the reins and stop the runaway. Nevertheless, it helps in unriddling the enigma of atherosclerosis, to cut down on saturated facts —even if the only result is loss of abnormal weight.

BETTER OFF NOT SMOKING

6. The smoking habit? You're better off without than with. I was a moderate smoker until two years ago. Some day I may go back to smoking a pipe or occasional cigar; but I've been saying that for two years.

Tobacco is the enemy of lungs, heart and blood vessels. There are exceptions: very moderate smokers and those over 60 who are healthy and enjoy an occasional drag. I tell these, in lieu of all the current information about tobacco, "Let your conscience be your guide".

7. Alcohol? I consider it a boon for those over 40 who can control intake to no more (with occasional exceptions) than two ounces daily. And aside to teen-agers: beer-guzzling may be the fashion, but I suggest you reneg, even if your pals call you yellow. I've seen too many cases of apparently innocuous beer-drinking (which many parents condone) turn to chronic alcoholism.

8. It's not being sissyish to take vacations every year. Don't brag that you don't need them. You may not, but have you consulted your arteries or nerves lately?

9. The cheapest premium to pay for good health is a common sense diet which keeps you trim. Moderate exercise may be all right, but it is not essential to good health.

10. Periodic visits to your doctor for physical checkups may turn out to be lifesavers. The match flame is easier to put out than the big conflagration.

11. And here's a wish for continued faith and optimism that cancer, artherosclerosis (therefore: stroke, coronary disease, kidney disease, etc.) will soon fall—as polio has—to the steady encroachments of scientists sniffing and testing in their laboratories.

9-0 shut-out puts Merchants in first

Lindsay Merchants wound up their schedule at the Kiwanis Arena Friday night with a 9-0 win over the Newmarket Redmen, to take over first place in the league standings with 44 points. The Bobcaygeon Tri-Cats dumped the Cannington 11-4 also on Friday night and now own 42 pts. with two games left to play.

Gary Heffernan and Rick Purdy led the Merchants Friday night with two goals each while Randy Reid fashioned his second shut-out of the season. Gord Frocking, Jim Golden, Ray McCabe, George Babcock and Bob Taylor each scored once, as the Merchants took each period by a 3-0 count. Penalties handed out by referee Gordon Favreau evened out at six to each team including one major each.

After the Merchants ran the show for the first two periods, the visitors coming on strong in the final stanza to test Reid at close range with several fine shots. While Toporoski and Sorensen were best for the Redmen neither were able to beat the Lindsay goalie. The Merchants put on one of their finest fore-checking games with Purdy, Jackson and Babcock breathing up many of the Redmen's attacks.

Scoring Summary

UCW programme introduced for the New Year

Bethany (PNS) — For their first meeting of the new year, the United Church Women met in the Sunday School Hall on Monday night, with the new President, Mrs. Carl Porteous chairing the meeting.

Rev. Wm. Piercy conducted the installation of officers as follows: President, Mrs. Carl Porteous; vice-president, Mrs. Harold White; secretary, Mrs. Gordon Chase; treasurer, Mrs. Ross Davidson; programme convener, Mrs. Herb. Coppins; social convener, Mrs. Addison Scott; worship service convener, Mrs. T. J. Jackson; friendship and visiting, Mrs. Walter Neals, Literature convener and pianist, Mrs. Clarence Rowan; Archivist and press secretary, Mrs. Ross Carr.

Mrs. Thomas Jackson conducted the worship service, assisted by Mrs. Herb Coppins. The roll call was answered by 20 members paying their fees.

Mrs. Clarence Rowan introduced the new mission study book which this year concerns Trinidad and Brazil, giving a brief outline of their geographical situation, climate and government. Using maps and displaying the flags of these countries, the speaker outlined some of their problems of ever population, unemployment and living standards.

Programmes for this year will be based on Dr. J. S. Thompson's book "God and His Purpose". This theme was introduced by Mrs. Wm. Piercy assisted by Mrs. Harold White and Mrs. Wally Reid.

The membership was divided into groups and discussed questions.

Mrs. Herb Copipns expressed thanks to Mrs. Rowan and Mrs. Piercy for their talks.

The secretary, Mrs. Gordon Chase read the minutes and correspondence which included a letter of thanks from the Manitoba Mission for gifts sent previous to Christmas and from Mrs. Arthur Wright for a sunshine box received during illness. Announcement was made of the annual Presbyterial meeting to be held in Mark St. United Church in Peterborough, on January 19th, and plans made for several delegates to attend. Twelve new hymn books will be purchased for use in the church. Plans were made to serve lunch at the annual congregational meeting which was held on January 18th.

Following the benediction, lunch was served by Mrs. Earl Weatherit, Mrs. Vincent Jackson, Mrs. Herb Coppins and Mrs. Henry Jakeman.

Guest speaker at W.I. meet

The regular meeting of the North Ops W.I. for January was held at the 910 Motel with 16 members and 2 visitors present. Mrs. Peel opened the meeting with the Ode, Creed and Lord's Prayer. The minutes of the December meeting were read and adopted. The Treasurer's report, correspondence, and Flower and Cheer reports followed. The roll call was answered and Current Events given by Mrs. Smith.

The convenor, Mrs. Hilton, then introduced the speaker, Mrs. Griffin, President of the Ross Memorial Hospital Auxiliary. Her talk was pertaining to many important facts which the Auxiliary has done and will be doing in the hospital. The annual Tag Day is the main project for raising money. Mrs. Griffin brought her comments to a close by saying "the luxury of doing good surpasses every other enjoyment in life.

Mrs. Harrison moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Griffin for her time.

The business was then dealt with and the Curator's Workshop report given.

A reading by Mrs. Martin and another by Mrs. H. Wilson were both enjoyed.

Mrs. Moore moved a vote of thanks to the hostesses and their committee for the programme and lunch.

World news today

Washington (UPI) — American flags across the world will fly at half-staff this week in an unprecedented salute to an honourary U.S. citizen, Sir Winston Churchill.

President Lyndon Johnson issued a special executive order to that effect from his hospital bed yesterday. He said it was "a symbol of respect for the memory" of Churchill, whom he eulogized as "History's Child."

It is not known yet who will represent the United States at Churchill's funeral. The President told newsmen yesterday that he would like "very, very much" to go himself, but "a lot depends on how I feel."

Moscow — Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin praised Sir Winston Churchill for his "untiring efforts" during the war against Nazi Germany. The Soviet Tass News Agency referred to Churchill as an outstanding British statesman, but charged he was the mastermind of the cold war.

Saigon, Viet Nam — Buddhist leaders, in another move to topple the government of Premier Tran Van Huong, called on fanatical followers to stage a wave of suicides by fire. Buddhist agitators, faced with repeated failures in their bid for popular support, led anti-American riots in this capital City, Hue and Nha Trang.

Vientiane, Laos — Half the tiny Laotian air force was wiped out today when six 500-pound bombs were exploded by the accidental firing of a machinegun. The explosions destroyed 10 planes and damaged three. Only a few persons were injured, and none seriously, in the multiple explosions that left the planes and some of the air-field buildings in a twisted mass.

Jakarta, Indonesia — President Sukarno said relations between his country and communist China probably were the closest of any two countries in the world. Jakarta and Peking moved closed together recently when Communist China supported Indonesia's withdrawal from the United Nations and its attempt to crush the Young Malaysian Federation.

Berlin — The late Ian Fleming's hero of novels and movies British Agent James Bond, was revealed for the first time to East Germans. In an anti-Bond press campaign, East Germans were warned that Bond is an "anti-communist spy" who runs around with "long-legged, full-bosomed girls who cannot resist him."

Washington — President Lyndon Johnson sends his Federal budget for fiscal 1966 to the U.S. Congress today (noon EST).

The budget reportedly will call for the spending of 99 and one half billion dollars — keeping it below the 100 billion dollar ceiling set by the administration.

United Nations — The U.S. is expected to appeal to the General Assembly this afternoon to back it in any confrontation on the world organization's financial crisis last week. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson is scheduled to be the last speaker in the assembly's debate that is expected to wind up today.

China — Communist China's Premier Chou-en-Lai says that a Communist United Nations might be set up to compete with the United Nations. The New China news agency reported that Chou also said that the present U.N. should be reorganized to make it conform to the spirations of the Asian and African countries.

ON THE MAIN STREET

Main Street is comparatively quiet these days but things are popping under the Peace Tower at Ottawa. Press agents are looking for a federal election, especially with Diefenbaker and Pearson grabbing at each other's throats. There is something in the wind and an off-shore breeze has reached the riding of Victoria and Haliburton. It is expected that both Tories and Liberals will shortly be calling a meeting of local executives. The NDP candidate, school teacher Allan McPhail at Cannington has already said he will be in the field again.

In the Liberal camp the name of David Logan keeps bonning up, but Clifford Benson is still a good bet according to some. In the Conservative ranks there is much speculation, especially with Charles Lamb, incumbent member under hospitalization. James McQuarrie, barrister may fling his hat in the ring, according to some people. There is talk that Glen Hodgson, member in the provincial parliament has dreams of entering the federal field where his father Clayton Hodgson served for many years.

Out of this idea comes the names mentioned for the provincial legislature, former mayor A. E. Hick, Roy Windover of Minden and a new prospective nominee in the person of Mayor Joseph Holtom. Voters will be watching how the straws blow in the next political storm.

UNUSUAL TRIBUTE

London (UPI) — The Times of London today carried news of Sir Winston Churchill's death on the front page — the first time news has been published on the front page in more than 50 years. It normally carries only classified ads.

UCW holds first 1965 meeting

Reaboro (PNS) — The first regular meeting of the Mount Horeb United Church Women for 1965 was held at the home of Mrs. Thos. Moore on Wednesday, January 13, with nineteen members, two visitors and six children present.

Mrs. D. Groudy was at the piano for the opening hymn. Mrs H. Jackson led in the worship period and stressed the need of faith in prayer following a hymn. Mrs. I. Downey read the scripture and led in prayer. Mrs. R. Porter read meditation with red as the theme meaning anger and followed with a prayer. A hymn was sung and Mrs. Hopkins led in prayer for the nations. Mrs. Jackson closed the worship period with prayer.

The president Mrs. Wm. Mc-Alpine called on Mrs. K. Bell for the treasurers report showing a balance. Mrs. Hopkins gave the messenger report. Mrs. N. Lywood the flower report. Mrs. Morris Bell reported for the Baby Band and the President mentioned the meeting to be held in Cannington on January 20. Mrs. Magahay had a request for a quilt to be quilted and on suggestion of Mrs. I. Downey it was decided to purchase flanelette for the bale. A "Thank You" card from Mrs. G. Downey was received and Mrs. K. Bell read the minutes and also called the roll and she and Mrs. Plaunt took the collection which was dedicated.

The Study Book on Brazil as presented by Mrs. H. Jackson was very interesting. She explained the pictures shown by Mrs. Raffin at the home of Mrs. I. Downey in Nov. Mrs. Magahay had a reading which had been read at a Mount Horeb meeting some thirty eight years ago.

Mrs. R. Porter and Mrs. N. Lywood offered to audit the books. A hymn was sung, the president closed with prayer and following "Grace" a lunch was served by Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Graudy and Mrs. K. Bell.

The February meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. C. Hopkins with Mrs. H. Jackson and Mrs. Magahay as hostesses.

EARLY MORNING BLAZE DESTROYS GRASSHILL CO-OP FEED MILL

The Grass Hill Farmers' Co-operative Feed Mill was gutted by a blaze that sent four fire-fighting units to the scene early Sunday morning. Pumpers from Oakwood, Kirkfield and Woodville raced to the large seed and grain building which was an inferno, shooting burning debris over the nearby dwellings, when firemen arrived. Oakwood Fire Chief Mervyn Suggitt said the alarm was turned in shortly after midnight Saturday.

The whole area had to be watered down, Chief Suggitt said and added, the Oakwood Fire Department was on the scene until noon Sunday watering down the area. He said the fire, which is believed to have started from a space-heater in the office, destroyed the whole building except a small room of cement-block construction which housed a diesel motor.

Chief Suggitt said the building was of frame construction with steel siding and had a cement foundation.

The executive of the Co-operative will meet this afternoon to determine the damage and other facts relating to the fire. Chief Suggitt said he expects an estimate of the damage by tomorrow.

Innes—Mortson Wedding

The United Church parsonage was the scene for the wedding of Joan Ann Mortson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd William Mortson of King Street in Omemee to Robert Stanton Innes, son of Mrs. Marsielle Innes of Peterborough and the late Mr. Gordon Innes on Friday January 15, 1965 at 7:00 p.m.

The officiating clergyman was Rev. K. Crawford.

The brides gown was a blue lace semi-formal with a blue feather hat and matching gloves. Her ensemble was completed with a floral corsage.

The maid of honour was Miss Marie Mortson, sister of the bride, from Peterborough in a yellow two piece suit trimmed with white lace. She wore a white feather hat, matching gloves and carried a floral bouquet.

The best man was Russell Grant Wilson of Peterborough.

For the reception at the brides' parents the brides mother received in a blue two piece suit with a floral corsage and the grooms mother was in green.

The newlyweds are residing in Peterborough.

Out of town guests were from Peterborough.

Ladies' Group hold meeting

Janetville (PNS) — The January meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies Group met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Hanna. The President opened the meeting with the singing of Psalm 19 followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. The scripture reading was from St. John, Chapter 13. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The roll call was answered by the members, three thankyou cards were read for treats received, also some Christmas cards. Mrs. H. Johnston read a letter from one adopted Korean girl. It was moved by Mrs. Frank Fry seconded by Mrs. Arthur Hanna that all bills be paid. The sum of $1.04 was paid to Mrs. Tony Marshal for seccretarial expenses. The following ladies took part in the programme, Mrs. Frank Fry, Mrs. Norman Argue, Mrs. H. Johnston, and Mrs. Elmo Archer. The meeting closed with a hymn, followed by the Mizpah benediction. Mrs. Arthur Hanna assisted by the hostesses served a lunch and a vote of thanks was extended by Mrs. Mel right on behalf of all present to Mrs. Arthur Hanna and all who helped with the meeting.

Reports heard at Cambray W.I. meet

Woodville (PNS) — The December meeting of the Woodville Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. A. Canning with a large number of members and visitors present and the President, Mrs. John Teel in the chair.

The meeting opened with the Ode and the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Teel spoke on the Motto which was "May every door that opens to you, be the Spirit of Christmas, bright and new".

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and the treasurer's report given. Thank-you cards were also read. The attendance prize was drawn for and won by Mrs. W. J. McPherson. Nine members had attended the 62nd Annual Convention of Women's Institutes in the Royal York, Toronto and reports were given on this. At this convention the ladies quartette "The Woodwinds", sang. A donation was made to the Scott Mission and a report on the local Red Cross Annual Meeting was given. The Social Committee consisting of Mrs. G. Day, Miss Joyce Westlake, Mrs. G. Benson, Mrs. G. Davies and Mrs. C. Veale are to be responsible for keeping the kitchen in order at the town hall. A discussion also took place about the purchasing of another gas stove and was left over till a later date.

Mrs. Gordon English, Convenor of the programme for this Christmas meeting then took charge and with the help of her committee and others presented a "Calendar Pageant".

Mrs. Teel thanked Mrs. English and committee for a very wonderful programme and Mrs. Canning for the use of her home. Meeting closed with the Mary Stewart Collect and the Queen. Santa arrived and distributed gifts to all and a social hour was enjoyed.

OWRC drop charges at Coldwater

Toronto (UPI) — Stuart C. Wilson, lawyer for the village of Coldwater, in the Orillia area said last night, the Ontoria Water Resources Commission has agreed to drop charges that the village failed to follow a directive to chlorinate its water supply.

Wilson said the Coldwater reeve has agreed to start the chlorination project in April.

The charges had been laid last December and the reeve had been scheduled to appear in magistrate court's in Orillia Tuesday.

Germany considers U.S.-Canadian auto agreement violates GATT

Sid Money, President of the Lindsay Rotary Club, presents a $1,000 cheque to Rex Thomas, treasurer of the Academy Theatre Foundation at a luncheon at the Hotel Benson Monday. This was the second instalment of the club's pledge to the Academy Foundation. —"Post" Staff Photo

Bonn (UPI) — The proposed Canadian-U.S. "common market" for automobiles and auto parts is regarded here as injurious to the letter and spirit of the GATT (General Agreement in Tariffs and Trade) agreement.

Bonn's ministry for economics, after a preliminary study of the test of the agreement, is convinced that it violates the most favoured nation clause since the elimination of custom duties applies only to U.S. and Canadian trade.

It is pointed out here that West Germany's Automobile exports would be particularly hit. The United States is Germany's automobile industry's best customer and nearly 400,000 vehicles were shipped there last year.

Even though Canada bought only some 40,000 German cars in 1964, in both countries Germany is the chief supplier of imported cars.

Although both the government experts and the automobile industry admit that the smaller German cars are not competing directly with the American product. It is feared that elimination of the 17.5 per cent Canadian import duty on cars will reduce the price of American cars in Canada sufficiently to draw away many potential small car buyers.

According to the Ministry of Economics spokesman the discussions among the six E.E.C. countries are being now conducted as to the steps to be taken.

Well-informed government sources believe that the E.E.C. commission will ask the U.S. and Canada to defend their common market for automobiles proposal in the GATT.

Should both countries fail to convince their GATT partners that the proposed agreement is not discriminatory, a feat which is regarded here as all but impossible, a formal protest will be lodged.

Two U.S. diplomats accused of spying by Soviet Russia

Moscow (UPI) — The Soviet Union today accused two U.S. diplomats of spying and ordered one of them out of the country.

American authorities charged the Russians were "retaliating" for the expulsion of a Soviet diplomatic in Washington January 7.

A Soviet diplomatic note branded Embassy First Secretary Richard F. Stolz, 39, personа-non-grata and a U.S. spokesman said he would be "leaving within a week".

The other accused diplomat was former Embassy First Secretary Kenneth A. Kerst, 46, who left Moscow in November to return to a post with the U.S. State Department in Washington, D.C.

Diplomatic circles here said the expulsion was another example of the retaliatory "numbers game" which America and Russia have played in recent years.

The Soviet note added that a Soviet citizen—identified only as "B"—had been arrested by security organs for "Espionage and criminal connection" with Kerst and Stolz.

U.S. Embassy Counsellor Malcolm Toon, who was summoned to the Foreign Ministry to receive the note, told Soviet officials the charges were "unfounded", according to the American spokesman.

Britain rehearses farewell to Sir Winston Churchill

London UPI) — Britain rehearsed its farewell to Sir Winston Churchill today in a solemn slow-march of soldiers, sailors and airmen that added to morning traffic jams.

The rehearsal for the funeral of the 90-year-old statesman Saturday started late and ran into the usual massive morning rush hour of the financial district which is always among the densest in the world.

As police with radio cars, motorcycles and walkie-talkies struggled to free the traffic the troops moved from Westminster Hall, where Sir Winston will lie in state, to St. Paul's Cathedral, where the funeral services will be held.

From there they marched to Tower Pier where the body will travel by launch to Waterloo station and thence by train to its rural grave in Bladon, hard by Blenheim Palace where Sir Winston was born.

The troops paced to the boom of a big drum, shrouded in black.

Cleaning women and other night workers watched silently under the street lights as a royal navy gun crew, 140 strong, with an escort of Guardsmen and airmen began the first of the rehersals that will precede the great state funeral.

Many attend Robbie Burns celebration

Lieutenant-Colonel Jock Anderson from Oakville defended Robbie Burns from criticism in a witty speech at a Burns supper at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Monday, to commemorate the 206th anniversary of the birth of the famous Scottish poet.

Philip Caddick piped the Haggis into a packed hall and after the traditional Selkirk Grace was said, Hugh Mooney recited the Address to the Haggis.

The guests were served the Haggis along with tatties and neeps, a customary Scottish meal since the 17th century.

The dinner, celebrated by Scots throughout the world celebrates the birth of the Scottish lyric, descriptive and narrative poet, who was born in 1759. He has been termed "one of the greatest of the romantic poets".

Dr. R. C. Wansbrough acted as chairman at the local dinner.

Weather Outlook

Intermittant snow this morning changing to freezing rain this afternoon, ending late tonight. Wednesday cloudy and a little colder. Winds southeast 20, becoming light tonight and north 20 Wednesday. High today and low tonight 32 and 28.

A Title That Fits

Standing in the need of prayer is the provocative title of a 28-page paper on taxes presented to the Canadian Tax Conference by A. K. Eaton, former Assistant Deputy Minister of Finance at Ottawa. Take two minutes to read his opening gambit and you'll see how appropriate is his choice of title.

"I shall start this paper with a simple easy statement of the obvious, that taxing is pretty big business in Canada these days. In fact it is colossal. No argument!

"In the first Ottawa budget at which I assisted in 1934 annual tax revenue for the Federal Government of Canada was $306 million. You could put it in your eye. And, incidentally, in that year of deep depression in Canada we showed a surplus of $9 million. How times have changed!

"Thirty short years later Mr. Gordon tells us his revenue for the year is close to $7 billion, twenty-three times as much as it was 30 years ago. At the same time he accommodates a modest deficit of just under half a billion dollars. Chronic deficits of recent years are much bigger than total revenue of a few decades ago.

"So also with provincial and municipal spending and taxing the figures mount annually and the totals for the three levels of government become a bit frightening. It seems to me we are standing in the need of prayer, bilingual prayer at that, I hasten to add.

"Today, circa 1964, governments in Canada tax away about one third of the national income. We put up with an annual expropriation of private property to the tune of $13 billion. This money is taken away from those to whom it belongs in the private enterprise sector and is spent under the direction of political authority."

The Fiery heart of the sun

Washington (UPI) — Scientists working in a brand new branch of astronomy hope this year to "see" for the first time into the fiery heart of the sun.

Instead of being perched on mountain tops, some observatories of the new astronomy are buried deep in the earth. Instead of giant mirrors like the 200-inch eye on Mount Palomar in California, the new telescopes may be "swimming pools" full of cleaning fluid.

And instead of using light or radio waves, or Gamma and X-radiation — the information carrying vehicles of conventional and space astronomy — the observatories will rely upon neutrinos.

Nothing else known to science can enable curious man to peer past the surface into the depths of stars.

Neutrinos are, for want of a better word, nuclear "particles" of no mass, zero charge, and fantastically high energies. Physicists invented them, long before they were actually discovered, to explain the mysterious disappearance of energy in various nuclear reactions.

Something like these ghostly "thieves of energy" simply had to exist. They had to exist to support the basic physical law that no energy, come what may, is ever really lost.

It is now believed that nuclear reactions which heat the stars also generate neutrinos in numbers so vast that they transport most of the energy of the universe.

Lacking charge and mass, they seldom run into anything and so are exceedingly hard to detect. But if neutrinos can be caught and their energies measured, scientists can expect to learn things they never knew before about what goes on in the depths of stars and other objects deep in space.

Up to now astronomers have been able to look only at the surface of stars. In the center of a star like the sun, temperatures and densities are so great that no light wave ever finds its way to the surface.

For this reason no scientist has ever seen the interior of a star and thus has never been able to prove, by direct evidence, the theory that stellar and other energies in the universe are produced by nuclear processes similar to those of the H-bomb.

No scientist disputes this theory. But, as Dr. John N. Bahcall of the California Institute of Technology pointed out recently in the journal "Science", direct proof is desirable.

Although light cannot get out of the sun's interior, neutrinos do it easily. An ordinary neutrino could pass through the entire earth, for example, with only one chance in 10 billion of getting pushed around or blocked by another bit of matter.

To detect neutrinos, since so few of them interact with anything else, scientists have set up traps 2,000 to 10,000 feet deep in mines in the hope of screening out any radiations which might give false results.

One experiment, involving a neutrino-chlorine reaction, proposes use of 100,000 gallons of a chlorinated cleaning fluid as a detector. It could detect as few as 200-tell-tale neutrino produced atoms a month.

This would be like finding a needle in a haystack the size of an entire galaxy of 100 billion stars. This much cleaning fluid, Bahcall said, would "fill an olympic-sized swimming pool."

Bahcall said neutrino astronomy should confirm existing ideas about energy sources in the universe and also, perhaps, "reveal unexpected phenomena." In any case, he said, this new branch of science "will yield its first positive results in 1965."

Early Rising

Early rising not only gives us more life in the same number of our years, but adds likewise to their number; and not only enables us to enjoy more of existence in the same measure of time, but increases also that measure.

Five hurt tobogganing

Three of the five girls hurt in a tobogganing accident here last night received serious injuries and are in hospital.

Pearl Elliott, most seriously hurt, sustained a fractured spine. Mary Thompson and Irish Whalen are both in casts suffering from back injuries. Viola Sexsmith and Jane Ireland escaped with bruises and shock.

All were attending an outing of the Young People's Society when their tobogan struck a hummock and hurled them violently into a bank.

Sentenced to 18 months.

Pleading guilty to three charges of breaking, entering and theft, an 18-year-old Lindsay youth was sentenced to 18 months definite and 22 months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory by Magistrate O. Langley, in Police Court this morning.

In a statement given to police, the accused admitted entering a long list of stores and residences including the Model Shoe Store, the storehouse of the Lindsay Water Commission, Neill's Shoe Store, McMullen's Shoe Store, the home of Mayor A. T. Claxton, the vacant house of the late H. J. Lytle, Kirkconnell's, Ray's, G. E. Blackwell, J. Steen, H. J. Reid, the McLean house on Sussex Street North, Alvin Perry, G. A. Dearden, Zeller's Limited, S. A. Flavelle, Howard Baker, Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. F. Nugent.

The epidemic of house breaking began last August and for months local police were baffled. In the majority of cases a quantity of women's clothing were stolen, sometimes a bit of money, but very seldom anything of real value taken. Suspicion entered on the accused and he was finally apprehended by Constable Jack Nesbitt as he was coming from a house on Adelaide Street North.

Surprise!

Prime Minister Mackenzie King's decision to dissolve the Canadian parliament and call a general election has taken British political circles by surprise.

Claims bylaw obsolete

At last night's session of the council, Thomas Arnold, butcher, appeared in reference to the town bylaw governing butchers doing business on the market. According to the bylaw, butchers selling meat on the market cannot deliver the goods until after 12 o'clock noon on the day of sale, and they shall not solicit business in any manner nor peddle meats in any way whatever outside or away from the market.

This bylaw has been obsolete for over 10 years, and Mr. Arnold claimed that its enforcement worked an injustice, as his boy and horse stood idle all morning, then were rushed delivering orders in the afternoon.

It was unanimously decided to refer the matter to Police Committee with power to act.

Soldier not drinker

Major-General Sam Hughes, talking with delegates from the Social Service League and the YMCA at Victoria Saturday, refused to take any further steps to restrict the liberties of the citizen troops in the matter of intoxicating liquors. The moral reformers complained of the conduct of the men recruited here.

The Major-General strongly resented any imputation on the general standing of the Canadian soldier, and said that the complaints of his interviewers were based on very isolated cases. There had, he said, been an unjustifiable outcry against the soldier because of his alleged drinking habits. He believed that perhaps the discipline enforced in respect to drinking was too strict.

Ship and crew lost

It was officially announced at the Admiralty yesterday that the British armoured merchant vessel Viknor had been lost off Ireland with all hands.

Avarice

It must be remarked for the comfort of honest poverty, that avarice reigns most in those who have but a few good qualities to recommend them. This is a weed that will grow in a barren soil.

CANADIAN-MADE FRY PANS COATED WITH "TEFLON"

A material with the amazing chemical name tetrafluoroethylene — known commercially as "Teflon" — has been quietly making its way into the esteem of homemakers — particularly at dish washing time. Why? Because it imparts a non-stick, easy-to-clean quality to the interior surface of cookware.

Up to now, the only cookwares coated with "Teflon" on the counters of Canadian stores has come from the United States. Supreme Aluminum Industries Limited, a wholly Canadian firm at Scarborough, Ont., will begin marketing skillets which will be a dishwasher's delight thanks to "Teflon". The Professional, chef-style pans will be of rivet free construction come in nine and 11-inch sizes and will bear brand names well known to the Canadian consumer: "Supreme" and "Wear Ever".

By the beginning of 1965 the Scarborough company will introduce a complete range of non-stick, easy-to-clean products coated with "Teflon".

Manufacturers say that interest in the coated cookware has grown "phenomenally" since the introduction of the first non-stick fry pan in the U.S. about three years ago. A national test conducted early this year revealed that one of every four persons who bought metal cookware last Fall purchased at least one pan coated with "Teflon". About one-third of all cookware sold there this year is expected to be of the coated type.

The material that provides the most slippery surface known to man, "Teflon", was developed by E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company 25 years ago. Its first use as a coating was to make the interior of fry pans slippery — and therefore non-stick and easy to wash — was in France from where the development made its way to North America.

HOW CAN I
By Anne Ashley

Q. What can I do about some of my stairs which have developed annoying squeaks?

A. Try driving pairs of two-inch finishing nails through the tread (top of the step) into the riser (the vertical board between the steps). Angle your nails in each pair slightly toward each other. "V" shaped so that they will be less likely to pull out.

Q. How can I make a good job of cleaning my eyeglases?

A Most opticians recommend an occasional soap-and-water bath for your glasses to remove the film of oil that gathers from the skin. Rinse, and polish with soft tissues.

Q. How can I test bread dough to determine whether or not it has risen sufficiently for baking?

A. Press your finger into the dough. If the impression disappears, the bread is ready for baking. If the impression remains, the bread must have more time for rising.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

Clean and polish a mirror at the same time by adding a little starch to your water. Or rub a little alcohol or spirits of camphor with a razor blade, as a way scratch the glass. Wash the paint off with a solution of hot vinegar

For Softer Hands

It's a good idea to put lemon rinds to rub well over your hands after your dishwashing chore. The lemon rinds will remove any soap residue that may have remained and which would tend to dry and harshen the skin.

W.I. speaker from Childrens' Aid

The January meeting of the West Ops Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Smith with a good attendance. The meeting opened with the Opening Ode Mary Stewart Collect and the Lord's Prayer. The President, Mrs. Leslie Graham welcomed all members and guests. The roll call was answered by telling "My Favourite Way to Relax".

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given. Communications were read and Thank-You notes were read from members who had received gifts at Christmas and from the Children's Aid Society who received the gifts for a child at Christmas. The business portion of the meeting was continued and many items brought to attention.

The mystery box was passed around by Mrs. Traynor, the winner being Mrs. F. Stewart

The meeting was then turned over to Health Convenor, Mrs. L. Cornell. The motto, "Better to pay the cook than pay the doctor" was answered by a poem. A reading was given by Miss Hazel Freeman.

The speaker of the evening Mrs. Ken Griffin was introduced by Mrs. Cornell. She is the local women's chairman of the Cancer Society. She spoke on the expenditures of the Society and how they work with and treat their patients. She also spoke on research and about the rehabilitation centres. She was thanked and presented with a small gift as a token of appreciation.

A poem was read by Mrs. M. Cayley. Two contests were conducted the winners being Mrs. Baxter and Mrs. Wallace.

Lunch was served by the hostesses and a social hour was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. H. Walden moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for the enjoyable evening.

Insurance proof not produced — Norland man fined

Stanley Liscombe of Norland was fined $50.00 Monday and costs for failing to produce evidence of insurance on his car. Provincial Police Constable Stuart Brooks told the court of apprehending the accused in Somerville Township on Highway 503 at 5:30 p.m. on December 24th, 1964. He said he gave the accused one week to report to the Penelon Falls detachment office with proof of insurance, but when he failed to report in two weeks time the charge was laid. The accused pleaded guilty to the charge, and was fined $50.00 and costs by Magistrate Ian Morton. Court allowed the accused two weeks to pay the fine.

School crisis

Toronto (UPI) — A Metropolitan Toronto school trustee warned last night that if school board debentures are not raised by about $14 million, some 8,000 students could be without school facilities next year.

The warning came from Barry Lowes, chairman of the finance committee. He told the Women's Progressive Conservative Association that the Metropolitan area must plan for 20,000 new pupils next year.

60th anniversary celebrated at Oakwood

Mr. and Mrs. Luffey Everson

Oakwood (PNS) — Sixty years ago on January 11th, 1905, Mr. and Mrs. Luffy Everson were married in Oakwood by the late Rev. Thomas Brown.

Their family consists of one son Clare and a daughter Margaret (Mrs. Gordon Barry) both of Oakwood.

They have six grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

They have farmed in Mariposa 58 of their 60 years of married life.

The occasion was marked with a turkey dinner for the family numbering 45 at the home of their grandson, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barry with grandchildren serving.

A toast was proposed by Gordon Everson to which the groom of 60 years responded. Their corsage and boutonniere were presented to them by their granddaughter.

During the evening dancing was enjoyed, in which the bride and groom participated.

Guest were present from Rebecca Lodge, Uxbridge, Dalrymple, Cannington, Lindsay, Cambray, Manilla and Toronto which also included Mr. Everson's stepmother.

Besides lovely gifts, telegrams were received from Her Majesty "The Queen", Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, Charles Lamb, M.P., and a telephone call from Mr. John Diefenbaker.

SPURIOUS ADVERTISING OFFER REPORTED BY LINDSAY WOMAN

Alphonse Hurley

Alphonse (Al) Hurley died suddenly at Cleveland recently following a heart attack. Born at Downeyville he was the eldest son of Mrs. Martha Herliney of Lindsay and the late William Herliney. His wife, the former Frances McCrory, predeceased him in 1952, and two daughters Joan and Diane died at an early age.

Mr. Hurley, who lived on Rocky River Drive, Lakewood, Ohio, was a devout member of St. Mark's Roman Catholic Church, and a member of the Knights of Columbus. After "twenty-five years' service as a leading Sales representative with Tremco Mfg. Co. he retired about a year ago, and at the time of his death was associated with Rex Oil Co. A World War 1 Veteran, he was active in veterans' affairs. Twice Past Post Commander, and Judge Advocate for many years, he distinguished himself as an outstanding leader and member. Many of his non-working hours over the past twenty years had been devoted to the benefit of his fellow veterans and the welfare of the community. In recognition of his efforts he was honoured by his Post last June 13th with a special "Al Hurley Day" and testimonial dinner, which was attended by relatives, friends and many Civic leaders of Cleveland and Lakewood.

Surviving besides his mother are three brothers, William S. of Erie, Pa., Walter of Downeyville, Fred of Cleveland, and two sisters, Lillian and Mrs. Jas. Fitzpatrick (Della) of Lindsay. A brother Stephen predeceased him in 1962.

Requiem Mass was at St. Mark's, with interment in Calvary Cemetery, Cleveland.

CHURCHILL STAMP

Washington (UPI) — The U.S. Post Office Department announced it will issue later in the year commemorative stamp in memory of Sir Winston Churchill.

U.S. Postmaster General John A. Gronouski said the design and date of issuance will be announced later.

Concerned lest more people are taken in by spurious advertising, a Lindsay woman contacted "The Post" recently telling of a recent experience concerning direct mail advertising.

Mrs. L. Robertson told of receiving a brightly coloured folder addressed to her personally, advertising "A Portable Radio that works forever" offered by Remington Sales (of Canada). Montreal, P. Q. Further information indicated the radio was without batteries or tubes and would never wear out. It offered a free ten day trial period and was sold on a money back guarantee.

Mrs. Robertson said she mailed her order accompanied by a money order for $5.95, the advertised price, on December 10th, but never received the merchandise. Puzzled by this, she wrote to the Better Business Bureau in Montreal on January 18th. A reply was received January 20th, which stated in part:

"The radio offered was a Germanium Diode Crystal receiver which retails for about $1.25. All mails were stopped going to the address on December 10th, and were being held by the undeliverable mail office at Ottawa, and will be returned to the senders in due course". Since Mrs. Robertson's letter was posted Dec. 10th., she said she expects it will be returned.

"The subject "Trade Style" was registered on or about November 15th, 1964, to one Carole Rae Olson who entered Canada from U.S.A. as a visitor. She took up residence at a well known hotel and used the above address (a telephone answering service) to receive her mail", said the B.B.B.

It is possible that persons who ordered prior to the stoppage of mail delivery to Remington Sales (of Canada), may have received the merchandise ordered, but were paying $5.95 for an article ordinarily selling for $1.25.

Personal

Friends will be sorry to hear Mrs. Jack Hancock of Queen Street has been confined to Ross Memorial Hospital. All wish her a speedy recovery.

Parents of Kadets to meet Wednesday

The Kavaliers Drum Corps has called a meeting of interested parents to form a feeder corps for the band. If the meeting is successful, the new organization will be open for membership. It is expected the age-limit will be lowered to eight years, as of September 1, 1964 with a maximum age of 13. It is felt this change will be necessary because of a number of requests from the parents of eight-year-old boys to lower the proposed membership age.

The proposed Kawartha Kadets will require an attendance of about 40 to 50 boys between the ages of 8 and 14 to play trumpets, bugles and drums and to form a colour-guard.

A meeting of the interested parents has been called for Wednesday at the Central Senior School.

Miss G. D. Meikle

Miss G. Davida (Veda) Meikle entered into rest at the Civic Hospital in Peterboro on Monday, January 18th, 1965, where she had been a patient for the past two months.

Born at Norwood, Ontario, she was the second daughter of the late James S. Meikle, who emigrated from Scotland in 1853. Her mother was Katherine G. Smart, a member of an U. E. Loyalist family.

After completing her education at Peterborough Normal School, Miss Meikle taught first at Fuller, Ontario, near Thomasburg, then North and South Monaghan schools. She went to Toronto to join the staff of Norway Public School where she remained until nine years ago when she retired.

Presentation of a twenty-five year pin was made in recognition of her Red Cross work in the school. She also worked with the C.G.I.T. girls of Kew Beach United Church where she was a member and sang in the choir.

On moving to Peterborough seven years ago Miss Meikle joined Knox United Church and was a member of the U.C.W.

While in Peterborough she lived with her elder sister Bess, (Mrs. George Beverly), at 564 Bolivar street.

Surviving are two sisters, Bess (Mrs. George Bolivar) of Peterboro, and Isobel (Mrs. Ernest F. Rogers) of Toronto, and one brother Napier (Jim) of Lindsay.

The funeral service was held Wednesday, January 20th, at 3.00 p.m. from the Comstock Funeral Home. Rev. Frank Whitely of Knox United Church, conducted the service. Interment will take place at a later date at Prospect Cemetery, Toronto.

SORRY TO BE LATE, BOSS!

A worker at the National Park in Uganda has come up with the all time great in late-to-work excuses.

The worker reported to the park warden that he was late because:

On the previous day he was making his way home through the game reserve by bike when he spotted a cow elephant and calf and decided to go around the pair.

While circling through the bushes he wheeled his bike into a rhino.

The rhino then ran for the nearest tree and found himself a lofty perch. About the time he was ready to come down, he spotted two lions in the grass below and decided to spend the night in the tree.

And he apologized for being late for work.

Fowlers Corners undefeated in Omemee league

Fowlers Corners picked up their fourth straight win in the Omemee and District Hockey League double-header at Omemee Arena last night while Dunsford registered their third win. Omemee's record stands at one win and three losses while Reaboro are still looking for their first win.

In last night's action Dunsford edged Reaboro 5-3 in the opener while the league leading Fowlers Corners crew turned back Omemee 6-1.

Games slated for next Monday night's double-header puts Reaboro against Fowler's Corners at 7:00 p.m. while Omemee hosts Dunsford at 9:00 p.m.

Forest fire season training courses

Early preparations by the Department of Lands and Forests for the opening of the 1965 forest fire season, April 1, include two five-day refresher courses for district instructors in fire suppression training. Instructors from Fort Frances, Kenora, Sioux Lookout, Port Arthur, Geraldton, White River and Kapuskasing Forest Districts are attending a course at Sioux Lookout January 25-29. A similar course March 1-5 at the Forest Ranger School, Dorset, will be attended by instructors from Kemptville, Pembroke, Tweed, Lindsay, Parry Sound, North Bay, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, Swastika, Cochrane, Chapleau and Gogama Forest Districts.

Classroom and field work are included in discussions of training programmes as well as reports and discussion on Indian training courses and other co-operator type training to be carried on by instructors in their own districts.

Cottagers call for pure water

Toronto (UPI) — The president of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers' Association called last night for a Minister of Water Pollution and Conservation to prevent pollution.

A C. Hoad said if the present rate of pollution continues it could seriously restrict the province's pure water supply within a few years.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steinrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

COMPLAINTS OF BEING TIRED, DEPRESSED, COLD, FORGETFUL

Dear Dr. Steinrohn: Am I neurotic? If it means being unhappy, that's me. I'm 23 and have 2 children (4½ and 10 months). Since my second child I've become tired and sleepy all the time. I don't have the energy to get my dishes done. I catch everything from colds to serious viruses at least every month. No matter what the temperature I'm always cold. I'm so forgetful that I have to stop and think how old my kids are and I can't even remember what I did the night before.

I'm nervous depressed and cry so much of the time. I've had a weight problem, too. I'm only 5 feet tall and of a small frame. When I married I weighed 102 and now I weigh 146. I try to diet but don't get anywhere.

I don't have a family doctor, but I'm going to a doctor with a friend of mine on her next trip. Should I mention all of this, or will he think I'm neurotic? Just don't know anymore. Mrs. S.

Comment: Here's a short definition of "neurotic": One who is emotionally disturbed or unstable. You can readily see, that under this sign, more than a few of us fit into this category. Yet, for all purposes, we are normal individuals who do not deserve the label "neurotics."

Right off, let me say that you are making a mistake by tagging along with your friend for advice. A "free ride" in a physician's office rarely gets the brass ring. Busy as most doctors are, it will be a disrespect to the one who made the appointment to give up valuable time to another who has just come along for the ride. Besides, the doctor knows that without examination he can only guess. He can't really help you.

Therefore, my advice is to choose a good family doctor who has a reputation for listening patiently. Only in this way will you learn if your symptoms are due entirely to nervousness. He will find out if you are worried about your husband, children or anything else.

MAY CHECK THYROID

You mention being cold, tired, sleepy, forgetful. With this group of symptoms, your doctor may decide to check on your thyroid gland. Sometimes a lazy thyroid comes masked and disguised as a neurosis. I repeat: Better stop guessing. Going along as you are from day to day is no fun. Either for you, your husband or for the children.

Dear Dr. Steinrohn: I am 63, but look much younger. I have read ads in various magazines which tell of a Procaine treatment which increases the life span, increases vigor, vitality and mental clarity. Curbs aging diseases, prevents mental and physical slowness. I have various aches and pains and am slowing down in more ways than I like to think about. What do you think? Shall I come to these treatments? They sound almost too true to be good. Mr. S.

Comment: Unless something new in the way of scientific information has come out in the past few mons, medical investigations of Procaine as a youth restorer have found it to be wanting. It does not live up to what people promise in magazines or elsewhere. To put it bluntly, I doubt that any ethical physician would recommend that you spend your money or build your hopes on it.

For Mr. T.: You're 75, are apparently well, have no cough or bronchitis. I couldn't sleep nights if I were the one to influence you to gi ve up smoking two cigars a day as you've been doing these last 25 years.

A tribute

"Agricultural" topic of WI meet

Janetville (PNS) — The monthly meeting of the Janetville W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Rae. Malcolm. The president Mrs. Virtle Staples was in the chair. The meeting opened with the ode and Mary Stewart Collect followed by the Lord's Prayer. The scripture was read by Mrs. Norman Argue. The secretary, Mrs. Bert McMullen read the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved as read. The treasurer Mrs. Elmo Archer gave her report. The roll call was answered by 9 members, Mrs. Fred Bradburn was in charge of the programme. She led with a poem. A reading was given by Mrs. Robert Wright and a reading by Mrs. Harold Moxon. The topic was on Agriculture given by Mrs. Fred Bradburn. She read and compared notes about the contrast between farming in the old days and the present day and ended with a poem. The meeting closed in the usual form after which a lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. Fred Bradburn, Mrs. Robert Wright, and Mrs. Harold Moxon. A vote of thanks was extended by Mrs. Bert McMullen to Mrs. Malcolm for the use of her home and to the hostesses.

The noble veteran and gentleman who lay dying in his spacious room and attended by his gracious wife and his life-long physician passed away Sunday morning.

His room was very quiet and his face very peaceful looking as he lay in his last deep sleep although there could still be seen the old determination that had always existed. The expression that reminded one of the great English bulldog sitting on the beloved Union Jack with those words ascribed beneath it "What we have we hold" and this is exactly what Sir Winston Churchill had done. He had not only held what belonged to him and to us but he inspired our soldiers to do the same. He inspired them with great courage and they won the war. His loyal people awaited outside his home with much anxiety and sadness and many hearts are aching here in Canada. I will not say that he died because "old soldiers do not died they just fade away". I wish that I could write a tribute great enough for this great man but all that I can say is this quotation from the bible "Well done thou good and faithful servant". You shall be greatly missed forever.

Emma Shannon.

Omemee

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lathangue and family, Bowmanville, Mr. and Mrs. John Nimigon, Millbrook, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Lathangue.

Mrs. Evelyn Jones has returned from visiting Mrs. Moyer, Ottawa (former Omemee resident) and other friends there.

Many friends of Miss Mary Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Woods will regret to learn that she is a patient in Ross Memorial Hospital following an emergency operation for appendicitis and hope for a speedy recovery.

Many friends of Mrs. Hilliard Heasman who is a patient in hospital in Peterboro wish her a speedy recovery.

Zion Fenelon

Mrs. Eva Cunday of Lindsay formerly of Zion was visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Worsley and family during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Copp were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Rumney.

Several people of this community paid their last respects to the family of the former Miss Mary Warren of Fenelon Falls.

Mrs. W. Worsley, Mrs. Garfield Henry, Mrs. E. Wessell, Mrs. Mel Rumney of Zion U.C.W. attended the annual general meeting of the Lindsay Presbyterial held in Cannington United Church. The speaker was Mr. Nelson Abraham M.A., B.D., of Indore, India.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Rumney were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Wessell.

Mrs. Garfield Henry, visited her daughter and son-in-law and their family in Lindsay.

OH - RATS!

Lagares Da Beira, Portugal (UPI) — Jose Madeira never had much faith in banks. He kept his life savings--8,000 escudos ($300) in banknotes--in a bag at his home. Yesterday, he needed some money. But when he looked into the bag, he learned with horror that rats had chewed up all the bills.

HOTEL CAR PARK

London (UPI) — Timo Makinen, the Finn who won the Monte Carlo Rally, arrived here Sunday with his British co-driver, Paul Easter. Before they went to bed last night, they carefully lifted their Red Mini Cooper (compact car) through the front door of their hotel. "We thought it would be safer", said Easter, who had gotten special permission from the hotel to leave it just inside the lobby.

Veterans call for re-union of 109th survivors

Pictured top are the dignataries that attended the presentation of colours to the 109th battalion in Lindsay in 1916. Second from left is the Minister of National Defence Major General Sam Hughes (later Sir Sam Hughes) and his wife, Sir John and Lady Eaton and Major McCrae of Omemee. Second from the right is John Carew, M.P. for Victoria. In the centre picture the Fenelon Falls band leads the Fenelon Falls platoon over the bridge at Fenelon on their way to Barrriefield. The bottom picture shows members of the No. 9 platoon at Fenelon Falls during rifle practice outside the Kawartha Hotel.

A number of yellowed photographs of fifty years ago, owned by Mel Copp of Fenelon Falls recalls the day when the 109th battalion was formed to answer the call to war.

The 109th battalion of the 45th Regiment was formed in December, 1915. At that time a battalion consisted of 16 platoons and each platoon had four sections. Four platoons in turn made up a company.

"A" and "B" companies of the 109th battalion were recruited in Lindsay and Toronto and "C" company in Victoria County outside of Lindsay. In "C" company, No. 9 platoon was recruited at Fenelon Falls. No. 10 at Bobcaygeon, No. 11 at Kirkfield and Victoria Road and No. 12 at Woodville. These assembled in May, 1916.

Major H. Hutchins of Fenelon Falls commanded No. 9 platoon, "C" company and he is seen above riding a horse leading the men of No. 9 platoon over the old bridge at Fenelon Falls. The parade is led by the Fenelon Falls band. A small dog possibly a mascot, accompanies the men. Major Hutchins was killed on April 9th at the battle of Vimy Ridge leading a group of soldiers against a machine gun nest.

"D" company was formed in Haliburton County and second-in command was Lt. Col. R. H. Anderson of Tory Hill who is still living in that village. Major Gray was the Commanding Officer at that time.

Commanding Officer of the Battalion was Col. J. Havelock Fee of Omemee. "A" company commander was Major Esseltine and "B" company commander Major McCrae of Omemee.

In addition to the companies the battalion had a machine gun section, a signals section, a brass band and a bugle band.

OVERSEAS

The battalion went overseas in July 1916, recalls Jasper Forman, a member of the regiment who was to bring honour to the battalion in later months. The men travelled on the "Olympic" to Liverpool and then to Bramshott camp. From there they went on to Whitley camp for training. In October, during the Battle of the Somme, the second Canadian Division was badly cut up and the 109th supplied about 500 men as reinforcements. The 109th was refilled with troops from the 126th Peel Battalion. Then in December the fourth division (38th battalion) came off the Somme, 500 to 600 men from the 109th battalion. Private Jasper Forman was one of the men. We will let him tell the story:

"We went from Southampton to Le Havre and it was very stormy and most of us were sick", he recalled, "we joined the 38th battalion at Bruyere, France and then went to Vimy Ridge and took up our positions. We stayed there until April 9th, 1917 and then went over the ridge and captured it. We went on."

Mr. Forman recalled that he and former Prime Minister of Ontario, Leslie M. Frost went to the unveiling of the Vimy Ridge Memorial in July 1936.

DECORATED

Jasper Forman was decorated on no less than three occasions during those dark days of war. He received a Military Medal at the Battle of Lacoulette following Vimy when he was a signaller and carried messages to the commanding officer through the thick of the fighting. He won the DCM at the Battle of Amiens in August 1918 during the "first hundred days that ended the war", here, the troops were being heavily shelled and Signaller Forman took the signal flag and signalled back that shells were falling short on their own men. He stood in full view of the enemy as he signalled, with shells falling around.

Mr. Forman received a bar to his DCM in September 1918 in the Battle of Cambray. Here the soldiers were advancing when they ran into enemy machine-gun fire. The battalion lost more men in that battle than ever before and the advance signal station were all casualties. No communication existed until lance-corporal Forman and Private George Sweeney went forward and connected a telephone line and from a shell hole maintained communications between the troops and brigade headquarters for most of the day. The line was broken many times by the heavy shell fire and these men climbed out of their shell hole time and again to fix the line under shelling and machine-gun fire.

"I didn't get a scratch," said Mr. Forman, who served again with distinction in World War Two as a captain.

RE-UNION

Many survivors of the battles of nearly fifty years ago would like to have a re-union of members of the 109th battalion. Those interested in such a re-union are asked to send their name and address to "The Post" or to Jasper Forman, 45 Francis Street, Lindsay.

HALF MAST

Rome (UPI) — The Italian Government today ordered flags flown at half mast on public buildings throughout the nation on Saturday to honour Sir Winston Churchill.

The only exception will be the flag on the Quirinale Presidential Palace, which is never lowered except for the death of an Italian President. It was the only one that did not fly at half mast when Pope John XXIII died.

NOTHING NICER

Woburn Abbey, England (UPI) — The Duke of Bedford had this to say about marriages between aristocrats and commoners:

"Not many years ago the aristocrats would not dream of marrying into 'trade'. Now, there's nothing nicer than to marry into a nice chain of supermarkets".

CELEBRATION

Camberley, England (UPI) Sir Paul Dukes a former British Secret Agent, will celebrate his 76th birthday this week by standing on his head in a public demonstration of Yoga.

The current fashion trend which saw average prices paid for otter pelts at five North Bay fur auctions last winter and spring more than double prices paid for beaver, has not altered the fact that beaver are still the mainstay of the multi-million dollar trapping industry in Ontario, Lands and Forests officials point out.

In numbers alone, complete fur returns for 1963 show that 9,448 trappers took 167,408 beaver and only 8,326 otter. At the five 1963-64 North Bay fur sales 1,857 trapper members of the Ontario Trappers Association, 50,292 beaver were sold at an average price of $14.03 for a total of $705,596.76, a major proportion of the total receipts for all furs of $1,142,843. The 2025 otter offered sold for $62,743.50 for an average of $30.98. Total value of all wild fur exported or tanned in the year ending June 30, 1963 is reported at $3,439,311.

Similarly, otter led in prices at the first of this season's sales on December 14, 500 bringing an average of $30.75 and a top price of $56; 13,000 beaver averaged $10.52 with a high of $30.

Wildlife officers say otter always has been in demand for a number of reasons, one, because it is not as plentiful as beaver, another because of the fine appearance and wearing quality of the fur and the lightness of the garments made from it through modern techniques which apply, of course, to beaver as well. A beaver coat, it was recalled by one old-timer, "once weighed a ton". Not so today. Otter, beaver and other furs are much lighter in weight and much more is being done with them to enhance their attractiveness.

Ontario's system of tranline management protects the valuable beaver from over-harvesting. Also, through live-trapping animals in heavily populated areas, the Department of Lands and Forests extends their range by transferring them to new areas.

Beaver sometimes do nose problems when their dams cause flooding but in eastern Ontario during last fall's drought the little animals had their own troubles when they became virtually "dry land beaver".

Their night last November, for example, in one instance, is described by N. D. Patrick, Fish and Wildlife Supervisor, Kemptville District.

"It was so dry in some areas that beaver had been hard done by to get enough water to satisfy their needs. Many beaver colonies were forced to make long trips on dry land to reach their favorite feeding areas. This, no doubt, exposed them to predators since they are somewhat clumsy on land and losses of beaver to dogs, wolves and bobcats are probably fairly high.

"One beaver colony was apparently forced to adopt emergency measures. The whole swamp area occupied by them had apparently dried up completely by mid summer and, in desparation, the beavers excavated a pond about 25 feet in diameter, building a two-foot-high earth dike all around the outside of the pond. The whole pond was then covered with tree limbs and small branches, leaving two small openings for entrance — one at each end of the pond.

"This tiny pond was located over a mile from the nearest water and, with winter coming on, the beaver faced a pretty rough time in their cramped quarters."

In Northern Ontario, in the Kapuskasing District, this winter, an experimental trapline project is seeking to shed more light on beaver biology, principally to evaluate the effects of various degrees of trapping pressure on sex and age ratios and reproductive rates. The data collected are expected to provide aid in improving future beaver management.

An aerial beaver population census has been carried out in Gogama District which indicated that the annual harvest of 1,200 is far below the allowable harvest of 7,000.

Contrary to trappers' reports of scarcity, the census showed 7,014 live beaver colonies in the Gogama District. Taking a minimum average of four beaver per colony, wildlife officers estimated the beaver population at approximately 28,000.

To alleviate the nuisance beaver problem in Carleton County in the Kemptville District in Eastern Ontario, Conservation Officers are now travelling in troubled areas to determine beaver population density. Wherever serious conditions exist, trappers will be brought in to trap the area.

Beaver range far and wide during the spring and summer months, making it difficult to locate them; in winter they are easily located. Landowners are advised to notify the Department of Lands and Forests now if beaver are on their property so they can be dealt with and possible spring flooding and damage prevented.

All in all, however, the beaver still is, economically, Ontario's most important fur bearer, his pelt the staple of the fur industry, his water conservation and impediments vital to the complex of living things associated with them.

World news today

Ottawa — Associates of Prime Minister Lester Pearson dampened any hopes the opposition may have had in the speculation that he might throw in the towel following shenanagins within his cabinet.

They denied rumours that the Prime Minister was reeling from the party's political punches within his cabinet.

Yvon Dupuis, minister without portfolio, who resigned last Friday didn't add too much in the way of easing the pain. No official comment has yet been offered for the resignation of Dupuis from the cabinet.

Earlier misadventures were the involvement of State Secretary Maurice Lamontagne and Immigration Minister Rene Tremblay in the purchase, with no down payment, of materials from a Montreal firm now bankrupt. This was followed by the opening of the Dorion inquiry into charges of bribery and intimidation involving high government officials.

The general comment from Liberal associates of the Prime Minister is "optimism."

Saigon — Buddhist-led anti-American riots raised fears for the safety of the 27,000 Americans in South Viet Nam including 2,000 women and children. Rioting and anti-government demonstrations swirled through six cities as thousands rallied behind the Buddhist call for the ouster of U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor. Besides Saigon, there were demonstrations in Hue, Nha Trang Hoi An Da Nang and Quang Tri.

Manila — Thousands of Filipinos marched on the American embassy in Manilla and burned an effigy of Uncle Sam in front of the building's iron gates. The torch-carrying demonstrators were protesting the deaths of Filipinos killed while trespassing on U.S. military bases. There was no violence.

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia — The U.S Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) was accused of trying to set-up a pro-western military dictatorship in Malaysia. The charges were leveled by left-wing socialists, considered the largest opposition group in Malaysia although it only has two members in the 150 159-member parliament. Meanwhile 11 American-made helicopters arrived in Singapore to be used in the Malaysian battle against infiltrating Indonesian Guerrilla bands.

London — Sir Winston Churchill will get a king's farewell. His queen and country, in granting the war-time prime minister's last wish, approved a state funeral on a royal scale. The Royal Horse Artillery will fire a 90-gun salute — one for each year of Churchill's life. He is to be buried Saturday.

London — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson will hold brief diplomatic talks with foreign leaders in London for Sir Winston Churchill's funeral. President Johnson and French President Charles De Gaulle were expected to come to Britain to pay their respects to the British hero. The meeting was expected to pave the way for summit talks in the coming months.

Community Concerts present Golden Curtain Quartette

The Golden Curtain Quartette, which has received critical acclaim in the United States and Canada will appear at the Academy Theatre Thursday in a Community Concert presentation. The quartette, consisting of Maria Albanese, soprano; David Clatworthy, baritone; Adele Baker, mezzo-soprano and Dan Market, tenor, will present a programme ranging from grand opera to the hits of broadway. The quartette is produced and directed by Kurt Alder, the distinguished conductor of the Metropolitan Opera.

Taking its name from the famous Metropolitan Opera House golden curtain, the quarette is made up of young artists who have already attained the first milestone along the way to top operatic careers. All have appeared with remarkable success in leading roles with opera companies either in the United States or Europe and have been heard in concert, and on television and radio as solo performers.

L' Britain leads in Tri-County league

Week-end scores in Tri-County Association hockey shows Little Britain seniors leading the loop with four wins and no losses to date. Oakwood Flyers tied Burnt River 2 - 2 at Coboconk Saturday night, after leading 2 - 1 at the end of the second period. Burnt River opened the scoring in the first period and added the tying goal with eight minutes left in the game. Oakwood scorers were Jack Spratt and John Goard. Handler and Sheehen retaliated for Burnt River.

Other week-end scores gave Little Britain a 3 - 2 win over Fenelon Falls at Little Britain Saturday night. Fenelon Falls edged Cambray 5 - 4 Friday night, and Little Britain picked up a win at Cambray last night 6 - 4.

All roads will lead to Oakwood Wednesday night when the Flyers will meet the highflying Little Britain club. Burnt River visits Fenelon Falls Friday night and go to Little Britain Saturday evening.

Ti-Cats tie Merchants Defeat Uxbridge 8-2

Bobcaygeon Ti-Cats continued their march toward the league leadership when they defeated Uxbridge Chicks 8-2 in Uxbridge last night. This win gives the 'Cats 44 points and a tie for first place with the Lindsay Merchants. The Ti-Cats however have one more game to play in their schedule when they entertain the Little Britain Aces at Bobcaygeon Friday night. A win for the Cats Friday night would clinch first place and the Cliff Johnston Memorial Trophy, won last year by Lindsay Lions.

Play-offs for the Junior "C" teams start Tuesday in Aurora with Newmarket Redmen the visitors. The Lindsay Merchants go to Newmarket Thursday night and return to meet the Aurora Tigers Friday night at the Kiwanis Arena. Lindsay Merchants officials have announced the obtaining of three additional prizes for program holders Friday night, when the crowds again return to the local ice palace for play-off hockey.

Junior "D" play-offs start next week with Cannington-Sutton meeting Bobcaygeon, and Uxbridge playing Stouffville, both in a best of seven game semi-final set. Uxbridge starts at Stouffville Feb. 2nd, and Feb. 9th., with return games at Uxbridge Feb. 8th, and 15th. If necessary the series will continue at Stouffville Feb. 16th. at Uxbridge Feb. 22 and at Stouffville Feb. 23.

The Cannington-Sutton vs. Bobcaygeon series starts at Bobcaygeon Feb. 5th with succeeding home dates for Bobcaygeon as necessary Feb. 12th, 20th, and 26. All return games will be played in the Cannington Arena on the following dates as necessary: Feb. 11, 19th and 25th.

The winners of the "D" series semi-finals will meet in a best of seven final series for the right to advance into provincial play-downs.

NEWS FROM F.F.D.H.S.

by "The Post" Fenelon Falls Collegiate reporter Ron Beall

Hi Kids

Our first column in "The Post" published on Tuesday, January 19, seems to have been a great success, and we hope it will continue to be.

I neglected to mention last week that our representative on Teen Time on Lindsay radio is Garth Henderson. Garth gives the sports scores, high scorers and upcoming events for F.F.D.H.S. on the Thursday night programme.

Next week we hope to have a report from the School Spirit Committee on their activities in the school to date.

BOY'S SPORTS
by Ron McInnis

On Wednesday, January 20 the Bantam Boy's Basketball team played host to the Lindsay Bantams. The game was won by Fenelon by a score of 44-21. High scorers for Fenelon were Duvall and Wright and Lindsay High Scorers Sundberg and Taylor.

The gymnastic team began practices last week in preparation for the Variety Night programmes to be presented on the 24 and 25 of February.

Jackets for the successful 1964 Senior Football Team are now available. The team, coached by Mr. Skitch and Mr. Fiorini were champions of both Kawartha and Bay of Quinte districts, and then went on to become finalists in the C.O.S.S.A Senior "B" Championship.

STUDENT COUNCIL
by Ron Beall

At the regular meeting on Monday, January 18, plans went ahead for the two upcoming dances, the "Sweetheart Swirl" and the Spring Prom. Although no name or theme has yet been decided upon for the Prom, it will likely be a Hawaiian theme.

Also discussed was the possibility of selling girls' school blazers which have not been sold in the school for five years. Any girls who are interested in buying a blazer, please let a student council member know in order that the student council can decide whether it will be a worthwhile project.

HOLLYWOOD
(By United Press International)

Hollywood (UPI) — Robert Vaughn, a first-class television spy, recently visited Russia, the land of cloak and dagger intrigue.

True to his role of super sleuth Napoleon Solo in NBC-TV's "Man From U.N.C.L.E." Vaughn lugged three cameras along with him on the Soviet Union trip.

"I took three cameras and photographed everything I saw with the exception of the inside of Lenin's tomb which nobody can photograph", he said.

Vaughn, who said he "enjoyed myself immensely" and hoped to repeat the trip in the future, said unlike many American stars he is known to Russian film audiences. They remembered him from "The Magnificent Seven" movie in which he co-starred with Yul Brynner and Steve McQueen.

"I was the only American actor from that picture to go to Moscow", Vaughn said. "So I'm well known there. Everyone connected with the stage and motion picture industry knew me very well and so did people on the street".

Aware that Vaughn plays an International spy on television, Russian actors would introduced him as "The American James Bondski".

Robert said he noted a difference in the Russian attitude towards actors as compared to the American impression of performers.

"They value their actors in the same way they value scientists, doctors, artists and space-men" Vaughn said. "In this country we look at actors as beatnik like nuts, so it was a pleasure to see my profession treated with respect".

The American cited some aspects of a Russian actor's professional training and his personal life, the latter a spartan existence when compared to Hollywood.

"An actor's life in Moscow is very different from life in Hollywood", he said. "In the first place, most of them are put through state schools for four years and are assigned to an acting group.

"They don't have nearly as many material goods as we do but it didn't seem to bother them. I visited with one of Russia's top actors, the winner of their oscar and he lives in a cramped two room apartment, and can't get an automobile, but he couldn't care less.

"The Russian actors were curious about my way of life, and through their questioning they learned that I owned a house house on top of a hill, where I live alone, and that I had a maid, and a great big car with a telephone in it and many other things. They thought all that was 'very nice' but none of them were overly impressed and none expressed the slightest desire to come to America and live the same way".

History will not record modern Russia as a nation of footloose trevellers, so it wouldn't do much good to express a desire to go anywhere.

Oakwood

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. Carl Moynes and family in the untimely death of Mrs. Moynes. She will be greatly missed. She was active in many women organizations especially the Women's Institute, bringing honour to her own branch when she was elected chairman of the Central Area serving a two year term.

A goodly number of United Church women members attended the Presbytery held in Cannington this past week.

Congratulations are extended to Mrs. L. Everson who celebrated her 90th birthday during the past week.

Mr. Archie Graham and Mrs. Victor Jewell are patients in the Ross Memorial Hospital, both undergoing surgery. They are wished a speedy recovery.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Ron Jewell in the death of her grandmother, Mrs. Carew of Lindsay.

Dunsford

Mr. and Mrs. George McBeth and daughter, Georgia Lee of Kennedy's Bay spent a few days following the New Year visiting relatives in Hamilton and stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMillan of Burlington.

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Melville Brien recently were Mrs. Alex Thurston and Mrs. Irene Rettie of Fenelon Falls.

The Dunsford United Church held their annual meeting on Thursday evening with a fairly good attendance. Reports from the different Organizations of the Church were given and new business discussed. Ladies of the church served lunch at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Henrietta Johnson of Glamis, Saskatchewan, is visiting with friends and relatives around and called on Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Thurston Wednesday evening.

One rink from Dunsford attended the Bonspiel at Omemee on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Golloher of Norwood visited on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. Golloher of Dunsford.

BETTER LATE

Portsmouth, England (UPI) Old soldier Bill McDonald, 72, has just received a medal he won 47 yrs. ago. The medal for meritorious service in France during World War I arrived in the mail at his home yesterday. McDonald said the reason for the delay was a clerical error.

Cresswell

Mr. Leslie Boultwood has returned to his home here after spending several weeks in Toronto General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Brown spent an afternoon recently with their friends, Mrs. Lawrence Beatty of Blackwater.

Mr. William Grainger had the misfortune to cut his forehead badly while playing hockey. It required a few stitches to repair the damage.

Mr. Arthur Sawyer of Coboconk is spending some time with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Switzer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Currie motored to Burk's Falls to cheer their son, Kenneth and his team-mates of Cannington Hockey Team in their game there on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Brown motored to Toronto to attend services at St. Stephen's United Church and to visit friends and relatives there, who are on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Murray opened their home on Friday last to their friends and neighbours for an evening of euchre and social companionship. Prizes for highest count were won by Mrs. Karl Cowie and Mr. Lawrence Treneer and Consolation Prizes went to Miss Ruthanne Webster and Mr. Jim Rummerfield. Refreshments were served by the ladies present.

Ops school treasurer appointed

An Ops Township ratepayer, in a letter to "The Post" asked if a secretary-treasurer had been appointed to the Ops Township Area School Board and if so who was it and what was his salary? The ratepayers said in his letter this was a public office and it seemed in order and general practice that the name and salary of the applicant should be released through the newspaper.

Chairman of the School Board, Clifford Reeds said that Max Aldous of Reaboro had been chosen from a large number of applicants. He declined, however, to indicate Mr. Aldous' salary because, he said, the School Board as a whole had decided not to release the salary through the press. He said the salary of Mr. Aldous may be made public at a later date. Mr. Reeds told "The Post" he didn't know whether the information should be released or not; and said it would have to be brought up at another meeting of the school board.

Study proposed new town plan, zoning By-Law, mayor urges property owners

Steve Blasco, proprietor of the Canadian Tire associate store in Lindsay pins a 25-year service pin on the lapel of Harold O'Keefe (left). Mr. O'Keefe started with Canadian Tire in 1939 when it was located on the northeast corner of William and Peel Streets.

"Today, planning and zoning is a "must" in a growing municipality", said Mayor Joseph Holtom at a press conference in the mayor's office Tuesday. Mr. Holtom said one of the first questions asked by prospective industries interested in Lindsay is "Do you have an official plan and zoning by-law?".

The mayor said a copy of the new proposed zoning by-law is in the hands of the property owners and said Feb. 5th is the last date for filing objections with the town clerk.

"This revised bylaw is superceding the one that has been in effect since 1957, and is a much better bylaw", commented Mayor Holtom. "The old bylaw, along with the official plan, was too rigid, and permission had to be obtained from the Ontario Municipal Board for any changes that became necessary; but the new one is more flexible, and can be amended by council to adapt to changing conditions", he said.

Mr. Holtom said the new plan has had three years of study by the planning board of and council and was designed to assist in the proper and orderly growth of the town. "It is important", said the mayor, "that no property owner is subjected to any hardship by this bylaw, and this is why every property owners gets a copy, in order that he can register his objection in writing if he feels that he is not being treated fairly and justly".

Town clerk W. B. Bates said so far the clerks office had received fifteen inquiries and four objections in writing. Mr. Bates said it is probable the Ontario Municipal Board would hold a hearing to hear the objections.

"This bylaw is another step forward in the progress and development of Lindsay, and it should be understood as much as possible, by all property owners", said his worship.

Mr. Holtom said he expected the council would be continually making minor changes to the bylaw and explained this was why the new town plan and bylaw had been drafted. "Now", he said, "council can easily make small changes, the previous town plan put the town in a straitjacket, and they had to go to the Municipal Board for permission for every minor change".

The mayor said in the past the first plan was passed and then promptly forgotten about. He said this new plan would be put to work and it would need adequate machinery to implement it. "We may possibly have to expand the planning department", he said. The planning department is under the direction of Don Tofflemire.

SYL APPS TO OPEN MINDEN CARNIVAL

Syl Apps, former Toronto Maple Leaf hockey star will open the 1965 Minden Winter Carnival at the Minden Recreation Centre this Saturday at 2 p.m.

Following the official opening there will be a figure skating show featuring championship skaters from Metro Skating Clubs.

Participants will include Patsy Lang who was the 1964 Bantam Champion of Metro Toronto Speed Skating Club. Kaselle Patteniek who is Junior Ladies Champion of the Lonsdale Skating Club. June Lang who was a silver medal winner at the Western Canada summer skating competitions held in Edmonton, and Doug Middleton a finalist in the Central Ontario Competitions.

This years Carnival begins Friday evening in the Minden Recreation Centre with broomball, minor hockey, the Carnival Queen Competition and a Mocassin Dance on the Ice.

Saturday evening there will be a hockey game figure skating and entertainment by Ernie Bruce and his Clown Band. A full programme is scheduled for the arena Sunday afternoon juvenile hockey, a "Hootenany" featuring a Toronto folk singing group, and the finals of the broomball tournament.

One p.m. Saturday is the time to be on Minden's main street to see the annual parade to be held in connection with the 1965 Minden Winter Carnival. The parade which was a highlight of last year's Carnival will be headed by Ernie Bruce and the Clown Band. Gordon McManus, parade chairman reports that there are more entries than last year and that everything indicates the parade will be bigger and better than ever.

$650 damage in Oakwood car crash

Total damage of $650 resulted when a car driven by Gordon Clarence Everson of 21 Russell Street East, allegedly turned into the path of a vehicle driven by Irene Tremeer of RR2 Oakwood on Highway 7 near the United Church in Oakwood at 4:15 p.m. yesterday. Police estimated damage to the Everson vehicle at $450 and $200 to the Tremeer car.

Impaired Driving costs man $75

Herbert Tripp, of RR No. 1 Fraserville, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving at Lindsay Police Court Wednesday and was fined $75.00 and costs by Magistrate Ian Munro. In addition the magistrate suspended driving privileges of the accused for six months. The mandatory sentence on this charge is three months suspension.

The charge was laid by provincial constable Edward Davis following an investigation on January 22nd. No accident was involved.

Fought over girl's affections Lindsay youth fined $25, costs

"A lot of wars have been fought over women, and this is a minor one no doubt" commented Magistrate Ian Munro in Lindsay Police Court Wednesday after hearing evidence on a charge af assault causing bodily harm laid by George Van Dam Jr., aged 17, of Pontypool, against Murray Quibell of 46 Regent Street, Lindsay.

The incident occurred on Adelaide Street North adjacent to the Collegiate Tuesday noon. George Van Dam told the court that the accused accused him of he was leaving the school at noon hour, eventually blocking his path on the Adelaide Street sidewalk. George Van Dam said the accused then asked him to take off his glasses and he refused. He said the accused then struck him with his fist, knocking off his glasses and breaking them. Van Dam told the court that they afterwards wrestled on the ground and Murray Quibell gave up. Court was told that the fight resulted from George Van Dam taking out Murray Quibell's girl friend.

Gary Van Dam, brother of the complainant and also a student at LCVI said in evidence that his brother and the accused were wrestling on the ground when he arrived on the scene. He said he twice asked his brother to let go of the "neck stretch" hold which George had applied on Quibell. He said he was afraid Quibell's neck would be broken.

Murray Quibell, the accused told the court that he struck the complainant first on the way home off his glasses. He said he then twice struck him on the eye. In relation to the "neck stretch" hold, he said his neck was stretched so he could hardly breathe.

In passing sentence Magistrate Munro told the accused "you definitely went up the re to the LCVI and initiated the whole affair. You had no justification whatever. You had no right to insist on the girl's affections, and you deserved anything that happened to you". The magistrate considered that the bodily harm was not serious enough to support the charge, but found Murray Quibell guilty of common assault, without prosecution. A fine of $25.00 and costs was levied with 15 days in jail in default of payment. The magistrate also bound the accused over to keep the peace for one year, especially toward George Van Dam Jr.

Directors estimate Co-Op blaze damage at Grasshill at $70,000

Damage caused in an early morning blaze at the Grass Hill Farmers' Co-operative Feed Mill Sunday morning has been estimated at $70,000 Oakwood Fire Chief Mervyn Suggitt told "The Post" today. Chief Suggitt said the building and contents were partially insured. The announcement was made after a meeting of the board of directors of the Co-op yesterday. The fire was reported in "The Post" on Monday.

Four firefighting units from Oakwood, Kirkfield and Woodville responded to the alarm turned in shortly after midnight Saturday but when firemen arrived the large seed and grain building was an inferno, shooting burning debris over the nearby dwellings. The whole area had to be watered down and the Oakwood Fire Department was on the scene until noon Sunday.

The cause of the fire is unknown but Fire Chief Suggitt said it is believed the blaze could have started from a space-heater in the office. The whole building, except for a small room of cement-block construction which housed a diesel motor, was destroyed. The building had a cement foundation and steel joists.

The fire chief said the Ontario Fire Marshall's office may conduct an investigation.

Town Planning

If Lindsay is going to grow and develop in the future in an orderly fashion without suffering from pockets of blight or unsatisfactory development, the municipality must have a suitable town plan and by-law.

Lindsay is in the last stages of passing the proposed zoning by-law and we feel this will benefit citizens generally. The town has had a town plan of sorts since 1957, but to amend this plan to meet changing conditions, it was necessary each time to submit requests for changes to the Department of Municipal Affairs and the minister. With the new plan and zoning by-law council will be able to make necessary changes to meet times of change without the long and tedious procedure of appealing to the Municipal Board.

This particular plan has been exhaustively studied for three years by the Planning Board, Planning Department and council. If any property owner feels he is being subjected to hardship he can appeal to council and we are sure they will give the appeal fair consideration. Presently, objections can be filed with the clerk before February 5th before the plan is finally passed and implemented.

Got You Taped!

Famed for its monuments and historic buildings, haunted castles, old inns and old treasures, Britain is to welcome the 1965 visitors—on tape.

It looks as though the patient guide to parties of sightseers is to have an easier time in future, for transistorised tape recordings of British history, with ear plugs for private listening, are now being prepared for world visitors.

This year two recorded systems were tried out, one in the Duveen Gallery at the British Museum, where the famed Elgin marbles are on show, and a second at St. Paul's Cathedral, which is one of the most popular sights of London—although it is very often said, with a certain amount of truth, that the visitor knows more about the cathedral than does the Londoner.

The taped guides for world visitors are likely to extend this year into Windsor Castle, the out-of-town home of Britain's Kings and Queens for centuries, and at Beaulieu, in Hampshire, where is housed the world's most famous collection of old cars. In fact, the new dimention in sightseeing is likely to develop considerably in Britain during the coming year.

The Houses of Parliament and Big Ben as they stand today in London date from 1850. They replace the earlier Palace of Westminster which was destroyed by fire in 1834. The debating chamber was destroyed by an enemy bomb during the war, but it has since been restored to its original condition —British Travel Association picture.

Overcome by coal gas—dies

Rushed to the Ross Memorial Hospital, in an unconscious condition, 68-year-old George Blanchard, of Sunderland, died yesterday without regaining consciousness, as the result of being overcome by gas in his home. Mrs. Blanchard, who also suffered as a result of the gassing, is still in hospital where it is believed she is recovering.

Becoming alarmed at the absence of any life in the home of the elderly couple, neighbours proceeded to investigate and finding the door locked, broke it down to be met with the fumes of coal gas.

Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard were both found in a bedroom in an unconscious condition. Mr. Blanchard was lying half way across the bed as though he had tried to get up but had been overcome. Mrs. Blanchard was still in bed.

Dr. Clevor McLennan was summoned and had the couple removed to the Ross Memorial Hospital at Lindsay, but Mr. Blanchard failed to rally and died shortly after admittance to hospital.

Change

The Post has been informed that the L. B. & O. Railway will, commencing next week, give a three days' service only in connecting with the G.T.R. Lindsay-Kinmount Jct. train. This service will be on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays. This will prove a great inconvenience to the travelling public who have business in the northcountry.

Postponed

According to orders posted this morning, the regimental camp-fire announced to be held on Friday evening, has been postponed until Tuesday evening of next week. As Lindsay's junior team will go to Peterboro Friday night, some of the soldiers are going to take in the trip.

Invite council

In all probability the members of the county council will be given an invitation to the armouries some time this week to see the men drill.

Deputation

It is quite probable that a deputation from the 45th Regiment staff will wait on county council this week in connection with certain matters affecting the regiment.

Reeve of Somerville

Lieut. Morrison, Reeve of Somerville, finds time during the county council session to visit the armouries. He takes a deep interest in the regiment.

Medical examination

A medical examination of the men will take place the end of this week. Dr. McCullough, Capt., will be the examiner.

January Sales in Moscow

Moscow (UPI)—Westerners are used to the delights of winter sales. Now Soviet shoppers are getting a taste of them for the first time.

The novelty begins with a huge sign that decorates a select number of stores in this snowy capital.

It says simply, "Sale of Goods at Lowered Prices."

These days the sign has a double meaning. It means a pretty fair deal for the consumer and the best of a bad deal for the state.

For this is not just a sale to get rid of high-quality, useful, elegant surplus goods.

This is a sale—going on throughout the country—to get rid of unsold goods valued at more than the fabulous sum of $2 billion.

They didn't sell at the old prices because they were over-priced, or badly designed or out of fashion.

The new Kremlin regime has decided the time has come to do something about this huge excess whose total value is equivalent to two per cent of the national annual budget.

On the one hand, they have slashed the prices in hopes of selling off the goods. On the other, they have begun a drive to improve the Russian consumer goods industry.

How has it worked?

In the cut-rate department of Moscow's central market, which this correspondent visited, business was brisk. But it lacked the mad bustle of so many sales in New York or London.

"We have been selling at these lowered prices for more than two months," said one black-uniformed sales girl.

"And I would say we have been selling well."

The cut-rate department was stocked mainly with cameras, radios, dresses, leather goods, neckties and a very wide assortment of textiles.

Customers were craning over the glass counters, examining goods from every angle. Some goods were obviously better than others.

Shoes were probably the least elegant wares. Especially the women's shoes. Prices of plain ones with clumsy heels were slashed from $25.96 to $19.80. Those formerly selling for $12.32 went down to $7.70.

Heavy woolen material was cut from $44 a meter (39 inches) to $30.80. Some of the lighter printed fabrics like rayon were priced at $4.40 down from $5.83.

A selection of multicoloured, striped ties — which were not getting many bids—were laid out in a circle on a table at about 33 cents apiece.

Leather bags, including a number of nicely turned-out pig-skin ones, were selling for as little as $4.40 down from eight or $17.60 down from $20.

All this is definitely interesting to the worker whose average wage is about $110 a month.

As the sales continue, a series of fascinating disclosures are being made about the state of the long neglected consumer goods industry.

One of the most sensational tidbits is that 400 shoe and light goods factories are being told by the authorities to operate on the profit motive.

The idea is to stimulate the desire to produce more efficiently and to produce better goods. Russians hope it all means better times are coming.

Chatterbox

— By Millicent —

For tasty bites with afternoon tea when friends drop in, try the following two recipes.

RAISIN CHERRYETTES

4 cups corn flakes or 1 cup corn flake crumbs; 1 cup sifted flour; ½ teaspoon salt; ¾ cup soft butter or margarine; ¾ cup sugar; 1 egg; 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind; 1 cup flaked coconut; ¾ cup golden or dark raisins; ¼ cup coarsely chopped candied cherries.

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Sift together flour and salt, mix with corn flake crumbs. Blend butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Stir in egg and lemon rind. Add dry ingredients; mix well. Stir in coconut, raisins and cherries. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (350°) about 10 minutes. Makes about four dozen cookies, two inches in diameter.

TURKISH ROLLS

½ cup butter; ¼ ounces cream cheese; ½ teaspoon vanilla; ¼ cup icing sugar; ¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour; ¼ teaspoon salt; 1 pound turkish delight or 2 cups candied cherries, apricots or ginger.

Cream butter and cheese until well belnded. Add vanilla and gradually beat in sugar. Stir in flour and salt. Work dough for a few hours or overnight in refrigerator. Roll one-quarter of dough at a time, as thinly as possible into a rectangle about eight inches by seven inches. Divide rectangle in half. Cut turkish delight, apricots or ginger into pieces about ½-inch thick. Place in a row near the centre of each piece of dough. Fold dough over filling and roll up. Press edges and ends together firmly to seal. Bake rolls on ungreased cookie sheet in a moderate oven (350°F.) until lightly browned, 20 to 25 minutes. Slice into bite-size pieces. Makes about two dozen.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?

Q. What can I do when I happen to mar a finished furniture surface with a hammer?

A. Sometimes you can raise the grain of the wood back into place by covering the area with several sheets of damp wrapping paper and pressing over this with a hot iron. This may require the voice of many mutes. Makes about four dozen cookies, two inches in diameter.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

Caramel Pans

Dry egg shells, crushed as finely as possible, may be used for removing stains from enamel saucepans, tea and coffee pots, and the like. Wrap out a cloth in warm water, and dip in the shells, then rub gently. Mix the egg shells with salt for removing the marks of burnt food.

In Memoriam

DETTMAN, Arch — In loving memory of a beloved husband, and father who passed away Jan. 29, 1962.

It is sad to walk the road alone
Instead of side by side,
But to all there comes a molt.
When the path of love divide
He gave us years of happiness,
Then sorrow came and fears,
But he left us beautiful memories
We will treasure through the years.
Sadly missed by his wife and family. (1523)

SCHROTER — In loving memory of a dear husband, Bert E. Schroter who passed away Jan. 30, 1964.

Alone yet never quite alone,
I face an empty chair,
But sometimes in the silence
I imagine he is there.
My companion of so many years,
No longer here with me.
And yet in some mysterious way
He keeps me company.
Ever remembered by loving wife Lottie (1853)

Victoria County to speed road sanding

Victoria County Roads System Committee meeting yesterday decided to recommend early action in negotiating for a hopper type sander for County use. Chairman Edward Lowes asked committee member to stand with him in a moment's silence in respect to the memory of the late Winston Churchill at the start of the meeting.

Past action to secure a hopper type sander followed reports by the County engineers and road foreman Herman Buckley that complaints had been received from the High School Area Board and the Provincial Police. Committee members were informed that County had the older and slower worm type sander at the rear end of the dump box and frequenty ran into difficulty as the sand is applied behind the truck wheels. This type of application is known to be a slow procedure at best, and Lindsay reeve George Finney suggested securing a hopper type sander which could cut one third off the time required to perform the service.

Mariposa Reeve Roy Morrison moved that the necessary steps be taken to negotiate for a hopper type sander, by inviting at least two tenders. Fenelon reeve Arthur Smitheram seconded the motino.

WOMAN TO WOMAN

PATRICIA McCORMACK

New York (UPI — Keep your mouth shut if you're involved in an auto accident.

That is, unless talking with a law enforcement officer or your insurance company representatives.

Weigh the words when talking with the other driver involved in the mishap. Limit the conversation to the exchange of names and addresses making sure you get his license number to guard against misrepresentation.

First and foremost, don't make admissions until your insurance company has had a chance to investigate the accident.

A classic example for keeping quiet until you have talked with your insurance company is the rear-end collision.

A popular myth is that the driver who hits another car in the rear is responsible. Not so, according to State Farm Insurance, biggest auto insurer in the United States.

There are many instances where the car in front is responsible. In a questionable situation it is best to let experts decide who was right and who was wrong.

A report from State Farm, noting that one in five licensed drivers will be involved in an auto accident during the next year, made these other points about conduct after an accident.

— Avoid arguments at the scene of the accident. Liability cannot be determinde under the tension that prevails.

— Make a careful survey of the accident scene. Note any skid marks, location of debris, traffic control signs. If you don't have a measuring tape (you probably won't), stepping off distances will do. Should you have the family camera in the car, pictures of the wreck and the area in which it occurred might prove helpful later.

— Steer clear of the persons offering curbstone legal advice. Do not, under any circumstances, sign any statement or contract at the scene of the accident. Give yourself time to collect your thoughts.

— In cases were injuries are involved, early contact with your insurance company is important. The laws of most states don't require that you discuss the circumstances of the accident with anyone, including police. You do have to tell the police your name, address and license plate number, and show your driver's license if asked. Information you give the police is not considerd confidential and may be used against you in court.

— If a lawyer is needed, use your own or one recommended by friends or your insurance agent. You can be recommended to a good lawyer by a state or local bar association.

If you're a witness to an accident, by the way, offering assistance is the humanitarian thing to do, even if it is not required legally.

Your first step, if you see an accident ahead, is to park your car or truck some distance from the scene, so that you leave an escape lane for vehicles coming too fast from behind or ahead of the accident.

Other motorists at the scene should be sent ahead or behind with flags, flares, or some other signalling device to slow oncoming traffic.

It's best to turn off the ignition key of the wrecked car to prevent fire.

Panic caused by fear of fire often leads to hasty, careless removal of the injured. If the fire doesn't start immediately, it's not likely to start.

The best advice of police is that you leave seriously injured persons where they are but take precautions to guard them.

Often, first aid rendered by a layman under such circumstances, turns out to be worst aid.

Let the police, who are trained, handle the injured.

Reaboro-Omemee Farmer's Union elect officers

The proposed "Farmers March on Ottawa" was discussed at the first meeting of the Reaboro-Omemee branch of the Ontario Farmer's Union for 1965, held at the home of James Calvert of Reaboro. Seventeen members were present.

It was also agreed to send to head office a resolution that "The price of Grade 1 milk be at least 10c per 100 lb. more than Grade 2 or 3 in any category".

George Ryken was elected president and Ed Ruth, vice-president for 1965. Directors are: Reg. Roberts, Leigh Reeds, James Calvert, Victor Sloan and William Chatten. Education Committee: Douglas McRobbie, Ross Downey, O. Ruth and James Calvert. Entertainment committee: Mrs. Donahoe and Mrs. O. Ruth.

HALF A DOLLAR

San Pedro, Calif., (UPI) — A bandit, armed with a 2 by 4 club, stole $1.50 in bills from a dairy farm and sales office yesterday.

Police said Wayne Mauder, 19, told them a man threatened him with a big club and demanded $2. The bandit was in such a hurry he ripped one of the bills in half and left the other half on the counter.

Kerry Evans, 22-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Evans, proprietors of Bray Chick Hatchery, compares an ordinary chicken egg with the oversized one to its right. It was found when the large egg was broken open that there was a complete egg in a shell inside the larger shell. Mr. Evans said the egg was brought to his hatchery by William Mortimer of Little Britain recently. "Post" staff photo.

New approach found to floodlight deal

Members representing softball, minor baseball and soccer were present at a meeting of the Recreation Committee heeds committee Tuesday evening. After considerable discussion, Recreation Director Harry Johnston suggested a plan whereby softball, minor baseball, and soccer facilities could be provided within the boundaries of the George St. park and within the scope of a baseball floodlighting system.

Approaching the problem from a scheduling viewpoint, present demands indicated two nights for softball, two for minor baseball and two for soccer. With this in mind, committee chairman Bob Payne suggested an overlapping of ground use would not be necessary. Director Johnston suggested laying out the soccer pitch diagonally across the baseball outfield and in this manner it would fit into a floodlighting program.

Robbie Burns birthday marked by Kiwanians

The singing of "Coming Through the Rye", "Just a wee drop and Dorie", "Loch Lomond" and other Scottish songs at Tuesday's Kiwanis luncheon showed the interest of members in the anniversary birthday of Robert Burns.

During the luncheon, Murray Smith reported for the juvenile hockey committee, President Les Porter on his attendance at Scarboro Club ladies night, Ford Moynes on the inter-club meeting at Peterborough and Bud Bates on the forthcoming show "Spring Thaw", and Herb Hardy on membership.

Secretary Harry Peirce in presenting a report of the activities of the club in 1964, mentioned among other items the success of "Spring Thaw", the results of the George Zarfas show, the installation of the public address system at the Kiwanis arena and the gift of a new sign for the arena, as well as part of the financial commitment to the Academy Theatre Foundation.

The year past, stated the secretary, was one quite successful in point of increased membership, continued good weekly meetings and financial improvement.

Square dance group started in the Arena

Despite the weather, a small group gathered in the Kin Room at the Recreation Centre last Saturday night to organize a contemporary square dance group for adults in Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Jaffray of Peterboro attended and explained contemporary square dance groups and how this form of dancing was sweeping the country and was popular in the U.S.A., Great Britain and other countries.

Mr. Jaffray demonstrated the type of music used in the dancing and some calls, explaining that this type of dancing was not as strenuous as old type square dancing. Later he had four couple in a set going through the steps and enjoying themselves.

It was agreed that a contemporary dance group would be formed with a $2.00 per person registration fee and $1.00 per couple for each Saturday night Dancing and lessons from 8:00 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. each Saturday night for 10 weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Jaffray will be teaching commencing Saturday, January 30, at 8:00 p.m. following registration and each Saturday evening afterwards. The Kin Room will accommodate eight sets only and then the registration will be closed.

All couples joining this group, will be starting as beginners.

Suitable clothing would be comfortable long-sleeved sport shirts for men, cotton dresses and flat heel shoes for the ladies.

4-H girls attend Women's Institute

Manilla (PNS) — The January meeting of the Manilla Women's Institute met on the evening of January 20th at the home of the President, Mrs. F. Nixon, with an attendance of 25, consisting of members and girls of the 4H Club. The meeting opened with the Institute Ode. Mary Stuart Collect and Lord's Prayer in unison. The minutes of December meeting were read and approved and the financial report given, by the Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. B. Hamill. Roll-Call — "Advice on how to avoid accidents in the Home" was answered by all present. A letter was read concerning the 4H Club girl's project "The Milky Way" and leaders for this are to be chosen later. Another letter was read concerning the Institute Exhibit at the Lindsay Fair on "Grandmother's Hobbies" After discussion it was decided to go into this further at a later date. It was moved and seconded that the bill for the gifts for the 4H Club girls be paid. The meeting was then taken over by Miss Connie Nokes, who showed pictures of Mexico on her recent trip through that country, giving a running commentary on the pictures as they were shown. She also showed different articles which she had purchased there. These pictures and the talk were very much enjoyed by everyone present, and a vote of thanks to Miss Nokes was tendered by the President, Mrs. Nixon. A contest then took place on "Who could name the most places and things seen in the pictures just shown by Miss Nokes." This was won by Mrs. Shirley Sedore.

The 4H Club girls then presented a demonstration in Drill Form on "Posture Plays its Part." This was very well presented by the girls and much credit is given to the leader of the group, Mrs. Shirley Sedore. The Institute Grace was then sung, and refreshments served. Miss Connie Nokes was the Lucky Tea Cup winner. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Nixon for opening her home to the group.

"Never have so many owed so much to one man"

London (UPI) — Britain bade a silent goodbye today to Sir Winston Churchill.

Two lines of people, some weeping but all wordless, filed past the 10-foot high catafalque in Westminster Hall where Churchill lies in state. Eight thousand of them paid their last respects in the first two hours. Outside, the waiting line grew longer. It stretched past the House of Lords, around the statue of the Crusader King, Richard the Lion-hearted, down Millbank which skirts the Thames, across Lambeth Bridge to the other side of the river and back toward Westminster Bridge.

For three days, 23 hours each day, the many who owe so much to Churchill will repay their debt. It started just as Big Ben boomed the hour of 11 a.m. across the city. There already were 4,000 persons waiting when the great door of St. Stephen swung open to admit them to Westminster Hall.

"New Lamps for Old" and have made lamp shades from raw materials and dressed them up as they wished. The importance of good lighting was mentioned in this project and some of the demonstrations will deal with this.

WI.s conduct Summary Day in Lindsay

The Women's Institutes in the counties of Victoria, Peterboro and Durham have been working on Home Furnishing projects for the past few months, reports Home Economist Pat Way. Summary Days are now being held and at these afternoon meetings the efforts of the groups are being exhibited and the women are preparing skits and demonstrations to show the visitors what they themselves have learned through their participation in the projects.

Victoria County Summary Day was on January 26th for the project "Window Treatment". Curtains and draperies were shown in miniature which the groups had made as they were learning their pleating techniques, the use of headings etc. Skits were given on right and wrong draperies, materials available on the market and other such topics.

January 27th is the date for Peterboro County Summary Day and January 28 for Durham County. They have both been taking a project called

World news today

London — Sir Winston Churchill's coffin was taken from his Hyde Park gate home to Westminister's Hall of kings to lie in state. The funeral procession attracted throngs of silent crowds. They lined the streets to pay homage to Britain's wartime leader who died Sunday at the age of 90.

Moscow — Spying charges were lodged against two American diplomats in Moscow. American envoys Embassy First Secretary Kenneth A. Kerst, 46, of Falls Church, Va., now in the United States. Stoiz was ordered to leave the country. An American spokesman said the expulsion order was in retaliation for the American ouster of a Soviet diplomat early this month.

Madras, India — A 24-year-old Indian man set himself afire and died in protest against adoption of Hindi as the official language of India. The change-over touched off a wave of violence in Madras State, which speaks the ancient Tamil language. Most of the rest of the country peacefully celebrated the 15th anniversary of Republic Day.

United Nations — The United States warned the United Nations that if it allows the Soviet Union to escape payment of its U.N. debt the world body would be weakened. U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson urged the U.N. not to accept a "double standard" as far as the Soviet Union is concerned. Stevenson said the U.N. cannot tolerate two rules for paying assessments for the expenses of the organization — one rule for most of the members — and another rule for a few.

Tehran, Iran — Premier Hassal Ali Mansur died of wounds suffered five days ago when he was shot by a young assassin. Top specialists from Britan and the United States employing so-called "miracle drugs", battled in vain to save the life of the 41-year-old premier. Police quoted the 21-year-old assassin as saying he shot the premier because it was his "religious duty".

Ottawa — An investigation by the Justice Department into the dismissal of Yvon Dupuis, Minister without portfolio in the Liberal cabinet, was disclosed by Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson yesterday. Pearson would not comment further on the firing last week saying only:

"The Justice Department is investigating now into matters which occurred some years before Mr. Dupuis was a member of the government–I am not going to comment further".

In Quebec, Premier John Lesage said that a Royal Canadian Mounted Police inquiry into the Dupuis affair does not involve his province in replying to a question from the opposition, Lesage said:

"It would be prejudical to the investigation if I said anything about it".

Ottawa — There is no official indication on the current speculations that George Hees, former Minister of Trade and Commerce during the Diefenbaker administration, may be a possible successor to John Diefenbaker as Tory party leader.

The general feeling that Hees, now president of the Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchange, has no interest in seeking the Conservative party leadership.

In referring to the future, a close friend of Hees said it would take some kind of special appeal to get George Hees back in public service.

During an interview, Hees carefully skirted any involvement in comment on the present controversy over Diefenbaker's leadership.

Montreal — The Dorian Inquiry in Montreal is becoming more involved. A search is now out for a Montreal physician who pronounced a potential inquiry witness dead without signing his death certificate.

The doctor is being sought in connection with the death last December of Avide (Dave) Gagnon who allegedly contributed $20,000 to a fund aimed to bail accused dope smuggler Lucien Rivard from jail.

The doctor who signed the certificate of death based on information from an unknown doctor, and Gagnon's widow were unable to recall the mysterious doctor during hearings yesterday.

Mrs. Gagnon doubted that her husband had contributed $20,000 to help Rivard. She added that her husband left her neither money nor property in his will.

The inquiry stems from charges that Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne was pressured by high government sources into dropping his opposition bail.

Meanwhile Rivard is awaiting extradition to the U.S. where he is accused of being the brains behind a narcotics smuggling ring.

OVERWEIGHT

If you think you are overweight don't start on some reducing fad without consulting your doctor. He is the only authority who can prescribe diet, exercise and an effective programme.

NOW YOU KNOW

The 1959 Soviet census, the first since 1939, reported a population of 208,826,000, an increase of 38,226,000 or a bout 9.5 per cent, according to the World Almanac. —(UPI)

Kiwanis Juveniles beat Beaverton 12-0

Lindsay Kiwanis Juveniles displayed some of their scoring potential last night when they scuttled Beaverton Juveniles 12-0.

Jim Golden, Roger Welland and Bill Willis paced the Kiwanians with four, three and two goals each respectively. Single goals came from John Gibbons, Sal Polito and Doug Lemoire.

Coach Bill Campbell found the forward speed combination early when the local lads took a 4-0 lead on goals by Willis, Polito, Welland, and Golden. Welland with two, and singles by Gibbons, Wilis and Lemoire added five in the second period, while a third period hat trick by Jim Golden completed the route.

Only two penalties were called in the first two periods of fast clean hockey, one to each team, but the home team ran into five in final session as they battled to protect Pete Wardlaw's shut-out. The complete penalty awards showed three to Beaverton and six to Lindsay, Brian Keehn being tagged with three. A return game at Beaverton winds up the schedule as the teams prepare for O.M.H.A play-down activity.

Snow vehicle rally highlight of Minden Winter Carnival

A snow vehicle rally is to be held at Mountain Lake (three miles north of Minden on Highway 35) this Saturday and Sunday in connection with the 1965 Minden Winter Carnival.

Don Berry, chairman of the rally says "These events are open to all and we are expecting there will be a large number of machines and drivers from all over."

There will be a complete programme of events including several novelty races during the two day rally. In the open slalom machines will travel three times around a one mile course. This course must be completed with-out touching markers and all contestants must return to the starting point or be disqualified. The double slalom allows two or more on a machine with a total weight of not less than 250 lbs. and will use the same course as in the open slalom event.

A special feature will be the Powder Puff Derby for lady drivers only. In the ski-joring slalom a machine will tow a skier through a series of slalom gates. The skier completing the most gates will be declared the winner. In the weight draw a machine will move off on a 100 yard course towing a toboggan. At ten foot intervals passengers will step on the toboggan until the weight stalls the machine. The obstacle race will require operators to go through or over obstacles to simulate a cross country trip, fences, gates, logs and brush. As well as a complete program for snow vehicles, a ski race, snow shoe race, and a turkey shoot is planned.

At 5 p.m. Sunday a huge Christmas Tree bonfire will officially close the 1965 Carnival.

"Vern Scully" Trophy to be awarded at Friday night game

The Friday night game at the Kiwanis Arena will have very special significance for one member of the Lindsay Merchants hockey team.

Friday evening the "Vern Scully" Trophy will be presented to the player judged the most valuable to the Lindsay Merchants. The judges for the award will be the members of the team who have been issued ballots and asked to indicate first, second and third choices.

Members of the Lindsay Merchants executive will process and compile the votes to decide the winner.

The Merchants will be playing their second game of the round-robin play-off set Friday night when they meet the Aurora Tigers at the Kiwanis Arena. The first game takes the Merchants to Newmarket Thursday night as the four week battle gets under way.

Rust inhibitor interests County Roads Board

Keen interest was expressed Tuesday by Victoria County Road Systems committee, in correspondence regarding a rust inhibitor that may be available to be combined in future salt shipments. The new inhibitor has been tested in limited areas with encouraging results, but supporters of the project noted that to be successful all road systems would have to use it.

The writer was seeking to find what interest would be taken by the various municipalities before proceeding further with investigations. It was indicated the new product would add approximately $3.00 per ton to the price of the salt. George Finney moved that Victoria County express interest in the project and suggest further investigation with further reports.

Nestleton man killed in two-death car crash

Drivers of two cars involved in a head-on collision on an icy stretch of Highway 12, ten miles north of Oshawa, died early Tuesday.

George E. MacNeal of Nestleton, was reported killed instantly and Robert Campbell, 20, of Brooklin, died late in Toronto General Hospital. Neither car had passengers.

THEY DON'T SELL IT?

The Hague, The Netherlands (UPI) — Agriculture Minister Barend Biesheuvel, answering criticism by socialist deputy Mrs. Gerda Brautigam in the lower house of parliament, said yesterday he had noticed how tasteless dutch bread was.

Biesheuvel advised Mrs. Mrs. Brautigam to complain to the agricultural research institute. She replied it would do no good. "I know the delicious bread they bakes there but unfortunately they don't sell it."

Take Over Museum Historical Society Asks County Council

Dr. R. M. Parker, President of the Victoria County Historical Society and John Thomas, a member of the society, approached county council this morning to request a grant of $1,000 towards the work of the society. Dr. Parker emphasized the need for financial assistance and said the society would undertake to erect the much-needed addition to the present structure this year. This would necessitate the raising of $8,000, according to plans already submitted, he told the council.

The speaker urged that county council assume the ownership of the museum in order to take advantage of the substantial grants available from the government. "Many societies in the province have already had their museums taken over by county councils", he said, and he added the county would have no difficulty in operating the museum because of the efficiency of the present staff.

Dr. Parker emphasized the patronage during the past year had been very good, particularly on the part of school children, he said hundreds of school children had visited the museum during the year and many had submitted essays in a competition regarding their visits. He said the boys and girls were particularly interested in the articles used in pioneer farming.

No Insurance proof, man fined $50

Patrick Alphonse Curtin of 176 Rubidge street, Peterboro, was fined $50.00 and costs in absentia, by Magistrate Ian Munro in Lindsay police court Wednesday.

Provincial Police Constable Murray Baker of the Apsley Detachment told the court that the accused had been requested to file proof of insurance following the investigation of an accident on January 17th. The constable told the court the accused had not shown up with the required proof of insurance.

Cameron crash caused $145 total damage

A rear-end collision at Cameron at 5:27 p.m. yesterday, caused $145 damage when a car driven by Cleveland E. Perrin, 64, of Cameron stopped and a car following the Perrin vehicle driven by David James Budd, 18, of RR1 Cameron, slid and crashed into the rear of the Perrin vehicle after attempting to stop on the slippery road surface.

Lindsay OPP estimated damage to the Budd vehicle at $120 and $25 to the Perrin car. Lindsay OPP Constable Edward Davies investigated.

STOLE MEAT AND SKATES, MAN JAILED

Three months in jail was the sentence handed down by Magistrate Ian Munro against Patrick Lamont of 60 William Street North, Lindsay, when he was found guilty of theft under $50.00, in police court Wednesday.

The charge was laid by Lindsay Police Corporal William Mosley following investigation of theft from a car parked in the rear of the Benson Hotel last Saturday night. A pair of hockey skates and a package of meat had been stolen. The meat was later consumed and the skates sold, the officer stated.

Court was told that the accused had just been released January 12th, after serving thirty days for the theft of a tire and wheel in December 1964.

Car collides with snowplow

A car driven by Lloyd Harrison of Minden sustained $300 damage when it crashed into a snowplow on Highway 530 at Maple Lake at 10:45 p.m. yesterday. Haliburton OPP said the snowplow, driven by Alfred Sisson of West Guilford, sustained minor damage. Police said the car lost control on a curve and crashed into the winter-maintenance vehicle. Police said weather conditions were the main cause of the accident.

County Council opposes additional votes for Lindsay, names deputation

At a meeting of County Council Wednesday morning, the council were unanimous in authorizing a deputation to visit the Ontario government to oppose a petition forwarded to the provincial legislature by the Town of Lindsay, requesting a private bill to authorize additional representation for the Town of Lindsay on the County Council.

If it were approved, Lindsay which has now a reeve and deputy-reeve with two votes each in council matters, would also have the right to exercise the same number of votes in committee of the whole.

When Lindsay's voting population reaches over 5,000 the town would then be entitled to an extra vote by the reeve.

The warden, clerk, county solicitor, Finance committee and Advisory Committee comprise the deputation to oppose the private bill at Queen's Park.

The council decided that the Advisory Committee should make a detailed study of the bylaws of all the municipalities, with regard to the votes of the electors and revamp them where necessary

Reeve Roy Morrison, Deputy-Reeve Edward Lowes, Reeve George Finney and others brought up the matter of the Municipal Franchise Not Counted Notation (MFNC) which appears in the voters' list. Councillors said they thought this matter should be discussed. There is a probability that there are many women property owners not now accorded the right to vote.

BLACKSTOCK FAIR PLANS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATIONS

At their Annual Meeting in Blackstock on Saturday, January 23rd, 1965, Blackstock Fair Board reviewed plans for their Centennial Celebration. According to local records, Blackstock Fair has been an annual event since 1865. However a check of the records with the Dept. of Agriculture reveals that the first fair was probably held in 1861. The first grant was paid in 1862 to Cartwright Agricultural Society by the Board of Agriculture of Upper Canada in amount $105.30. Receipts for that year were $205.30 and prize money was $158.30.

A Committee of Glen Larmer and Neil Werry was appointed to arrange for Centennial Gates, and a Special Centennial Committee Project as appointed last year was reconstituted. It is made up of President - Walter Wright, Immediate Past President - Harvey Graham, Merrill Van Camp, Ernest Swain, Ralph Larmer and Mrs. Gladys Thompson.

The Financial Report was presented by the Sec.-Treas. and adopted. Members were happy to note that finances were in a healthy state.

The Committee that was in charge of the Ethel Grant Monture Essay Contest reported that Miss Karen Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Campbell of Nestleton, had won the District competition and had gone on to the Provincial level. Provincial results will be announced at the annual Convention of Agricultural Societies to be held in Toronto, February 24th and 25th. Congratulations were expressed to Karen and thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Thompson who sponsored the contest at the local level. Officers elected for the current year were: President - Walter Wright; 1st Vice President - Glen Larmer; 2nd Vice President - John Carnaghan; Women's Convener - Mrs. Gladys Thompson.

WORLD'S RAREST

London (UPI) — The world's rarest stamp, the unique British Guiana one cent magenta stamp tsued in 1856, was flown into London last night tucked safely in a tattered wallet in Finbar Kenny's jacket pocket. The stamp, which will be the star attraction at an exhibition here Feb 17 - 20, is insured for $448,000. Kenny said he has been offered $560,000 "but it's not for sale — not yet any way."

BOATING FLOURISHED 50 YEARS AGO

Recent surveys indicate that pleasure boating in Canada is at an all-time high; however, if you look back at the history of boating in the Lindsay area a half-century ago, you might be inclined to question the results of these surveys.

Looking back over the history of the Scugog River and the lakes at either end, it appears that the number of people using boats for pleasure on the river has not increased and the number of boats used on the river for commercial purposes has certainly decreased.

A recent article on boats by a "Post" columnist stimulated considerable interest in boating in the old days, resulting in a number of letters and telephone calls from interested people.

It was through one of the calls that a "Post" reporter discovered that one of these early boats, one of the first to use the gasolene engine, is presently stored in a boat-house owned by Frank O'Connor of Lindsay. Mr. O'Connor briefly related the history of the boat called "Viking I" and its "sister-ship" Viking II.

The Viking, I, which Mr. O'Connor believed was owned by G. H. Hopkins, who also owned Viking II, was purchased by Mr. O'Connor over 50 years ago. It had a speed of about seven knots and was originally powered by a four horsepower Make and Break engine which was replaced about 35 years ago by a St. Lawrence motor of the same power. Mr. O'Connor purchase the boat from Nick Brady, a fish inspector and since then Mr. O'Connor has sold and repurchased the boat three times. The boat is in working order except that the engine, which is in excellent condition and has good compression has been removed and is being stored in Mr. O'Connor's garage.

The Viking II, a high-powered speed boat which could travel at speeds up to 16 knots, was built after the Viking I. Its whereabouts is unknown. Mr. O'Connor said G. H. Hopkins, known as Judge Hopkins, originally owned the boat and it was later sold to Jack Crimmons, after the death of Lieutenant-Colonel Holmes Hopkins in the first Great War, and after that it was sold to Allan Brothers Monument Works.

A lot of other boats travelled the Scugog River in those days, from the relatively small inboards like the Viking I, which is larger than sporting boats on the river today, to steam-powered excursion boats and tug-boats. Mr. O'Connor said there was a lot of traffic on the river and after the Fenelon Channel was dredged, 15 lighthouses were erected in the Scugog. One had been put up before the channel was dredged.

The first lighthouse was maintained by one of the Endicott boys who was about 15 or 16 years of age at the time. Other lighthouses were lit by Sam McGill, Hank Neddo, Bert Ingle, Eddy Broom, Art Bates, Stan Henderson and Tom Heenan.

Some of the other boats which travelled between the lakes were the "Tar Bucket", a steam yacht owned by John and Peter Birgenau, and later purchased by Fred Cornell. A tug called "Stranger" owned by Carnegie's Sawing Mill located at Port Perry used to tow logs on the Scugog. Parkins Sawing Mill had a tug called the "Marie-Louise" which was sold to the Rubirn Sawing Mill and later sold to Baker and Brien who took over the Raburn Mill. The John Carew Lumber Company had two tugs, one a side-wheeler called the "Beaver" of which Thomas Carew was the Captain and the other, the "Alexandra", whose captain was Ned Smith of Bobcaygeon. This was later rebuilt and renamed the "Arthur C". Nick Dobey of Dobey's Shingle Mill had a boat called the "Water Witch", and a boat called "Maple Leaf" was owned by Kennedy and Davis. William Fee was the captain. In later years the Carew Lumber Company purchased a third tug called the "LCM". Tut Moynes was the captain of this vessel.

Some of the excursion boats on the river were "Stormy Lake", "Otonabee", "Greyhound", Manita," "Kawartha", "Dawn", "Kathlene", "Lintonia", "Sunbeam," "Vanderbuilt", "Cora and Mizpah".

A 65-foot boat, "Bessie Butler", was the flag-ship of the Trent Canal. One of the fastest boats on the river was the "Omagah", a side-wheeler owned by the Trent Valley Navigation Company. Its sister-ship was the "Alice-Etby". The "Esturia", 115 feet in length, was surpassed in size only by the "Crandella" a passenger boat under Captain Craudel. The "Beau Bocage" was a 100-foot tug with a heavy displacement and deep draught. One of the most powerful tugs was the "Ajax". The "Bob Hall", named after a government official, and the "Harwood" were both government work boats on the Scugog. Other tugs were the "Undine", "Myrtle", Eva", "Ranger" and "Victoria".

Some of boating failures in the area were the "Columbian", a 125-foot, two-deck excursion boat that couldn't stay upright and listed badly when it was in the water. It burned after its first season. A blacksmith named Cullen built a boat with an egg-shaped bottom. It was a single-deck paddle-wheeler which capsized when the weight shifted, from one side to the other. A person moving in the boat could cause it to tip over.

With a list of large boats like this and the numerous small craft with gasoline engines owned by such people as Fred Oliver, Daniel Sinclair, James Fluery, George Ramsley, Pinky Preston, William Griffis, George Bell, James Metcalfe, Arthur Bell, Jack Burke, Philip Griffis, Bill Cinnamon, George Ford, Charles Deyell, James Grace, Norbert Pogue, William Roonick, Robert Spratt, Jack Grey, James Ashley and T. J. Tillie as well as a long list of others, it is hardly conceivable that there are more boats or more boaters on the Scugog today. Perhaps if the present surveys are correct and have taken this previous era into consideration, the Kawartha Lakes had the bulk of Canadian boating in these by-gone days.

"The Post" is interested to hear from anyone who has pictures and additional information about these and other boats in this area in Lindsay's early days.

The "Lintonia" with a picnic crowd aboard travels on the river near Fenlon Falls around 1920.

Frank O'Connor of Lindsay reminisces about boating in the old days as he sits on the bow of his viking I, built over 75 years ago. —"Post" staff photo.

WOMAN'S VIEW
By Gay Pauley

New York (UPI) — Flo Dell'Agnese, host for 19 years to kings, prime ministers, presidents and others who make history, has his personal memories of Sir Winston Churchill and his widow, Clementine.

"Yes", he recalled, "there was the cigar and the brandy. Mr. Churchill always started his evening meal with a dozen oysters. Usually some red wine with the meal . . .

"He was a man of action on his own, sure of what he was going to say, sure of what he was going to do.

"The other day I was going through some of my papers and there was a picure of Lady Churchill, signed to me 'with great thankfulness . . .'"

The Churchills were just two of the famous that Dell'Agnese has hovered over as manager of the Waldorf-Astoria Towers . . . hovered only to the extent, however, that as he sums up what gives a hotel atmosphere: "Doing everything possible to meet the guests' desires, unobtrusively, but perfectly".

Dell'Agnese and his staff have cared for kings and queens, princes and princesses, rajahas and sultans, presidents, world statesmen, military leaders.

Now Dell'Agnese is moving on to a new assignment as special assistant to the executive vice-president and general manager of the Waldorf Corporation, Frank G. Wangeman. But overseeing the Towers, which Dell'Agnese calls the unofficial palace still will be part of his job.

"Many people have said, why don't I write my memoirs?", said Dell'Agnese in an interview. "I suppose if I wanted to boast, I would write a book about the people I didn't meet".

There was that time the former Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, was a guest and Dell'Agnese, the premier and the premier's party were riding to the top of the Towers in an elevator that got stuck just short of the 30th floor.

The manager pried the doors open, used the small stool inside the lift, and hoisted himself out of the corridor. Then he gave a hand to Khrushchev and the rest of the occupants.

"I wasn't embarassed", said Dell'Agnese today. "I was scared". But the Russian Premier took the incident with good humour although he quipped something about "capitalistic" elevators.

Dell'Agnese thinks perhaps the largest entourage he'd housed was in 1957 when Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip of Britain visited this country. He remembered the Queen travelled with three ladies-in-waiting, two secretaries (one for her, one for Philip) a chief of protocol, an ambassador without portfolio, plus assorted aides.

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor make their home at the Towers when they are in New York. Dell'Agnese said they'd been guests since the late 1930's after their marriage.

A group of visiting Arabians insisted that their servants sleep at the foot of their beds. And when King Saud of Arabia was a visitor, there was some confusion about directions and Dell'Agnese was called by an aide to point out whence lay the east. Then the aide nut down the prayer rug properly facing that directions.

The late Herbert Hoover came to the aid of guests on his floor once when the Towers had a power failure and the lights went out. The former president had cloeted a batch of candles and brought them out to distribute to his neighbors.

Dell'Agnese, an urbane and handsome man who speaks six languages, is a native of Bulgaria. He started with the Waldorf in 1931 as an information clerk.

In the 19 years he's managed the Towers, he decided that: No two VIP's are alike. You have to become expert in sizing them up. They all have amazing durability, keeping a long-into-the-night round of official duties and up the earliest the next monring. And very few of them are demand-

ABILITY IMPAIRED FINED $75, COSTS

Bruce Arnold Commandant, of the Bala Indian Reserve, was fined $75 and costs in Lindsay Police Court Monday or 10 days for driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol. His driver's license was also suspended for six months.

Corporal Gordon Lee of the Lindsay OPP told the court the accused was apprehended after his car was seen travelling west on Highway 7, weaving and nearly hitting another vehicle at the junction of Highway 46. Corporal Lee said the accused was driving about 25 to 30 miles per hour.

W.M.S. and L.A. hold joint meet

Glenarm (PNS) — Newly elected president for 1965 Mrs. Dan Riley presided for the initial meeting of the Women's Mission Society of Glenarm Church held on the kind invitation of Mrs. Joe E. Nesbitt at her home where a splendid and encouraging number of ladies were present for the occasion.

Mrs. Riley gave the call to worship and repeated a suitable quotation "To live for all mankind!" after which all joined in singing several verses of a hymn with Mrs. Nesbitt as accompanist.

Mrs. Bryce Kelly had charge of the Devotions dealing with the Christmas theme taken from St. Matthew and also commented on the reading and later led in prayer.

The retiring treasurer Mrs. Riley gave a report of the 1964 finances as to money sent to the Presbyterial Treasurer and the givings of this society in 1964 and Mrs. Wm. Hoyle (Recording Secretary of the Presbyterial) informed the ladies of a meeting she had attended of the Executive held in Beaverton the day previous and outlined some of the business.

As the Secretary that was chosen at the election of officers felt that she was unable to carry out that duty Mrs. James R. Nesbitt kindly consented to fill that office for the year 1965. Mrs. Mac Murchison and Mrs. Nesbitt were asked to attend the annual meeting in Lindsay and bring back a report to the meeting.

Mrs. Mac Moynes and Mrs. Murchison are to help the Home Helper Secretary plan the World's Day of Prayer held in March and Mrs. Grantin McKay extended an invitation to hold the meeting at her home.

The president informed the ladies of the 25c tax and 25c for the General Fund which a number paid to the new treasurer Mrs. Mac Moynes that same evening.

Mrs. James R. Nesbitt read an article taken from the Glad Tidings "Indian Canadian Education" by Mr. N. W. Rusaw Principal of the Birtle Indian Residential School and the president commented on a letter she had received from a relative who with her husband are also teachers in an Indian school and situated about 190 miles south of the Alaska border. After the singing of a hymn the meeting was turned over to members of the Ladies Aid who also held their meeting the same evening.

The President Mrs. Joe E. Nesbitt thanked the ladies for the splendid attendance to commence the 1965 meetings and as suitable quotation gave a "Recipe for the New Year". The opening hymn was accompanied by Mrs. Mac Murchison at the piano after which the minutes by Mrs. Clifford Douglas of the December meeting held at the home of Mrs. (Rev) McMullen in Lindsay and all answered the Roll Call with a verse of Scripture. The minutes were approved by Mrs. Mac Murchison. Letters of thanks for fruit, plants and remembrances at Christmas were acknowledged from Mrs. Tom Brown, Archie W. MacMillan, Elsie Ferguson, Mrs. Laurenson, Mrs. Victor Webster, the Elford family and verbal thanks by Mrs. Sam Nicholson on behalf of her father Mr. Wm. Black.

The Treasurer's Report was submitted in an itemized report and the new floor covering for the vestibule of the church in 1964 was the main project. This year again, the floor problem in the auditorium of the church and classrooms and each report at the next meeting their various views on what is best to be done. A sing song of a verse or two of several hymns was followed by a reading by Mrs. Will Nesbitt of the late King George VI in his Christmas Empire broadcast.

The singing of a hymn and the repitition of the Mizpah Benediction brought the meeting to a close and lunch was served by the hostess and her helpers and a social time enjoyed.

W. R. Kirk, who holds an M.A. degree in psychology, will address the Lindsay and District Association for Retarded Children Wednesday, at St. Mary's School. Mr. Kirk is Executive Director of the Ontario Association for Retarded Children and heads up staff services to a large association comprising 91 local units. DON'T SKI ALONE

When setting out on a long ski trip or a hike, be prepared for any emergency such as a sprained ankle or a case of getting lost in the bush. On a ski trip, you can usually back track and find your way out, but a sudden fall of snow can obliterate the tracks. In bushland, it isn't so easy to retrace your steps, but a compas will help you. A strong police whistle will help to summon aid. If you are lost for a day or more, the best thing to do is to stay where you can make a fire. A pound of hard boiled candies will help to sustain you for a day or so. It is never wise to ski alone.

WAY OUT PHONE BILL

Houston (UPI) — The space age experiment of 2 Houston boys was a success and next month's phone bill will prove it. David Daldrop, 17, and Rick Mead, 15, launched a plastic laundry bag filled with helium Dec. 20. They put a sheet of paper inside with David's address and phone number on it.

David received a collect call over the weekend from a man in Sumrall, Miss., about 400 miles to the east. He said he found the bag in a pine tree near the house.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

DON'T BE FOOLHARDY; SEE DOCTOR IN TIME

If it is true, as the saying goes "that a doctor who treats himself has a fool for a patient", how would you describe the untrained layman who treats himself?

I suppose it's cricket to pin a label on your own colleagues, but unfair to go on a name-calling binge against innocent laymen. Let's just say that if you treat yourself you are foolhardy. Potentially suicidal might be a better term.

Perhaps you've heard it before or seen it here, so I think you'll agree that the layman who treats himself is meddling dangerously with an intricate machine. Once its engine stops for a while, it's beyond repair.

All this is a preamble to some do's and don'ts.

If you have a cough for a few days, I don't suggest that you go running to your doctor. If you want to treat it, fill up with a mixture of honey or some other simple concoction suggested by grandma or a neighbor, no harm done.

However, if the days run into weeks, and then into months and you are still pouring home remedies down your throat, such self-treatment is the most reckless form of gambling. When time is a wastin', serious disease flourish. That simple cough might very well be due to one of a number of serious illnesses: cancer of the lungs, heart disease, lung abcess, emphysema tuberculosis, chronic bronchitis, asthma, etc. If you come late with any of these ailments, it is often too late.

You have a pain in your stomach. It hangs on for a few hours. You've had nothing like it before. Your choice: to treat yourself or call in your doctor. If the pain is due to an inflamed appendix, a shot of castor oil is often all that is necessary to produce a catastrophe. It may rupture the appendix, spill the infected material into the peritoneal cavity (inside the abdomen) and within hours you will be fighting for your life. Early diagnosis and operation would have been a simple procedure.

TIME IMPORTANT

If the pain is due to gall bladder colic, the immediate danger is not as great as that in acute appendicitis. If it is due to rupture of an ulcer, every hour saved often means the difference between life and death.

I could go down the list of both simple and complex enemies that bedevil us at times. Even the simple scratch which you smear with a disinfectant is no immediate reason for medical consultation. That would be a silly thing to do. Doctors' offices would be cluttered with needless problems. But if the scratch becomes infected, begins to throb and act up, self-treatment should come to an end.

What I have been laboring is that there's a time for self-treatment and a time to call your physician. There is a tendency for too many to put off medical advice and treatment. It is this loss of invaluable time which spells the difference between recovery and failure.

Remember that time is on the side of the one who punches the time clock first. If you get to the doctor early, you have the jump on disease in the race for health. If you procrastinate, disease spurts out in the lead, and then it's often nip and tuck as to whether you can finish the race at all.

Don't be a fool—pardon, I mean foolhardy.

HANDLE TROPHY-MOUNTED HEADS WITH CARE

ALWAYS USE CARE IN HANDLING MOUNTED TROPHY HEADS. NEVER GRASP THE EARS OR AROUND THE NECK TO LIFT WHEN REMOVING FROM THE WALL FOR CLEANING.

THE CORRECT WAY TO HANDLE A SMALL HEAD IS TO SUPPORT IT WITH ONE HAND UNDER THE BASE OF THE NECK AND BY GRASPING ONE HORN WITH THE OTHER HAND.

LARGE HORNS REQUIRE TWO PERSONS TO LIFT THEM. ONE GRASPS HORNS AND UNDER NECK'S BASE AS HELPER HOLDS OTHER HORN AND NOSE TO EXISTS.

Fenelon Falls man fined $75

Albert Pearce, 33 of Queen Street, Fenelon Falls, was fined $75 and costs in Lindsay Police Court Monday or 15 days and his driver's license was suspended for six months after he was convicted of having the care and control of an automobile while his ability was impaired by the use of alcohol. The charge was reduced from one of having the care and control while intoxicated, when the Crown accepted a plea of guilty to the impaired charge.

Coboconk OPP Constable Jean DesLauriers told the court he apprehended Pearce when he found him and some passengers in his vehicle which was parked at a private dock on Balsam Lake at 3:30 a.m. on January 13.

Evidence indicated that the accused had been drinking.

Old locomotive Winston to draw funeral train

London (UPI) — An old locomotive named "Winston Churchill" will draw the train bearing the body of Sir Winston Churchill from London for burial at the village of Bladon, Saturday officials announced today.

The locomotive, built at Brighton in 1946, is one of 40 named after personalities, Royal Air Force stations and fighter squadrons associated with the "Famous Five".

Officials said Alfred Hurley, 61, a veteran of 47 years work on railroads, has been picked to drive the locomotive hauling the car carrying the coffin and four pullman coaches for mourners.

"I felt it was a very great honor", Hurley said. "I think Sir Winston was the right man in the right place at the right time. This is my way of paying my last respect".

ON THE MAIN STREET

"That great statesman Winston Churchill was just two months older than me. I never had the pleasure of being near him at any time, just seeing him on television, but I admired him. In fact, I have an admiration for all great men."

The speaker was Ernest (Ernie) Harrison, 26 Mill Street who celebrates his ninetieth birthday on Monday.

Mr. Harrison has a remarkably retentive memory. "I met Sir John A. Macdonald, the founder of Confederation", said Mr. Harrison, "He was Canada's greatest Confederation statesman. I met Sir Sam Hughes, another great statesman many times, and his great contribution in recruiting and taking the first Canadian Expeditionary force overseas in the first World War was outstanding in history".

"I have also talked and shaken the hand of another great statesman, John Diefenbaker", said Mr. Harrison, "I met him in his home town of Prince Albert and I met him in Lindsay not very long ago. "Diefenbaker is a born leader and I will not be surprised if he again leads Canada as Prime Minister".

"I was a personal friend of the Hon. Henry Glendenning, who lived at Manila and he was an able man. There is another fine gentleman I would like to mention", he said "he is the late John Short. He was not a political statesman but when it came to being Chief of Police in Lindsay he was in a class by himself. He never ran away from a battle and he had many when he was Lindsay's one man police force. He was my brother-in-law", added Mr. Harrison.

At the ripe age of 90, Ernie Harrison looks back with fond recollections to the days he spent on a farm in Scott Township near Uxbridge, to the days when he farmed on a choice bit of property between Woodville and Cannington, to the time when he was a tiller of the soil at Manilla, and then near Sonya, and finally back to Manilla again. He is a gentleman with the ring of youth in his voice and he "gets around". Locally he has taken a keen interest in municipal matters and related with a chuckle of the day he had a run-in with Mayor Holtom. "I came out best", he added.

It appears Mr. Harrison was lodging in an apartment on Lindsay Street South when the citizens found it impossible to use the sidewalk because the snow plow shoved the snow over the curb and covered the walk. "People were mad and I called up the mayor to see if pedestrians did not have as much right to have walks plowed out as motorists had to have the road plowed. The mayor called back but I was out but he told my landlady that I had no right to kick as I was not a taxpayer. Later on I attended a council meeting and I was invited to the front to address the council. I informed the mayor that I was a taxpayer. In this way — I was a tenant and thus helping the landlady to pay her taxes. The council admitted the fact. I watch council procedures by reading "The Post", he said.

Mr. Harrison in the days gone by took pride in showing agricultural horses at the Lindsay Fair. He also prided himself in having one of the best herds of cattle in the Manilla area. He had very little time to curl but played a bit of baseball back in the days when Manilla had a fine ball team.

"What about the Church?", he was asked. "Well, in the old days I was a Methodist, then when we moved back near Sonya, we went to the nearest church and it was a Presbyterian, and I became one, joined the Church and served on the official board. Then when I moved back to Manilla I became a member of the United Church and when I moved to Lindsay I walked to the Queen Street Church. This was quite a way off so I then became a member of the William Street Baptist Church and I like it. Anyway", he observed, "all these church people are either going down or up when they pass on, so there is not a great deal of difference, but I do think there are too many denominations, too many different sects".

MUCH ENJOYMENT

Mr. Harrison gets much enjoyment listening to radio and watching television. "I can find enjoyment in any kind of television programme", he said. "I am a Toronto Maple Leaf supporter when it comes to hockey".

Mr. Harrison said he enjoyed three meals a day and sometimes a snack before going to bed "and I do not mind telling you I enjoy a little beverage now and then, it helps keep me young", he said.

Life in Lindsay is a pleasure according to this gentleman who is very much hale and hearty at ninety.

Dunsford UCW install officers

Dunsford (PNS) — The January meeting of the Dunsford U.C.W. was held at the home of Mrs. Eyra Thurston with 23 members and visitors present.

The Worship Service was in charge of Unit 2 with Mrs. Atwell leading the theme which was on Cowardice. After a reading and prayer read by Mrs. Atwell a hymn was sung. Scripture readings were taken from Isaiah and Ephesians and were given by Mrs. Stanley Brien and Mrs. Delmer Thurston. Mrs. Atwell read the meditation from the worship service and followed with prayer. Worship Service closed by the singing of a hymn.

Mrs. Delmer Thurston gave the secretary's report and was approved as read. Mrs. Atwell gave the treasurer's report in full for the year 1964. Community Friendship secretary Mrs. Frank Thurston reported received four thank-you cards from the sick who had been remembered at Christmas.

Mrs. Ezra Thurston leader of Supply gave report on past years work done.

At this time Rev. Mr. Kippen took over for the installation of officers for 1965. Mrs. Delmer Thurston read the list of officers and after the installation Mrs. Barclay thanked the ladies for their support while she was president. Mrs. Bingleham new president took the chair. After a few remarks and well wishes the business continued. Progressive Euchre

Kinmount (PNS) The Guild of St. James Anglican Church held a Progressive Euchre Party in the township hall with a good attendance when the score cards were tallied. Mrs. Walter Dufty held the women's high score with 84 points. David McNamara, the men's high with 78 points and the consolations awards went to Mrs. Verna Crego with 45 points and Moss Schell with 51 points. Mrs. T. Simmons donated the prizes and was hostess for the evening.

Africa "brought to life" by missionary

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — Mr. Roy Birons who serves with the Sudan Interior Mission at Gusau in Northern Nigeria, and now with his wife, is on furlough in Canada brought an inspiring challenging message in Fenelon Falls Fellowship Baptist Church on Wednesday evening.

Rev. G. A. Bell led in a short devotional service of hymns, with Mrs. Newell Watson at the piano, and prayer by several members of the congregation, before he introduced the special speaker. Mr. Hirons spoke of the ministry of literature, and the impact Christian literature can and does make on the Africans. Several small magazines, Africa Today, African Challenge and others were distributed at the close of the meeting.

As the text of his message, Mr. Hirons chose a portion of verse 21 from St. John's Gospel chapter 12. "Sir, we would see Jesus," He told of many personal experiences, most of which were centered in the building of a school, in which the natives shared. The influence of a young student, Mr. Pollard and of a native school teacher was also pointed out, as was the power of prayer.

Following his message, Mr. Hirons showed coloured slides of Gusau, which pictured the school he had referred to, and also many other interesting features of Nigeria including natives assisting in the construction of the school.

During a question period, Mr. Hirons said that English is the language generally used in Nigeria. However he thought missionaries should learn the African language, which would help to acquaint them witf many tribal customs.

You're probably wondering why you received your income tax form in the mail at home rather than from your employer?

We think it's more efficient. Your employer doesn't have the responsibility of handing out forms. There is less chance of you losing them. And everybody gets his income tax form at the same time. It is a Personalized tax form. It is mailed to you. Completed by you. Returned by you. This year, because your income tax form bears your identification code number, it can be processed faster and more economically, and, in the long run, make your tax dollars go further. Since we will be handling 6,500,000 tax returns this year (and more next year) you can see the benefits of switching to this system. You can help us make it even more efficient by filing your income tax form early. Please.

Driver given benefit of doubt in impaired driving charge

"I believe Mr. Tully and I am going to give him the benefit of the doubt on the impaired driving charge — charge dismissed" said Magistrate Ian Munro in Lindsay Police Court Monday noon. George Andrew Tully was charged with driving while impaired, having liquor in a place other than his residence, and failing to stop at a stop street by Lindsay police following an investigation at 12:40 a.m. December 27th., 1964.

Lindsay Police Constable John Henley told the court of observing a vehicle which failed to stop on Peel street at Victoria Avenue. He said the vehicle failed to stop at the Sussex street intersection, turning left toward Kent street, followed by the police cruiser. He told the court that the vehicle proceeded through the stop intersection at Kent street at 25 miles per hour, increased its speed to about 40 miles per hour on Sussex street before turning sharply left onto Glenelg street.

Constable Henley told of apprehending the accused when he stopped in his driveway, and said the accused's breath smelled of alcohol. On cross-examination by defense counsel George Inrig, the Constable said no further tests were made. He said the accused did not stagger but moved "fidgety". He didn't seem to realize the seriousness of failing to stop at the stop signs, continued the Constable.

When the constable in answer to question admitted that the police did not stop at the intersections, defense counsel Inrig queried "I wonder if the police car can go around breaking traffic laws to apprehend offenders?" and he reminded the Constable that the accused never was stopped.

The accused, George Andrew Tully told the court that he had nothing to drink that evening at the house. He said he went down to the Legion with his son and daughter in law later in the evening and had one drink each. When asked about the bottle of liquor which the police found on the front seat of the vehicle, the accused said he had bought it and was saving it for New Years. He indicated he left it in the car so as not to be a temptation in the house.

Frederick Tully of 216 Chestnut street, Whitby, son of the accused said he had spent the evening with his father playing cards, and confirmed his father's story regarding having one drink at the Legion. He said he had preceeded his father from the Legion, going west on Peel street to Sussex, where the engine of his car stalled a couple of car lengths from the corner. He said his father passed him, slowed at the corner of Sussex before turning south on Sussex. He said he noticed the police car pursuing his father, and saw the brake lights of both vehicles come on as they approached Kent street, but his father did not come to a dead ston. Mrs. Sheila Pauline Tully, wife of Frederick Tully, substantiated the evidence given by her husband, except that she did not notice the brake lights at Kent street.

In suming up the defence counsel George Inrig suggested that the only evidence of impairment was in proceeding through two stop signs, and in both cases he slowed down to see that there was no oncoming traffic. He questioned the only test of impairment being the breath odour, and submitted that there was a reasonable doubt. Mr. Inrig also idicated that recent amendments to liquir laws did permit carrying unopened packages of liquor in a car in other than a direct route to the purchasers home.

In dealing with the charge of failing to stop, the magistrate said being impaired did not depend on the amount consumed, and he said he was quite satisfied the officers were efficient in their decision.

On the charge of failing to stop at stop signs to which the accused had pleaded guilty, Magistrate Munro levied a fine of $15.00 and costs. On the charge of having liquor in the place other than his residence, a fine of $10.00 and $11.00 costs was imposed. The magistrate told the accused the front seat of his car was no place to carry liquor, and he was surprised that a transport driver would ignore stop signs.

Chum Gillespie, John McCrae, Jim Brown and others have completed plans for the biggest bonspiel of the season next Saturday, the Scugog River Special. Sixty-four rinks have signed on the dotted line and the Committee has a waiting list to fill up any late defaulters. Six sheets of ice in Lindsay will be supplemented by three sheets at Oakwood and four ices in Fenelon Falls and many expected participants are looking forward to the bus trips to the out-of-town rinks. An excellent programme has been lined up and hospitality will be a big key word in the big 'spiel. Games start at eight-thirty a.m.

The Lindsay rink from the Lions club journeyed to Bancroft last weekend and by dint of good curling on good ice returned with third prize. The bonspiel included rinks from as far east as Belleville and west to Toronto. The event was played on a three draw scale in order to accommodate all entries on the four sheets of ice. The Lindsay rink included Bill Moore (skip), Morris Tamblyn, Howard Black and L. Carveth.

Herb Hardy will lead a Kiwanis rink at the Oshawa Inter-club bonspiel on February 10th. President Les Porter of the Lindsay Kiwanis Club has plans to attend a Golden Anniversary bonspiel to be held at Hamilton in March.

District clubs wishing to take part in the British Consul event will meet on Lindsay ice Wednesday of this week. Two Lindsay rinks played a few days ago to decide on a local representative when John McCrae team defeated Murray Davis' strong foursome on the last end. The winning rink: John McCrae (skip), Jim Brown, Paul Ashmore and Chum Gillespie.

In a 24-rink bonspiel for the Massey-Ferguson sweaters and crests a rink from Oakwood skipped by Elmer emerged on top. In the third game, Beggs defeated Clarkson of Woodville by smart curling in the final end. The Beggs rink now takes a trek to Brampton in the next big and important round in the Provincial-Dominion battle of granites.

The final game score was Beggs 11 and Clarkson 10. R. Junkin of Bobcaygeon finished in second place and D. Graham and his foursome landed in third place.

The Massey-Ferguson bonspiel is one of the largest in the Dominion. The winner in last Saturday's preliminary moves on to Brampton where all the Provincial district winners will meet to decide a champion rink to enter the Dominion tournament to be held in Toronto.

Last winter a rink skipped by Bredhour of Sunderland tucked away a number of wins, but failed to make the final grade.

Bill Roblin, well known and capable representative of Massey-Ferguson was on hand during the day and officiated in the distribution of prizes. President Lou Walker of the Lindsay Club, ably assisted in handling the draw.

WI to hold card party

Minden (PNS) — The Janitry meeting of the Minden W.I. was at the home of Mrs. Harry Welch with Mrs. McArthur presiding. After the usual opening, 16 members and 1 guest responded to the roll call. The minutes and Treasurers reports were given. Thank you notes and a letter from Mae Burriss regarding an article in the Readers Digest were heard. Mrs. Stevens gave her visiting report and collection was taken. Visitors to the local hospital before the next meeting are to be Mrs. Graham and Mrs Sears. The ladies agreed to add their support to the District Dinner if required. Plans were made for a card party at the Orange Hall on February 2 with lunch offered by members. The Feb. meeting will be an evening one at the home of Mrs. Wm. Moore on the regular date.

Mrs. Walker at this time gave a very full coverage of Current Events for 1964 and this will be placed in the Twadesuir History Book. The branch plans to make a quilt with Mrs. Fred Wright donating plates and the committee is Mrs. Pogue and Mrs. Graham. Expenses for a car to District meeting are to be paid to Mrs. Harry Welch.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem and W.I. Grace. The cookies brought for roll call were sold and the hostess and her committee served a lunch and all enjoyed a social half hour.

Speaker addresses Reading Council

The Lindsay and District Reading Council held the second meeting of the year on Wednesday, January 20, 1965, in Central Senior Public School.

The President, Miss Eileen Lee, welcomed all present and especially those who had driven many miles to attend.

Following the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting the, Treasurer's report was read by Miss Alzina Peel.

Mr. Grant MacArthur of the Central Senior School staff, introduced the speaker, Mrs. Glenna Davis, B.A., who is at present the Chairman of English at St. Andrew's Junior High School in North York.

Mrs. Davis spoke on "Individualized Reading: Motives and Methods" which could be adapted to all grades as low as grade three.

Teachers were told that they must, somehow give each child, especially the teenager, a vision of himself, to enable him to live a more purposeful happy life in the materialistic world.

The speaker was thanked by Mr. G. B. Hanthorn.

The meeting was brought to a close with well chosen words by Miss Lee, and a social half hour followed.

Dr. Ian D.McQueen, DPH — Dr. Ian Glenroy, DVPH

ONTARIO TO HEAR FIRST FULL ACCOUNT ABERDEEN TYPHOID OUTBREAK. SALMONELLA INFECTIONS (TYPHOID IS ONE) TO be discussed at Ontario Veterinary Association Annual Meeting January 29/65. Dr. MacQueen, M.O.H. of Aberdeen, Scotland, scene of 1964 typhoid episode is to be lead speaker. Dr. Glenroy, first Public Health President in OVA's 91 year history states: "Salmonella infections range from clear cut human disease e.g. typhoid and food poisoning to purely veterinary conditions e.g. pullorum disease of fowl. Between these lies a jungle of conditions common to man and animal and shuttling between them." Many M.D.'s and D.V.M.'s will meet in Toronto for a major interprofessional discussion on this critical subject.

Officers returned at W.A. meeting

Cameron (PNS) — The regular monthly meeting of St. George's Anglican W.A., Cameron, met at the home of Mrs. Roy Banbury on Wednesday evening with a good attendance.

Mrs. George McNabb as president opened the meeting with prayer. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Arnold Johnston, acting secretary, in the absence of Mrs. Alvin Coppins.

Mrs. Jack McNabb read the scriniture lesson, and each member answered the Roll Call with a favorite verse of scripture.

There was no election of officers as each one was returned by acclamation for another year. Mrs. Elmer Beggs the treasurer gave the financial report with approximately $265.00 on hand.

The good cheer convenor Mrs. Melrose Beggs reported on cards and treats sent to the sick during the past year.

A discussion on the bale to be spent in April followed and Mrs. Royce Naylor was asked to purchase remaining articles for same.

A number of interesting articles were read from the Living Message and Rev. James Harrison rector concluded the meeting with a very inspiring talk on Church Unity.

Mrs. Jack McNabb offered her home for the February meeting.

The date for the annual vestry meeting, January 29, was announced and is to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Beggs. The hostess served a lunch.

Gordon B. Hopkins

Gordon B. Hopkins, aged 79 years, formerly of Kinmount, Ontario, died suddenly at the home of his daughter, 20 Courton Drive, Scarborough, December 17th, 1964.

Born and educated in Kinmount and at Shaw Business Schools in Toronto, he joined his father's General Store in Kinmount where he remained until 1933, when he became independent under the name "Hopkins Variety Store".

Following his retirement in 1958 and the loss of his beloved wife, the former Anna Pearl Hopwood, in 1959, he had enjoyed several months each winter in Victoria, B.C.

The funeral service was conducted from the Jerrett "Scarborough" Chapel to St. James Anglican Church, Kinmount where he had been a life member. Rev. E. Mason officiated. Interment was in Kinmount Cemetery.

Pallbearers were William Scott, Leon Wright, Norman Gilmore, Jack Thompson, Gerald Austin and Bruce Dettman.

Mr. Hopkins had been a member of the Somerville Masonic Lodge.

He is survived by his daughter Helen (Mrs. Carson Howe) two grandchildren, David and Cynthia, one sister Bertha (Mrs. A. Nix) of Victoria, B. C. and one brother Percy of Toronto.

Bill 131, boon to Retarded Children Association speaker tells meeting

"This is a dream come true", exclaimed W. R. Kirk, executive director of the Ontario Association for Retarded Children, and guest speaker at the fifth annual meeting of the Lindsay and District Association for Retarded Children on Wednesday evening, when he spoke on the Retarded Children's Bill 131.

Mr. Kirk outlined the history of the Retarded Children's programme to its greatest achievement this past year with the passing of Bill 131. The bill puts education for retarded children on the same level as public and separate schools in regard to grants, said Mr. Kirk.

As a result of Bill 131, Education Authorities for Retarded Children are set up consisting of two members from the local authority, and four appointed by the local municipal council, and through the Authority the Provincial Government makes available a grant of 80% of capital expenditures and the local municipality supplied the remaining 20%. The appointment of an Education Authority for Retarded Children is called for under Bill 131 and the school is operated under the guidance of the Department of Education, Mr. Kirk explained.

Mr. Kirk said "We so often fail to realize that retarded persons are more like ourselves, than different. Actually", he said, "the only difference is that one section of the nervous system fails to function. There is no damage to the feeling system, and they have every right to make their own contribution".

"We are the ones who have labeled these ones retarded, we value a beautiful and healthy image, and because they cannot achieve this they are called retarded. In South America", he continued, "they are called the innocent ones and are woven into the warp and woof of the tribal culture. In our society there has been no room for them".

"Except for the Grace of God they might be any one of us" he reflected. "Originally they were treated with fear, punishment, and neglect, then pity".

The speaker expressed the hope that we are coming out of that stage. "Can we look upon the retarded child with something less than pity?" he asked. Can we find he or she capable and train them for that job?"

In closing Mr. Kirk urged all to work with the local provincial, and National Associations for the betterment of the Retarded Children's programme. He also issued a plea on behalf of the local Association and Education Authority for people to contact the members of the members to welcome interested people and arrange contacts.

JAIL TERM AND $110 IN FINES FOR FENELON FALLS DRIVER

A Fenelon Fall man, William Hunt, was sentenced to seven days in jail in Lindsay Police Court Thursday for drunk driving, fined $100 and costs or 15 days consecutively for driving while his license was under suspension, and $10 and costs or five days consecutively for having liquor in a place other than his residence.

Fenelon Falls Police Chief William Weaver told the court he had pulled into a Fenelon Falls service station when he heard a squealing noise coming from an approaching car about 9 p.m. on Christmas Eve. He said he waved the car down with his flashlight and the car slowed and pulled into the service station in a normal manner on the signalled instructions of the police officer.

He said the car appeared to have been in an accident; the bumper and hood were bent and the radiator was pushed against the fan. Chief Weaver indicated this was the cause of the noise he heard.

Chief Weaver said the accused smelled strongly of alcohol and was very unsteady on his feet. On the floor of the car Chief Weaver said he found two bottles of liquor.

The Chief said he told the accused he didn't want to lock him up since it was Christmas time but advised the accused he would be charged with drunk driving and took the man home.

Chief Weaver testified that he went back and tried to start the car to take it to Mr. Hunt's property but when it began making the noise again, he left it and went for a tow truck. He said when he returned a half-hour later, the accused ro Lindsay. He said the accused became very belligerent enroute and jammed Chief Weaver against the door case jarring the car to go momentarily out of control and then Chief Weaver said, "the accused said if he got me in the bush he'd shoot me." The officer said he repeated that statement at the jail. The accused could not pro-luce a driver's license, the chief said.

In cross-examination Defense Counsel M. R. Cunning ham referred to the statement and Chief Weaver said, "I'm quite sure he knew what he was saying."

Bruce Wood of Fenelon Falls who was with Chief Weaver on Christmas Eve said "Anybody in his right frame of mind wouldn't have driven a car 10 feet in the condition the accused's vehicle was in. Mr. Wood testified that when the police officer and the accused were going up the steps to the jail, the accused became very "chummy" and remarked, "You're not a bad head Bill" He said when they got to the door of the jail, the defendant tried to run away and was apprehended on the lawn.

General Weygand dies, aged 98

Paris (UPI) — Gen. Maxime Weygand, who commanded the French armies that collapsed before the Nazi blitzkrieg in 1940, died today. He was 98.

Weygand broke his leg in a fall at his home here about four weeks ago, on the eve of his 98th birthday.

He was not taken to a hospital, but was placed under medical supervision at his home.

Ian Milner re-elected OARC president

The fifth Annual Meeting of the Lindsay and District Association for Retarded Children was held Wednesday night at St. Mary's Separate School. Close to one hundred members and friends packed the auditorium to hear the guest speaker W. R. Kirk, Executive Director of the Ontario Association for Retarded Children, and to observe the installation of officers of the local Association for 1965.

Mr. W. R. Kirk conducted the installation ceremony following the adoption of the report of nominating committee as presented by Fergus O'Neill. Officers installed for the ensuing year were as follows: President - Ian Milner; 1st Vice President - Earl Woods; 2nd Vice President - Fergus O'Neill Recording Secretary - Joan Powell; Corresponding secretary - Doreen Payne; Treasurer - Albert Wheldon; Public Relations and Bulletin editor - Bill Cummins; Directors - Dr. R. M. Parker, Rev. Father Hart, Mrs. Beth Douglas-Hickey, Mrs. Josephine Ryckman, Miss Jean Wright, Mrs. Kay Murphy, Mrs. Alexandrine Lacey, and Mrs. Maxine Lindsay.

PRIME MINISTER PEARSON "UNFAIR" TO DUPUIS, CHARGES DIEFENBAKER

Ottawa (UPI) — Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker today charged that Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson was being "unfair" to former minister without portfolio Yvon Dupuis for refusing to give reasons for Dupuis' dismissal.

"The failure of the Prime Minister to unequivocally state the reasons for Mr. Dupuis' removal from the cabinet is a gross contradiction of our political heritage", the opposition leader declared.

"There is no excuse for this silence", he added.

Diefenbaker told a news conference that Pearson's refusal to give the reasons for Dupuis' firing from the cabinet was unfair to the minister and left him open to being "pilloried".

He said Dupuis had every reason to feel that he had been unfairly treated.

Asked if he was considering moving a motion of censure when parliament reconvenes on Monday, Diefenbaker said it was "worthy of consideration". Asked if it would be a motion against Dupuis, Diefenbaker declared he would never move a motion of censure against a member on the "unsupported word" of the Prime Minister.

Diefenbaker refused to elaborate on suggestions he made in a speech in Saskatoon earlier this week that the Liberals used money from the United States to finance their last two National election campaigns.

"I'll deal with that in due course". Diefenbaker told newsmen. "I'm waiting for Liberal reaction". When told a Liberal party spokesman had termed his suggestion "preposterous" that it was "not the first time they've forgotten something".

Diefenbaker also announced that the caucus of the party would be called for Ottawa for a two-day meeting Feb. 11-12 "so we can determine our policy matters and prepare strategy for the next session". He stressed that all members of parliament in the Conservative party would be invited to the meeting, including Quebec rebel and deputy leader Leon Balcer.

One of his prime targets in the resumed session, Diefenbaker declared, would be the Immigration Department. He charged that "serious things" had been going on.

He cited the cases involving Mafia Lieutenant Joseph Cinnamon, the Rose Mountain, and International mystery-man Harry Stonehill who were permitted to enter Canada despite long records of questionable activities.

Diefenbaker refused to declare whether or not he and his Conservative followers would attend the National Flag Introduction ceremonies in Ottawa slated for Feb. 15, the day before parliament reconvenes.

Attendance at the flag-raising ceremony is a matter for consideration", Diefenbaker declared, indicating the subject would be raised at the caucus meeting the week prior to the ceremony.

The colourful Tory leader refused to discuss the leadership issue that was focused on the party after Balcer, backed by his nine Quebec colleagues, called for a National leadership convention. The Quebec demands are currently being considered by the National executive of the party via a poll by National President Dalton Camp.

Mint Matters

Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker has promised to bring before the House of Commons the question of the sale of 1965 coins from the mint to U.S. collectors.

Many thousands of Canadian numismatists were disappointed when their orders to the Canadian mint in Ottawa were returned because the Mint was unable to keep up with the demand. Unfortunately thousands of sets of these coins were supplied to U.S.A. coin dealers who are making a quick profit with their speculation.

Thousands of people in Canada collect coins and stamps and it behooves the Canadian mint to make more suitable arrangements for the sale of these coins. Initial sales of the coins should be restricted to Canadians, and bulk orders from dealers should only be supplied if the Mint can keep production up with the demand.

The Canadian mint and the post office department also might each consider a commemorative issue for Sir Winston Churchill. Already the U. S. A. has announced a memorial stamp for the great world statesman.

We note the post office department have already announced the issuing of a commemorative postage stamp picturing the new Canadian flag for June 30th. It would also be a nice gesture if the post office also issued a Canadian ensign stamp to give a decent farewell to a flag that has served us faithfully, and was in use in both Upper and Lower Canada as well as the Maritime Provinces when the Dominion came into being in 1867.

At home

One of the highlights of the winter social season in Lindsay took place last night when the Nurses' Alumnae of the Ross Memorial Hospital held their annual "At Home" at the Hotel Benson. Guests were present from many outside points as well as Lindsay, and were unanimous in voting the event one of the most successful of the current season.

The music supplied by Johnny Daymes and his orchestra was well received by the large number of dancers. The guests were received by Miss Ethel Reid, superintendent of the Ross Memorial Hospital and Honorary President of the Nurses' Alumnae, and Miss Flora Moffatt of Fenelon Falls, president of the association. Following a dainty buffet lunch, dancing was resumed for some time.

Among those present from outside points were Dr. and Mrs. Charles Galloway of Woodville, Dr. and Mrs. William Taylor of Cannington, Dr. and Mrs. Clevor McLennan of Sunderland, Dr. G. C. Johnstone of Fenelon Falls and Miss Esther Gardiner of Toronto, Mr. Wallace McAlpine, Toronto, Mr. Jack Finley of Toronto and Dr. Grieve of Whitby.

Sixteen join CASF

Sixteen young men, who before their enlistment were residents of Mariposa Township were honoured on Friday by their native community, which turned out en masse at Oakwood.

Those presented with watches were Gunners J. N. Mason, Ross Howell, Neil James, B. J. Wilson, Mervin Short, John Wood, W. E. Bourne, Percy Cockerill, Stanley Newell, Roy MacLean, Private Hugh McNeill; five boys were unable to be present and include A. N. County appointments

Reeve Edwin Rogers presided over the appointments to Office Committee which met at 4 o'clock on Wednesday.

Mr. Tiers was elected without opposition as chairman of the Board of Management of the House of Refuge. Messrs. Fee, Rogers, Ferguson and Peel ran for member, the first man winning the majority of votes.

Mr. Alex Jackson was readily acclaimed LCI trustee and Mr. Ivory of Omemee, will be trustee for the high school of that town.

For auditor of Administration of Justice accounts, Mr. Peel was elected and also Mr. Geo. W. Taylor.

The county trustees for the Victoria County Patriotic Fund will be the Warden, Reeves Hawkins, Hetherington and Robertson and the County Clerk.

Equipment for constables

At the session of the County Council on Wednesday, Reeve Hetherington pointed out that there had been some dissatisfaction among county constables because they were inadequately supplied with knowledge of the law, and the proper appliances. What was the remedy?

Mr. McNeillie—A dozen pairs of hand cuffs and leg irons had been supplied to these constables, and may not properly supplied should see Mr. Thornbury, High County Constable, and they will be readily equipped.

Germans lose 20,000

In official announcement today the French office claimed German losses in the last three days of fighting in France and Flanders total at least 20,000.

An interesting way of seeing some of the sights of Amsterdam is to take a cruise on the "Tjerk Hiddes", one of the pleasure-boats that carry passengers on cruises along Amsterdam's canals. —BEA photo.

It is your money they are spending

Senator Crerar's recent statement in a letter-to-the-editor that "one can read the Commons' Hansard day after day and rarely, if ever, is a voice raised to point out the dangers of overspending" should make every taxpayer sit up and take notice. For when he talks about over-spending, he is referring to the taxpayers' money.

Relate the Senator's statement to what happened in the House of Commons last November 27 and the implications are, to say the least disturbing. On that date, in the words of the Montreal Gazette editorial, "The government's spending estimates of 11 departments were whisked through at the rate of $50,000,000 a minute."

The editorial continued: "This sort of thing would be remarkable if it happened even once. But it happens not infrequently. And it has been happening for a long time. Back in 1948, for instance, $179,000,000 was pressed through within the space of 15 minutes. This was at the rate of $12,000,000 a minute."

It will be recalled that the government and the opposition had agreed to put a time limit of the end of November on approval of the estimates — all this 10 months after the session began. To meet the deadline, appropriations were rushed through at breakneck speed. As taxpayers, are we satisfied with this kind of treatment of our money?

We can take some comfort from the fact that the Senate is not happy with this state of affairs. The Senate's concern is reflected in the report made by its Standing Committee on Finance following a six-month study of government spending estimates. The report, tabled in the Senate justj a few days before the estimates were approved, complained that as of November 24, the 1964 estimates had not been approved by parliament, yet most of the money provided in the estimates had already been spent.

"It is far from satisfactory to have so long a period of time elapse before the final vote of supply by Parliament and to have so much money spent before the Estimates have been approved," said the Senate report. "Having in mind the increasing multiplicity and magnitude of Parliamentary duties, it would be desirable to bring about an earlier disposition of the estimates and the consequent bill or bills of supply. In this connection it is noteworthy that in the United Kingdom 26 days before August 5 of each session are given for the consideration of the annual estimates on supply."

The Senate report also expressed general agreement with the Glassco Commission's conclusions that present procedures in developing and reviewing the estimates are wasteful and inefficient. It said, too, that annual preparation should be made of long-term spending programs for the next five years. A lesson could be taken from business, said the report, where budgets must be projected for five years or more to meet changing conditions, obsolescence, new products and other potential developments.

Concerned taxpayers might tell their elected representatives that they think well of the Senate report.

Promising Year Ahead

In a year-end message President A. J. Little of The Canadian Chamber of Commerce says there is every reason to believe that Canada is headed into another year of healthy economic performance.

The growth of the Canadian economy in 1964 proceeded on a broad front. There was a dynamic performance by exports, and particularly encouraging has been a rise in sales of fully-manufactured goods. Capital investment also proved a strong stimulus to the economy in 1964. Canadian prices have remained relatively stable when compared with previous post war experience.

In conclusion, Mr. Little said: "Our local, provincial and national goals should be those associated with progress and growth. One of our greatest responsibilities is to weld ourselves into a united nation. Our potential for growth is so promising—we have the essential human and natural resources —that we cannot afford any moves toward fragmentation.

"Canada's centennial year in 1967 will be a more fitting celebration if our standard of living is at its highest peak, based upon policies that ensure a stable and mature future."

Genius

Genius is supposed to be the power of producing excellencies which are out of the reach of the rules of art; a power which no precepts can teach, and which no industry can acquire.

STRAWBERRY CREAM PIE

A rich, creamy filling in a tender flaky pie crust sounds inviting after a long day of work or play. Watch your family's eyes light up when you serve strawberry cream pie made with frozen Ontario strawberries. Here's a tip from nutritionists at Macdonald Institute, Guelph. Cream pies are excellent desserts for including more milk in your meals.

STRAWBERRY CREAM PIE

2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons cornstarch ½ cup sugar, 8-inch baked pie shell, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 or 3 medium egg yolks, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup drained Ontario strawberries.

Heat 1½ cups milk in top of double boiler until bubbles just begin to form around outer edge.

Mix flour, cornstarch, sugar and salt; add ½ cup milk and stir until smooth. Pour into hot milk, stirring constantly. Cook until thick, continuing to stir. Cover and cook 10 minutes more.

Beat egg yolks and add a small quantity of hot mixture. Blend well and pour into remaining hot mixture. Stir until mixture thickens. Cook 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Add butter and Vanilla. Cover and cool, stirring occasionally to prevent a thick scum from forming. Drain juice from thawed strawberries. Fold berries into cream filling. Pour into baked shell. Raspberries or other fruit may be substituted.

Top with swirls of whipped cream and a few attractive strawberries.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I wash a girdle properly?

A. Use mild suds and lukewarm water. Do not wring or twist if it contains elastic. Roll into a turkish towel to remove moisture, then dry flat on a dry towel away from artificial heat and sunlight. Wash latex rubber girdles after each wearing; dry and dust generously with talcum powder. Fabric panels of girdles may be ironed with a warm iron, but don't press the elastic portions.

Q. What can I do about match-striking marks on a painted wood surface?

A. Rub these marks with a cut lemon, and this should eliminate them.

Q. How can I renovate black kid gloves?

A. Touch the worn spots with a camel's hair brush dipped into a mixture of olive oil and black ink.

Handy Sewing Table

When your child gets too big for his bathinette, make a handy, attractive sewing table out of it for your portable sewing machine. Strip off the fabric part, but save the lid, and cover with plywood or compo board. Hang as many pockets as you like on the sides, and saw the legs off to the desired height. It'll hold your machine securely and all the accessories you need, but the whole business can be folded up easily and put out of the way when you're not using it.

Sticking Metal to Wood

To stick metal to wood, first soak the metal in acetone. When dry, use household cement to attach it to the wood. Don't touch the cleaned area of the metal before cementing!

The Bathtub

A very good and easy cleanser for bathtubs is kerosene. It's a germ killer, too.

COUPLE CELEBRATE 45TH ANNIVERSARY

Oakwood (PNS) — The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wes Jenkins was the scene of a very happy occasion on Thursday, Dec. 31st. This happy couple both natives of Oakwood, celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary. Their entire family enjoyed a dinner at their home in Oakwood followed by a delightful evening of cards and lunch with friends and relatives. They were the recipients of a purse of money to be tucked away for a forthcoming trip to Vancouver in the future as well as flowers suitable for the New Year. Many good wishes were extended to them for the years ahead.

Barrie Curling Club, one of the oldest in Ontario, is confronted with a major decision, whether to amalgamate with the Golf Club in forming a new eight sheet ice palace on the golf club grounds or remain intact in the club's present rink. Should the Curling Club decide against amalgamation, then the Golf Club will proceed with a curling annex of six sheets.

Peterboro Charlotte Street curling club is going places in curlingdom, this season. The club has annexed the Ontario Tankard district event, the Governor General's District competition and Wednesday at the Lindsay rink, skip Bert Harrison of the same club won the British Consuls district preliminary.

Harrison's rink played like a team. They had real keen opponents in the Cobourg quarter, a ding-dong battle to the last of the twelve ends. Two ends were blanked and Harrison won the final end with his last grantie.

In the final draw against Monty Kemp of the Peterboro Golf and Country Club Harrison again held his nerve and was always in control. The two rinks went right up to the wire for ten ends with the score all tied up. There were 2 dead ends, but curling was grand to behold. Kemp cracked on the eleventh when he was narrow and a little light with his last rock and Harrison counted a big three. The two rinks elbowed each other down the home stretch, but with a three lead this put the game away on ice. Kemp was not given a chance in the final end. His rink drew seven stones into the circles, but every one was whacked through the house to the back, and the Harrison men did not leave a stone in the rings for Kemp to come to. Final score 8 to 5.

In the preliminary rounds, Peterborough Golf eliminated Clarke Endicott of Oakwood handily and Lindsay's rink ousted Lakefield. However, Lindsay faded badly in the game with Peterboro Golf and Country Club.

The flooring in the upper part of the I.O.O.F. Hall is at present being renewed and other renovations are also being made which will make a decided improvement when completed.

Aces meet Clippers at home to-night

Rink committee holds meeting

Sunderland (PNS) — The rink board held a meeting in the Legion Rooms with ten members present. Chairman Russell Park opened the meeting. Secretary treasurer Gordon Pinkham read the minutes of the December meeting which stated that the chairman and the secretary-treasurer wisned to be relieved of their duties. Accordingly, nominations for chairman were asked and Lewis Jewell accepted the position. Gordon Pinkham was persuaded to continue as secretary treasurer for this season. Lewis Jewell then took the chair and the business of the evening continued.

It was decided to sell season tickets for skating for the rest of the season at a cost of $4 for adults and $2 for children. A motion was made and carried that some minor repairs be made at the arena. Lewis Jewell to contact someone about having them done. It was agreed to hold regular meetings on the third Wednesday of each month, the secretary to advise members by phone or otherwise.

This concluded the bsiness and on a motion of adjournment the meeting was closed.

Little Britain Aces will meet the Stouffville Clippers in their wind up home game in Central Ontario Junior hockey league activity at the Little Britain Community Centre tonight.

The Aces could be termed the hard luck team of the group, having lost five games in overtime and tied two. The Aces have also been at a disadvantage in having to play all but five of their 26 games away from home. Had the Aces been able to take Uxbridge Chicks in their over-time game one week ago, their chances of making the play-offs would have been bright.

The final game of the schedule for the Aces takes them to Bobcaygeon to-morrow night. while the complete schedule closes out at Woodville Saturday night when the Maroons meet Cann-Sutton Twins.

NEWS FROM THE LCVI

by "The Post" Collegiate reporter Richard Bruce

GIRL'S BASKETBALL

Both the junior and the senior girls' basketball teams have suffered three consecutive defeats this term. The games have been very close and with a few breaks, several of the games could have been won by LCVI.

The junior team lost a very close game to St. Peter's of Peterborough to the tune of 19 to 17 on January 5. On January 21, PCVS defeated the Lindsay girls 32 to 22. The game that broke the hearts of the players was the contest with Cobourg East which they lost 24 to 22. The winning basket was scored with only eight seconds remaining in the game. High scorer for LCVI was Valmay Taylor.

The Senior team also lost a few close games. One of them was a game with St. Peter's which they lost 40 to 32. On January 11, PCVS soundly defeated LCVI 34 to 15. The Cobourg East senior team also won a squeaker as did the juniors from LCVI. They defeated Lindsay 17 to 14. High scorers for Lindsay were Pat De Mayer and Heather Webster.

WRESTLING CLUB

The Wrestling Club consists of approximately 20 to 25 members this term. The boys are under the supervision of the coach, Mr. Quinn, and the assistant captain is Terry Menaul.

There have been two meets so far this year. Lindsay won one of them and lost the other. LCVI soundly defeate Cobourg 40 to 18 but lost a tight contest to PCVS by the score of 29 to 25.

There are four more big dates coming up for the Wrestling Club. On Friday, January 29, Kenner invades LCVI while on February 27, there is the COSA meet. In March on the 5th and 6th, there is the Provincial tournament and on March 12, the Kawartha District meet is to be held.

BOY'S BASKETBALL

On Tuesday, January 19, the three LCVI basketball teams invaded Port Hope for three games. Lindsay came out on the short end, losing two and winning only one. The seniors were the victors while the juniors and bantams were the losers. The seniors defeated Port Hope 40 to 20; the juniors of Port Hope defeated Lindsay 55 to 30 and the Lindsay bantams were defeated 52 to 51. This was a real heart-breaker for the bantams.

The senior game looked like it was going to be a very close contest. At the end of the first quarter, the game was tied 6 to 6. Wylie accounted for five of the six points Lindsay scored. At the half, Lindsay led 16 to 8 having outscored Port Hope 10 to 2 in the second quarter. This seemed the break the Port Hope spirit and they were no longer a real threat. In the third quarter Lindsay outscored Port Hope 11 to 4 and led 27 to 12 in the game. Lindsay outscored Port Hope once again in the fourth quarter by 13 to 8. The final score was 40 to 20 for LCVI. Bob Wylie paced the seniors to this win by scoring 22 points. Johnston was the second high scorer for Lindsay as he netted five points. High scorer for Port Hope was Theysmeyer with nine points. Congratulations Seniors.

The LCVI juniors were soundly defeated by the adept Port Hope team. At the end of the first quarter, Port Hope led 13 to 4. At the half they led 28 to 12. At the completion of the third quarter, Port Hope had the game wrapped up as they exploded for 16 points and led 44 to 26. In the fourth quarter Port Hope outscored Lindsay 11 to 4. The final score was 55 to 30 for Port Hope. High scorers for Lindsay were Johnston with 13 points.

The bantam game was very close right to the end of the game. Port Hope led 19 to 17 at the end of the first quarter, thanks to Barley's nine points In the second quarter LCVI outscored Port Hope 16 to 10 and led 33 to 29 at the half. In the third quarter Port Hope again outscored Lindsay 12 to 10 but Lindsay still led 43 to 41. The strong Port Hope team outscored Lindsay once again 11 to 8 in the fourth quarter and won the game 52 to 51. High scorers for Lindsay were Campbell with 22 points and Morasse with 17 points. High scorers for Port Hope were Barley 19 points and Hodgson with 13 points.

JUNIORS DEFEAT FENELON

The Lindsay junior basketball team defeated Fenelon Falls on January 25 to the tune of 35 to 8. The Lindsay team dominated the game throughout. They outscored Fenelon Falls in every quarter. In the first quarter they outscored Fenelon 13 to 2. LCVI outscored them 6 to 5, 12 to 0 and 4 to 1 in the second, third and fourth quarter respectively. High scorers for Fenelon Falls were Dewall with three points and Kerr with two points. Congratulations Juniors.

BANTAM B's BEAT PORT HOPE

On Saturday January 23 the Lindsay bantam B's defeated Port Hope 40 to 19. They outscored Port Hope in every quarter. The big quarter for Lindsay was the third when they scored 21 points; More than Port Hope could score in the whole game. High scorers for Lindsay were Sundberg with 21 points and Hunt with 8 points. High scorers for Port Hope were Rose with seven points and Bayliff with six points. Congratulations.

LINDSAY TEAMS CLASH

The senior and junior basketball teams clashed in a very interesting game last week. It was a very close contest until the final quarter when the juniors seemed to lose their pep. The seniors outscored the juniors in every quarter except the second when both teams scored 11 points. The final score was 61 to 29 in favour of the seniors. Approximately half of the seniors points came in the fourth quarter when they scored 25 points. High scorers for the seniors were Mr. Tait with 23 points and Dick Koolhaas who hooped nine points. High scorers for the juniors were Mr. Wilson with seven points and Lee with six points.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Tuesday, January 26, was an important day for the student council. The council was saddened by the official resignation of Shirley Simmons as president of the student council. She stated that it was too much of a burden for her to handle along with her school work. The vice-president took over as president and an election was held for vice-president. Cheryl Saunders won that post.

The new president stated that it was that time of year again to decide what method the school will use to raise funds. The selling of chocolate bars was discussed and Doug Tangney made a motion that we will sell bars this year. The motion was carried almost unanimously.

Mr. Saunders asked the student council to assist in the Heart Fund. He wants the council to get the names of people who are willing to canvass. He stated that he already has the aid of the Key Club and he would appreciate the help of the Student council. He pointed out that last year the students did very well and I feel this sort of activity is achieving a good school image as well as assisting in a good cause. So you students get out and support the Heart Fund.

The idea was brought up that we buy bleachers for the gymnasium with our profits from selling the chocolate bars. This was discussed and an estimate was received that it would cost $2,000 for the bleachers. The discussion was to be continued at a later date.

A motion was made that LCVI order a new flag, the new Canadian flag, and that it be raised on February 15, the same day the flag is raised on Parliament Hill in Ottawa.

The motion passed and the meeting concluded with the singing of "O Canada".

DRAMA CLUB

Something new is to take place in the Drama Club this year. The Drama Night is to be held in the Academy Academy Theatre on February 18 and 19. There will be ajudication only on Friday evening. Interludes will take place between plays and the entertainment in the interludes will be provided by school talent. The adjudicator this year will be Richard Howard of Toronto, who is a professional director. Tickets are $1.00 for adults and 45 cents for students.

Other activities in the Drama Club are to take place in the near future. They are holding a dance on March 19. An older disc jockey will be present and he has a fantastic collection of records. This promises to be a different kind of dance than the ordinary record hop. They also plan to attend a rehearsal at the O'Keefe Centre in Toronto in early April. "The Marriage Proposal" is the play to be presented at Peterboro this year for the annual competition. If they win in Peterboro they then present the play at Port Hope and if they are successful, there they will enter the Ontario finals.

Mr. Peel, with the assistance of other teachers and students is building a versatile setting. The Drama Club is very happy about this and they believe it will be very useful.

Farmer's Union hold euchre party

Bethany (PNS) — The local branch of the Ontario Farmer's Union held auccessful party in St Paul's Parish Hall on Friday night.

Prizes for high scores in progressive euchre went to Miss Jean Jilesan and Ross Wood; second prizes to Mrs. Andy Sutch and Morley Powell.

The Midnight Ramblers from Pontypool provided the music for dancing.

Lunch was served by the ladies.

Indians and Tigers on Merchants menu

The chips are down for the Lindsay Merchants from here in as they embark on the play-off trial with their aim set on an Ontario Championship. From here in every game will be harder to win as opposing coaches will be icing their strongest contingent for each contest.

To-night the Lindsay Merchants meet the Redmen at Newmarket and return to take on the tigers from Aurora on home ice. Next week the Merchants go to Aurora Tuesday night and meet Newmarket here Friday Feb. 5th.

Another special feature Friday night will be the presentation of the Vern Scully Trophy to the player judged the most valuable by his teammates. Many aspects enter the picture in picking a most valuable player. Team mates making the choice is a logical one as opposed to press representatives, rival coaches, or managers. When the players consider the most valuable player, several factors come into play that people outside of the team would be unaware of such as his relations to other team mebers, his co-operation on and off the ice, besides his scoring ability and defensive strength. Kiwanis Arena might well be packed for the big game Friday night and this important presentation.

Oakwood Flyers 8 Little Britain 5

Oakwood Flyers handed Little Britain their first defeat in Tri-County hockey action last night in the Oakwood Arena. After a flurry of penalties, some injuries and a hard hitting game of hockey the Flyers emerged with an 8-5 win.

Oakwood goal getters were John Horton with three, Keith Brown and Ron Jewell added two each and Ross Cayley with one. For Little Britain, Fred Thomson scored three, and singles went to Jack Thompson and Don Sanguine.

Oakwood were handed eight penalties and the visitors six in the hard hitting game. John Goard of the Flyers suffered a shoulder separation and Jerry Jenkins pulled a groin muscle and had to retire in the first period. Doug Brown suffered a twelve stitch gash in his face to round out the Oakwood casualties.

Winston Wood came up with an outstanding game in the Little Britain cage while Lew McTaggart gave Oakwood goalie Orville McLean a nerve racking night when he rattled the goal posts with screened drives.

Next home game for the Flyers will be next Wednesday when the Fenelon Falls crew visit the Oakwood Arena. Burnt River is at L'Britain Saturday night.

STOP! . . . killing yourself

By Peter J. Steincrohn, MD., F.A.C.P.

MALPRACTICE SUITS HAMPERING DOCTORS

Premiums are up all over the country for insurance against malpractice suits. Many doctors get the jitters when treating patients, though they are capable, and do their best, there is always the possibility that someone will try a malpractice suit. When the doctor has been incapable, his judgment and treatment harmful to the patient, it is natural to want to see redress and compensation.

However, what I am writing about is the case in which the doctor is entirely innocent and is the victim of the increasing pattern of attempting, at least, to collect from him damages of nuisance value outside of court action. If it should get to court, the resulting unfavorable publicity is damaging, even to the innocent doctor.

It is for this reason that many doctors have told me that they would not dare to stop to help an injured person at the roadside. There have been many such instances in which innocent and humane doctors have been sued.

In a recent column, I explained why the doctor is often unable to give a straight yes or no answer to his patient. Dr. S., of New Jersey, writes in part: "I want to congratulate you on your fine column 'Yes or No Answer Not Always Simple.' How right you are.

"With your permission may I add another 'why' the yes or no answer is sometimes so difficult. And this is undoubtedly on account of the dark shadow of a potential malpractice suit which floats in front of many a physician's mind during his daily practice.

"For example, I've recently heard of a case in which a doctor was brought to court for having honestly and innocently reassured a patient—a reassurance which unfortunately didn't come through.

"No wonder that the doctor has to ponder and to think it over and over again before he opens his mouth when a yes or no is the question".

Comment: One can only say that things are in a terrible state when doctors, in fear of being sued, are afraid to stop to help the stricken. In the end, it's the stricken who are the losers.

APPENDICITIS IN YOUNG

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Is it possible for a young child to get appendicitis? Could he withstand operation?—Mrs. V.

Comment: I have been reading a recent report of 17 children who had acute appendicitis. Three were less than one year old; the other 14 ranged from one to two years. All the 15 patients who were operated on recovered. The two unoperated, died. It's evident that diagnosis and early operation are important, whatever the age.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Is there a cure for bronchitis? My husband has had a cough for months. He won't go to a doctor—Mrs. I.

Comment: Cure? It depends on what you mean by bronchitis. The specific disease is important. Is it really bronchitis? Emphysema? Asthma? Tuberculosis? Tumor? Postnasal drip? Allergy? Show him this list. It may arouse some curiosity in him to find the real cause.

Sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. Clement Parks and his son Clare in their sudden bereavement.

Mr. Fred McIndoo of Ida occupied the pulpit of Trinity United Church on Sunday in the absence of Rev. Mr. Crawford who with his wife and family were called to Kingston through bereavement.

Congratulations are extended Constable Douglas Brooks of the R.C.M.P. Charlottetown whose marriage takes place in Amherst, Nova Scotia on Saturday, January 30, in Amherst Baptist Church to Miss Shirley Chapman, Mrs. Marjory Brooks, his mother and Mrs. Doris Conray his sister will attend the wedding. The happy couple will reside in Toronto where the bride has been engaged by the City Board of Education.

Best wishes accompany former Reeve George Stephenson, his wife and family who have left the village to reside in Peterboro. Both have been active workers in Christ Church. He has been a valued member of the Lions Club, Masonic Order and ably represented Omemee as the reeve for several years at County Council.

Mr. Stephenson will still commute back and forth to operate his business in Omemee.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pogue and family, Chatham, were weekend guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Pogue.

Mr. and Mrs. William Weir and family have moved into their fine new residence just west of the village.

Sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. Sam Fisher and his family in the recent death of a son and brother, Lloyd Fisher of Toronto.

Inmates of Millbrook Reformatory contributed to the Blood Donors Clinic on Monday evening. Sixteen Red Cross nurses were on duty five hours and 132 inmates donated 129 pints.

CO-OP* introduces a new Farm Gasoline!

Because the gasoline requirements of the farmer are unique, your Co-operative brings you a new regular gasoline specially developed for farm use.

Oxidation during storage is a problem unique to the farmer, so is constant slow speed tractor operation and the need for seasonal power changes. Ordinary regular gasolines developed for automobiles, do not offer the special qualities needed to meet these farm driving conditions. New CO-OP Farm Gasoline does! This specially-formulated fuel meets these needs in five essential areas:

1 Minimum oxidation preserves fuel quality in storage.

CO-OP Farm Gasoline can be stored longer without fuel deterioration. That's because it has been developed to specifications that are double the minimum storage stability standards of most other gasolines. You get more power, more performance from every gallon of CO-OP Farm Gasoline.

2 Volatility controlled for increased power as you need it.

May through September is the time you require peak power performance from your fuel. CO-OP Farm Gasoline is adjusted month by month to meet this need. During spring and summer you get more vital power-producing ingredients at no extra cost!

3 Carburetor detergent cleans out harmful deposits.

The slow operating speeds and frequent idling of tractor engines cause excessive carbon deposits in the carburetor resulting in costly over-rich fuel mixtures. CO-OP Farm Gasoline includes a special carburetor detergent that eliminates these deposits, keeps the throttle clean, and prevents too-rich mixtures. You get smoother performance plus a saving in gasoline.

4 Built-in rust inhibitor protects vital parts.

Moisture in gasoline will corrode fuel tanks, lines and pumps. CO-OP Farm Gasoline contains a surface-active material that forms a protective coating on all contacted surfaces. Downtime is reduced during these critical farming periods.

5 Anti-icing additive combats cold weather stalls.

Ice will form in a carburetor as gasoline changes to vapour . . . this may build up on throttle blade and stall engines. CO-OP Farm Gasoline contains a de-icing additive that prevents ice from adhering to carburetor walls, passes it out through the engine. Keeps you from being "stopped cold".

Your CO-OP Farm Gasoline Salesman will be calling soon.

*Registered Trade Mark

Try a tankful of top performance . . .

Mrs. Carl Wright, Mrs. P. Romeril, Mrs. Leith Byers and Mrs. Harold McLaughlin were hostesses for the four units of the U.C.W. which met this week with an average attendance of 8 members. Thi Anne and Candace Unit studied Brazil. The Dorcas and Esther Unit studied God's Purpose for His people with meditations taken by Mrs. W. Wright, Mrs. Murray Byers and Mrs. Bruce Mountjoy and a panel discussion of necessary articles will be sent to Miss Muriel Stevens in Angola.

In spite of very bad weather services in both churches were well attended. In the United Church Rev. Romeril preached on "Our Belief In God".

In St. John's Church Canon Ashmore spoke on the 23rd Psalm and made reference to the passing of Sir Winston Churchill. A memorial service will be held in the church, Saturday morning at 10 a.m.

Messengers met Tuesday, January 19th, with 18 children attending. After the opening exercises Elizabeth Thompson told the story "Then Came Carnival" and Mrs. R. McLaughlin supervised games and closed with prayer. Eight members attended the Explorer meeting with Nancy Dorrell telling the story of Trinidad and the worship period given by Eleanor Wright, Leslie Wright, Linda McLaughlin, Janet Turner and Heather Dorrell.

During the past week Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Dorrell enjoyed the Dairy Farmers of Canada Annual Convention in Regina of which Dalton is a delegate of Toronto Milk Producers.

Sunday afternoon Mr. George Wolfe and Canon and Mrs. Ashmore attended service in All Saints Church, Peterboro where Canon Ashmore officiated and baptized a niece Kathryn Ann Dobbin, daughter of Ross Gordon Dobbin and Patricia Ann Dobbin of Calgary, Alberta.

Sincere sympthy is extended to Mr. Herbert Vine and family on the sudden death of Mrs. Vine Wednesday night.

Mrs. G.V.A. Scott and Mr. Blake McCoy have returned from Oshawa Hospital where they have been taking treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Archer and family, Whitby, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Archer.

Mrs. Ethel Baker, Peterboro was a weekend guest of Canon and Mrs. Ashmore.

Mrs. Lorna Thompson spent a few days in Oshawa with Mr. and Mrs. Danny Colacicco.

GIANT PROPANE TANKS — Caland Ore Company's iron ore pelletizing plant near Atikokan, Ontario, 140 miles west of the Lakehead, will soon be Canada's largest industrial user of propane fuel. British American Oil, which has signed a long-term agreement to supply approximately 20 million gallons annually by tank car from gas plants in Western Canada, had three huge storage tanks built by Procor Limited at Oakville, Ontario, for installation at the ore plant. The 50,000 gallon tanks each weigh 60 tons and are 92 feet long and 10 feet 9 inches in diameter, with walls one inch thick. Propane stored at pressures of up to 250 pounds per square inch will be vaporized and delivered to the plant at 25 pounds per square inch. Inspecting the tanks prior to shipment are A. V. Hennessey, Sales Manager of Propane Sizing Division, E. G. J. McEvoy of B-A's Ontario Marketing Division and T. R. Stuart, Manager of B-A's Liquefied Petroleum Gas Marketing.

County Council Comments

Mariposa Council's request that a portion of Princess St. in Little Britain be closed was concurred in by county council.

Deputy-reeve Edward Lowes of Emily thought the time has come when some study should be given to the representation of municipalities in the county council. As municipalities grow in population and two and perhaps three representatives from different townships send representatives, to the County seat, the council might become too large and unwieldy, he said.

Elmer Evans was re-appointed County Weed Inspector, his salary to be $10.50 a day, plus car mileage, plus and other expenses.

Authorization was given to the warden and his wife, members of the Roads Board, county engineer and other councillors to attend the Ontario Good Roads convention. Members will be allowed $25 towards expenses.

Mrs. Allan Wood showed colored slides of pictures taken during a recent trip abroad. Giving an interesting commentary on each picture. Mrs. Wood showed views of the Holy Land which included the city of Jerusalem, Bethlehem, the Garden of Gesthemane, the Garden Tomb, old churhes, the Jericho road and Jacob's Well. Many views of India were shown depicting the old and new India, the poor and the rich.

Scenes taken in Scotland showed Balmoral Castle, Edinburgh Castle, many views of the highlands and lowlands.

Pictures in England included the Queen's Palace, the changing of the Guards ceremony, the Trooping of the Colors, Westminster Abbey, Parliament Bldgs, British museum, the home of the poets Shakespeare and Wordsworth.

The final group showed scenes in Holland, the colorful beds of tulips and quaint costumes of the Dutch people.

The speaker was introduced and thanked by Mrs. Hector Morton, programme convener. Mrs. Morton also read a poem.

Mrs. Thomas Jackson gave comments on the motto "The Peace of the World depends on our Food" concluding with a poem.

Plans were made to hold a sale of Home Baking on Saturday January 23rd. Mrs. T. Jennings read the minutes and correspondence, also the financial report. Mrs. Harry Ryley and Mrs. Noel Wood will continue as leaders of the Girls 4-H club in the new unit "Fast In The Menu".

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hector Morton, Mrs. Harry Ryley, Mrs. Pa Palmer, Mrs. George Neals, Mrs. Ted Spencely.

Mrs. Thomas Jennings expressed the thanks of the members to the hostess and all those who had assisted with the programme and lunch.

WHAT, YOU AGAIN?

Tyler, Tex. (UPI) — Don Henry Brown, 21, was standing beside his overturned 1965 sports car when highway patrol man Bobby Miller investigated the accident.

One hour later patrolman Miller investigated another accident. Another 1965 model car was overturned, its wheels pointing upward. Brown was standing beside that car, again uninjuried. Miller took him home a second time.

Brown said both times he swerved to avoid another car but his car went out of control. Damage to the cars was estimated at $1,800.

JOINT SERVICES DISCUSSED AT W.A.

Bethany (PNS) — The Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's church were entertained by their meeting at the home of Mrs. Ina Palmer, with Mrs. Noel Wood presiding. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Douglas Smelt.

Mrs. Wood read excerpts from a letter on the Christian Jewish Dialogue; also the report of the year's activity to be sent to the Deanery executive. Mrs. Wm. Phillips read a letter of thanks from the Diocesan Dorcas Convener for a bale of goods.

Mrs. Douglas Smelt was appointed to act as convener for the Manvers Parish for the World Day of Prayer.

Mrs. Wood read an excerpt from the December "Living Message" to introduce a discussion of joint Anglican Women's activities in 1965. A committee of Mrs. Noel Wood, Mrs. Douglas Smelt, Mrs. Charles Reynolds, Mrs. Hector Morton and Mrs. Reginald Rose were appointed to meet with members of the Ladies Guild and Rev. Reginald Rose at the Rectory on January 26 to further discuss this matter.

The annual Deanery meeting for the district will be held at St. Paul's Church in May and plans for this event were discussed.

The financial report was given by Mrs. Emery Smith.

Mrs. Hector Morton lead in the concluding prayers, after which the hostess served lunch.

Max Ferguson, Canada's man of many faces and voices is just as comfortable portraying an omnipotent naval officer as he is a Liverpool docker or expert on Sable Island ponies. Ferguson is heard portraying these and many other characters who appear frequently in his satirical sketches each morning Monday to Friday on his CBC radio network show.

21 January, 1965.

Dear Sirs:

Since increasingly I have been hearing reports that I am responsible for the ensuing 5 mill tax increase for the High School I feel that I should make a reply.

Enlarging the school was a step made necessary because more students are entering high school, all are staying longer and fewer are dropping out. The extent of the enlargement was determined by the needs of the student body, by the need for a larger administration area, and by the regulations of the Department of Education. The cost of the enlargement was estimated at about 875 thousand dollars. The sum was agreed upon by all five members of the High School Board and the members of the four municipal councils also reluctantly agreed to this large expenditure. If I recall correctly only one municipal councillor voted against the expenditure at the meeting on September 4th. Therefore no single individual can be singled out as being responsible for any increase in taxes.

I understand now that the tenders are higher than the estimated cost and that the present school board is considering cutting out two occupational shops in order to ease the tax burden. This reason is ridiculous. Although these two shops cost about 100 thousand, cutting them out will not save the property owners that much money. The Dominion Government pays ¾'s of the cost of the two rooms and if the present High School Board thinks that the Federal Government is going to lessen our income or other tax by 75 thousand dollars because Brock District High School did not use the money, they are certainly uninformed about the ways of government. That money will just go to a less deserving school.

But, we will save the 25 thousand. Again a ridiculous statement. In 1964-65, the School Board spent $3,200 plus transporting students to Sutton and Lindsay for technical and occupational courses. The bill for the education of these students will be another $5,000. Three years of sending Students away to school will cover that 25 thousand and six years will cover both the principal and the interest.

Second, not to have these shops at a time when the Provincial Government is rethinking and increasing the educational grants, when the Canadian Economic Council states that an individual will have to have three skills during his lifetime, and when the American Government is planning to spend 1.5 billion dollars on education reflects a policy which is geared to the 1930's and not to the 1970's. One of the factors causing Ontario's rural slum in the eastern counties, about which we have been reading lately, was under education. It could happen here by 1985.

For a solution of the squeeze between the high cost of building a larger school and the increased assessment on property, we are faced with two alternatives. First we could become a part of the neighbouring High School Board at Port Perry and Uxbridge. Then Brock District High School would be eligible for increased grants. Of course high school taxes in our neighbouring board are 8 mills higher than in our four municipalities. Second, we could do it ourselves while continuing to press the Provincial and Dominion Governments for increased assistance. If enough of us as individuals, as school boards, as municipal councils, as members of organizations made our feelings heard, the squeeling wheel would be greased.

Mighty gathering assembles for Churchill's funeral

London (UPI) — Five thousand persons passed through Westminster Hall every hour today in tribute to Sir Winston Churchill. They included some members of Britain's royal family and high-ranking statesmen abroad.

At mid-day Scotland yard said 92,193 persons had filed past the tall catafalque in the "Hall of Kings" where an honour guard of four officers of the armed services stand with heads bowed and sword tips on the floor.

A mighty gathering of representatives from 100 nations is assembling in London today for the state funeral in St. Paul's Cathedral on Saturday. The tribute to Churchill will be a universal one.

Prime minister Lester B. Pearson flew to London airport by jet plane from Montreal accompanied by his wife Maryon. He was greeted by Canadian high commissioner Lionel Chevrier and A. Kendal of the commonwealth relations office.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is due at London Airport around 7 o'clock tonight accompanied by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk Chief Justice Earl Warren and Mrs. Lewis Douglas, wife of the former U.S. ambassador to Britain.

Little Britain

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dunn have returned to their home in the village from a plane trip to California where they spent some three weeks vacation at the home of her brother, Mr. George Campbell and his family.

The many friends of Mr. Fred Wallis regret to hear of his illness and that he is at present confined to the nursing home in the village but hope that he soon will be restored to his normal health again.

The members of the Little Britain Fellowship Baptist Church W.M.S. met and gathered at the home of Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Norton on Tuesday evening of last week where they held their January meeting and which had the usual number of members in attendance.

At a joint meeting which was held recently with Zion and Pleasant Point a motion was made and passed unanimously that Pleasant Point and Zion (as one congregation) become a part of the Little Britain charge and this will take place subject to the approval of Presbytery on July 1st of this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Orland Brown of Glenarm called on his mother, Mrs. Tom Brown, recently who has been hospitalized at the nursing home in the village for some time.

Quite a number from this community attended the annual meeting of Lindsay Exhibition which was held at the Government Building in Lindsay on Wednesday afternoon of last week.

Reeve Roy Morrison has been spending the past few days in Lindsay where he was in attendance at the January sessions of Victoria County Council.

Mr. Mac Glassford of Valentia called on friends in the village on Wednesday afternoon of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sornberger motored to Oshawa recently where they spent a day with some of their friends and relatives.

Messrs. George Greenway and Norton Avery are busily engaged at present auditing the books of the Little Britain Telephone Company and getting them in readiness for the annual meeting which will be held as usual on the last Wednesday in January.

President Lyndon Johnson's doctors retoved the trip because of his recent illness.

Special arrangements were made for dignitaries at Westminster Hall. They were escorted in through a private entrance and stood just inside the east door. Among them were Princess Marina aunt of Queen Elizabeth; the Duchess of Kent and the Duchess of Gloucester.

Two former Prime Ministers — Harold MacMillan and Lord Attlee — arrived together. Prime Minister Robert Menzies of Australia stood for six minutes with head bowed. Churchill's daughter, Mrs. Mary Soames, made her third visit to the Bier.

It appeared that Red China would be the only nation to reject an invitation to the funeral. She did not even name her charge D'Affaires in London as a representative.

Mr. George Buck of Toronto is spending a few holidays in the village at the home of his daughter Mrs. Violet Bannister and family.

Several members of the Little Britain U.C.W. met and gathered at the home of Mrs. George Avery in the village last week where they held some very successful quilting bees.

Friends of Mr. Alvin Found are glad to see that he is now able to be out again after having his left hand badly lacerated while engaged in sawing wood with his buzz saw and which occurred on the farm and property of his son, Mr. Raymond Found.

Moore, both former Bell Telephone employees, participated in the first transcontinental call placed in Canada which connected Montreal and San Francisco on May 11, 1915.

World news today

Quebec City — The Union Nationale Opposition today questioned the government of Jean Lesage of the series of scandals that have wracked the Federal Liberal administration in recent months. Some 11 notices of motions and questions hinting at wrong-doings in both federal and provincial circles have been put on the legislature's order paper.

Quebec — The Quebec Legislature also upheld a government motion barring union Nationale member Yves Gabias from sitting in the Provincial House. Gabias, a former judge, was suspended for three years for failing to prove charges of bribery against former Quebec Attorney-General Rene Hamel. The vote margin was 58-21.

Montreal — Former Immigration Department aide Raymond Denis returns to the stand at the Dorion Judicial Inquiry today.

Denis, who was aide to Immigration Minister Rene Tremblay, yesterday directly contradicted the claim by Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne that he had offered a 20-thousand dollar bribe to the latter.

I was in an incredible state of shock! It was a bomb! Like an explosion!"

This was the way Denis described his reactions when he heard of the bribe charge by Lamontagne.

Lamontagne charged Denis with offering the bribe in an effort to obtain bail for accused narcotics smuggler Lucien Rivard.

Rivard goes before the court today in connection with the extradition attempt being made by the United States to bring him before the US courts on the narcotics charge.

Edmonton, Alta. (UPI) — Maurice Sauve, Federal Forestry Minister, told a press conference at the University of Alberta today he did not think reports describing the Dorian inquiry as a conspiracy to discredit French Canadians, were true.

"I do not believe this idea exists at all. We can look back and recall scandals involving both French and English speaking cabinet ministers", he said. When you have a minority government, you are always open to criticism and attack, the minister added.

Asked if he thought there would be an early election, Sauve said "we have a lot of legislation ahead that could keep us busy for some time". If the opposition wants an election they will call it.

Sauve is in Edmonton to speak at the Univeristy of Alberta tonight, during French Canada Week, which is being observed on the campus of the university.

Saigon, Viet Nam — Jubilant Buddhists gathered at the National Buddhist center here to celebrate the overthrow of the American-supported government of Premier Tran Van Huong. U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor showed where his sympathies lay by visiting the deposed premier. Huong was overthrown by the Vietnamese armed froces and replaced by strongman Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

London — Prince William of Gloucheter, 24-year-old cousin of Queen Elizabeth, took his place in the long line of mourners to pay homage to Sir Winston Churchill. The appearance of a member of British Royalty with the common people on such an occasion was unprecedented in British history.

London — The opposition Conservative party entered a motion of "No Confidence" in the Labour Government of Harold Wilson. The action was considered a prelude to a Conservative drive to topple the Labour Government.

Tehran, Iran — Premier Amirabbas Hoveida pledged to carry on the major reforms begun by his assassinated predecessor, Hassan Ali Mansur. Hoveida was named premier last night shortly after the death of Mansur, who was shot twice last Thursday while entering the parliament building.

THE MA-IN-LAW

Chalfont St. Peter, England (UPI) — Among the 501 varieties of sandwiches served at a local pub is one called "The Mother-in-law". The ingredients are: cold shoulder, strong pickle-and tongue.

Blackwater couple celebrate 45th wedding anniversary

Sunderland (PNS) — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brethour of RR1 Blackwater, celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary on January 7th, with a family gathering at their home in their honour.

Attending were sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Snelgrove of Sunderland and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brethour and family of Blackwater on Harold of Blackwater and Ross of Sunderland and their families, daughters Helen (Mrs. Gerrow) and Kay (Mrs. Sheldon) and families both of Sunderland.

The happy couple were the recipients of a beautiful chesterfield from the immediate family, an occasional chair was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brethour and family and a coffee table from Mr. and Mrs. Fred Snelgrove.

After a very happy evening, a bounteous lunch was provided.

Mr. and Mrs. Brethour received many cards and congratulations. They are very well known in the district, having farmed at their present residence since their marriage.

They have 22 grand-children.

HYDROPLANING

Recent research shows that in heavy rain or slush your car's front wheels leave the road, says the Ontario Safety League. They actually climb up on a tough film of rain, and your car hydroplanes. At less than 30 m.p.h. your front tires begin to lose contact with the pavement. At around 50 they're lifted up on the hard film of water and only the outer ribs are touching. Over 60 m.p.h. you are hydroplaning, and your front wheels may actually stop turning.

Speeding on wet roads, your car becomes a boat. It's now known that you may drive for miles on the verge of a skid without knowing it. A puff of wind, or a gust from a truck, may send you spinning. Two precautions against wet-road skid are — less speed, more tire pressure.

HIDDEN FORTUNE

London (UPI) — Accountants have found a hidden $124.32 million fortune for shareholders of the Watney Mann Brewery group. A survey has re-valued the group's properties, which were thought to be worth $198.52 million. The new valuation was $322.84 million.

Oakwood family flee burning home, split-level house, truck destroyed

$300 damage

Damage estimated at $300 resulted when a car driven by Harold Melville Shea, 32, of 149 Queen Street, backed into a car driven by Wilson Hugh Lytle, 31, of Verulam Road at 3:20 p.m. Wednesday. Lindsay Police said the Shea vehicle was proceeding onto Kent Street from a service station when he saw a west-bound car approaching. He started to back up and came into contact with the Lytle car.

Lindsay Police Constable Douglas Thompson investigated.

THOMAS STINSON, FORMER M.P. FOR VICTORIA RIDING DIES

Thomas H. Stinson, Q.C., solicitor, banker and politician, who was named Lindsay's most outstanding community-minded citizen passed away Friday morning at his residence on Albert Street North. Death followed a lengthy illness during which he suffered very little pain and was able to converse with friends and relatives.

The late T. H. Stinson, who was born near Minden and at one time the owner of the Minden power-dam and falls, was a graduate of the Lindsay Collegiate Institute and Osgoode Hall. When a young and promising lawyer, he entered the firm of the late R. J. McLaughlin and A. M. Fulton where he carried on an ever increasing practice for many years and during which time he served for a short time as Crown Attorney.

T. H. Stinson was for many years a director and a president of the Victoria Trust and Loan Company and for many years president of the Victoria and Grey Trust Company. In this connection he followed in the footsteps of the late C. E. Weekes and his contribution to the success of this widely known trust company cannot be measured in mere words.

As a young man he became a protege of the late General Sir Sam Hughes in political matters and parliamentary procedure and on the death of General Hughes, the late Mr. Stinson became member of parliament for Victoria and Haliburton. He was assistant in application to duty as a representative of the people and it is stated that he spent practically all his parliamentary stipend in helping countless numbers of his constituents. He was an able member of the Dominion legislature.

Mr. Stinson was the first president of the Lindsay Kiwanis Club which was founded forty-three years ago. He served as president two years. It was his drive that spurred this service club to present the Ross Memorial Hospital with an ambulance and his initiative and energy that sparked the erection of the Kiwanis arena.

He was for many years a member of the Board of Governors of the Ross Memorial Hospital and a past chairman of the board. He was one of the prime movers behind the Santa Claus Stocking Fund, which institution he managed for many years, rendering outstanding service to needy families and thousands of children.

The late Mr. Stinson served on many boards and organizations, including his very fine contribution to the well-being of Cambridge Street United Church where he officiated as chairman of the Board of Stewards for many years. He was a faithful and loyal member and a generous con-

A family of six had to flee a blaze that destroyed their home and all the contents at 6:30 a.m. this morning near Oakwood. William Gorrill, his wife, and four children ranging from one to five years of age were sleeping when the fire which caused an estimated $12,000 damage broke out in the upper part of the house, which is about three miles south-east of Oakwood.

Mr. Gorrill said the children were taken from their beds and rushed out of the smoke-filled house and then taken over to neighbours, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Copeland. The Copeland's called the Oakwood Fire Department. Mr. Gorrill said when he awakened the whole ceiling was ablaze.

Oakwood Fire Chief Murray Squires said the blaze could be seen as the pumper left the village. The cause of the fire has not been determined, he stated.

Mrs. Copeland said when she looked out the window at 6:20 a.m. the whole east side of the house was burning.

The split-level house of frame and block construction and the adjoining garage which housed a 1964 model half-ton truck were razed and the truck was destroyed. Mr. Gorrill, his wife Norma and his children Linda, 5, Stephen, 3, Dents, 2, and Susan, 1, fled with nothing but their night clothes.

The family will be living across the road from their gutted home at the residence of Samuel Minthorne, for the time being. Mr. Gorrill told "The Post", he said he did manage to pull a couch, chair and half-burned television out of the house.

Victoria County Council reject health unit by a narrow margin

Prolonged discussion on Wednesday at Victoria County Council on the question of Victoria County joining with Peterborough county and the City of Peterborough in the formation of a health unit, culminated in a vote in which the joint proposal was turned down flat. Further motions that Victoria County join with some of the municipalities in the south-end of Haliburton County was also defeated and a motion by Reeve Jack Campbell of Woodville that Victoria County establish a unit on their own was voted down narrowly by 13 votes to 12.

Earlier in the discussion Deputy-reeve Gardie Gransden of Somerville township said "The County is not yet ready for this project and it is to costly. We are getting along nicely without a health unit."

It was the general opinion of the clerk and others that the overall cost of a county unit would be 30 or 35 cents per Capita or $35,000 a year. Figures presented, showed that some 80 municipalities in Ontario are served by Health units which includes a large number of cities. Ontario County it was pointed out, had no health unit although the City of Oshawa has.

Durham and Northumberland counties were mentioned frequently as having a successful unit. Figures showed that the united counties have a large population and consequently a large working staff in the unit, also that costs have been rising, members were told.

Reeve John Campbell of Woodville thought if Victoria County had an opportunity of joining in with Peterborough, they should take it. "We need this health unit", he said. "We enjoy good health at Woodville but our two fine doctors told me to vote for a health unit. Let's not miss the boat this time." Later Reeve Campbell voted for a Victoria County unit.

Deputy-Reeve Edward Lowes of Emily township was the strongest advocate for joining with Peterborough. "Let's stop now before we become involved and give the matter some earnest study", he said. Deputy-Reeve Lowes said "This is an ideal time for the County to consider a County Health Unit favourably". He also intimated that Emily township, being adjacent to Peterborough could might go into the scheme with Peterboro and said perhaps Mariposa and other townships would do the same.

Reeve George Finney and Deputy-Reeve Les Neil of Lindsay favoured the Peterboro-Victoria unit. "Lindsay has no Medical Officer of Health right now" commented Reeve Finney.

Reeve Cecil Reeds of Omemee said he favoured going in with Peterboro. In the first discussion representatives from Verulam did not express an opinion. Deputy-Reeve Barney Rogers of Ops favoured the unit but Reeve Milburn Hutchinson was opposed.

Reeve Roy Morrison of Mariposa in his first remarks said he was convinced Victoria County should take advantage of the opportunity of joining with Peterboro in the formation of a unit, and said the health of the people was the most important consideration. After listening to the argument presented, Reeve Morrison voted against the Peterboro offer but favoured the Victoria County health unit.

Deputy-Reeve John Mariposa was the first councillor to mention a local unit with an invitation to include the southern portion of Haliburton county.

Reeve Mrs. W. Boulton of Eldon Township thought Victoria County was big enough to have its own unit, while Reeve E. J. Murphy and Deputy-Reeve Johnson of Carden were not prepared to vote for a unit at this time.

Warden Robert Cammack of Laxton, Digby and Longford said, in his opinion, there was no need for a county unit. Ratepayers in the north are content with matters as they are he said.

Reeve Jackett of Fenelon Falls favoured the Victoria County unit idea. He, like some other members of council including Reeve Everett Cameron of Bexley said there is the danger of overlapping and said the Ontario Water Resources Department has been rendering every assistance possible regarding the pollution of water and other matters concerning the health of the people.

Reeve H. J. Murphy of Bobcaygeon, who chaired the meeting, said he felt the people of his municipality wanted a health unit.

Kirkconnell's Book to be Revised for '67

Dr. Watson Kirkconnell's history of Victoria County is to be updated and reprinted as Victoria County's centennial project it was decided on Wednesday at Victoria County Council.

The original book published in 1921 will be revised and Mr. Kirkconnell has agreed to update the book to 1963 said clerk-treasurer Frank Weldon.

Mr. Weldon told the councillors that only two municipalities Bexley and Carden have notified him that they do not intend to apply for centennial grants. This available money will not be used by the county the clerk said.

MINOR DAMAGE

A car driven by Frank Walsh of 20 Maryknoll Avenue sustained $80 damage when it backed out of a driveway and came into collision with the bumper of an oil-tanker Thursday evening. The oil truck was not damaged Lindsay Police said.

Lindsay Police Sergeant Gordon Eberts investigated.

Emergency Measures Organization

It has been suggested in certain quarters that the Emergency Measures Organization is a waste of money. Fred Young, the New Democrat member for Yorkview at Queens Park suggests the duties of EMO can be reasonably handled by an integrated fire and police system throughout the province. An out of town paper agrees with Mr. Young and claims "for every efficient and worthwhile EMO arrangement at the local level, there are 30 which are hopeless."

We are pretty sure this figure of "20" is just plucked from thin air, they have no satisfactory figures to substantiate such a wild statement. Such a claim compares with those made by people forever quoting statistics. You know the type, "72.7% of people do this or that." People often don't question such profound statements because they sound true!

"The Post" believes in EMO and is certain the peoples of Victoria and Halliburton counties are receiving good value for the money expended by Victoria and Halliburton county councils.

More, we feel EMO has been criticized lately because it is an "insurance" against which, fortunately we haven't had to claim. Had their been a disaster either militarily or in the civil field, such as a flood or tornado the worth of EMO would be shown. We are perfectly happy ourselves to continue to pay and have the protection, we can do without the disaster to show these doubting Thomases the value of preparedness.

Because "The Post" believes EMO is doing a good job preparing for any disaster we have been running a series of informative articles for many weeks now on the purpose and function of EMO service especially for us by EMO co-ordinator James Hall. All EMO needs in most areas is more publicity on its purpose, more support and less destructive criticism.

Haliburton men enlist

At the present time a list of those who have signed up for His Majesty's service in Haliburton County has been released and while a few have already gone to England, most of the men are in the various training camps. The list up to date is made up of Ross Davidson, John English, Vance English, Russell Neville, John Roberts, John Ure, Everett Jones, Frank Barnum, Clayton Barnum, Ray Scott, Lorne Cooper, William Weaver, Robert Shaw, Lindsay; Cyril Fair, Claude Roberts, Ira Gregory have left for a Canadian port; George Brennan,, Trenton; Charles Keefer, England.

Douglass, Russell, Clarence Dagg, Norman MaGuire, Dorset; James Watson, Bancroft; Merlin Pickens, Lloyd Stoughton, Gooderham; Leslie Burke, Lochlin; and George Evedon, Minden.

Little skilled labour

"In 1940 as in 1914, skilled labour is hard to find," said H. C. Hudson, director in the Provincial Department of Labour, speaking before the committee of the Rotary Club at the Hotel Benson today. "Tool and die makers as well as metal and wood pattern makers are exceptionally scarce," Mr. Hudson said.

Out of the 50,000 unemployed in Ontrio, the majority of them are not qualified for any specific work and the speaker pointed out the necessity of training the youth in some specific line.

Sings to Canucks

While a raging blizzard, Canadian style, blew through Aldershot today, Beatrice Lillie, Toronto-born comedienne sang to the Canadian boys the sophisticated songs that have made her the toast of Piccadilly and Broadway.

Father and brother missing

Pte. Judd informed your correspondent on Thursday that both his father and brother, who had gone to the front were missing. His brother, who was a member of the Royal Marine Light Infantry, was in the fighting which centered around Antwerp at the time of the city's seige, while his father, who belonged to the 11th Hussars, was in the desperate fighting at Mons and on the Meuse, in which the Hussars lost heavily. Their fate is unknown.

Challenge Toronto club

As soon as the Lindsay Club learned Thursday that the Toronto Granites had brought back the Carew Cup from Western Ontario, immediate steps were taken to put forth an effort to win it back to Lindsay again. An informal meeting of the executive and a few of the leading lights of the club was gotten together, and it was decided to issue a challenge at once. The challenge was sent in to the Toronto Granites Club by three o'clock in the afternoon.

Service in China

Your correspondent had an interesting chat with Corp. Larney on Thursday. This soldier was in Shanghai, China for three years in the Customs Department, and has many interesting stories to tell. He was in Shanghai at the time of the rebellion in 1912, when the rebels with machine guns blew holes in the Chinese walls around the old city of Shanghai. These onslaughts were met with Maximes which mowed them down.

Strassburg under seige

Strassburg has been placed in a state of seige, even officers' wives have been ordered to leave immediately.

Just after the First World War, a building in Norwich's Maddermarket, in England, which had been in turn, a Roman Catholic Church, a Salvation Army Hall, and a warehouse, was reconstructed into a replica of an Elizabethan theatre. Now, the Maddermarket Theatre is one of the most celebrated repertory theatres in Britain. —British Travel Association photo

Poet's Corner

A Tribute To Sir Winston Churchill 1874 - 1965

The following verses of encouragement and security were written and sent to many men in the services when "World War II" was at its most terrifying and nerve-wracking height.

How well we remember the resolute valor with which our great and indomitable warrior—Sir Winston Churchill, sent his effective messages over our war-torn world.

His great name will go down through the annals of history and his V-for Victory sign, will never be forgotten.

The world mourns to-day the loss of our great hero.—"Well done thou good and faithful leader."

Press on Canada

Press on ye sons of Canada,
Ye stalwart sons and brave;
And all the British commonwealth,
Press on, your Empire save.

Press on brave sons, nor fear the foe,
For right is on your side.
Ye gallant men press on, press on;
And God will be your guide.

Press on to glorious victory,
With freedom's flag unfurled;
Thru' seas and sky and desert land,
Press on across the world.

And then the victory will be yours.
Brave men, you cannot fail;
We'll stand by you, heart, hand and steel,
For freedom and the Grail.

Ability

A dwarf is small even if he stands on a mountain; a colossus keeps his height, even if he stands in a well

—Seneca.

Sir Winston

Tho' passed beyond this earthly sphere,
He lives within the hearts of men,
Altho' his face we shall not see,
Nor ever clasp his hand again.

In danger's face, he faltered not,
But, fearless faced the foe,
That by the blood, the toil and tears,
The world might freedom know.

Defeated, held no bitterness,
In triumph felt no pride,
His spirit brave inspired us all,
To meet the storm and tide.

His words of courage, faith and cheer,
Upheld our quaking world,
Imbued with hope to carry on,
Tll battle-flags were furled.

No vengeance dwelt within his heart,
He sought the best for all,
And those who once had been the foe,
Felt benediction fall.

And yet the keenest sense was there,
Of beauty, true and fine,
He thrilled to see a sunset rare,
It's colour, form and line.

And these to us he has bequeathed,
The fruit of brain and hand,
Upon them he has gazed and breathed,
They to his memory stand.

Now heavens' portals swing ajar,
He's crossed the rolling foam,
And lo—the Bright and Morning Star,
Beams welcome to his Home.

Truth

There are three parts in truth: first the inquiry, which is the wooing of it; secondly, the knowledge of it, which is the presence of it; and thirdly, the belief, which is the enjoyment of it.

MAKE A MEAL WITH SANDWICHES

Lunch or supper can be easily prepared when you feature hearty hot beef sandwiches point out home economists at Macdonald Institute, Guelph. Left-over roast beef, chicken, turkey or pork makes appetizing meal-in-one sandwiches. Serve a salad of tossed greens or jellied beets and some finger foods, such as celery pieces, carrot curls and turnip sticks with your choice of sandwich.

HOT BEEF SANDWICHES

First choose the bread, an old favorite or something different for a change. Cracked wheat, French stick, rye, plain or caraway, whole wheat or enriched white bread or hamburger and hot dog rolls are a few of the many varieties available.

Slice roast beef thinly. Place slices in a heavy covered pan with a very little water and cook gently until they are thoroughly heated

Top hot butter toast, bread or rolls with generous helping of beef. If desired place another slice of bread or toast over filling. Serve with hot gravy to which some coarsely chopped cooked vegetables have been added. Barbecue sauce, mushroom sauce or horseradish sauce all make delicious tangy accompaniments. Or for a new flavour combination try Creamy Mustard Sauce.

1 cup dairy sour cream, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon minced onion, ¼ teaspoon salt, Pepper to taste.

Combine ingredients and heat gently until hot. Serve immediately. This recipe makes 1 cup of sauce, enough for four to six sandwiches.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I prevent the porous plaster in freshly-plastered holes or cracks in my wall from absorbing most of the paint as I later paint these walls?

A. After these patched areas are completely dry, sandpaper them lightly, then apply a coat of shellac to them. The shellac will size the porous plaster and prevent its absorbing your paint.

Q. What is a good, general spot-and-stain remover for porcelain sinks and bathtubs?

A. First rub the stains with a slice of lemon, and then go over them carefully with a cloth dampened with kerosene. Or, dip a half-lemon in borax and scour with this.

ARDA COMMUNITY PASTURE PROJECT EXTENSION APPROVED

Ottawa — Extension of an ARDA community pasture project in Victoria County, Ontario, has been jointly announced by federal Forestry Minister Maurice Sauve and Ontario Minister of Agriculture William A. Stewart.

The original ARDA–estblished pasture is to be enlarged to 3,000 acres and will support 1,000 cows with calves. The additional acreage including fencing, water supplies, corrals and other improvements, will cost $112,000 to which the federal government will contribute $67,000.

The Victoria County ARDA board recommended to the Ontario ARDA directorate that the project be expanded as demand for use of the community pasture exceeded its present capacity. The land to be added is similar to the existing pasture, consisting principally of unoccupied farm land that is deteriorating under existing managerial practices.

The average livestock farm in Victoria and adjoining counties is too small to support enough cattle to provide beef farmers with adequate incomes. The enlarged community pasture is expected to help a number of farmers increase their production.

RMH chairman questions need for new daily report forms

Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Ross Memorial Hospital, S.R. Pitts, told the board at a meeting Thursday night he hoped the staff didn't spend so much time filling out forms that they had no time for nursing. Commenting on the new daily report forms introduced by the Administrator Eric Freeborn, Mr. Pitts remarked, 'I'd hate to be hollering for a glass of water and have the nurse say, 'I can't bring you one now I'm making out a form'."

Mr. Freeborn said the reports only take about 10 minutes to complete. He said the system of daily reporting and evaluation was implemented after several weeks of study, and added it should improve liaison between the administrator and the nursing department and keep the administrator better informed on the nursing department's activities and problems on a current basis.

The administrator said the system comprises three forms which are completed by the head nurse or nurse-in-charge of each nursing unit, the nursing supervisors and the Director of Nursing. The forms are designed to provide a record of the daily volume and kind of patient load with which the nursing unit staff has had to cope, the staff at her disposal to accomplish the tasks and other related factors.

The Nursing Supervisor's Shift Evaluation Report is to obtain their opinions as to the adequacy of the staffing in all nursing units and also to provide them with a medium for reporting suggestions, observations and incidents, Mr. Freeborn said.

"The statistical data reported in this survey", he said, "is tabulated daily to provide a continuing record showing the trend and time expended on these activities within the nursing department. The forms also provide us with a daily record of variations from budget, and more important, data which can be used to explain the reasons for these variations".

Some members of the board, especially the doctors, questioned the value of the reports and said they could see no value in using the forms on a long-term basis.

It was suggested there would be no harm in using the forms, unless it became necessary to hire an assistant administrator to tabulate the information and transfer it to the master sheets.

Lindsay's "Marching Mothers" one-day blitz on February 1st

The "March of Dimes" campaign this year has set an objective of $350,000 in Ontario of which $2,100 is Lindsay's share. Between 125 and 160 "marching mothers" will be carrying out the door-to-door canvass on Monday, February 1, between 7 and 8 p.m.

The March of Dimes campaign is carried out annually for the prevention of polio through the use of Salk vaccine and the treatment, training, assessment and job placement of men and women over the age of 19 years who are physically disabled as a result of accident or disease.

All the funds raised are spent in the Province of Ontario and the services afforded by the organization are available to all residents. Harry McDonald, manager of the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce told "The Post".

He said the canvasses will be conducted by 14 teams, each of which is organized by a team captain. The teams will make only the one canvass on February 1.

Included in the list of 1965 captains are Mrs. N. Begley of 35 George Street, Mrs. M. Hancock, of 45 King Street, Miss Norma Fairman, of 101 King Street, Mrs. J. Corley of 13 Colborne Street East, Mrs. Jean Crumb of 43½ Melbourne Street, Mrs. G. Vanzeyl of 93 Melbourne Street West, Mrs. C. Kirkness of 45 Albert Street North, Mrs. H. Simpson of 101 Pottinger Street, Mrs. P. Atman of 24 Adelaide Street South, Mrs. L. Porter of 76 Bond Street, Mrs. J. Ridpath of Lynwood Heights, Mrs. A. Wilson of 182 Angeline Street North, Mrs. A. Amodeo of 31 Cambridge Street South, and Mrs. H. McDonald of Verulam Road.

Golden Curtain Quartette given enthusiastic reception

Enthusiastic applause echoed through the Academy Theatre Thursday night following a superb performance by the Golden Curtain Quartette, produced by Kurt Alder of the Metropolitan Opera Association.

The rich voices of the four, Maria Albanese, soprano, Adele Baker, Mezzo-soprano; Dan Marek, Tenor; and David Clatworthy, Bariton, blended well as they performed duets, trios and quartette arrangements, as well as some solo work.

The first part of the programme was devoted to some of the deeper works, opera and operetta, by such composers as Verdi, Saint-Saens, Bizet, Puccini, Delibes, Mozart, Giordano and Strauss.

After the intermission the audience thrilled to some of the lighter numbers from Broadway productions. Some of the more noted Broadway hits from which excerpts were sang were: "The Vagabond King", by Friml, "The King and I" by Rodgers and Hammerstein, "Carousel" by Rodgers and Hammerstein and "My Fair Lady" by Lerner and Lowe.

As an encore the quartette performed excerpts from "West Side Story" by Bernstein with Lyrics by Sondheim.

In all of the numbers the group acted as they sang, making the production dramatic and exciting.

The pianist, William Sowerwine, who announced the numbers, added a light touch of humour to balance out the programme. It was the most appealing programme presented by the Lindsay Community Concerts Association so far this year.

Multi-stop city driving calls for CHEVROLET

workpower

Says W. M. Browne, Toronto Caretakers, Toronto, Ontario. "We have used panel trucks of various makes for the past 15 years. Nine months ago we put six Chevy-Vans into service and, from our experience with these, we have purchased six more.

"Accurate comparative analysis of our vehicle operation proves Chevy-Vans to be most economical. The six-cylinder engine is really lively with plenty of power. Gas mileage is very good and has given us a substantial saving per unit.

"Manoeuvrability in city traffic is excellent, resulting in reduced time between calls. Mechanically, Chevy-Vans have proved to be first-class—we have had no failures.

"In summary, I would say that Chevy-Vans are far superior to any units we have previously operated."

Every operation can profit from Chevrolet Workpower—including yours! See your Chevrolet Truck Dealer today.

Topic of Brazil introduced at UCW

Haliburton (PNS) — Unit two of the U.C.W. of the United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Moore.

Mrs. M. McKnight the leader opened the meeting with a quotation. The worship service was ably conducted by Mrs. T. Chambers the theme being God is our Refuge and Our Strength. The study for the new year was about Brazil and was introduced by Mrs. Mc-Knight, Mrs. J. Robinson, Mrs. J. McKay and Mrs. R. Carnegie in a panel discussion. This was most interesting, educational and enjoyable.

During the business session, tentative plans were made for the coming year. Mrs. James Inglis extended an invitation to the unit to meet at her home in February.

Refreshments were served by the hostess during the social time.

Julia Smith

Julia (Hooey) Smith of Fenelon Falls, entered into rest suddenly at the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, on Tuesday, January 5th, 1965, in her 75th year. Born in Fenelon Township, Julia (Jane) Hooey married her loving husband John Smith at the Fenelon Falls Anglican Rectory on March 26th, 1913. Besides her sorrowing husband, one son Melrose Smith of Verulam Township, and one daughter Doreen (Mrs. Angus Thornbury) of Cambray and two grandchildren Bob and Carol Smith survive. Three brothers, Harvey, Langdon, and Ethelbert Hooey, and a sister Carrie are predeceased.

Julia Smith and her husband farmed until their retirement in 1947. In the fall of 1963 they moved to Fenelon Falls. She was a member of the Anglican Church.

The funeral service was held Friday, January 8th at 2:00 p.m. from the Platten Funeral Home. The service was conducted by Rev. J. B. Harrison with interment at Saint Peters Cemetery, Verulam. Pallbearers were Norman Taylor, Woodrow Jones, John Jenkinson, George Gamble, Basil McGee and James Southam.

Relatives and friends from Belleville, Oshawa, Toronto, Sebright, Lindsay, Bethany, Burnt River and Cameron attended the service.

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — The Fenelon Falls Figure Skating Club, which is sponsored by the Rotary Club is away to a flying start with a registration of 37. Mrs. Patsy Gillogely is the instructress for the classes which are held in the Rotary Arena on Tuesdays from 7 to 9:30 p.m. There is also a practice period on Fridays.

The executive of the club is Mrs. Ross Willson, Mrs. D. McNamara, Mrs. Irwin Lawrance and Mrs. Dan Willson.

I HIRED IT THROUGH THE WANT ADS

Ever since the inception of Brotherhood week, an international organization, the Lindsay Kiwanis Club has yearly set aside a date for the holding of a dinner meeting with outstanding guest speakers. On Tuesday, February 18th, the Lindsay gathering will include members of the Rotary, Kinsmen, Lions, K-40 and Kiwanians and the guest speaker will be outstanding and distinguished gentleman. Rabbi Feinberg of Toronto. The night gathering will be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Guests will be admitted by ticket.

Wilber Worsely of Fenelon township has retired as a welfare officer employed by the Department of Welfare. The new officer recently named is Norman Truchan of Lindsay who for some time operated a cigar store on Kent street. Mr. Worsley, a former Reeve and former Warden of the County has many staunch friends, especially in the northern part of Victoria and in Haliburton county who will regret to hear of his retirement but who at the same time wish him good fortune and good health in the years to come.

A popular political appointment has been made in the riding of Victoria, Haliburton and Ontario north. Mr. John Nesbitt, Colbourne St. has been appointed Returning Officer for the riding, succeeding the late Cecil Pardy of Bobcaygeon. Mr. Nesbitt, a CNR engineer by avocation has filled the office of President of the Liberal Association and has also had the distinction of having been the Liberal candidate. He is well and favourably known and the appointment is a popular one.

Haliburton (PNS) — Friends of Mrs. Francis Nyilas, dearly beloved wife of the Mr. Stephen Nyilas of Eagle Lake will regret her passing at her home in Dublin, Ireland.

Mrs. Nyilas returned to Ireland about one year ago. They had a home in Eagle Lake, Ontario but illness came and she went home.

The late Mrs. Nyilas was an accountant and worked for some time in Haliburton and was employed by business firms since that time. Mr. Nyilas went to Toronto where he does painting and he had many fine pictures of Haliburton county. He also had some fine pictures on view for sale in Haliburton.

The couple had no family and Mrs. Nyilas had planned to return home. Buriel took place in Ireland. Deepest sympathy is extended to her husband.

EEGS MAY DISCLOSE BRAIN INVOLVEMENT

It was not to many years ago when doctors hooted at the need for sending patients with indigestion to have an electro-cardiogram taken to make sure there was no underlying heart disease. In many respects, the same is true now as regards EEG's electroencephalograms — brain wave tracings!

"I am sure there's many a so-called neurotic, his complaints conveniently wrapped up by the doctor as being "imaginary" and "all in the mind", who actually suffers from organic trouble in the brain. And theres many an intractable and difficult child — a poor student and an obstinate, temper-laden, home-problem — who is put in to the large diagnostic wastebasket: problem child. Yet, he suffers from undiagnosed epilepsy.

I am not advising wholesale migrations to offices of neurologists and others for these EEG tests. Having seen some miraculous transformations in both adults and children (wrongly called neurotics — and worse), my purpose is only to alert patients, family members and their doctors to the ever present need to rule out serious brain involvement in persons we pass off as just nervous problems.

One little boy just could not get along at school. He wasn't stupid, just contrary and always getting into fights with his classmates. This went on for months. Doctors, school-teachers, and parents labeled him a black sheep.

At last one doctor said, "I hate to put you to an unnecessary expense because this is just a longshot. Let's send him to a specialist for a brain wave tracing".

BLACK SHEEP BECOMES WHITE

It paid off as the cheapest expense the parents could possibly have had. The report came back that the boy showed the typical spikes on his tracing which are found in some cases of epilepsy. They put him on Dilantin and within a few weeks the black sheep was all white. Not even gray. He made good grades at school and became an exemplary child at home.

There as a businessman who began to backslide in his relations with his customers and with his family. He, too, was wrongly labeled a terrible cuss who was beyond redemption. At last, and I say this because the EEG is turned to much less commonly than the ECG (heart-tracing) a brain wave tracing disclosed that he had a typical form of epilepsy too. In his case, Dilantin and other medicines transformed him into a reasonably happy person.

I hope I haven't given the impression that all neurotic and bad-natured persons suffer from some form of atypical, undiagnosed epilepsy. Such is not true. Nevertheless, if in doubt at all, or faced with a stubborn, unyielding problem, I can't understand why anyone would not avail himself of a relatively simple procedure that may end EEG instead of resigning oneself to needless years of travail.

It's painless, not too expensive. Most family doctors will not hoot at the idea of a brain-wave tracing for a patient whom they haven't been able to help. Therefore, don't be afraid to ask about it.

WOMAN'S VIEW

By Gay Pauley

New York (UPI) — "Me retire". From what?", asked Pearl Buck.

At 72, the woman who has written close to 60 books and holds the Nobel and Pulitzer prizes for literature, is still writing.

She's also involved in enough other activities to exhaust most women half her years.

She's studying dancing, and as she said, "I can do a Cha Cha if I have to". She's making movies. And she's busy with a new project to aid children of American servicemen and Asian mothers.

It is for this last that she has established the Pearl S. Buck Foundation, of which she is board chairman and treasurer. The foundation carries several steps further the work she has been doing with children of mixed Asian-American blood. Through Welcome House, Inc., an adoption agency which since its founding in 1949 has located permanent homes for "many hundreds", she said.

"But adoption can't meet all the needs", she said in an interview. "I've visited Asia recently. There are thousands to be cared for".

These, Miss Buck said, are the pathetic cases because "they're not treated the same by either side. They're outcasts without opportunity.

"We'd like to see that they get a chance in their own country".

Miss Buck estimated that there are at least 50,000 children of mixed blood in Korea, that at the end of the U.S. occupation in Japan and there were 200,000 (she said the U.S. army put the figure at 5,000), and there are "unknown numbers in Okinawa and now Vietnam".

The Foundation will work through establishing institutions in the Asian countries, but a representative from the Foundation will also be on the scene. "In Korea, for instance we'll be working right through the government's child placement service", she said.

Miss Buck's interest in dancing is helping to raise money for the Foundation. A student at the Arthur Murray Studios for the last two years, she's gotten the 350-some studios to stage balls with proceeds going to the Foundation.

Harry Evons, President of Arthur Murray, Inc., explained that the studios had pledged at least $1 million to the Foundation to be raised in the next five years. And Miss Buck puts in guest appearances at the functions.

She is scheduled to be in Montreal, February 13, and has a full spring trip cross-country that will find her in Honolulu by May 8.

Meanwhile, two more of her books, "Death In The Castle" "THE POST", LINDSAY, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, JANUARY 29TH, 1965 "and "The Big Fight" will join "A Joy of Children" and "Welcome Child" currently in the bookstores.

"How do I find time for everything?" she replied "Well I never think of time. And children's books write easily".

Then she talked of her largest in Stratton Productions, Inc., whose latest film is "The Guide", made in India. Miss Buck is co-owner of the firm company, co-author of the screen play.

The author was born Pearl Comfort Sydenstricker, in Hillsboro, W.Va., June 26, 1892. As an infant she went with her parents to China where they served as Presbyterian missionaries. The China in which she grew up provided the background for her "The Good Earth", which won her a Pulitzer in 1931. In 1938, she received the Nobel Prize, the first American woman so honored.

Miss Buck was married in 1935 to Richard J. Walsh, the President of the John Day Co., her publisher and the editor of Asia Magazine. Walsh died in 1960. Miss Buck is mother by adoption, of nine children, and there are now 10 grandchildren.

She took up dancing, she said, because "It's the most marvellous exercise. You should see the number of oldpeople in my class. I do believe dancing prolongs life.

"I'm more of the rhumba, tango, waltz and fox trot school. The Frug, Watusi and Twist are for the teen-agers. But I can do the Cha Cha if I have to".

FLITTING IMAGES

CHANCES are, you've noticed through the years that groundhogs just don't take a good picture. For one thing, they're always a bit frowsy-looking after their long winter naps. For another, they pop in and out of their holes so fast, photogs are lucky to snap them at all. This year, the Groundhog Training Center is launching a campaign to improve the groundhog's image. Grooming, bearing, smile—the whole photogenic works are being stressed. A typical "new look" groundhog is obvious at left. Also on hand, but elusive to the eye, are half a dozen more model specimens. Just for fun, see if you can find six hidden groundhog figures.

Mouthful o' Shakespeare

THE SHAKESPEAREAN play, Much Ado About Nothing, is the source of the quotation used in this substitution cryptogram:

MYAKA BIZ CALAK SAM
IYRXGZGJYAK MYIM OGEXQ
ACQEKA MYA MGGMYIOYA
IIMRACMXS.

Substitute Letters Now and Decipher This Code (Clue: Letters Have Same Meaning in Both Parts)

WITS TESTER

YOU'VE heard it said, "I wouldn't touch him with a 10-foot pole." Well, suppose you had a 10-foot pole. You don't want to touch anybody with it, you want to cut it into 10 equal pieces. Go ahead. How many cuts must you make?

Answer: Nine cuts. Place the 10 pieces in a pile. Cut the pile into two piles of 5 each. Place one pile on top of the other and cut through all 5 at once.

Just Travel 'Round and 'Round

LET'S GO FOR A DOT JOYRIDE

OUR FRIENDS, the three bears above, are having a lot of fun taking rides on a playground device that's set up in their back yard. What can it be? To find out, simply draw straight lines from dot to dot in numerical order. That is to say, begin at 1, draw a straight line to 2, then to 3, and so on, until you have touched all of the numbered dots. Remember to make all lines as straight as possible. Afterwards, you may wish to add colors.

A. Before I was born, my father married the sister of his widow. How was this possible?

B. "His mother was my mother's only child." What was the relationship?

Answers: A. He married his mother.
B. Father, son.

SHARPEN your pencil and your wits and see if you can work your way out of this tricky maze without running into any dead ends or having to retrace your route along the way.

Begin at Innermost chamber marked X, and finish at single exit at bottom. If more than one person wants to try, cover diagram with tracing paper for each one's turn. For the course is three minutes or less.

Match Trick

PLACE 24 matches on a flat surface as shown above. Challenge an onlooker to move four matches and leave five complete squares. How is it done?

Answer: Place one match on each side of the square.

PIN SPOTTER

It's a well known fact that you can take a glass, fill it to the very brim with water, and then drop a surprising number of pins into it without making the water spill over.

A similar stunt can be made the basis of a party entertainment. Put a filled glass of water in the center of a table. Have players alternate in placing pins or small (one-inch) nails in the water. First one to reach the limit or to make the water spill over otherwise has to pay the others. This game can build up a lot of exciting suspense if the players have steady hands.

Hasty Exit, Expert

BOB, an efficiency expert, had an unusual hobby. One afternoon as he was pursuing his hobby he stopped through a door and forgot to enter. That was the end of Bob. What was his hobby?

Answer: He was a pedestrian.

SMART GALLERY

USE YOUR WITS and eyes to find a single error of factual circumstance in both drawings above, and then look for six differences in detail between Exhibit A and Exhibit B. Solution at right.

Who's it?

HE WAS an Italian navigator and naval astronomer who claimed to have visited the American mainland, probably in the vicinity of Cape Kennedy, Fla., a year before the visit of Columbus. By his own account, he took part in four voyages, the first two on behalf of Spain, the last two in the interests of Portugal. By 1523, his name was a fixture on world maps. He was ...

Answer: Amerigo Vespucci

COLOR-BY-NUMBER FUN POSER

SO FAR as is known the king is still in the counting-house counting out his money; while the queen remains in the parlor eating bread and honey. But about the young maid in the garden hanging out the clothes . . . well, she has a date with a charming prince from the castle up the street, as you will discover by adding colors to the scene above. These are the color indicators: 1—Yellow. 2—Red. 3—Blue. 4—Orange. 5—Green. 6—Purple. 7—Black. 8—Brown. 9—Pink. If pink is not handy use red lightly instead.

Apply colors neatly to individual segments, of course. Add colors in numerical order and the scene will remain hidden longer.

After you've finished, you may wish to tint the diagram into eight or ten pieces for use as a jigsaw puzzle.

It's Your Turn to Win

SHOW this problem to a checker expert and he'll probably exclaim, "It's as simple as ABC." But how about you? Can you puzzle out the winning strategy? White checkers, moving up the board, to move first and win in seven moves is the challenge. How quickly can you meet it?

Long-time checker champ, Millard Hopper, gives his solution below. No fair peeking.

Listen, World!

PHRASES now in common speech testify how widely persons have listened to, and perhaps been influenced by certain men and women. Can you supply what's omitted here in a quotation from the past?

"_____ that has nothing to confer find little to perceive." — Wordsworth.

A five-letter word is missing.

Answer: Naught

Surprise Give-Away

A NOVEL way of distributing prizes to winners in competitions at a party is to place the packages in a large sack in a corner, with the guests arriving from the guests. Attach long strings to the packages and let these extend several feet from the bag. In turn the winners choose a string and pull out a surprise present.

STEP WORDS

YOU can transform BOY to MAN in three steps by changing one letter each step. Example: Boy, bay, may, man.

By the same method, transform PINK to BLUE in ten steps or less.

Answer: Pink, pink, pink, pink, plink, plank, plank, plane, plane, blue.

Seagrave

Mr. Allan Crosier has been elected to the Ontario County Standing Committee on Roads and Bridges for a term of five years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. MacFarlane attended the wedding of Miss Joan Starr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Starr to Mr. Robert J. Nichol in St Gregory's Church, Oshawa, on Saturday.

Mr. Gordon Sweetman was one of five Watkin's Dealers in Ontario to win an expense paid trip to the Watkin's Headquarters in the United States. Mr. Jack Short was his companion on the trip. They left Malton in a company plane on Monday morning for Winona, Minnesota. They toured the factories, research labs, and Experimental Farm. They dined in two different states and returned on Wednesday evening from a really informative trip.

Six months ago we reported the death of Mr. Albert Orchard, a former resident of this area. On Saturday, January 23rd, his wife Mrs. Mabel Orchard, was also laid to rest in Pine Grove Cemetery. Mrs. Orchard was in her 89th year.

Mrs. J. Tobin, Miss Maureen Tobin and Mrs. Murdock Belair attended a bridal shower for Miss Diane Davey at the home of Mrs. Adderley in Port Perry.

Mr. Leon Standish has spent sometime on Scugog Island assisting Mr. Gordon Sherrie in preparation for his sales.

Mrs. G. Lloyd, Mrs. Cliff Short, Mrs. G. Stone, Mrs. O. J. Boe, Mrs. R. Reynolds, Mrs. Wm. Keen and Mrs. Glenn Wanamaker attended the Annual Convention of the U.C.W. of the Lindsay Presbytery at Cannington on Wednesday, January 20th.

Miss J. Hiscox entertained Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Gibb, Joanne and Bobbie of Willowdale on Sunday last in honor of Joanne's birthday.

Wolfe

There it is, Admiral Saunders, there is Quebec, Cape Diamond, Montcalm's camp along the Beauport shore, the citadel, a natural fortress, sir, I compliment you man on the easy passage of the river.

Hugh Webster, one of Canada's outstanding actors who has received innumerable plaudits particularly for his roles at Stratford and on TV, plays a multitude of character parts in Canadian Players' hit production "All About Us". Above, he is depicted as General Wolfe. The drawing was executed by Winnipeg artist Jan Kamienski during an actual performance of the vaudeville show. "All About Us" will be presented at Academy Theatre in Lindsay on Friday, February 5th, sponsored by the Lindsay Rotary Club.

Carpet Stains

As a rule, most spots on carpets and rugs may be removed with carbon tetrachloride or a dry-cleaning fluid containing it.

Armed with determination these "marching mothers" Mrs. Gerrard Vanzeyl, Mrs. Herb Simpson and Norma Fairman, captains of some of the teams of this year's campaign in the fight against Polio, prepare for the canvass in February.

Fenelon Falls

Among those from Fenelon Falls who attended the annual meeting of the United Church Women of Lindsay Presbyterian held in Canning-ton United Church on Wednesday were: Mrs. John Coburn, Mrs. Edey Sharp, Mrs. M. McGill, Miss Lillian Murchison, Mrs. George Honey, Mrs. E. Vanatter and Mrs. M.C. Fisher. The theme of the meeting was "Others". The guest speaker was Mr. Nelson Abraham, M.A. B. D., and the officers for 1965 were installed by Rev. C. R. Wragg.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. A. Ball, who passed away at Hillcroft Private Hospital, Bobcaygeon after an illness of over a year.

Miss Roselle Kennedy of Buffalo, N.Y., is holiday with her sisters, Mrs. A. Parker and Miss Hazel Kennedy in the village. She will also visit relatives in the immediate vicinity.

Mrs. Alex Thurston received word on Monday, January 18th of the death of Mr. Tom Ewing who passed away at his home at Three Hills, Alberta. Mr. Ewing is the husband of Margaret Fell, who made her home with Mrs. Thurston prior to her marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Webster have returned home from a visit with their son-in-law, daughter and their family, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hetherington at Beaconfield, Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville Brien of Dunsford spent Tuesday with Mrs. Alex Thurston.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Warren have returned to their home in Sarnia, after spending some time in the village following the death of their sister Mrs. Carmen Thurston. Dr. and Mrs. Don Warren have also returned to their home in Oshawa. Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Thurston's brothers at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Webster spent the weekend at Kingston with Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Anglin and their family.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Murchison spent last week at Thornhill to attend the funeral of Mrs. Murchison's mother, Mrs. P. Riddell who passed away at the Villa Private Hospital in Thornhill after a rather lengthy illness. The funeral service was held from the Pypher Funeral Home at Richmond Hill with interment at Thornhill Cemetery. Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Murchison in her bereavement.

TV Ratings Challenged By U.S. Trade Commission

WASHINGTON—Your favorite television program goes off the air, doomed by low ratings.

Just how accurate are these circular reports, treasured by the television industry as if Moses brought them down each month from Mount Sinai?

Not very, according to the Federal Trade Commission, a U.S. government agency. Last week it catalogued a variety of faults with the ways the three biggest rating services measure audiences, including both the way they gather data and the way they announce their findings.

The services involved were the Pulse, Inc., C-E-I-R, Inc (parent company of American Research Bureau) and E. C. Nielsen Co.

The FTC said all three have agreed to stop misrepresenting the accuracy of their radio and television audience measurements and to stop using bad survey techniques. But the awesome power of their decisions ... ings is expected to continue. Lawrence Laurent, Washington Post television critic, ... it this way:

"The television critic like the ... who ...

These were some of the procedures the FTC said lead to error or bias:

Both Nielsen and C-E-I-R fail to count the effect of people who refuse or fail to respond or co-operate. Both also fail to disclose the number or percentage of people who don't respond.

Both use data derived from diaries, but some of the diaries contain hearsay reports or estimates. The FTC said in some cases, C-E-I-R's only subsequent contact with diarykeepers was to provide them with a new diary.

Nielsen, considered the most influential television rating, was found to base audience totals "partly upon measurement and partly upon projection based on obsolete ballot surveys." The FTC also found that Nielsen publishes what purports to be complete radio audience ... although it does not measure portable and car radios.

Pulse, said the FTC, adjusts "sets-in-use" figures upward by 20 per cent for morning programs and 40 per cent for evening programs "without adequate research to justify such adjustments." Other Pulse shortcomings included use of data from reports containing both general preference of a person, not what he actually saw.

The FTC also said that while all three services say they measure an accurate sample of the total audience, this is not so. Since their rating techniques rely on use of exclusive samples, the reliability of the final ratings cannot be determined.

The services will now have to justify their reports and to quality their ways they change some of the ratios. This is unlikely to be much help to quality programs that ... ratings listening or tuning."

ABC audits of Daily Newspapers are NEVER CHALLENGED!

Daily newspaper circulation figures are, above all, ACCURATE — no errors — not even a margin of error. The Audit Bureau of Circulations, controlled by advertisers and advertising agencies, makes every newspaper account for every copy it prints.

ABC Audits are not guesses, not surveys, not ratings — they are an ACCURATE COUNT of daily newspapers bought by people.

Daily Newspapers—the best meeting place for advertisers and their customers.

Little Britain

The annual congregational meeting of the Little Britain United Church was held on Monday evening of last week but owing to inclement weather conditions. There was just a fair attendance. The minutes of last year's annual meeting were read and adopted and reports which were given by the other various secretaries were quite gratifying and showed that much progress had been made during the past year in most instances of all the departments and organizations had been made. The meeting was as usual preceded by a pot luck supper and which was enjoyed by all present.

Friends of Mr. Harry Ayers of Lindsay who has been confined to the Reever Nursing Home in the village for several weeks regret to hear that he is at present seriously ill, but hope that there soon will be a change in his condition for the better.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. J. E. Harrison of Lindsay and who was a former resident of this community on reaching another milestone and celebrating his 90th birthday at his home in Lindsay on Monday of this week and his many friends are glad to hear that he is still enjoying fairly good health and wish him many more happy returns of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Palmer, Mrs. George Varcoe, Mrs. Fred Thomson and also Mr. Melville Moase were among those from here that were in attendance at the social evening and presentation in honour of Mrs. S. Nowakowski who had been on the Little Britain teaching staff for several years and who resigned her position at Christmas to become the New Victoria County Librarian and which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Nicholls in Oakwood.

The members of the Little Britain Hockey Club are now making plans and preparations for their St. Valentine's dance at the I.O.O.F. Hall in February and have been fortunate in securing Garnet Powell's orchestra to provide the music.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tremeer who have been operating a farm west of the village on the 4th concession of Mariposa for several years and who have recently disposed of their property are now making preparations to hold an auction sale of their farm stock and implements in February, after which they intend moving to the village to make their new home.

The Little Britain Memorial Arena is at present a very busy place and has been ever since the installation of the new artificial ice and a schedule has been arranged for nearly every day of the week and all visitors will be welcomed.

New members join W.M.S.

Kirkfield - Eldon (PNS) — The January meeting of the Eldon tation W.M.S. was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jack Campbell of RR No. 1 Lorneville.

The president Mrs. R. P. McEachern opened the meeting with a word of prayer. Rev. Wm. Fairley then installed the officers for 1965 for both the W.M.S. and the Ladies' Aid. After which he gave an interesting talk entitled "The Place of Women Within The Church" His scripture was taken from Luke 10.

A hymn was sung and the president read from Ephesians Chapter 4 followed by prayer.

Seven members paid their joining and presbyterial fees. Roll call was responded to by a verse of scripture containing the word 'rejoice' and 'wind' was chosen for the next W.M.S. meeting which will be held in March.

The collection was taken and dedicated.

It was moved and carried that the commission on the church calendars would go to the Welcome and Welfare The World Day of Prayer is to be held on March 5th. The correspondence was read and orders taken for the silver spoons.

It was moved and carried that the penny jar, holiday bells and birthday money be continued for 1965.

It was also moved and carried that the amout spent on gifts for the sick or shut-ins be raised to two dollars.

The secretary and the treasurer both presented bills to the president. A motion was passed that they be paid.

The annual meeting of the Lindsay Presbytery will be held in Lindsay on January 27, 1965.

Anglican YWA discuss chapter of thought-provoking book

The Younger Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Churh discussed a chatper of their study book "This is My Calling", written by a laywoman, Mrs. Ethel Day. In the chapter studied, Mrs. Day suggests Sunday School teachers should be trained before taking on the responsibility of teaching young children and this would "eliminate the haphazard method of plucking a teacher out of space and hoping for the best".

Mrs. David Lemon gave a thorough summary of the chapter to the members and then split them into discussion groups. and posed this question: "What 'soul-searching' do you thing Mrs. Day is suggesting the W.A. do?", and "What might be the result if your group were to engage in such self-examination?". The various groups opinions were brought back and discussed.

The meeting opened with a worship service conducted by Mrs. Thomas Humphries, and she also read a Bible reading from St. Peter and an article which stressed "a need for more study of the Bible" Mrs. H. Watson was at the piano.

Mrs. L. McCallum conducted the business session and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. J. Mackey and approved. The treasurer's report was given following roll call, by Mrs. A. Rance.

The group decided to hold a rummage sale in February with Mrs. P. Atman as convenor.

Mrs. L. McCallum announced the 20th Century Folk Mass, presented by St. George's Islington Young People's choir in co-operation with St. Paul's A.Y.P.A. on January 31st.

Dorcas secretary Mrs. R. Johnson extended thanks for completed work, and Mrs. McCallum reported a successful Parish Christmas bazaar and a new profit of $1,157.

Kinsmen donate exercise cycle

"This fills a long felt need" said Ian Milner, chairman of the Lindsay and District Association for Retarded Children, when on behalf of the Association, he accepted an exercise bicycle from the Lindsay Kinsmen Club. represented by Earl Wood.

Mr. Milner told "The Post" the bicycle is a very much needed piece of equipment to develop co-ordination and muscle control. He again expressed the gratitude of the Association to the Kinsmen Club and mentioned one or two other needs that he hoped other service clubs might become interested in.

Mr. Earl Wood who made the presentation on behalf of the Kinsmen is also 1st Vice president of the Association.

Eight pupils attending OARC school

There are seven full time pupils and one part time pupil attending the school for retarded children at Cambridge Hall. Mrs. Joan Powell, Lindsay, and District Association secretary told members attending the fifth annual meeting Wednesday night. She said Mrs. E. McEachern had started in September as assistant to the principal Mrs. Irene Greenan, following the resignation last summer of Mrs. James Hall, and expressed the appreciation of the Association in the fine work these people have accomplished.

Treasurer Albert Wheldon in giving his report said expenditures during the past year totalled $4,152.73. Of this amount, $2,659.00 paid the salaries. $200.00 went for rental fees, $560.00 for transportation and $37.88 for milk. $59.26 was spent on advertising. He notes that the Association participated in the Red Feather campaign and the Association at the end of their year had $2,338.00 bank balance.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The next meeting will be the Ladies' Aid held at the home of Mrs. Murray McInnis. Hostesses for that meeting are to be Mrs. Jack Campbell and Mrs. Ewart MacInnes.

The meeting closed by singing a hymn, followed by prayer.

Lunch and a social half hour were enjoyed.

Political Notebook

by Norman MacLeod

Ottawa (UPI) — The more savage the open season proclaimed by dissident conservatives against "Dief the Chief" becomes, the more closely is the role of Leon Balcer in the drama being examined.

Veteran politicians in the capital are no longer convinced it is as simple as at first seemed the case.

When the Conservative leadership issue first exploded many weeks ago, Parliament Hill circles took it for granted that Balcer simply was serving as spokesman for his fellow French-Canadians in his expressions of dissatisfaction with Diefenbaker.

But as matters have developed, a new theory is replacing this original idea in the minds of the capital's shrewdest observers.

This theory inclines to the view that Balcer's actual role is not spokesman for his French- Canadian compatriots, but rather stalking-horse for the old guard of the English speaking section of the party which wants urgently to get rid of Diefenbaker.

The "Old Guard" Wing amongst the conservatives is generally identified with millionaire senator M. Wallace McCutcheon, former Health Minister J. Waldo Monteith Senator Gunner Thorvaldson, national president Dalton Camp, and other lesser figures in the party.

Until a couple of months ago they were divided on the subject of Diefenbaker's continued usefulness to the party.

During the flag debate they reached agreement, however, and since then they have been working quietly but persistently on the problem of changing the party's leadership.

The evidence that Balcer is carrying the ball for this group rather than for his Quebec compatriots, is largely circumstantial. But it is considered in steadily widening parliament Hill circles to be impressive.

The close liaison maintained by the former transport minister with the McCutcheon group has been apparent to observers in the capital for several weeks past. Literally within minutes of the break-up caucus meetings of the Quebec conservatives, Balcer would be found closted with the Bay street senator, with one or more of the "Old Guard" usually also present.

Then there was the plane trip made from Halifax by Camp at the time the Quebec Caucus met in Montreal. Camp conferred with Balcer before the gathering got underway. At the time observers assumed his mission was to restrain Balcer's insurgency, but the theory now widely held is that his purpose was to advise Balcer on behalf of the Tory Old Guard.

Parliament Hill circles, which accept the theory Balcer actually is serving as stalking horse for the Tory "Old Guard", are not necessarily impressed by the smartness of the strategy. For it is apparent much of the resentment which the Anti-Diefenbaker movement is encountering at the grass-roots level of the party stems from the belief he is the victim of a Qubec plot hatched out of revenge for his stand in favour of the Red Ensign in the flag debate.

For the "Old Guard" to select a leading Quebec figure as the front man for its anti-Diefenbaker revolt is regarded in Parliament Hill circles as an elementary mistake in tactics.

Young man learns Canadian Farming

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — Mr. Joseph Chen of Taiwan (formerly Formosa) was the guest speaker at the Sunday morning service in Fenelon Falls United Church. Mr. Chen is a University graduate in Agriculture Science. This month he is living on farms in the Lindsay and Bobcaygeon area to study Canadian methods of farming before going to Cornell University for a two year course. Later he hopes to return to Taiwan where he will teach and give assistance in the rural areas of Taiwan.

Introduced by the Rev. M C. Fisher Mr. Chen gave a brief outline of the background of Taiwan, where the gospel was first preached by the Dr. Mackay, the first Christian missionary to that country, in 1872. He told the story of his conversion and said that he would continue to witness for Christ both in Canada and on his return to Taiwan, where there are now more than 1900 Christian churches, and where the Christian influence is evident not only in churches but in Schools, Libraries and Hospitals.

Mrs. M. W. Robson presided at the organ and there was special music by the choir.

WMS installs 1965 officers

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — Miss M. Demill was installed as president of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Fenelon Falls at the January meting, which was held at the home of Mrs. R. N. Tyndall on Tuesday January 12th.

Rev. E. Grant MacDonald installed the officers for 1965. They are: Honourary president, Miss Agnes Dickson; President, Miss M. Demill;; 1st vice president, Mrs. Wm. Cunningham; 2nd vice president, Mrs. L. Menzies; Secretary and press, Mrs. R. N. Tyndall; Treasurer and pianist, Mrs. Chas. McInnes; Supply secretary, Mrs. F. Brown; Social convenor, Mrs. Wm. Cunningham; Welcome and Welfare, Mrs. W. D. Murchison; Glad Tidings and Literature, Miss Ina Demill.

Mrs. Wm. Cunningham was in charge of the devotional period. Miss M. Demill introduced the new study book "Call and Response", which is a history of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. She dealt with the study, "Mission on our Doorstep." The roll call was answered by a New Year's selection.

Following the singing of a hymn and prayer by the president, the hostess served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed over the tea cups.

Officers elected for new year

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — At the annual meeting of St. Margaret's Guild of St. James Anglican Church, Fenelon Falls, the following officers were elected for the coming year:

President, Mrs. Graham Everett; Vice president, Mrs. Helen Sargeant; Secretary, Mrs. Freida Gale;; Treasurer, Mrs. Donna Steele; Publicity, Mrs. Hugh Hepburn.

World News

Edmonton — Revenge is being explored as the motive for a slaying and sabotage to three U.S. Jet fighters at an Edmonton plane repair plant. It is speculated that a man charged in connection with the murder and the explosions at one time worked at the Northwest Industries plant.

Charges have been laid against Harry Huback.

Quebec — Premier Jean Lesage has entered the dispute between the Quebec Liquor Board and its employees who have been on strike since early December.

The Premier appealed for the workers to return to their jobs and offered retroactive pay to the day they return.

Oregon — Soaking rains and a rapidly melting mountain snowpack has sent Oregon Rivers swelling toward flood stage this morning. Oregon Governor Mark Hatfield termed the situation "dangerous". But said the situation was not as dangerous as during the Christmas week floods.

South Vietnam — Buddhist leaders indicate they still are not quite ready to throw their full support behind the new regime of military strongman General Nguyen Khanh. This came today when a militant Buddhist leader demanded the ouster of any anti-Buddhist left over from the deposed Diem Government.

London — In an unprecedented tribute to a commoner, Queen Elizabeth II visited Westminster Hall and stood before the coffin of Sir Winston Churchill in personal homage to the wartime Prime Minister. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Chief Justice Earl Warren arrived in London for Sir Winston's funeral Saturday.

Saigon — Vietnamese student leaders in the city of Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon, demanded the recall of U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor. They said they were dissatisfied with the latest coup which ousted Premier Tran Van Huong because it failed to bring about the recall of Taylor.

Saigon — A U.S. military spokesman said the bodies of two American soldiers were found bound and mutilated in a bay north of Saigon. They were with two other American servicemen who left Sat. on a fishing trip. The bodies of the others were found earlier this week.

Paris — Heavy industry shut down across France for lack of electrical power in the second day of a 48-hour public service strike. But railroad workshop employees in Bordeaux and postal employees apparently lost enthusiasm for the walkout and either ignored strike orders or demanded that their shops be reopened.

Merchants hit play-off form maul Newmarket Redmen 10-1

Lindsay Merchants are off and running in the Central Ontario Junior hockey league round robin play-offs. Playing their first game of an eight game series last night, the Merchants smothered the Newmarket Redmen 10-1 in Newmarket.

Coach Gus Bodnar loaded both barrels for last night's game with ten of his players sharing in the ten goal barrage while Randy Reid deserved a shut-out for his performance, only a close-in screened shot eluding the fast moving puck stopper.

Ray McCabe pointed the way for the Merchants when he opened the scoring ten seconds after the first face-off. Ron Pillsworth neatened the puck from the centre-ice face-off, eluded his check and cleared to McCabe at the visitors blue-line. Ray side-stepped the defence, skated up to Terry McGowan's doorstep and slid the disc under the falling goalie. With the flight path established. Besides McCabe, the Purdy, Taylor, Yearwood line netted a pair, and the two Garys - Heffernan and Lywood added one each. Dave Day from a scramble in front of the Lindsay net midway in the first period shattered Randy Reid's hopes for another shut-out.

Bob Taylor from Morasse and Purdy cut two seconds off a holding penalty to Calangelo at 4:43. Gary Heffernan popped the biscuit past McGowan after shots by Frocking and Graham at 5:52, and Paul Yearwood caught McGowan off the nest after shots by Purdy and Taylor at 10:33 to put the Merchants four up. Newmarket's lonely tally followed this goal by twenty-three seconds after Reid saved against Gibbons and Bellamy in goal mouth action.

The two Lindsay goals in the second period came with a Merchant in the sin bin. Ron Pillsworth, who took several shifts on the defence, was doing time for interference when Bob Taylor broke in the clear and passed to Purdy in close for the Merchants fifth goal. Morasse and Mortson came off for high sticking and elbowing, at 11:03 and Ray McCabe scored his second goal of the night from Babcock and Pillsworth at 12:50. Gary Toporoski drew a ten minute rest from referee Jack Shropshire near the end of the period for telling the ref how to call the game.

The third period production by the Merchants was started off by Gary Lywood, back after a twenty game absence. Coach Bodnar frequently shifted George Babcock to the blueline brigade last night, and Lywood worked the front line with Ray McCabe and Ron Pillsworth for several shifts. To celebrate his return, Gary was on the spot to convert a Pillsworth to McCabe relay into a goal at 2:57. With Babcock enjoying a visit with Toporoski in the penalty box, Bob Taylor took George Graham's pass at centre ice and wristed in on McGowan who fanned on a drive to the top corner. The final pair of goals were unassisted as the thieving Merchants stole the puck from Newmarket defenders and gave McGowan little chance from close range. Rick Purdy turned the trick at 15:03, and Paul Yearwood clicked again at 16:07.

With players to spare last night, Bodnar used a full bench last night in an effort to keep the team fresh for tonight's home game with Aurora Tigers. These same Tigers incidentally clipped the Newmarket Redmen 7-1 in Aurora Tuesday night, and could spell trouble for the Merchants. Special feature of tonights program will be the presentation of the Vern Scully Trophy. Four prizes for lucky program holders are also available, starting with $10.00 from the Merchants prizes will include two tickets to the next home game donated by the Benson Hotel. A lube and wash job at Black's Shell and a lube job at Race Motors.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Popert of Toronto were week end visitors with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Popert, Pauline and Doug.

Mrs. R. Hanthorn has returned from a visit at the home of her son Mr. and Mrs. Closson Hanthorn and family in Jesper and with friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Catton and Maugery of Toronto spent the week end with the Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Harrison.

Friends of Mrs. A. Pogue will be sorry to learn that she is a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, and wish her a good recovery.

A party of four cottagers from West Hill and Scarborough had an icy dip in Sturgeon Lake about 10 p.m. on Friday night when their "skidoo" went through the ice. Their shouts and splashing attracted the family of Mr. Ross Ellery but when he got to the lake they had managed to reach shore by themselves.

THE WORLD PAYS HOMAGE TO SIR WINSTON CHURCHILL

SIR WINSTON CHURCHILL

London, (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill who could have rested among the immortals in Westminster Abbey will be buried today in a simple country grave far from the scenes of his glory.

Friday the last of three days of lying in state before today's great state funeral two figures from history paid homage to the wartime leader — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and President Charles De Gaulle of France.

Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson also was among those passing before Churchill's Bier. He was accompanied by his wife, Maryon.

They were among the hundreds of thousands who have braved bitter cold, snow, sleet and icy rain to pass before the Bier in Westminster Hall before today's burial when the nation yields to the great statesman's last wish to be beside his parents in the village churchyard at Bladon, near Blenheim Palace where he was born.

Queen Elizabeth, clad in black and wearing pearls, the blue ribbon worn as the chief mourner in St. Paul's Cathedral among the 3,000 dignitaries from 111 nations who have come to do Churchill honour. In the congregation were four Kings, one Queen, one Sultan, five other heads of state and 16 Prime Ministers.

Only Communist China of all the nations invited refused to attend. Peking bluntly replied that it "does not wish to nominate a representative."

HONORARIUM OF $2,700 FOR WARDEN

One of the many questions facing County Council is not where does the money come from, but where does it go. Thursday afternoon the council dealt with a number of items dealing with fees for belonging to, and joining new associations. The question of higher grants were dealt with Friday.

The Warden's honorarium was stepped up from $2500 to $2700 on motion of Deputy-Reeve Les Neil of Lindsay. In 1960 the amount was $2000 and in the years following was elevated to $2500 plus mileage, convention expenses and committee meetings. One councillor asked if it was necessary for the warden to attend all committee meetings to which clerk Frank Weldon replied that it was in accordance with the bylaw.

The annual Warden's banquet was touched on. In Victoria County the warden pays the bills for the guests and the number has been increasing through the years. It was pointed out that in Durham-Northumberland, the warden's banquet is handled by the County. The warden is given six tickets and members of council are given two and each must pay for additional tickets. All other officials and guests must pay their way. However, the combined counties are large and the warden receives an honorarium of $4000 a year. Clerk Weldon was instructed to communicate with other counties as to their procedure in this matter.

The Emergency Measures Organization of 1964 recommended that the allowance of the co-ordinator be increased. Deputy-reeve Les Neil moved that co-ordinator John Hall's salary be increased from $5000 to $5500 which was carried. Two or three councillors spoke in support of Mr. Hall's excellent work and his many long hours on the job. He also receives mileage but councillors were of the opinion that Mr. Hall was always very fair in his mileage claims. Jackett of Fenelon Falls thought the increase was too steep, but it was pointed out that the government pays 9% of the cost of E.M.O.

A grant of $6500 was made to the Victoria County Co-operative Library. It was decided to join the County and District Assessors Association, the Association of Assessing Officers of Ontario, and the Municipal Clerks and Finance Officers of Ontario. It was decided to take no action regarding the Ontario Mayors and Reeves Association, the Association of Regional Development and Economic Change and the Municipal Management Association.

COUNTY COUNCIL AUTHORIZE SPECIAL LINDSAY EX. GRANT

Victoria County Council members met in standing committee on finance and assessment to consider grants to various organizations in the county. Over twenty requests for grants were dealt with during the morning session Friday. The following grants were authorized: Boxal and West Victoria Women's Institutes were granted $50.00 each. Mariposa, Somerville, Verulam and Fenelon agricultural societies were granted $400 each provided a fair is held. Emily agricultural society who do not hold a fair were granted $200. to continue their work. Lindsay Central Exhibition was granted $1,000. An amendment was carried to make a special grant to the Lindsay Central Exhibition toward paying off the outstanding debt on the grandstand. The amendment called for a grant of $4,000 for this purpose which is the same amount as granted last year. The original motion was to cut the grant for this purpose in half.

Council members voted to recommend that County Council assume the deficit of the Victoria County Children's Aid Society and refer the matter to the Finance Committee. At present the amount of the deficit on last year's operation is unknown by council, but the motion will allow the finance committee to include the necessary amount in the 1965 budget.

A grant of $25.00 each to the Woodville, Fenelon Falls, Norland, Coboconk, Bobcaygeon and Omemee Horticultural Societies was agreed upon, but a further motion was passed that these grants not be paid unless a financial statement for 1964 is received by the clerk-treasurer Frank Weldon.

Correspondence was read by the clerk from the Lindsay Public Library suggesting an increase in the County grant from $50.00 to $500.00 be considered. The letter informed council that during last year 1,145 borrowers outside the town of Lindsay had used the facilities, and increased cost of books and increased salaries were given as reason for the increase suggested. The clerk explained that of the 11 libraries in Victoria County, Lindsay Bobcaygeon, Woodville and Omemee were municipal libraries. A motion to discontinue all library grants was moved and seconded, Warden Robert Cammack moved an amendment that the usual grant to the county library be continued. The motion was seconded by deputy reeve Edward Lowes and carried.

A grant of $400.00 to the Junior Farmers' work in the county was passed following the reading of a detailed report from the Junior Farmers' secretary Leroy Brown.

The Victoria County Plowmen's Association were voted a grant of $400.00 following the reading of their detailed report. The Victoria County Drainage Grant of $500.00 was also agreed upon. This is administered by the Victoria Soil and Crop Improvement Association and is used in paying a per-foot subsidy to farmers on drainage installed that is judged satisfactory.

Following a representation by Lindsay Chamber of Commerce Secretary Manager, Harry McDonald last week a grant of $1,000 was made to the Lindsay Chamber and $300 each to the Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls and Coboconk Chambers.

Requests for further grants were to be considered following the Friday noon adjournment.

Decrease in RMH Births Administrator Tells Board

The December statistics report of the Ross Memorial Hospital show a decrease in the number of births in 1964 compared with the previous year, it was reported at a meeting of the hospital board Thursday night.

Hospital administrator, Eric Freeborn, said the Peterboro hospital reports indicated a decrease in childbirth as well. Mr. Freeborn added this must be indicative of a decrease in the number of children being born, because very few are born outside the hospital nowadays.

In other statistics in the report, admissions increased by 33 over November and 135 over the year 1963.

Patient days totalled 3,993 in December compared with 3,952 in November. Total for the year 1964 was 48,040 compared to 47,773, the figure in 1963.

A total of 751 out-patients were treated during December, compared to 813 in November. Over the year however, the number of out-patients was 35 percent higher than last year.

For the month of December emergency hospitalization for the month totalled 515 compared with 605 in November. The total number of treatments in 1964 was 5,942.

George Hayes fired refused eye exam.

(UPI) — Linesman George Hayes suspended indefintely two weeks ago for refusing to take an eye examination, today was fired by National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell.

In a tersely-worded statement, Campbell said the NHL was "exercising its option to terminate" Hayes' contract as of Feb. 14.

Hayes was the only member of the NHL officiating staff of referees and linesmen to refuse to take the examination.

He maintained his work should be judged solely on his performance under game conditions and not subject to a doctor's report.

$200 damage

A 1964 model van driven by William Thomas McGreggor of 5 Duke street sustained $200 damage on Highway 36, 1 mile south of Dunsford at 1:12 p.m. Thursday when it skidded and crashed through a stop sign. Lindsay OPP said no other details were available.

Lindsay OPP Constable George Scott investigated.

Three-car crash —$145 damage

Total damage of $145 resulted in a three-car crash on Kent Street at 10:45 a.m. Thursday. Lindsay Police said a car driven by William Godhue of 151 Durham Street West was proceeding east on Kent Street, turning into a parking space, when his vehicle was struck in the rear by a vehicle driven by Rifa Fabricius of Beaverton. The Godhue vehicle was pushed into the rear of a parked vehicle owned by Derrick Taylor of 68 William Street South.

Lindsay Police Constable William March investigated.

Appeasement

We do not apologize for again referring to the flag issue, which should be a dead issue but refuses to lie down. With the country supposedly prepared to raise the new banner on February 15th with appropriate ceremonies, it is noteworthy that still the complaints over the new "appeasement" flag grow.

The Reeve of Etobicoke, John P. MacBeth is reported in yesterday's "Telegram" to have ordered the Red Ensign replaced "quietly" with Canada's new Maple Leaf flag. "If you're ashamed of something, do it quickly," he is reported as saying.

Controller John Carroll of Etobicoke apparently suggested the new flag and the Union Jack be flown side by side, and the Reeve claimed it would look like washing on the line. "But, I guess that's what the new flag looks like anyway," he added.

The new flag may be here to stay, but we feel the Pearson government will fall in consequence of its stand on this matter as well as the crescendo of scandals that have surrounded the Liberal Party. It is unfortunate that the Conservative Party supporters have chosen this time to become disunited for with the support John Diefenbaker has given to the things most people (outside Quebec) believe in he deserves to retain the leadership of the PC's and be re-elected to office.

Mr. Diefenbaker has stood up against the insidious movement to appease Quebec by the destruction of everything traditional in Canada. Lester Pearson and his liberal party have sold the country down the river. At the rate the Grits are going, this country will be a French-speaking republic in a few years time.

We hope the Progressive Conservative party can put its leadership house in order before Canada disintegrates in a Balkanized nation under the present liberal leadership.

Nab four in Fenelon theft case

Wanted at Fenelon Falls on charges of theft and breaking into the garage owned by W. J. Flett and Son at Fenelon Falls, Toronto police arrested Charles Martell, Earnest Carr, Wexter T. Wolfe and Jack Skuto. They are being held for Fenelon Falls authorities.

The four men were taken into custody by Detectives George Holmes, John Scott and Angus Taylor, recently, on similar charges. Chief Constable David Gordon of Fenelon Falls, accompanied by Provincial Constable Cecil Taylor of Lindsay left for Toronto Wednesday morning to bring the men back.

It is charged that the four men broke into the garage on January 16 and made their getaway in a stolen car.

Re-elect Red Cross Head

Jasper Forman was again elected president by a large and enthusiastic annual meeting of Victoria County Red Cross Association members, last night in the Women's Institute rooms of the town hall. Following the President's report on the 15 months' work of the branch, Newton Smale, treasurer, gave the financial report which showed a balance of $2,800. Miss Peggy Laidlaw read a detailed report of the garments which have already been forwarded to headquarters. These included socks, mittens, scarves, wristlets and helmets to the extent of 4,693. Included in this were also hospital growns, pyjamas, binders, slings, pads, jackets and bandages.

Councillors visit armouries

On Friday afternoon the members of the county council and county officials on the invitation of Lieut-Col. Fee visited the armouries and inspected the soldiers on parade as well as the different departments. The soldiers, of course, acquitted themselves in excellent style and were roundly applauded.

Warden impressed

At the conclusion of the drill, Warden Mulligan addressed the men expressing his delight at what he had witnessed. He knew that if the men got sight of the Kaiser, it would be all day with him. The Warden said he must be a soldier in his blood, as it boiled when he gazed upon the well-built chaps whom he saw before them. His grandfather was a volunteer in 1837, and he still had his old flint-lock, which served its purpose in those days. Mr. Mulligan felt that the calibre of the men before him could not be equalled, and if they would take a pill to the Kaiser he would readily take it. It would be better, he felt, to capture him and then hang him up so his hair would just touch the ground and keep the vultures away until he was converted. Then turn him up and shoot him.

Boxing

Friday afternoon an impromptu boxing bout took place at the armouries, which afforded barrels of fun for the boys in red. The contestants went at it hammer and tongs in Gunner Moir and Bombadier Wells fashion and the fur flew thick and fast.

Ptes. Green and Cavanaugh gave the boys an exhibition of the manly art this morning and they proved that they were no amateurs with the gloves.

Transferred

Lieut. Les Hopkins has been transferred to the 48th (Hastings) Regiment, and left for Belleville today.

Who speaks for us?

The editor of the Orillia Packet and Times recently posed this question in a pungent editorial entitled "Canada's New Outcasts".

There are fourteen million or more of us, and we have built a nation here in this vast country which is the envy of the world, but we have become strangers in our own land. For although we have always thought of ourselves as Canadians, our mother tongue is English and in the Canada of today, who speaks for us?

We who have always prided ourselves on our individual freedoms and who founded our institutions on the principle of justice for all, are today branded as oppressors of our Quebec brothers and monsters of racial injustice. Every pundit and commentator takes up the cry and heaps scorn and abuse upon us, tyrants that we are, for who speaks for us?

We who, by hard work and enterprise, have built a Caandian economy that is a marvel of its kind are reproached by those who will not quit the comfortable confines of their home province, of failing to share the wealth of this vast country with them in Quebec, and our governments consider ways of punishing us for our economic temerity, for who speaks for us?

We had thought that we had defended our nation bravely in four wars, but those who would write enlist with us now brand us as war-mongering imperialists and deride our service as worse than waste. Our every institution is ridiculed as a reactionary trapping from a colonial past, and foremost in the ranks of our baiters is the CBC which we ourselves created and subsidized, for who speaks for us? Our flag, our national anthem, the crown; all the tiny symbols, once a treasured part of our national heritage are taken from us and destroyed as symbols of a past once gloried in, but now suddenly become shameful. All the links of brotherhood with the world-wide commonwealth venerated from our earliest days in home and schoolroom, are disgraced and spat upon in the strange new land in which we find ourselves, for who speaks for us?

In a world where English has become a universal language, we find ourselves learning French, yet no one insists that our Quebec neighbors might profitably adopt compulsory English in their schools. Our national airline is given a French name and its hostesses, serving a million English-speaking Americans, are flustered only in French. Our railroad is Gallicized, our radio stations spout French to a mystified English-speaking audience, and our politicians demand that we consider Quebec not as a province, but as a state, equal to all our other provinces lumped together and prate of a separate senate for Quebec. For Quebec has identity, vitality, culture; we, the pundits assure us, have none. Les Quebecois, ils sont Canadiens, but who speaks for us?

Our history is sneered at, our statues defaced, our Queen insulted, but we must understand these things as symptoms of Quebec aspirations, we are told. Our leather-jacketed hoodlums are jailed as delinquents, but in Quebec they are interviewed and their banalities widely publicized as socially significant. Corrupt politicians exist in our world; in Quebec, one comprehends, patronage is a way of life and is of no concern to British pigs like us. For this is Canada, the racial partnership where the partner who contributes least to the defence, the wealth, the vitality of the country must be permitted to take the most out of it in cash allowances, privileges and perquisites. This is the new Canada, and in the inner councils of its government, in its press, its broadcast media, public and private; in all its vast expanse, who speaks for us?

The automobile plan

To judge by the comments of professors and newspapers, the new Canadian-U.S. agreement on the automobile industry have got the public thoroughly confused. But they represent an original and crucial move in the development of trade relations, and they will lead to all kinds of wild ideas unless the public gets a better understanding.

It is a pity, in the first place, that the new plan ever was dubbed "free trade." The loose catch-phrase was handy for negotiators who were always aware that the only alternative to this plan was the erection of new trade barriers strong enough to compel the Canadian automotive industry to become self-supporting.

But real free trade in automotive equipment between Canada and the U.S. has never been under discussion. The abolition of tariffs in favour of manufacturers (and only on very strict conditions) is really just a different device to make them produce more in Canada.

The new agreements should be described as a plan to reduce Canada's net imports of automotive equipment and to encourage more Canadian production.

It is nonsense, therefore to imagine that the test of the new plan depends on the price of cars in Canada. The agreements are not basically concerned with price, but with production and — above all — with the balance of payments.

If the U.S. Administration and the U.S. automobile manufacturers had not accepted Canada's proposal, then indeed the public might have screamed about the price of cars. It is perfectly normal to pay more for domestic production when imports have to be cut off to save the balance of payments — as our British friends well know.

If it were not for the extravagance of our demand for every conceivable model of flossy U.S. cars, Canada's current international payments would have been in balance last year. Cars and parts represent eight to ten per cent of all imported goods. They will account for most of our balance of payments deficit in 1964.

This haemorrhage had to be stopped. The means adopted are complicated, devious and experimental. The best argument in their favour is that the alternative was worse. The only test by which they can be judged is the extent to which they do reduce the intolerable drain of U.S. dollars through the automobile industry.

To judge the plan by the price of cars is as ridiculous as to imagine that this involved finagling with a unique industry is the first step towards a customs union with the U.S.

It is a plan, still of dubious validity, to correct our balance of trade and to increase Canadian production. All the rest is incidental.

FIRE PREVENTION IN THE KITCHEN

Youngsters are teaching parents a thing or two these days . . . a thing or two about fire prevention, thanks to instruction they get at school from local fire prevention officers. Little wonder then that when a steak, chops or other food breaks out in a blaze in the skillet or broiler and mother panics, runs to the phone and calls the fire department, her young son or daughter calmly takes over with a "Mom, where's the baking soda?" Once it's located, Mom is advised to dump it right on the flames to douse them. By the time the fire apparatus arrives, the fire is out. This little drama is enacted hundreds of times a year across the country, with school children becoming local heroes.

Actually this baking soda extinguishing trick is as old as baking soda itself. Great grandmother used to keep buckets of soda on hand for putting out conflagrations of fat, oil, tallow or paint. Today it's still highly recommended by all fire fighting authorities for putting out fat fires in the kitchen, for soda, when heated releases carbon dioxide gas which quickly smothers the flames. It's advisable, therefore, for safety's sake to do as our ancestors did and keep a good supply within reach of the range. Store it in a canister, an old salt or oatmeal box and so that there won't be any chance of grabbing the wrong container, label it FIRE in big red letters.

Other safety tips that youngsters learn at school and which are intended to be passed on to parents are: never leave fat foods cooking unattended; the range should be kept scrupulously clean for a fat-splattered range is fodder for fire; dish towels, pot holders, curtains and the like should be hung well away from the range for should any one of these catch fire, the whole house is vulnerable.

HOW CAN I ? ? ?
By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I clean the debris out of a drainpipe that goes across and under my driveway with both ends open?

A. Cut a semi-circular block of wood with a diameter slightly smaller than the inside of your drainpipe, and secure this to the end of a long pole. Then all you have to do is start at one end of the pipe, pushing the leaves and debris completely through and out the other end.

Q. How can I insure more tightly-driven nails?

A. A nail dipped into colorless fingernail polish, before being driven, will stay put much longer. This also works with screws.

Barbara Jones

Omemee (PNS) — Mrs. Barbara Ellen Jones, widow of the late Josiah Jones passed away at the Kawartha Nursing Home, Peterborough on Monday January 18, in her 95th year following a long illness.

Born in Manvers Township daughter of the late Wm. Fallis and Frances Cairns, the late Mrs. Jones had resided in Omemee for some years prior to leaving for Peterboro and her cheerful and friendly attitude made her her many close friends in the village.

Surviving ar 7 nieces and 8 nephews.

The late Mrs. Jones rested at the Rehill Funeral Home in Omemee where a large number of friends and relatives paid their respects.

Rev. K. J. Crawford paid tribute to the life of the deceased at the service on Wednesday afternoon. Interment at the Fallis Cemetery, Bethany.

Pall-bearers were: Harold Bannon, Lloyd MacKay, Orville and Ira Fallis, Ross Downey and Nellis Bradburn.

William Burke

William Burke of Cameron, Ontario, entered into rest at the Lindsay Private Hospital, Lindsay, on Friday, January 15th in his 95th year.

William Burke was the son of the late Edward and Mary Anne Burke and was born at Cameron, Ontario. He spent almost all his lifetime in Lindsay and death came after an illness of over two years.

Surviving are one sister, Elizabeth (Mrs. Allen), and three brothers, Joseph and Charles of Toronto and Fred Burke of Detroit. He was predeceased by one sister Margaret (Mrs. Shannon) and three brothers, Edward, Alexander (Sandy), and Jack Burke. He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

The funeral service was held from the Mackey Funeral Home on Monday January 18th, at 2:00 p.m. Rev. Locke conducted the service and interment was at Riverside Cemetery. Pall bearers were Simeon Kirley, Jack Roche, Fergus Cuddahee, Ralph Padgett, Harry O'Reilly, and Sim Villeneuve.

In Memoriam

SCHROTER — In loving memory of a dear husband, Bert E. Schroter who passed away Jan. 30, 1964.

Alone yet never quite alone,
I face an empty chair,
But sometimes in the silence
I imagine he is there.
My companion of so many years,
No longer here with me,
And yet in some mysterious way
He keeps me company.
Ever remembered by loving wife Lottie (1853)

SCHROTER — In loving memory of our father, Bert E. Schroter who passed away Jan. 30, 1964.

One year has passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away.
A silent thought, a secret tear,
Keep his memory ever near.
Ever remembered by Ruth, Murray and Farley. (1378)

NEW HOUSE DESIGN — A noteworthy feature about this bungalow by architect S. A. Gitterman of Ottawa is its accent on privacy. The house has its narrow front to the street and by extending the front wall and putting a fence to the side seclusion has been given to the living and dining rooms. This also creates a pleasant private outdoor courtyard.

The entrance from the carport is sheltered and there is a good sized hall with easy access to the basement. The bedrooms are well segregated with a dressing room and a washroom off the master bedroom. The main entrance should face east.

The floor area is 1,332 square feet and the exterior dimensions are 58 feet by 30 feet six inches. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 2327, can be obtained from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Bruins fans follow in droves —losing club notwithstanding!

Boston (UPI) — Heard around the National Hockey League:

The biggest mystery in the NHL are the Boston Bruins fans who turn out in droves—blizzards, sub-zero weather and a losing club notwithstanding.

Though the Bruins played their first 40 games this season at exactly the same pace that carried them deep into the basement last season, their home attendance is up with no less than six Boston Garden sellouts.

Last Sunday, they attracted a near-capacity crowd of 13,216 though they had lost five straight and a combination of snow, sleet and freezing rain had fallen on the hub for nearly 24 hours.

Just for a change, the Bruins scored their first victory of the season over the Montreal Canadiens after suffering through seven losses and a tie at the hands of the Habs . . .

When converted defenseman Tim Horton potted seven goals in his first 11 games as a Maple Leaf wing, Toronto writers proclaimed him the Leaf answer to Bobby Hull.

Chicago Coach Billy Reay has developed an illustrated sermon on young Dennis Hull, rookie brother of star Bobby. Boston, New York and Toronto were quick to line up in that order for the youngster before the Hawks pulled back their request in record time.

The Boston Garden wolves who over the years have developed some pretty pointed patters for the Bruins who don't please them, have been tuning up on veteran defenseman and Captain Leo Boivin this season. "Billy" still shrugs it off but the customers are getting louder all the time.

The Detroit Red Wings tried in vain for several years to make an NHL regular out of the rugged Forbes Kennedy. The New Brunswick product finally won a place to the have-not Bruins. But in Boston, even a warm body is often enough. Kennedy got the penalty-killing assignment and looks more and more like the league's best in this vital specialty.

Veteran Dean Prentice, idled for the rest of the Bruins' season when he suffered a fractured vertebra from a penalized check by Chicago's Stan Mikita, has six weeks to go in a heavy shoulder-to-hip cast. Dino had to to buy some new clothes more than three sizes bigger than his regular apparel to accomodaate the cumbersome cast.

Detroit's Gordie Howe has collected a record $61,550 in team and individual prize money during his 19-year NHL career. Which is probably a good answer to why so many kids have ambitions of playing in the NHL. Nobody has apparently told them there was only one Howe.

Three teams made quick bids when the Black Hawks sought waivers early this season on young Dennis Hull, rookie brother of star Bobby.

Start any Monday!

MANY CHILDLESS COUPLES MADE HAPPY BY ADOPTION

If only more of the twain could meet: homeless waifs and husbands and wives childless homes. How much happiness might there be in the future for these, if the wheels of adoption were set in motion without too many reservations about success or failure.

In my own experience in practice I have seen many instances where adoption was the spark which turned frustrated lives into eager and loving ones. And in many cases, those men and women who continued to be anxious about adoption lived on in confusion, remorse and indecision.

Some may disagree, but I have invariably advised childless couples to consider adoption—especially if they were young and able to raise a child or children. Whenever I get any shred of evidence which is on my side, I take unfair advantage and present it to you. For example, consider this letter:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: In answer to one of your recent columns I can sympathize with the young woman who wishes to have a child. I too am in the same boat medically. Only worse. Doctors say they doubt if I ovulate even once a year.

After many tests and pills and the like, we applied for adoption. Over a period of six very discouraging years, we were turned down many times. We tried everything and everywhere we could. Finally, last year, after 12 years of marriage, we did adopt a little boy and we've never been happier. He's the answer to all our dreams. I don't know if I'll ever become pregnant. But it doesn't really matter any more because we love our son. He has brought us much happiness.

The only difference between the young woman in your column and me is—I am 15 years her senior. She is so young and has so much time ahead of her she will have to be patient. But I do advise anyone to look into adoption if they have children. If the couple is as young as that couple, it should be a lot easier for them to adopt than it was for us. But they should not give up.

One thing we're sure of—God made our son just for us! —Mrs. X.

REMOVING TONSILS?

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Our 2½-year-old son has very large tonsils. He's had tonsilitis twice and his throat always looks inflamed. His doctor advises immediate tonsilectomy, although ordinarily he'd prefer to wait a few years. Is there any danger of waiting until he's older?—Mrs. W.

Comment: I don't believe in routine removal of tonsils and adenoids in youngsters. However, I agree with your doctor. When a child has been having recurrent sore throats (especially if there have been complicating ear infections) it is good judgement to remove this source of infection. He is not too young to have the operation, and T and A (tonsillectomy and adenoidectomy) is not considered a dangerous procedure.

* * *

Mrs. B.: I agree that painful heel spurs can be a distressing condition but I do not advise rushing into operation. Try conservative treatment first. Your family doctor or bone specialist will prescribe cutout pads, special shoes or straps to support the arches. Sometimes injecting steroids helps. Removal of the bone spur by operation is advisable only if these measures have failed.

SHOTGUNS FOR YOUNGSTERS

STANDARD SHOTGUNS ARE TOO LONG FOR MOST YOUNGSTERS, SO IF A CUSTOM STOCK IS TOO EXPENSIVE, SHORTEN THE ORIGINAL. HAVE A RECOIL PAD ATTACHED, OR GET A LACE-ON TYPE TO DO IT YOURSELF. CORRECTED STOCK SHOULD JUST FIT IN CROOK OF SHOOTER'S ELBOW WITH HIS FINGER ON THE TRIGGER. GUN MAY THUS BE RE-STOCKED CHEAPLY AS SHOOTER OUTGROWS IT.

A 20-GA. SINGLE IS BEST BUY USING LOW VELOCITY LOADS, ITS RECOIL ISN'T BAD; LARGER BORES NEED ADDED WEIGHT OF BREAKERS TO EASE RECOIL FOR YOUTHS.

EMO REPORT

Relationship of Continuity of Government to Survival

by EMO Co-ordinator for Victoria—Haliburton JAMES HALL

PUBLIC SURVIVAL

Most of the publicity which has been devoted to emergency planning activities in Canada has tended to be concentrated, and rightly so, on matters which directly affect the personal survival of individuals: for example, sirens for warning the population, pre-attack voluntary evacuation of more likely target areas, and fallout shelters as well as the vitally important life-saving role which has been assigned to the Canadian Army. At the federal level, the continuity of government programme, apart from making arrangements for the preservation of the process of government, has been devoted to many very important matters which are indirectly related to the survival of the population. For example, the Emergency Supply Planning Branch in the Department of Defence Production was specially created to develop the plans which will ensure that essential supplies such as food, clothing and fuel, will be available to the surviving elements of the population on an equitable basis.

PLANNING EFFECTIVE CONTROLS

Many Canadians are generally aware of the controls, e.g. those on gasoline, sugar, food, etc., which came into existence during the Second World War, —a war in which Canada was not subjected to the effects of direct attack. There is sufficient evidence to indicate that, should a global nuclear war take place and Canada be attacked, it would be most important that adequate controls and safeguards be taken immediately the emergency occurs by the federal government to ensure that the country is dealt with as a unit. In blunt terms, this might be looked on as a policy of sharing the misery with one another. Because it is entirely conceivable that the outbreak of such a war would be swift, there would be no time, as there has been in past wars, to build up our systems of control. It is for this reason that emphasis has been placed on the necessity for developing the plans, organizations, and procedures which will enable all levels of government to take appropriate action without delay or confusion.

NECESSITY OF TESTS AND EXERCISES

Emergency planners, because they really work in an area in which there are many imponderables (No one really knows very precisely what a nuclear war would be like), welcome opportunities to exercise, study, test their prepared plans. The primary purpose of exercises and studies is to analyze those plans which have been prepared so as to point out gaps or weaknesses in them. The past three national exercises (TOCSIN Series) have been of inestimable value from this point of view for the federal and provincial government. At the local or municipal level of government, hundreds of small scale exercises or studies are conducted each year to analyze the local aspects of the problems of national survival. Such exercises do not necessarily involve the large scale movement of people or machinery, and consequently the public is usually unaware of this important activity.

EMERGENCY ASSIGNMENTS

In the past and during the second world war civil defence organizations were developed primarily to look after measures which directly affected the population, and there was an unfortunate tendency, particularly on this continent, to divorce such organizations from normal processes of government. However, the scale of damage which was anticipated then was such that these organizations might have been unable to operate effectively. But with the advent of the megaton nuclear weapon, it was quickly recognized that the scale of disaster would require that the total resources of government and industry would have to be applied.

There are many departments and agencies at all levels of government which would have important roles to play in any major disaster, and it is necessary for such departments or agencies to make their plans in times of peace. In other words, emergency planning is a peacetime responsibility, at the federal and provincial levels, of many departments of government. There are many other departments or agencies at both levels of government which have important peacetime responsibilities but which, during a period of nuclear war, would not be vital to the survival of the country. The resources of such departments are tapped by those which have definite responsibilities during an emergency, in order to build up the latter's operational capability. Similarly, at the local levels of government, some departments and agencies have specific emergency roles and some have not. At this level particularly it is important that emergency organizations have a capability to respond with minimum delay to likely disasters or emergency situations. Hence, the need to base the various emergency organizations on a department of local government which, in most cases, has related peacetime responsibilities.

Nurse resigns after 38 years

Fenelon Falls (PNS) — Mrs. Rosella Kennedy resigned from the staff of Meir Memorial Hospital, Buffalo N.Y., on January 9th, 1965 after 38 years of service. Miss Kennedy graduated from that hospital in 1927, and except for two years when she served as a nurse with the American Army during the Second World War, has been a member of the staff since that time. For a number of years she has been supervisor of nurses.

Miss Kennedy was born at Kenhaven in Fenelon Township where her brother Mr. Jack Kennedy and family reside. On her retirement Miss Kennedy was the recipient of many gifts and several friends entertained in her honour. Among the parties given for her was one by the medical and nursing staff of the hospital.

1964 officers remain for 1965

Haliburton (PNS) — The regular meeting of Unit one U.C.W. was held at the home of Mrs. Olga Black with eleven members present. The call to worship and prayer was given by the leader Mrs. Olga Black. The worship portion of the meeting was conducted by Mrs. R. Millington.

Mrs. Ronald Curry the programme convener announced that the U.C.W. would continue with further study of the Word and the Way, at the February meeting, this will be followed by a travelogue on Ecuador given by Mrs. J. Auguster Jr.

After much discussion it was agreed that Monday night would remain the same. The 1964 officers agreed to remain until 1965.

The annual congregational meeting and Potluck Supper would be held in the church auditorium and everyone interested is invited.

Mrs. R. Millington kindly offered her home for the February meeting.

The meeting closed with a prayer by Mrs. Black.

Hay helps when Hull misses in Boston win

(UPI) — Red Hay, who was dispossessed of his center duties on Chicago's prolific Hull line earlier this season, is fighting back the only way he knows how — by scoring goals.

The big 23-year-old redhead a former Colorado College star, served for five years as the pivot on the Bobby Hull line before coach Billy Reay removed him in favour of younger Phil Esposito at the beginning of the campaign when the Black Hawks were bogged down in fifth place

The results were gratifying to Chicago since the club moved quickly into its second-place position in the National Hockey League race, but it left the competent Hay without a regular job.

The 6-foot-3-strongman, however, has proved a handy man in the past few weeks, serving as a penalty killer and taking a frequent turn on the left wing with the third line. He filled in at both positions Thursday night and contributed two goals and an equal number of assists as the Hawks whipped the Boston Bruins, 6 - 2.

Chicago's victory in the only NHL game of the night lifted the Hawks to within two points of first-place Montreal, which has two games in hand.

Hay scored once in the first period while Chicago was shy a man when he intercepted a Boston clearing pass and beat Bruin goalie Ed Johnston with a 10-foter. He collected his eighth goal of the season in the second stanza on a shot which bounced off a Bruin during a power play.

For the third consecutive game Bobby Hull was stopped without a goal but his younger brother, Dennis, scored on an assist from Hay in the final period. Kenny Wharram, Chico Maki and defenseman Pierre Pilote scored the other Chicago goals.

DISTRICT NEWS

As January draws to a close the scouting world hastily prepares for Scout Week celebrations, to commemorate the birth of Sir Robert Baden-Powell. Scout-Week this year is from February 21 to 28.

A boy scout rally at the Century Theatre at 2 p.m. on February 21, will kick off the celebrations and most groups are preparing for banquets and Church-parades during the week. Many groups are out looking for vacant store windows on Kent Street in which they may put displays on scouting themes.

The scout rally at the beginning of Scout Week will be the second annual gathering of cubs, scouts, rovers, brownies, girl guides, and rangers in Lindsay to pay tribute to B-P, the founder of the movement. As well as an address by a guest speaker and skits on world-wide scouting, films on a natural or scouting theme will be shown.

In the morning of February 21, the 2nd Lindsay group will parade to nine o'clock Mass at St. Mary's Church and have a father-and-son breakfast afterwards. The 3rd Lindsay group will have a father-and-son banquet on February 23 and on the following day the 4th Lindsay group will have one.

SIGNALLING

The long, arduous task of teaching semaphore to cubs and scouts has been improved with the introduction of a new method of teaching signalling, claims this month's issue of the Scout Leader. This new method which, according to the book, makes better signalers in less time involves teaching groups of letters in a certain order and ignoring the old method of teaching circles. The lessons are set out in the magazine.

GOING UP?

"Possibly there is a need to educate district staff members to see that 'three-ring circus' going-up ceremonies are discouraged," a bulletin recently issued from P. A. Worth, Provincial Comissioner said. In the bulletin Commissioner Worth has asked leaders to discuss the ceremony with district staff members. He said, "Too often the going-up ceremony is too big a production; scout investiture is becoming secondary to the going-up ceremony, when it should be the highlight of the boy's scouting career." Commissioner Worth said the cub should go up to the troop when he is ready, not when his leader is ready and "if pack and troop cannot get together, there need not be a ceremony."

Community holds Shower for couple

Seagrave (PNS) — On Friday evening a shower was held in the Sunday School Room for Mr. Frank Tobin and his bride-to-be, Miss Diana Davey, of Port Perry. As usual a large crowd gathered, to express their good wishes. Mr. O. J Boe was Master of Ceremonies and introduced a mock wedding which was presented by the choir of which Frank had been a member. Of course the boys acted the parts for the ladies and the girls took the parts of the gentlemen: Minister, Miss Maureen Tobin; Bride Ronald Abraham; Groom Isabel Durward: Maid of Honour, Jack Short; Brides maid, Harvey Monahan; Bestman, Crystal Monahan; Father and mother of bride, Douglas McMillan and Mary Lloyd; Father and mother of groom, Neil Wanamaker and Enid Belair; Usher, Sylvia Wanamaker; Duet by Sharyn Short and Sharon Monahan; Pianist, Norma Abraham, and the guests were remaining members of the choir.

Mr. Boe then asked the honoured couple to take seats at the front of the auditorium and read an address in verse. A lot of lovely gifts were then presented and arranged for display by some of the young ladies. Thanks was expressed by the recipients. Refreshments were served by the ladies.
